Upon one of the evenings at Dr. Marston's Chalk Farm when the great critics of the theatrical world met in friendly intimacy, "the conversation turned," Mr. James Douglas tells us, "upon Jefferson's acting of Rip Van Winkle, and many admirable remarks fell from a dozen lips. When there was a pause in these criticisms, Dr Marston turned to Mr. Watts-Dunton and said, 'Have you seen Jefferson in Rip Van Winkle, sir?'

"'Yes, indeed,' was the reply, 'many times, and I hope to see it many more times. It is wonderful. I think it lucky that I have been able to see the great exemplar of what may be called the Garrick type of actor.'"

"'As an instance,' he said, 'of Jefferson's power in this line of acting, one might refer to Act 2 of the play, where Rip mounts the Catskill mountains in the company of the goblins. Rip talks with the goblins one after the other and there seems to be a dramatic dialogue going on. It is not till the curtain falls that the audience realizes that every word spoken during that act came from the lips [illegible] facial expression and intonation dramatized each goblin.'"

THE FINE DAY

President George C. Woodruff, of the Bald Head Club of America said at the recent annual turkey dinner in Hartford:

"The members of this club don't buy hair-grower. There are lots of millionaire hair-grower manufacturers, but we don't patronize them.

"The bald head who keeps on hoping for new hair seems to us as irrational as the Irishman who will never say no.

"The Irish, you know, will never disagree with you—never say no. A tourist couldn't believe this. He resolved to put it to the test. So he said to an Irishman one day when it was raining cats and dogs:

"'It's a fine day, Pat.'

"'Shure an' it is, yer honor,' said Pat, 'an' it would be finer still if it wasn't rainin'.'"

DON'T DO IT

Self pity is the most elusive and deceptive form of selfishness; it beguiles the most acute mind which yields to it, and disintegrates the clearest judgment if it becomes a habit. Hamilton W. Mabie.

METHODIST MENS' SUPPER

About 75 men and boys had supper in the M. E. church Tuesday night. The supper was splendid and nicely served. The tables were decorated with suffrage flowers with streamers of yellow paper in the center.

After supper Mr. C. Kinnison, the toastmaster, announced that Miss Florence Wasson would sing a solo. She sang three, "What's in the Air Today," and "The Nightingale" were two of them.

Mr. Kinnison made several announcements and then quite skillfully and humorously introduced the speaker of the evening, Rev. Lichliter, of the Epworth Memorial church. The title of the address was "Rediscovering the Layman." It was splendid, and several times the audience applauded vigorously.

HIGH SCHOOL ACTIVITIES

The girls' varsity of W. H. S. defeater Chagrin Falls by a score of 33 to 4 on Friday, the 16th. The game was quite fast anu unusually interesting for one with such a one-sided score. Edna Neuman played a fine game at forward. The line-up: Neuman and Wicker, forwards; Brooks and Rose, centers; Ellesworth and Whitehead, guards.

The boys' varsity and the second team went over to play at Chagrin [illegible] by only a few baskets. Considerable dissatisfaction was felt by the Willoughby boys.

SEE THE BOYS PLAY GENEVA

The boys' varsity and second teams play Geneva's teams Friday night at Willoughby. It is a benefit game and the admission will be 25 cents.

PICK A GOOD MAN

"Written standard practice instructions make an advertising department self managing," said L. W Ellis of the H. K. McCann Company yesterday in a paper read before the Cleveland Advertising Club.

"The manager who can run a department store by word of mouth alone can run it better with clearly defined rules of procedure that give each employe absolute freedom of action within the limits of his job."

The tendency of big organizations, like that of progressive cities and states, is to codify laws of procedure. Anything which will reduce supervision is good business standard instructions, to be permanently useful, must be co-ordinated, and the process of recording them reveals inconsis[illegible] system can be all wrong. Efficiency picks the good systems and makes them permanent by writing down the best procedure.

One brief formula for personal efficiency is, "Pick a good man; give him a definite job; leave him alone." The last two thirds of the formula are often enough if the employe is given a big enough job and is so situated that he dares not lose it.

[illegible] ment of the second largest farm machinery concern in the world. "Every good kink in the system," he said, "grew out of some hair-raising muddle and was adopted in self defense. Every time a row occurred that could be traced to a weakness in the system, we collected the evidence, consulted everybody concerned, worked out the procedure and then added it to our Standard Practice Book."

Tips For Play-Goers

B. F. KEITH'S HIPPODROME.

B. F. Keith's Hippodrome offers a most remarkable bill for the entertainment next week for thousands of night and afternoon patrons.

First comes the "Girlies Gambol," with about two dozen high-strung and beautiful girls, who give one of the greatest vaudeville acts ever presented on any stage.

There will be oodles and oodles of fun every minute and as added attractions the management has booked these nationally-known artists:

Bert Baker, presenting the comedy hit of the season, "Prevarication;" Dan Burke and girls, offering a delightful and unique hit, "The Old Master;" Rockwell & Wood, two noble nuts navigating the ocean of fun; Nelson Waring, a man and a piano; Pathe Weekly, news events of the world; McShane & Hathaway, smart songs and dances; Those French Girls song, sauce, mirth and physical culture.

NEW LYCEUM THEATER.

How would you like to come home from a trip and find three "baby mines" at your home when you really didn't know you had even one? This is the predicament a young husband will find himself in at the New Lyceum next week when Vaughan Glaser, Miss Fay Courteney and the supporting company present "Baby Mine," a three act farce by Margaret Mayo.

Mr. Glaser and Miss Courteney in the leading roles, will be supported by Bernard McOwen, seen here before in "Baby Mine," Will Corbett, Anne Hamilton, Don Burroughs and the other members of the Glaser company.

PROSPECT THEATER

In "Pedro, the Italian," which comes to the Prospect theatre next week commencing Monday night, James Kyrie MacCurdy is said to have given to the stage a new romantic play that is decidedly worth while. This popular actor-playwright will be seen in the leading role, that of a fine young son of sunny Italy, really a member of one of the families of the nobility of his native land, though in America forced to the extremity of a fruit peddler.

The four acts of the play serve to show the trials of "Pedro" in his struggles in this country, his consuming love for a rich American girl and finally his elevation to the position which is rightfully his and all ends happily as it should.

The company is of unusual material and includes Kate Woods Fiske, Pearl Ford, George Tripp, Grace McMasters, Frank Readick, Edwin Evans, J. J. Swartwood and Louis M. Grattat. A canine actor of ability is introduced in "Garabaldi," a trained dog.

MILES THEATER

Singer's Midgets, 30 dwarfed folks from Germany, who present an entire comic opera, as well as a complete vaudeville performance ,will be the headline attraction at the Miles.

The midgets carry as a part of their working paraphernalia two dwarfed elephants, half a dozen small ponies and a number of dogs and cats. An orchestra leader, as well as an entire stage crew is made up of folks under 40 inches in height and 75 pounds in weight.

STAR THEATER

If laughter, feminine beauty, robed in daring costumes, real melody and a surprising novelty between times appeal to you then you may like the Great Star and Garter Show at the Star next week. The laughter is supplied largely by Bert Rost, Don Clark and James Coughlin. This trio has been supplied with a happy medium in the shape of a two-act musical comedy entitled "At the Mardi Gras," and "All Aboard," from the pen of Donald Morrison Clark.

EMPIRE THEATER

"Something entirely new in burlesque," critics in other cities acclaim the "Girls From the Follies" which starts a week's engagement Monday at the Empire theatre. Its American Beauty chorus is said to eclipse any ever carried by a burlesque organization. The cast includes George Brennan, Fred Binder, Harry Van, Sedal Bennett, Laura Branner and Al Bush.

CORONA THEATRE

"The Girl Who Did Not Care," will be shown at the Corona theatre, 745 Prospect avenue, Saturday, March 24. The story is about a boy who had never seen a woman, he knew nothing of sex, or of the real world. All the life he could remember was spent on a secluded estate. Then he returned home to find his parents separated by an ungrateful, but alluring fiend-girl. How was he to proceed? How was he to overcome the lure of the sex? This stirring and unique question is masterfully presented and solved in this extraordinary special feature.

Other features are: Sunday, Francis Ford and Grace Cunard in "The Purple Mask," episode No. 6; Monday, "Robinson Crusoe," with an all star cast; Tuesday, "The Perils of the Secret Service," with Kingsley day, "Defective Detectives," an L-KO Gringo," with Harry D. Carey; Thursday, "Defectiv eDetectives," an L-KO comedy with Phil Dunham, and Friday, "Her Surrender," with Anna K. Nilsson.

STANDARD THEATER

One of the greatest masterpieces will be shown at the Standard theatre week of March 25th, in the picturization of Charles Dicken's immortal work of the French revolution, "A Tale of Two Cities." William Farnum, the beloved idol of millions of movie fans, plays a dual role, that of the soft-spoken aristocrat, Charles Darney, and the devil-may-care, dissolute English barrister, Sidney Carton. Everyone is familiar with this soul-stirring story of a man's greatest sacrifice for the woman he loved, and momentuous scenes of the French revolution. Never before in the history of photo-drama production has a masterpiece been filmed with so notable a cast of players as has been gathered together for this production. There is no need of a synopsis of this story, as it is better to be seen than read, in fact nearly every household has in its libary Dickens works, although no book can describe it as well as this photoplay, and it is one of the greatest treats of the season. Besides this wonderful play the second Max Linder comedy, entitled "Max Wants a Divorce," will be shown and it is far better and funnier than the first. So missing the show at the Standard this week is missing the time of your life.

COLONIAL THEATRE

William Faversham's all-star combination in Bernard Shaw's "Getting Married," which has been described as the season's success, will be presented at the Colonial theatre next week. Shaw does not make any attempt whatever to instruct his audiences. His aim is simply to amuse them. In "Getting Married," is always fats and often furious until the final curtain.

The cast that will appear in this city is the same as in the New York success.

LIBERTY THEATER

Headline honors are to be divided between a modern illusionist and a Russian dancing ballet on the program of six all-star acts at the Liberty theatre for the week of March 26. Kalma and Co. offer one of the most neat and amusing illusion acts seen here since the days of Kellar. He has a carload of ingenious devices with which he toys with your imagination and belief. Very clever and possessed of every essential for an act of that kind. The Vestoff Troupe is an imperial Russian dancing ballet and they present a complete assortment of classical dances. Their wardrobe is very elaborate and the act is high class in every respect, and one that always leaves a good impression. Williams and Culver offer a series of songs and comedy numbers that are clean up-to-date and most enjoyable. They are both former musical comedy stars and know that end of the game from start to finish. The Two Specks do a variety of vaudeville offerings for your approval, a little bit of everything from singing and dancing down to juggling. Roberts and Maitland are a comedy team with a repertoire of select laugh producers, and in addition offer several select vocal selections ranging from grand opera to modern ragtime. Arthur Colert, monologist, in songs and character impersonations, completes the vaudeville offerings, which is modified by a program of photoplays both comedy and dramatic.

ALHAMBRA AND MALL

"The Argyle Case," one of the most famous stories of the last decade, has been made into pictures and will be shown at the Alhambra and New Mall for one week, starting Sunday.

It stars Robert Warwick and Elaine Hammerstein. This play was written by Harvey J. O'Higgins, Harriett Ford and William J. Burns .It is presented by Klaw & Erlanger through the Selznick productions.

The Mall and Alhambra next week will have special children's shows every afternoon. Watch the daily papers for the programs.

"The Great Secret" will be shown as usual Sunday to Wednesday.

Always Square.

WHY LAUGH? If you're going to drive a self-propelled vehicle thru the streets of Cleveland during the next few weeks, that's just what you need—something that will dive quickly, come up easily, yet keep you dry.
How's your four-man top? Rather airy? How are the side Curtains? Sort of dish-raggy, with the windows looking like the cathedral of Rheims? You'd best have everything made ship-shape cause it's going to blow hard, and rain is still made extra wet even if the country is going dry.
We have every facility of a first-line trench hospital. If there's anything wrong with a car's bode we can fix it. We amputate old fenders and graft on new ones. We trephine holes and dents in bodies. We remove dead epidermis, and a direct descendent of Michael Angelo attends to the refinishing.

The Gas Cost of Living
Boston baked beans with Bacon-- do you like them?
Tonight we will have some for supper.
Six of us will be served.
We will also have celery, coffee, oranges and cocoanut, sweet wafers and butter.
The meal will cost 90 cents, or 15 cents for each person.
Of course we must bake the beans, steam the brown bread and make the coffee. Else they would be worthless. And we must wash the dishes. The gas to do all these things will cost less than one-half cent.
In other cities comparing favorably in size with Cleveland the gas would cost nearly three cents.

RUMORS OF WAR

By Martha E. Bales, Willoughby

Last night when the moon was shining,
And all around was still,
And one little ray of moonlight
Fell o'er my window sill,
As I sat by the open window,
I saw the tall dark trees,
Standing black in the mist of moonlight,
Their long boughs barren of leaves.

Then I thought of my father sleeping
Over there 'neath the tall faded grass,
Where the wild winds of March-time
Chase and roar as they pass.
I thought of what mother told me,
When he marched away to war,
How she placed the gun on his shoulder
And never shed a tear.

Then the tall trees seemed like soldiers,
Marching away through the night.
I saw the old flag leading,
Fluttering on, in the pale moonlight.
Then over in the graveyard
There arose a long line of blue,
I could hear the rattle of their arms
As they passed on, and through.

Hurrah, Hurrah, old flag, I cried,
You'll never bite the dust,
For though those heroes long have slept,
Their swords shall never rust.
We'll follow where you lead dear flag,
Through blood, or vale of tears
We'll battle to uphold thy right
Through days or through long years.

EDWARD MOORE CLUB

Address by Attorney J. J. Sullivan

An interesting and very impressive talk was given before the Edward Moore Club Sunday morning by Mr. John J. Sullivan. The talk was a wonderful example and exhibition of impromptu speaking.

Mr. Sullivan laid most stress on the necessity of being able to act on the impulse of the moment with judgment and decisively, the power and strength of the decision lying in the capacity and preparedness of the mental ability. All great men in every walk of life find it continually necessary to make important decisions and to come to definite conclusions on the spur of the moment; and always the judgment incumbent on the decision or conclusion is on the mental training of the individual. Therefore, he says, begin to train now. As a man in the United States Senate is of the same calibre of intellectual environment at Washington as he always has been in his own state, so is the young man, upon entering life, classed with the intellectual standard of the individuals with whom he went through his school days. Start now, then; mental preparedness combined with ambition is a sure road to success. Have an ideal and work toward it; and above all have confidence in yourself and your future.

Such was the nature of his talk.

Letter of March 13.

Mr. Daniel Lilley of Francis Corners passed away Sunday at the advanced age of 79 years, very suddenly, only taken down the day before. Although he had been in very poor health for several years, he kept around most of the time. His funeral will be held Wednesday afternoon from the home of his daughter, Mrs. Walter Baldwin. Burial will be in Waite Hill cemetery, where his first wife and daughter lie sleeping.

Mrs. George Stokes slipped off the porch Monday a week ago when it was so icy both feet went out from under her and she came right down on her back. It's a miracle that her back wasn't broken. She was terribly hurt and was unable to move or stir for nearly a week, but is a little more comfortable now. It seems the Stokes family are having more than their share of sickness, as the daughter, Miss Alma, was sick for several months, and hadn't got her strength back yet, and then her father has been ill all winter, and has been getting worse since Mrs. Stokes got hurt. Dr. Kenning is caring for Mr. Stokes and Dr. Ingersoll is attending Mrs. Stokes.

The Cox brothers are making sugar, as also is Irwin Hadlock, who made 20 gallons the first run, which is good for this poor season.

EDWARD HATCH, JR., RETURNS FROM SCHOOL

Having completed the work in the three-year agricultural course at the College of Agriculture, Ohio State University, Columbus, Edward Andrew Hatch, Jr., of Willoughby, received a certificate on Friday, March 16, when 62 Ohio farm men and boys composing the first senior class in the short agricultural course were graduated from the University.

Hatch will be on the home farm after April 1.

Of the 62 receiving certificates 52 will operate or manage farms, 6 will direct cow testing associations and 4 will enter the vegetable gardening business. The graduates range in age from 20 to 30 years.

The three-year agricultural course was started in October, 1914, and now has an enrollment of nearly 250. It opens about the middle of October each year and closes during the third week in March, allowing the students to engage in farm work during tthe summer months. One of the requirements of the course is that each student must work out a project on their home farm during the course; this generally consists of a drainage project, cow testing and feeding, the building of barns, houses, hog barns, poultry houses and concrete structures.

WOMAN'S CLUB HAVE INTERESTING GATHERING

Mrs. O'Hare, with original poems and talk on Ireland in "Story and Song" added much to the pleasure of the pleasant gathering at the home of Mrs. Cora Gaines Carrel, Friday last. Her talk upon travel was particularly delightful. We go abroad, she said, to become heir to all the history and historical lore of the old countries; and it is possible for us to bring back treasures to enrich ourselves daily, and at the same time to leave the treasures behind for later comers to see, and enjoy. About 30 listened to the talk and enjoyed the St. Patrick day menu and entertainment of the afternoon arranged by Mrs. Carrel.

LEGAL NOTICE

Frank Richeson, alias Frank Richson, alias Frank Richardson, who resides at 1213 McClelland Avenue, Detroit, Michigan, and Grace Richardson, wife of the said Frank Richeson, who also resides at 1213 McClelland Avenue, Detroit, Michigan, will take notice that on the 15th day of March, 1917, Agnes Simons as Guardian of the person and estate of Zack Simons, filed her petition in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, in Case No. 155114 against them and each of them setting forth that she is now the duly appointed, qualified and acting guardian of the person and estate of Zack Simons, an imbecile person and resident of South Euclid, Ohio. That her said ward, Zack Simons, is the owner in fee simple and in actual and peaceable possession of the following described real estate:

Parcel One—Situated in the Township of East Cleveland, county of Cuyahoga, and state of Ohio, and known as sublot No. 18 in Laura M. Stewart's sub-division of part of original East Cleveland Lot No. 53, as shown by the recorded plat in Volume 19 of Maps, page 24 of Cuyahoga County Records, and being 174.24 feet front on the east side of Noble Place and extending back 250 feet deep, measuring from the center of the street.

Parcel Two—Situated in the Township of East Cleveland, county of Cuyahoga and state of Ohio, and known as Sublot No. 16 in the subdivision of L. M. Stewart of part of original lot No. 53, recorded in Volume 19 of Maps, Page 21 of Cuyahoga County Records.

That the plaintiff's ward derived his title to Parcel No. 1 hereinbefore described by virtue of a warranty deed executed by Frank W. Bartlett who was then the owner in fee simple of said property and Mary J. Bartlett, wife of the said Frank W. Bartlett, who joined in said deed, thereby releasing her dower right in said property, which deed was executed on the 26th day of October in the year 1900, and recorded on the 10th day of November, 1900, in Volume 771, Page 123 of Cuyahoga County Records of Deeds.

That her said ward derived his title to Parcel No. 2 by virtue of a warranty deed from James W. Stewart and Laura M. Stewart, husband and wife, the said Laura M. Stewart then being the owner in fee simple of said property and the said James W. Stewart releasing his dower therein, which deed was executed on the 7th day of March, in the year 1896 and recorded on the 20th day of March, 1896 in Volume 631, page 93 of Cuyahoga County Records of Deeds. That the said Zack Simons on the respective days when said conveyances were executed took actual and absolute possession of said described premises, and has held actual, continuous and notorious possession ever since said time. That said possession has been ever since held wholly adverse to the claims and interests of the defendants herein.

That on or about the 7th day of April in the year 1900, the said Zack Simons executed a warranty deed to the premises hereinbefore described as Parcel No. 2, in which deed the said Frank Richeson is named as grantee, being designated therein as Frank Richson. That said deed was filed with the Recorder of Cuyahoga County and was recorded on the 13th day of April, 1900 in Volume 754, page 198 of Cuyahoga County Records of Deeds.

That on the 14th day of March, 1904, the said Zack Simons executed a warranty deed of the property described as Parcel No. 1, in which deed said Frank Richeson is named as grantee, being designated therein as Frank Richson, which deed was filed with the Recorder of Cuyahoga County, and was recorded on the 28th day of March, 1904, in Volume 917, page 43 of Cuyahoga County Records of Deeds.

That by reason thereof the defendant, Frank Richeson, claims an estate or interest in said described premises adverse to the rights of the plaintiff and her ward.

The petition further states that neither of said deeds herein described, executed by the said Zack Simons were ever delivered to the defendant Frank Richeson, that no consideration passed from the said Frank Richeson to the said Zack Simons, and that there was no intention upon the part of said Zack Simons to deliver said deeds or to pass title thereby, and that the said Zack Simons at all times retained complete and absolute control over said deeds.

That by reason thereof, said deeds conveyed no title to the defendant Frank Richeson, and that said deeds are null and void and of no effect. That by reason of the fact that said deeds have been recorded and stand upon the records as good and valid conveyances, a cloud is cast upon the title to said real estate.

It is further set forth in said petition that the defendant, Grace Richardson, is the wife of the defendant, Frank Richeson, and claims an estate or interest in said real estate adverse to the right of the plaintiff and her said ward therein. That neither of said defendants have any claim, title or interest in said premises whatever.

That by reason of the premises, a cloud is cast upon the title to said real estate which greatly and unjustly depreciates the value thereof. The prayer of said petition is that the defendants may be compelled to set forth their interests in said real estate, if any they have; that said claim of defendants may be adjudged to be null and void; that the said deeds executed by said Zack Simons to said Frank Richeson and recorded as aforesaid may be held to be null and void and of no effect; and that the plaintiff's title may be quieted against said defendants' claims, and they and each of them be enjoined from asserting such claims against said real estate; that the cloud thereon may be removed, and for such other and further relief as equity and the need of the case may require and to the court may seem just, necessary and proper.

Said defendants are required to answer said petition on or before the 5th day of May, 1917, or judgment will be taken against them. M15 A19

SOMETHING ABOUT THE MERITS OF THE ACKERMAN WHEEL

A few months ago there was organized in Cleveland a company for the purpose of manufacturing resilient steel wheels for automobiles, motor trucks, motorcycles and aeroplanes. From reliable sources we learn that these wheels are not a new idea but the result of several years' study and work. Recent developments and practical tests give proof to claims by the backers of the wheel that a combination of resilient wheels and cushions or solid tires can be used successfully on any motor-driven vehicle.

The Ackerman Wheel Company, located at 540 Rockefeller Building, Cleveland, with factory at 2146 Scranton road, has made substantial progress during the short time the company has been in business. Dies and tools necessary for turning out a mechanically perfect wheel have been made, and machinery sufficient for the manufacture of 100 wheels per day has already been installed. Officials of the company advise that additional equipment to bring the factory production up to 1,000 wheels a day will be added as fast as possible. The company is represented by practical business men and engineers of wide experience.

That the Ackerman wheel is a product of more than ordinary value and one which has speedily made a prominent place for itself, is evident from the manner the subject is being taken up by eminent authorities. The following is a reprint of an article in the Cleveland Plain Dealer, of March 17th.

"That Cleveland is bound to assume a prominent place in the development of the aeroplane for war and commercial purposes, was the opinion rendered by Mr. G. Douglas Wardrop, editor of Aerial Age, in an address made before the Cleveland division of the Society of Automobile Engineers at Hotel Statler Friday night. He referred to this city's facilities for the manufacture of various engine parts and mentioned particularly one Cleveland made part which has already established itself, the Ackerman wheel, made by the Ackerman Wheel Co., Scranton road.

"According to Mr. Wardrop, extensive experiments conducted at the government aviation fields at Mineola, demonstrated the superiority of the Cleveland made wheel over the ordinary wire or wood wheel now in general use. It made landings easier for the pilot, as well as reducing the shock to the aeroplane itself at the time of landing. So impressed were a number of Canadian aero officials who were present at the tests, that they asked for a repetition of them in Canada for the benefit of that government."

It is apparent from the foregoing that another unit has been added to the already large number of successful Cleveland industries.

All that is asked in return for these valuable services is that every person treated will state the result obtained to their friends and thus prove to the sick and afflicted in every city and locality, that at last treatments have been discovered that are reasonably sure and certain in their effect.

EAT HEARTILY

The United Doctors are experts in the treatment of chronic diseases and so great and wonderful have been their results that in many cases it is hard to find the dividing line between skill and miracle.

SLEEP SOUNDLY

Diseases of the stomach, intestines, liver, blood, skin, nerves, heart, spleen, rheumatism, sciatica, tapeworm, leg ulcer, weak lungs and those afflicted with long-standing, deep-seated, chronic diseases, that have baffled the skill of the family physicians, should not fail to call. Deafness often has been cured in sixty days. Enjoy robust health and rosy cheeks and sparkling eyes.

According to their system no more operations for appendicitis, gall stones, tumors, goiter, piles, etc., as all cases accepted will be treated without operation or hypodermic injection, as they were among the first in America to earn the name of "Bloodless Surgeons," by doing away with the knife, with blood and with all pain in the successful treatment of these dangerous diseases.

No matter what your ailment may be, no matter what others may have told you, no matter what experience you may have had with other physicians, it will be to your advantage to see them at once. Have it forever settled in your mind. If your case is incurable they will give you such advice as may relieve and stay the disease. Do not put off this duty you owe yourself or friends or relatives who are suffering because of your sickness, as a visit at this time may help you.

Worn-out and run-down men or women, no matter what your ailment may be, call, it costs you nothing.

Remember, this free offer is for this visit only.

DEATH OF MRS. S. M. BROWN, OF WICKLIFFE

Much sympathy is expressed in the neighborhood account of the sudden death, March 21st, of Mrs. S. M. Brown, she having become ill and passed away on her way to church, that evening.

Myrtle Spencer was born at Dowagiac, Mich, July 27th, 1868, lived with her parents in Ambroy, Mich; Iowa and Illinois. While living in Illinois she married S. M. Brown on December 26, 1889, and to them were born Dale and Ruth, who, with their father, survive her. She also leaves her father, who is in California, a brother in Kansas, a sister in Minnesota and another sister in Illinois. Only two sisters were able to be present at the funeral. Mrs. Brown was a member of the Glenville Baptist church in Cleveland, but was associated with this her home church and was a very faithful attendant both of our church and Sunday school. She was in charge of our Camp Fire girls and always ready to do anything she could for His sake.

Community Matters of Individual Interest

FROM A WOMAN'S POINT OF VIEW

The editor has had in mind for some time some letter-editorials from women residents, "From a Woman's Point of View." The women, it will be agreed, do the larger part of the buying. Their view-point, as buyers, then, is extremely important. In a recent series of articles which were featured in this paper, it was suggested that "getting the view-point from the other side of the counter," would be a great asset to the merchant. Here then are presented a few thoughts from a well-known Willoughby woman. Her signature would carry weight, but she has requested that it be withheld.

This letter, it may be mentioned, has been in form about two weeks. It should carry considerable weight with the merchants board recently formed, as it was written without knowledge or suggestion of their intent and the letter shows a most gratifying concurrence of opinion with the present efforts and plans of the Chamber of Commerce and others:

LEGAL NOTICE

Aldridge Sutherland, whose address is unknown, and the unknown heirs, devisees, legatees, assigns and legal representatives of Aldridge Sutherland, deceased, all of whose names and places of residence are unknown, are hereby notified that Edwards T. Buhl filed his petition in the Court of Common Pleas, Cuyahoga County, in Ohio, being case No. 155124, against them and others alleging that he is the owner in fee simple, and in actual possession of the following described premises, to-wit:

Situated in the Township of Independence, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio, and known as being the westerly part of Lot No. 48 in Tract No. 2, West of the Cuyahoga River in said Township, and bounded as follows:

Northerly by the Northerly line of said Lot, said Northerly line being also the Southerly line of land owned by Christian Lingler, Easterly by the Westerly line of 30 Acres of land, formerly owned by George Hesel; Southerly by the Southerly line of said Lot, said Southerly line being also the southerly line of said Tract, and Westerly by the center line of the road, said center line being also the Westerly line of said Township and containing 34 Acres of Land.

Above premises are subject to all legal highways.

It is alleged in the petition that the plaintiff and his predecessors in title have had and held open, actual, notorious, adverse, continuous and exclusive possession of the above described premises for more than twenty-one (21) years, but that the defendants above named claim some interest in the premises, adverse to plaintiff's rights, by reason of a mortgage securing the payment of a note for $75.00, executed by Elias C. Connelley and wife to Aldridge Sutherland, dated March 18th, 1848. Plaintiff alleges that said note has long since been paid and that said claims are without foundation either in law or equity.

The prayer of petitioner is that the defendants may be compelled to show what interest, if any, they have in said premises; that the same be adjudged to be null and void and plaintiff's title quieted against the same and for such other relief as is proper. The above named defendants are required to answer said petition on or before the 5th day of May, 1917, or judgment will be rendered in accordance with the prayer of the petition. M15 A19

Many of the largest cities in the country are not blest with natural gas.

And these cities that are forced to use artificial gas as a substitute must pay almost three times as much per thousand cubic feet.

Yet artificial gas is barely 50 per cent. as efficient as Natural Gas for heating purposes.

In other words, YOU pay about ONE-THIRD for TWICE as much actual heat.

THE QUALITY OF FRIENDSHIP

Ralph Waldo Emerson was a good soul, else he would not have said: "The only to have a friends is to be one." It doubtless would distress the sage of Concord beyond measure were he capable of realizing that there is a well founded suspicion that the art of friendship is dying out among us.

The friendship of the ancients was very exacting. In modern times we should look a long while for such mutual regard as that of Damon and Pythias.

Friendship in our crowded days covers a wider area, but as in the case of all extensive development it has lost its intensity. Instead of friendships we have visiting lists. Not those whom we love, but those whom we would propitiate, we invite to dinner. Those who should propitiate us invite us in turn and permit us to eat their food and air our views.

We live, alas, in the suburbs of each other's hearts.

The man without friends, or at the least without one dependable friend, can accomplish very little in this world. Depending on his own strength alone his mightiest endeavors are as nothing. At harvest time he gathers nothing but leaves.

But the man with friends—strong friends, true friends and loyal friends—who have confidence in his integrity and ability to do things, has great power. When he leads they will follow him, and all working together unitedly bring victory. This is the reason why some men achieve great success with moderate abilities, while their more brilliant competitors fall short.

This is true in every business and profession. It does not matter so much whether a man has enemies or not as that he has true friends who will never desert him.

To have loyal friends is worth all else. To have friends who can be depended on is to gain success in life.

But theer is one thing to be borne in mind: To have true friends you must be one. The quality of loyalty you get depends on the quality you give.

AMERICAN FLAG FAMINE NEAR

There is almost a famine of American flags in San Juan. In the past week there have been unusual demands for flags at the stores here and Gonzalez Padin Co. yesterday said they had many inquiries for American flags from Ponce, Mayaguez and other towns. Los Muchachos also said they had sold more flags during the past week than in a long while and have gone so far as to consider the possibility of making up some here. Gillies and Woodward also said they had had a lot of calls for flags since the signing of the citizenship bill.—From the Porto Rico Progress.

THE KIND OF A TOWN YOU LIKE

If you want to live in the kind of a town
Like the kind of a town you like,
You don't have to pack your clothes in a grip,
And start on a long, long hike.
For you will only find what you left behind,
And there's nothing that's really new,
It's a knock to yourself, if you knock your town,
It isn't your town, it's you.

Great towns are not made by men afraid.
Lest someone will get ahead.
Where everyone works, and nobody shirks,
You can raise a town from the dead
And if while you make your personal stake,
Your neighbor, he makes one too,
Your town will be what you want to see,
It isn't your town, it's YOU.

A FEW WORDS

Just a few words but they brightened
A life that was clouded with care,
And strengthened a spirit discouraged
And close to the verge of despair.
And faith to go hopefully onward
Sprang up where their tenderness fell—
Just a few words. But how potent
For comfort or blessing their spell!

Just a few words, but they blighted
And blackened a name as a frost,
And stung unto madness a spirit
That hung on the brink of the lost
Hung, trembling with pitiful longings
To turn from the valley of shame—
Just a few words, but they weighted
The balance. And whose was the blame?

The one who had shifted the burden
From shoulders that shrunk from the load,
Spoke also the light words of scoffing
That proved the poor, halting one's goad.
The speaker went carelessly onward
Nor recked of the deeds that were done;
Nor thought of the lilies or thistles
To spring from the seeds idly sown.

Did Not Know the Rutabagas.

THE TRUTH IN ADVERTISING---STEALING ANOTHER MAN'S IDEAS

—By Joe Mitchell Chapple—

The sentiments of regard entertained for Robert L. Force, the "Co-efficiency" expert, by his friends amounts to enthusiastic admiration; hero-worship, in some cases.

And yet the man is as bitterly negative on one proposition as any pessimist you ever saw. The particular red rag which spurs his wrath till it scintillates is what he calls "brain thieves."

I had merely called his attention in a casual way to a trifling "coincidence" in which a brother publisher had thoughtlessly lifted some attractive copyrighted matter, and you should have heard the explosion.

"The most inveterate porch climbers nowadays are these business burglars who make no bones about swiping and sniping on another man's preserves.

"Hardly a day passes that you don't see some famous trade mark or copyright changed just enough to fit something else, or twisted in such a way as to render it barely otherwise, and stolen bodily.

"Coca-cola has been butchered and mauled into more distorted acrobatics typographically than any other four syllables in the English language; every one of them malice aforethought and pretence. Washburn-Crosby's 'Eventually' has been embezzled in every direction. The wonder to me is that the victims of this peculiarly American perversion restrain themselves from assault and battery.

"Some hard-working, hard-thinking business man goes ahead and develops an idea, or perfects a catch-line, and the minute he has spent a fortune on it and put it into the clear as an honest success, he is pursued by a pack of hyenas snapping at his business heels and worrying him and his trade, absolutely without any real recourse except expensive and distracting litigation.

"How much legitimate business is lost as a result of this sort of thing is incalculable. I believe the time is coming when the business world will demand the enactment of criminal laws to cover such cases. Why it should be any more excusable to imitate a man's trade mark than it is to forge his name is hard for the practical mind to understand. Ideas are appropriated and perverted without end. Carefully wrought plans in business are siezed upon, cheapened and ruined by unscrupulous copiers.

"Styles in the garment world, styles in dress, in hats, in shoes, in everything, are run away with and their excellence destroyed by conscienceless 'adapters.' The dockets of our courts are filled with cases of business men fighting for their common rights against these commercial scavengers. It is outrageous."

"You know what Kipling says about it, Mr. Force?"

"Yes," he replied, "and it's the only consolation a man has. But the main thought in Kipling's verse was the inspiration to keep on and not give up—to fight ahead without stopping. The curse of it is that the business man has got to keep on running to escape being dragged down. There's no chance of any reasonable rest; the hounds are after him in full cry. Note how Kipling words it:

'They asked me how I done it,
And I gave 'em the Scripture text:
You keep your light so shining
A little in front of the next.
They copied all they could follow,
But they couldn't copy my mind,
And I left 'em sweatin' and stealin'
A year and a half behind.'"

"You say, Mr. Force ,that there is practically no legal recourse. Do you mean that?" I asked.

"Yes, I do mean it. Go to a patent lawyer today with some formula that you want to protect and ask him his advice. He'll tell you confidentially not to patent it at all, but to trade-mark it with your own name as part of the trademark. The reason he advises this is because your name is about the only thing they don't dare steal. Patent your formula and make it a matter of public record and all they have to do is to change it a little bit and put a substitute on the market 'just as good', at half the price, and the bottom drops out from under you. Any business man who has been through the mill will tell you this; and there are thousands of them. Your own printing business is full of such cases. Laborious processes, tediously worked out, properties that ought to be as much yours as your money in the bank, are deliberately manipulated against you or taken from you."

"And yet," I ventured to interpose, "our attorneys tell us there is no such thing as a wrong without a remedy."

"The only remedy will be either the enactment of criminal legislation with the imposition of a punishment to fit the crime, or else a tremendous united business movement against this iniquity, and the resultant awakening of public conscience in regard to it. I think this latter will come first, because when all is said and the real sufferer in the last analysis, as in the first, is the public.

"The so-called campaign in behalf of 'Truth in Advertising' sometimes seems to me like locking the barn after the horse is stolen. It is not so much the bold robber that I am afraid of as it is the smug and smirking hypocrite who smiles and smiles and is a villain still quite comfortable in the exasperating knowledge that he is 'within the law.'"

There is matter in this for reflection, and wholesome if belated action. It is high time in the United States of America that the "swipers and snipers" who are picking off the honest soldiers of legitimate business were rounded up and court-martialed, made to face the firing squad of public indignation, and put out of business.

This may read just a little like a polemic epistle. It is intended to be so.

What Mr. Force proscribes is not the quoting of some helpful thought or the adopting of some worth-while opinion. What he denounces is the stealing of another man's brains for the sake of making money.

I share in the denunciation and subscribe to the indictment.

Yours faithfully,
JOE MITCHELL CHAPPLE

PLUCK WINS

"You may be whatever you resolve to be," declares "Girard" in the Philadelphia Ledger.

That was the motto of "Stonewall Jackson," who died a lieutenant-general at 39. The meteoric soldier found that sticking everlastingly at it was what put the solve in resolve.

"Stonewall's" maxim means that you can do what you try to do if you try hard enough. M. Favre found that out 40 years ago when against obstacles supreme and penalties of $1,000 a day for failure he pierced the St. Gothard tunnel through the Alps.

That stupendous work cost eight times the original estimate of ten millions, but it was done, and done to the everlasting glory of human pluck.

"Daisy" Pattern

American Semi-Porcelain - $16.50
100-Piece Set.
A plain pattern of a style that is always pleasing and that is especially good looking. The decoration consists of a bright blue line set between two gold lines. Very attractive, the set contains complete service for twelve persons.

American China - - - - $25
100-Piece Set.
A handsome pink and lavender border with two gold lines. This ware is not only good looking and serviceable, but really of extraordinary quality.

American China - - - - $25
100-Piece Set.
A very pretty pattern on ware especially recommended for hard service. The decorating is a border design of small yellow roses in clusters with a pencil scroll joining these clusters into a conventional band with a gold line on each side. There is also a gold line on the edge and handle of each piece

Rambler Rose Pattern - - $25
Hand-Painted Nippon China—100-piece Service
Suggested by the illustration the little clusters of pink rambler roses are placed at regular intervals along the edge of each piece. Also paralleling the edge there is a hairline of gold with a hairline upon each handle. The ware is a clear white body, thin, very attractive and pleasing. The plainness of the shape furnishes an excellent background for the handiwork of the artist.

Daisy Pattern - - - - $30
Hand-Painted Nippon China—100-piece Service.
Three dainty little daisies in a cluster make up the central characteristic feature of this decoration. The flowers with their leaves distributed at regular intervals between two parallel gold lines. The plainness of the shape of the pieces and the daintiness of the decorations make this a very pleasing and unusual pattern. For hand painted china the price is certainly very attractive.

THE WILLOUGHBY REPUBLICAN

For a Great and Greater Willoughby.

E. D. Bryant..........Editor
B. BRYANT..........Business Manager
Telephone 125 K. Subscription price $1.00 per year.

This newspaper is published every Friday by The Times Publishing Co., an Ohio corporation. Republican in politics and devoted to the best interests of Willoughby and Lake County.

Entered at Willoughby, Ohio, Postoffice as second class matter.

All praise should be given the Willoughby Chamber of Commerce. Their members are loyal citizens who are ever ready to do the most for Willoughby. They do not just TALK things—they DO things. This organization has started and fostered numerous improvements that have meant progress and benefit for the home town. They are watchful for opportunities to bring more business here and to make our village a DESIRABLE LOCATION FOR HOMES. FROM A WOMAN'S POINT OF VIEW they have done much and as they will continue to do more, may I make a few suggestions?

Is there not some way that might be devised TO BETTER HOME FACILITIES for the FARMER that he may sell his goods in the HOME TOWN on a CASH BASIS? A ready market for the farmers' products on this basis would bring to us a plenteous supply of FRESH GARDEN TRUCK, EGGS, BUTTER, etc., AT A MORE REASONABLE COST TO US AND LESS WORK FOR THE PRODUCER.

Can you not plan with the MERCHANTS ways and means that will KEEP MORE MONEY AT HOME? A conference with those most vitally interested might be of help and also reduce the cost of foodstuffs. THE OVERHEAD EXPENSE OF THE MERCHANT is too heavy and I believe a majority of women, who have home matters at heart, WOULD NOT OBJECT TO CARRYING A MARKET BASKET on her arm and TAKING HOME HER OWN GROCERIES and paying cash, if by so doing the prices could be reduced by eliminating the COST OF NUMEROUS DELIVERIES AND PERHAPS TELEPHONES. MANY WOMEN THINK NOTHING OF BRINGING HOME SEVERAL PACKAGES FROM CLEVELAND and would do the same here if it would warrant a difference in the cost.

May I suggest that perhaps the APPROACHES TO OUR VILLAGE might be improved, as many people pass through Willoughby, some who might later become citizens and usually one is impressed favorably or otherwise by the entrance to a town.

Would it not be advisable to encourage HOME GARDENING, utilizing BARE SPACES and VACANT LOTS by offering SMALL PRIZES FOR THE BEST EFFORT? It would stimulate interest and energy and stand not only for beauty, but could be made to reduce the H. C. of L.

Willoughby has every reason to be proud of its firemen. They have demonstrated their bravery and helpful spirit on many occasions, but would not BETTER EQUIPMENT PROVE BENEFICIAL? A suitable chemical engine and a motor hose truck, etc., would give the boys a much better chance to fight a fire successfully. WE WANT OUR TOWN TO BE DESIRABLE FOR NEW BUSINESS AND NEW HOMES AND MODERN SANITARY CONDITIONS with good protection for health and homes is always a good inducement.

I know that some things do not come under your jurisdiction, Honorable Chamber of Commerce, but CO-OPERATION with the various branches of our VILLAGE AND PERHAPS WITH THE CIVIC LEAGUE WOULD BE PRODUCTIVE OF MUCH GOOD.

Please accept these few suggestions in the SAME SPIRIT OF HELPFULNESS TO EACH OTHER in which they are written, and again—All honor to the Willoughby Chamber of Commerce.

Signed: One of Willoughby's Interested Woman Residents.

We believe that the Chamber of Commerce have some interesting data to offer in reply to this letter as to how much money is received in Willoughby—how it is spent, and how much is left here. Also suggestions in regard to the delivery of material, and the farmers' produce. We also believe that the Chamber will be pleased to know of the INTEREST THAT EXISTS AMONG THE WOMEN RESIDENTS. Possibly this has not been exhibited before because it has not been invited.

OLD WILLOUGHBY RESIDENT PASSES WITH THE DEATH OF MRS. ELIZABETH LEUTY

It has been said that it is not the crops or the census that determines the standing of a community, but the character of its men. And this may apply equally to the character of its women. With the passing of Mrs. Elizabeth Leuty the community lost an old resident of sterling worth. Mrs. Leuty died March 13th 1917, aged 79 years and two days. She was born in Orange Township March 11th, 1838, daughter of R. and Jane Jackson. She was one of a family of twelve children, and was the last to be called to her Heavenly home.

April 3rd, 1859 she was united in marriage to William Leuty. Five sons and four daughters were born of the union, all of whom survive. She also had twelve grand children.

Her husband died April 27th 1907. One son and one daughter remained in the home with Mrs. Leuty, and they, with the other members of her family, have patiently and willingly done all they could to comfort her in her last days.

Mrs. Leuty was a devoted wife and loving mother. Her chief aim in life was her home and her family. Her only wish in life was to see her family grown to man and womanhood, and that wish was fully granted.

Nineteen years of her married life were passed in Mayfield, after which she moved to Willoughby, residing here for 39 years. This period was passed at the old home where she died.

Mrs. Leuty had a great respect for the Sabbath Day. She clung to the right as near as it was possible to do. Her good influence and her good work will cast its reflection for many years to come over the lives of her children and those who knew her.

The funeral services were held at the home Saturday March 17th, Rev. H. E. Bright conducted the services, taking as his text, 2nd Timothy, 11 and 12 verses. Mrs. Birkholz of Willoughby, sang three beautiful selections, and the profusion of flowers attested to the esteem in which Mrs. Leuty was held. From the honored dead we may take increased devotion; to them we may pay the tribute of increased effort in our own life as the result of their example and influence which remains with us.

H. E. WARD OPERATED UPON

H. E. Ward, a former Willoughby boy, but who for many years has been a resident of San Dimas, Cal., was recently taken to a hospital to be treated for "leakage of the heart." There it was decided by his physicians and a prominent surgeon to try "transfusion." Young men from a nearby college promptly offered blood. His friends here received the following word: "The third trial occurred this a. m. It was a complete success. I had given me 205 C. C. of splendid blood. As soon as the operation was over the boy returned to his school and I was able to walk to my room. I have been confined to the bed for several weeks but hope that the doctor will let me go home to-morrow."

PASSING OF MRS. J. N. GROVER

Written for The Republican by a Neighbor

The "home-going" of Mrs. J. N. Grover has cast a shadow of gloom over the community. She had been in poor health for a number of years, being afflicted with anemia. The first of March she contracted a severe cold, which developed into a complication of diseases. Although everything that medical skill and loving hands could do, she gradually grew weaker and on the evening of St. Patrick's day she closed her tired eyes in sleep and wakened on the other side of the curtain.

She leaves a husband, a son 14 years old, an aged mother, one brother and two sisters, to feel the loneliness of her departure to that land whence no traveler ever returns.

The funeral, in charge of Undertaker Davis, was held at her late home Wednesday, March 21st. Rev. Floyd H. Randall spoke comforting words and Miss Florence Wasson sang sweetly "Sometime We Shall Understand." and "Crossing the Bar." The floral tributes were mute testimony of love to the one gone and sympathy to the living., were many and unusually beautiful.

Many friends from Cleveland, where she spent her girlhood days, were present. Interment was made in the village cemetery.

BOOKS--NEWS OF THE THEATRES--PHOTO PLAYS--MUSIC

Tips For Play-Goers

B. F. KEITH'S HIPPODROME.

The management of B. F. Keith's Hippodrome has arranged to put on four big star hits for next week. Other than these top notchers there will be many other actors of national repute in the list. These entertainments are to surpass in artistic brilliancy any that have been staged in the popular playhouse for some time.

Among those that will entertain thousands next week are Sophie Tucker, the "Mary Garden of Ragtime;" Jean Adair and her artistic associates in her very latest playlet; then there is our native son, Charles T. Aldrich, who made such a hit in "Hip, Hip, Hooray," not to say a word about that old-time base ball player, "Old Cap" Anson, who will do something unique; with the grand old man of the diamond are his clever daughters. It's going to be some show at the Hipp next week.

EMPIRE THEATER

New September Morning Glories is the attractive name of this playhouse's attraction for next week. It is a fashion plate organization, in a mixture of melody and comedy. Two acts, "The Charity Bazaar" and "We Want to be a Sultan," are the headliners on the program. There is a distinguished burlesque cast, including Bert Bertrand, Thomas Shumate, Florence Darley, Hattie Beall, William Vocis and many others equally prominent, together with a prize beauty bevy of singing and dancing girls.

LIBERTY THEATER

The Mimic Four holds the headline position on the vaudeville bill of six acts at the Liberty next week. They are comedy and harmony artists. They sing numerous solos and several hits from grand opera. McGrevy and Doyle offer a combination juggling and hand balancing act that is full of pep. Rose Enkel is a violiniste with an exceptional talent. Allens and Colins are a comedy team of performers. Their main strength is in the singing of parodies, of which they have a plenty. DuMont, Little and Wilson do acrobatic dance steps. Wilcox and Norris are seen in a dainty oddity that combines recitations, song and comedy. The bill is completed by several photoplays.

MILES THEATER

High class vaudeville and pictures are on the Miles program all next week. "Woman Proposes," the late Paul Armstrong's last playlet, is the feature, and is an entertaining demonstration of the truth of the title. It is staged elaborately. The Lucier-Worth company gives a strong arm and hand balancing act unusual on the vaudeville stage. Alice Hanson and her company are seen in Hawaiian dances. A military octet furnishes instrumental and vocal music. Jack and Anna Bowen offer singing, dancing and comedy dialog. Billy Seaton, singing comedienne, is last but by no means least of the attractions.

COLONIAL THEATRE

"Pierrot the Prodigal," after two years in Paris, one in London and six months in New York, comes to Cleveland under the direction of Winthrop Ames of New York's Little Theatre. It is a charming love story which just shades a tragedy, all in dumb show. There are no spoken lines, but the musical accompaniment is exquisite and the plot delightful. "Pierrot" is the best of pantomime and the company, headed by Paul Clerget, long a major figure on the French stage, is a notable one. Cleveland has seen little pantomime for many years. It is fortunate in having it re-introduced in such a way. Everywhere "Pierrot" has been acclaimed is a notable artistic success.

STAR THEATER

Sam Howe's big extravaganza presents "A Wife in Every Port" at the Star. Howe has long enjoyed a burlesque reputation, and he has an excellent cast, which numbers among its members such well known players as "Dainty" Eva Mull, Dee Loretta and Harry Bowen. There are two acts and nine scenes, elaborately put on, entitled "City of Venice," "Deck of the Busy Bee," "Port of Barcelona," "Art Studio," "Paris," "Persia," "Tokyo," "Strand Hotel, London," "Epsom Downs Track," and "Derby Day." It should be very good.

STANDARD THEATER

George Walsh, acknowledges as the best actor in film comedy drama, will appear in another rollicking picture at the Standard theatre the week of April 1st in a new Fox production, "High Finance." A story which gives Mr. Walsh a rare opportunity to display his prowess and fun making ability.

Mr. Walsh plays the role of Preston Platt, a young spendthrift who, because he is threatened with being disinherited, hires out as a valet with a scientist about to go west to explore a deserted mine. On the trip he meets a young girl, who, to assert woman's rights, became private secretary with the scientist. Preston falls in love with the girl. To show his father he has some business ability he "salted" the abandoned copper mine, starts a run on the stock and sells it to his father for $1,000,000. When his father arrives and sees he has been buncoed, Preston leaves to make Patricia his bride, having netted a nice fortune from the mine deal. Dad relents and welcomes his financier son back home. Besides this great feature the Mutt and Jeff cartoons and educational animal pictures will also be run at every performance.

ALHAMBRA AND MALL

The New Mall and Alhambra theatres are preparing for some of the most popular attractions that have ever been seen in these theatres.

Starting Sunday Harold Lockwood and May Allison will appear in the "Hidden Children," a film play from the famous novel of that name written by Robt. W. Chambers. It presents Mr. Lockwood in an entirely new role, yet the localities are most in the open country, in which this popular star stands supreme. It will be shown four days, together with the 14th chapter of "The Great Secret."

Among the other big productions booked for the Alhambra to be shown within the next four or five weeks are Douglas Fairbanks in his newest picture, "In Again, Out Again;" Olga Petrova in "The Waiting Soul;" Clara Kimball Young in "The Easiest Way," and Norma Talmadge in "The Law of Compensation."

PROSPECT THEATER

Almost every form of entertainment is crowded into two and one half hours of real enjoyment in the musical comedy "Pretty Baby", which will be the attraction at the Prospect theatre, beginning Monday, April 2nd. The field of musical comedy, grand opera, concert, minstrel and ballet have all contributed material for the big revue. The result is an exhibition characterized by great diversity and speed, yet despite its urban and sophisticated material it contains nothing to offend the most fastidious. It is a smart, snappy musical show built to please the whole family.

There are a score of song hits, a dozen dancing numbers, a pretty chorus, six massive settings and many new and original features.

CORONA THEATRE

"The Boy Girl" will be the attraction at the Corona theatre, Prospect and East 8th street, Saturday, March 31, with the popular and dainty Violet Mersereau playing the leading role. In this offering Miss Mersereau will play the role of a boy most of the time, finally getting into skirts as her own attractive self, to attain the much desired happy ending. Sidney Mason will be Miss Mersereau's leading man and her supporting company will include Tina Marshall, Florida Kingsley, Maude Cooling and Caroline Harris with other artistic players. See It At the Corona.

Other features are, Sunday, "Steel Hearts," with Lee Hill and Marie Walcamp; Monday, "Snow White," with Elsie Alberts, Tuesday, "The Crimson Blade," with Roberta Wilson and Kingsley Benedict; Wednesday, "The Bronze Bride," with Eddie Polo and Claire McDowell and Thursday, "The Star Witness," with Lee Hill, also "The Magpie," with Tina Marshall.

OPERA HOUSE

The Dolly Sisters, Rozsika and Yansci, co-stars in the A. H. Woods presentation of "His Bridal Night," the new three-act farce-comedy from the pens of Lawrence Rising and Margaret Mayo, which has had considerable vogue in New York, Philadelphia and Chicago, opens a week's engagement at the Opera House, commencing next Monday night, with an entertainment that is promised as the smartest of the current season. These petite twin sisters attribute their success in their new field of endeavor that drew them away from the vaudeville, musical comedy and revue productions, mainly to unceasing effort to give variety to their offerings, both in their dances and in their costuming, the latter being supplied by the management with an unparalleled expense. Their lingerie bills are enough to turn every American or foreign dancer green with envy.

Matinees will be given on Wednesday and Saturday. Seats for the entire engagement will be placed on sale Thursday.

Situated in the township of Brecksville, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio, and known as being a part of Original Brecksville Township Lot Number Twenty-four (24) and bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a point in the center line of the Diagonal Road at the northwesterly corner of a parcel of land conveyed by James H. Coates and others to Henry T. Barr by Warranty Deed dated April 24, 1877, and recorded in Volume 279, page 446 of Cuyahoga County Records; thence easterly along the northerly line of land conveyed to said Barr, as aforesaid, about 9.10 chains to the Northeast corner of said Barr's land; thence southerly along the easterly line of said Barr's land about 7.32 chains to the center of the Diagonal Road; thence northwesterly along the center of the Diagonal Road to the place of beginning and containing 3.96 acres of land, more or less but subject to all legal highways.

The petition alleges that the defendants above named claim some interest or estate in said premises, hostile and adverse to Plaintiff's rights, which constitute a cloud on Plaintiffs' title, for the reason that the Records of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, fail to disclose any conveyance of said premises from the said Ezra Wyatt, who was the owner of said premises prior to March 29, 1864, and for the reason that the Probate Court Records do not disclose any last will and testament of Ezra Wyatt, nor administration of his estate; for the reason that in a deed from one Robert Penty to Henry T. Barr, dated December 10, 1867, no wife joins or releases dower in said premises nor was any statement made therein that the Grantor was single; and for the reason that in a deed from one Lewis Coates and others to Henry T. Barr, dated April 24, 1877, no wife joins or releases dower in said premises, nor was any statement made therein that the Grantor was single.

The petition further alleges that said defendants have no interest in said premises, that no one of them, or any one claiming through or under them or any of them, has ever sought to enforce or recover by any action at law or otherwise, any right, title or interest in and to said premises, or any part thereof, and that these Plaintiffs and their predecessors in title have for more than 21 years last past had and been in the actual, open, notorious, continuous, uninterrupted and adverse possession of said premises against all the world.

The prayer of said petition is that said defendants be required to answer all and singular the matters and things relative to any claim, estate or interest, which they or any of them have in said premises, that upon final hearing of this cause Plaintiffs' title in said premises be quieted as to said defendants, that said defendants and each of them and all persons claiming through or under them be forever barred from setting up or asserting any claim, estate or interest in said premises or any part thereof, and for relief.

Said petition is No. 155361, and the above named defendants are required to answer the same on or before the 19th day of May, A. D. 1917.

"Don't you think," asked the young man with the long nose, "that Miss Quickstep dresses as much like a man as possible in order to get herself talked about?" "On the supposition that she does," replied the other young man, with a frosty glitter in his eye, "I suggest that we defeat her purpose by not talking about her. Understand?"

REMARKS FROM FLORIDA

A post card from Eustis, Fla., from Mrs. C. M. Pomeroy, of Center St., addressed to Mrs. Williams, reads as follows:

"Please do not send any more cold weather down here. We have had plenty. Flowers, fruit, vegetables—are all frozen. The south looks barren. Today, however, it is so hot I cannot sit on my porch. . . . ."

So it would seem that there are sudden changes in the south as well as here.

DR. BELL SAILS

Dr. Bell sailed on the 25th from Halifax. When he left Willoughby there was some uncertainty as to the port from which he would sail, but word received by Mrs. Bell indicated that it would be Halifax.

John H. Quayle
Recently Elected President of Cleveland Automobile Club

DR. JOHN H. QUAYLE

Dr John H. Quayle was elected president of the Cleveland Automobile club at the annual meeting Feb. 6th.

The meeting was the most largely attended annual session ever held in the history of the organization, and there was made evident on several occasions the spirit of harmony and enthusiasm which has brought the Cleveland Automobile club to be the biggest civic organization in Ohio.

N. I. Dryfoos was elected vice-president, Fred H. Caley, secretary, and Arthur H. Selbig, treasurer.

Three new members of the board of directors were named: John L. Young, Arthur H. Selbig and G. G. G. Peckham.

Dr. Quayle has been an enthusiastic member of the Cleveland club for some years and as a lay member took a large interest in highway and legislative problems. Since his election as director he proved one of the most valuble members of the board because of extensive experience in club and organization work. During the past year, Dr. Quayle served as vice-president and chairman of the house committee.

Miss Olga Atwood of Kingsville, a former teacher in our school, is spending her week vacation at L. D. Cox's, where she made her home while teaching here, and as they are making maple sugar she'll probably have a "sweet time."

* * *

John Smith returned home Monday from Kimbolton, where he has been working on his new farm for the past few weeks. They will soon move out there.

* * *

Mr. H. O. Wills is gaining all the time, but rather slowly, but when the weather gets warmer so that he can get out of doors more he probably will gain faster.

The little child of Mrs. Reasner has been quite ill.

The "Spinsters' Convention" at Waite Hill school house Friday evening was well patronized considering the awful condition of the roads. Everything went off fine, not a single mistake or break in the whole doings. Mr. Ed. Rockafellow made lots of fun for the crowl. A little over $14 was taken at the door.

Mr. J. Christy and sons from Pennsylvania were up to attend the funeral of Mr. D. Lilley, their relative, Wednesday of last week, and returned home the same day.

The sugar makers report a good run of sap, far beyond their expectations. Mr. J. Lilley has made over 600 lbs. from 350 trees already. They expect a big run when this cold snap is over.

Mrs. George Stokes was the recipient of some very pretty flowers on St. Patrick's day, one boquet from Mrs. Fenner, of lovely green carnations, which were much admired by the sick woman. How cheery a few bright flowers make the sick room appear.

A beautiful memoriam for the late Judge Clark by the Lake county Bar was published in last week's Willoughby Republican. Interesting reflections upon his life, character and beliefs, by Judge Tuttle, his long time friend.

A family by the name of Francis have moved in one of the Cinnenbaum houses. Mr. Francis sang a solo at the "Spinsters' Convention, which was much appreciated.

LEGAL NOTICE

Frank Richeson, alias Frank Richson, alias Frank Richardson, who resides at 1213 McClelland Avenue, Detroit, Michigan, and Grace Richardson, wife of the said Frank Richeson, who also resides at 1213 McClelland Avenue, Detroit, Michigan, will take notice that on the 15th day of March, 1917, Agnes Simons as Guardian of the person and estate of Zack Simons, filed her petition in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, in Case No. 155144 against them and each of them setting forth that she is now the duly appointed, qualified and acting guardian of the person and estate of Zack Simons, an imbecile person and resident of South Euclid, Ohio. That her said ward, Zack Simons, is the owner in fee simple and in actual and peaceable possession of the following described real estate:

Parcel One—Situated in the Township of East Cleveland, county of Cuyahoga, and state of Ohio, and known as sublot No. 18 in Laura M. Stewart's sub-division of part of original East Cleveland Lot No. 53, as shown by the recorded plat in Volume 19 of Maps, page 24 of Cuyahoga County Records, and being 174.24 feet front on the east side of Noble Place and extending back 250 feet deep, measuring from the center of the street.

Parcel Two—Situated in the Township of East Cleveland, county of Cuyahoga and state of Ohio, and known as Sublot No. 16 in the subdivision of L. M. Stewart of part of original lot No. 53, recorded in Volume 19 of Maps, Page 24 of Cuyahoga County Records.

That the plaintiff's ward derived his title to Parcel No. 1 hereinbefore described by virtue of a warranty deed executed by Frank W. Bartlett who was then the owner in fee simple of said property and Mary J. Bartlett, wife of the said Frank W. Bartlett, who joined in said deed, thereby releasing her dower right in said property, which deed was executed on the 26th day of October in the year 1900, and recorded on the 10th day of November, 1900, in Volume 771, Page 123 of Cuyahoga County Records of Deeds.

That her said ward derived his title to Parcel No. 2 by virtue of a warranty deed from James W. Stewart and Laura M. Stewart, husband and wife, the said Laura M. Stewart then being the owner in fee simple of said property and the said James W. Stewart releasing his dower therein, which deed was executed on the 7th day of March, in the year 1896 and recorded on the 20th day of March, 1896 in Volume 631, page 93 of Cuyahoga County Records of Deeds. That the said Zack Simons on the respective days when said conveyances were executed took actual and absolute possession of said described premises, and has held actual, continuous and notorious possession ever since said time. That said possession has been ever since held wholly adverse to the claims and interests of the defendants herein.

That on or about the 7th day of April in the year 1900, the said Zack Simons executed a warranty deed to the premises hereinbefore described as Parcel No. 2, in which deed the said Frank Richeson is named as grantee, being designated therein as Frank Richson. That said deed was filed with the Recorder of Cuyahoga County and was recorded on the 13th day of April, 1900 in Volume 754, page 198 of Cuyahoga County Records of Deeds.

That on the 14th day of March, 1904, the said Zack Simons executed a warranty deed of the property described as Parcel No. 1 in which deed said Frank Richeson is named as grantee, being designated therein as Frank Richson, which deed was filed with the Recorder of Cuyahoga County, and was recorded on the 26th day of March, 1904, in Volume 917, page 423 of Cuyahoga County Records of Deeds. That by reason thereof the defendant, Frank Richeson, claims an estate or interest in said described premises adverse to the rights of the plaintiff and her ward.

The petition further states that neither of said deeds herein described, executed by the said Zack Simons were ever delivered to the defendant Frank Richeson, that no consideration passed from the said Frank Richeson to the said Zack Simons, and that there was no intention upon the part of said Zack Simons to deliver said deeds or to pass title thereby, and that the said Zack Simons at all times retained complete and absolute control over said deeds.

That by reason thereof, said deeds conveyed no title to the defendant Frank Richeson, and that said deeds are null and void and of no effect. That by reason of the fact that said deeds have been recorded and stand upon the records as good and valid conveyances, a cloud is cast upon the title to said real esstate.

It is further set forth in said petition that the defendant, Grace Richardson, is the wife of the defendant, Frank Richeson, and claims an estate or interest in said real estate adverse to the right of the plaintiff and her said ward therein. That neither of said defendants have any claim, title or interest in said premises whatever.

That by reason of the premises a cloud is cast upon the title to said real estate which greatly and unjustly depreciates the value thereof. The prayer of said petition is that the defendants may be compelled to set forth their interests in said real estate, if any they have; that said claim of defendants may be adjudged to be null and void; that the said deeds executed by said Zack Simons to said Frank Richeson and recorded as aforesaid may be held to be null and void and of no effect; and that the plaintiff's title may be quieted against said defendants' claims, and they and each of them be enjoined from asserting such claims against said real estate; that the cloud thereon may be removed, and for such other and further relief as equity and the need of the case may require and to the court may seem just, necessary and proper.

Said defendants are required to answer said petition on or before the 5th day of May, 1917, or judgment will be taken against them. M15 A19

Honeypepper

"We are old people now, over 70 years; 50 years ago, when we were married my wife had a very bad a very bad cough. I worked for the Bingham company 36 years. During the entire time we lived there we never stopped trying to cure that cough. We tried nearly all remedies on the market, including Cod Liver Oil preparations, but failed, until we found Toedtmann's 'Honeypepper.' My wife took four one dollar bottles and a 50 cent one, and she declares nothing did her as much good as 'Honeypepper' during the entire 36 years. We feel we should like to have this known to help others. F. W. Rose, 10316 Empire avenue, Cleveland, O.

Your Kirschbaum Suit is Ready for Easter
The Best Values and Tailoring Known

At $20

CONSIDER the origin of these KIRSCHBAUM Suits—the skill, the buying power the clothesmaking efficiency in everything from beginning to buttons—if you would know what surpassing values they are. Behind their production is:

The largest tailoring establishment in the world under one roof—airy, modern shops flooded through and through with sunshine; fitted with advanced equipment and sanitary devices—everything that makes for healthful, contented employes.

The great Kirschbaum designing staff creating, experimenting—to secure effects in style and fit never before attained.

Expert fabric examiners testing the cloth inch by inch to microscopic test, so that no piece of cloth goes to the cutting table without being certain of its all-wool purity, its fastness of color, its wearing strength.

A carefully supervised corps of tailors, cutting, stitching and sewing the garments and putting into every detail the untiring workmanship which alone can produce a satisfactory garment.

THAT this store will be the busiest clothing store in Euclid Avenue today is not an extravagant assumption. When a store of such a strong buying organization as The May Co. puts out a lot of suits at $15.00 business men know that the suits are not merely $15 quality but of a much greater quality, priced low because tremendous buying compels price concessions. Every suit bears The May Co. guarantee for style, fabric and tailoring. For $15

Mothers of manly boys want them to have the best looking clothes to be had for the money spent—a good reason for buying at The May Co.

At $5.00 we have "The May Co." Special Two-Trousers Suits, in fabrics, tailoring and linings such as smaller stores would be compelled to sell at a much higher price. Priced at $5.00

Smart new models in two-pant Norfolk Suits, in fancy worsteds, Scotch tweeds, cassimeres, cheviots, homespuns, plain blue serges, neat mixtures, shepherd checks, plaids & fancy stripes. Sizes 8 to 18 yrs. $8.00

At prices up to $16.50 The May Co has the largest and best assortments of Boys' Clothes to be found in any store in Ohio.

Now let us ask you a cold business proposition—how can the ordinary clothesmaker with his limited resources hope to equal or even approach the value crowded into these Kirschbaum suits and topcoats we are showing at $20.

Our enlarging clothing store has the largest collection of young men's clothes in Cleveland; it's the greatest clothing floor in existence, and logically the trading place of thousands. Here you will find Kirschbaum clothes, Society Brand clothes and those of other big makers; the range of prices is sufficiently wide to meet the requirements of every purse, being from

"What Easter Means To Me"

Expressions by the Local Pastors:

SPRING TIME, A TYPE OF THE RESURRECTION

By Rev. Floyd H. Randall

Easter returns with its promise of a resurrection. And soon the promise will be demonstrated by the fact that as nature puts on her verdant hue after the long winter sleep. If nature can so rise to a newness of life, cannot the human soul? The power of nature the soul must have even in a larger measure. So may our faith in immortality be made stronger by the evidences of our physical sight, and may we know that whatever betide here—sorrows, sickness, wars and rumors of wars, there is beyond this life a resurrection, a glorious springtime.

EASTER MUSIC

By Rev. L. P. McCulloch

Before the first Easter morning there was little real music in the world. Nature was just as bountiful, the field for human activity just as wide, the possibilities of wealth and possession just as great; but the confines of one life-time set limits too narrow for great flights of the spirit, the certainty of death discouraged the projecting of large enterprises or complete culture. Facing death as the one absolute certainty, music could not swell. But with the resurrection of Jesus the world had proof of that which poets had dreamed, prophets beheld, and philosophers argued, the realty of life beyond the grave. The mind was free to plan great enterprises reaching far into the future, the soul could undertake a culture of infinite perfection, for to the believing heart of man now belonged the eternal years of God. The heart began to sing, and all the great harmonies of the world's music have been produced since that resurrection morning; they have all been produced in lands where that wonderful story has been the inspiring liberator of aspiring souls. The great music of the world is Easter music.

THE MIRACLE OF THE RESURRECTION

By Rev. Wm. H. Moseley.

Easter is the Anglo-Saxon word for April: It is also sometimes derived from "Oest," the Saxon for rising or the East, hence "Osteren," The Resurrection.

The Incarnation, Crucifixion and Resurrection of Christ is the central event of all human history. Just as all the heavenly lights revolve around the star of the North so the Star of Bethlehem attracts every Christian heart and soul. Christ the Saviour became Man like unto ourselves that He might give vicarious satisfaction to His Heavenly Father for the sins of His bretheren; He suffered the cruel and ignominous death of the cross: He arose again, miraculously and gloriously from the tomb on the third day, which was EASTER SUNDAY MORNING. "This is the day which the Lord hath made, we will rejoice and be glad in it." (Douay Ps. 117—King James Ps. 118 v. 24.)

A GREATER AND BROADER WILLOUGHBY

Community Matters of Individual Interest

REAL EDUCATION AS A FACTOR IN PROGRESS

We take pleasure in presenting the following letter received from a member of the Chamber of Commerce residing upon the Plains. Lake county surely has every reason to be proud of its schools and colleges, so broad and varied is their scope. Education is an expanding word. It constantly covers more meanings, and to be an EDUCATED person, today, requires a continuous changing of views and opinions; an enlargement of vision and openess of mind; and a perceiving that REAL EDUCATION continues through out a life time. So the higher the type of the school upon which the early education is based, the broader the foundation for the growth possible for the individual after his school life is closed. It has been said that:

"An educated man is one with a universal sympathy for everything, and a certain amount of knowledge about everything that is known, and who is still on the line of evolution and is learning to the end:"

Two years ago Dr. Bell again crossed the ocean on the same vessel.

Wednesday morning the students of the High school met in the auditorium at 8:30. Then the new sweaters for the girls were brought in and the student body knew why they had been called together on this particular occasion. Mr. Otis told us that there were to be a few short talks before the presentation took place. Captain Jeanette Brooks gave the first talk, telling of the success that the team has had this year. They have won 8 out of 10 games that they have played. Then Mgr. Leone Ellsworth told some more about their work. Mr. Otis then requested that the girls coach, Miss Silvia Sicha, tell her side of the story. She declined, saying that she was not a member of the team. Mrs. Viall was called upon next and she certainly gave a splendid extemporaneous speech. Then the sweaters were given to the girls by Mr. Otis. The "W" earners were Jeanette Brooks, '17, Leone Ellsworth, '17, Helen Rose, '17, Lucile Whitehead, '18, Gladys Briggs, '19, and Martha Wicker, '19. While the sweaters were being given out Mr. Cavan arrived. So after the girls had lined up before the school in their new sweaters Mr. Cavan gave us one of his usual very short speeches. (?)

IS MARRIAGE WOMAN'S HIGHEST AIM? PICTURE FILM AT THE HIAWATHA RAISES THE QUESTION.

The Hiawatha theatre has just contracted for the famous Clara Kimball Young pictures. The first one is scheduled for April 23, "The Price She Paid." This picture is just released, and the management believing that Willoughbly people want the latest and best have decided to show one of these pictures each month. Admission will be 25c and arrangements are being made to reserve seats for these performances.

"The Price She Paid" is a story for women who envy their friends. A beautiful story with the most beautiful woman in filmdom. A story of the poor wives of rich men. Is marriage woman's highest aim?

MRS JENNET I. PIERCE COMPARES THE NEW COMMUNITY REST ROOM WITH HOUSTON MODELS—PATRIOTISM IN TEXAS—TORPEDO DESTROYERS DESCRIBED.

(Editor's Note: Mrs. Jennet I. Pierce, of the O. E. S., who recently left Willoughby for Houston, Texas, has written some most interesting recounts for the Republican, to her Willoughby friends, of life in Texas during these stirring times. A later letter will be more descriptive of the town of Houston, itself.)

"To the Willoughby Republican:

"In starting I will say that Gordon and I are both well, and I am not sorry I came down here, though there is NO TOWN LIKE THE HOME TOWN, and I hope to see it and all my friends in 1918. I do not get homesick at all but—sometimes—

"You can't tell how I wish, dear friends
That you were here today,
And that you and I were talking
In the same old charming way.
But it's good to just remember
When the day's work is through
Those good and jolly times, old friends,
That I have had with you!"

It has been said of Texas that there was a lack of patriotism, and indeed it seemed that way to me when I first came down and the bands will play "Dixie" five or six times where they play "Star Spangled Banner" once. When the latter is play-

CASES IN LOCAL COURT

Three arrests were made Tuesday the third, Walter Caveth, Tom and Pat Ward, for fighting and intoxication. The mayor fined the three Wednesday, Pat Ward receiving a suspended sentence. The Mayor assessed a fine and costs.

The men then asked the co-operation of the village in having a telephone placed outside the town limits that they might phone for orders and avoid further like delays.

Two cases of intoxication were also up and fines assessed.

LEGAL NOTICE

Aldridge Sutherland, whose address is unknown, and the unknown heirs, devisees, legatees, assigns and legal representatives of Aldridge Sutherland, deceased, all of whose names and places of residence are unknown, are hereby notified that Edwards T. Buhl filed his petition in the Court of Common Pleas, Cuyahoga County, in Ohio, being case No. 155124, against them and others alleging that he is the owner in fee simple, and in actual possession of the following described premises, to-wit:

Situated in the Township of Independence, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio, and known as being the westerly part of Lot No. 48 in Tract No. 2, West of the Cuyahoga River in said Township, and bounded as follows:

Northerly by the Northerly line of said Lot, said Northerly line being also the Southerly line of land owned by Christian Lingler, Easterly by the Westerly line of 30 Acres of land, formerly owned by George Hesel; Southerly by the Southerly line of said Lot, said Southerly line being also the southerly line of said Tract, and Westerly by the center line of the road, said center line being also the Westerly line of said Township [illegible] highway.

It is alleged in the petition that the plaintiff and his predecessors in title have had and held open, actual, notorious, adverse, continuous and exclusive possession of the above described premises for more than twenty-one (21) years, but that the defendants above named claim some interest in the premises, adverse to plaintiff's rights, by reason of a mortgage securing the payment of a note for $75.00, executed by Elias C. Connelley and wife to Aldridge Sutherland, dated March 16th, 1848. Plaintiff alleges that said note has long since been paid and that said claims are without foundation either in law or equity.

The prayer of petitioner is that the defendants may be compelled to show what interest, if any, they have in said premises; that the same be adjudged to be null and void and plaintiff's title quieted against the same and for such other relief as is proper. The above named defendants are required to answer said petition on or before the 5th day of May, 1917, or judgment will be rendered in accordance with the prayer of the petition. M15 A19

Get Best Results From Gas Service

Cleveland women have the cheapest and best Gas Service in the world—with which to cook.

The few complaints registered are usually traceable to lack of knowledge or practice in caring for ranges.

The efficiency of a gas range and the gas you burn is largely affected by the care you give your appliance.

The Cleveland woman who gets the best results from her gas range and Gas Service is the one who—

Keeps her range free from grease, using soda freely to do this.

Cleans the lint and dirt from air opening in air mixer, at least once each week, to avoid flame from smoking.

Does not use blackening on the burners.

Wipes out oven at least once each week.

Tries all gas valves to be sure they are closed before lighting any burner.

Is certain that all valves are closed before opening pilot light to oven burner.

Always opens lower oven door before lighting burner.

Turns off valve if match blows out, while she gets another.

Never leaves range until she is sure that both oven burners are lighted if both are to be used.

THE INFLUENCE OF PERSONALITY

"One great strong soul in every community," Elbert Hubbard remarked, "would actually redeem the world." Writing along this line, a writer in Cottrell's Magazine says:

It is wonderful, the influence of one strong personality in a community.

There is more floral culture in the homes of Dayton, Ohio, than perhaps any town in the world. Go along a street occupied by the homes of people of very moderate means, there will be at least one flower bed in every yard and some of them will be a whole flower garden. Even along the down town streets there are window boxes filled with bright colored flowers and green along the upper stories of the old and dingy buildings so common and unadorned in most cities. There are more little conservatories in the homes of Dayton than in any city.

All this spirit had its beginning 20 years ago when John H. Patterson, the principal manufacturer of Dayton, encouraged child gardening by furnishing the seed, the instructors, and in some instances the land, and offering prizes for the most attractive results.

Today these children are the grown-ups of Dayton with a knowledge and love of flowers instilled into them in their childhood.

"Commonplace people have good memories. They never forget the good they do; the wrongs that are done to them, nor the faults of their friends. Memory means misery, but Heaven lies in faith, hope and love; and love looks to the east with a finger to her lips."—Hubbard.

"There are people who live near to Science and never know it; in the midst of culture and never have it; close to religion and never imbibe it; by the side of nature, and still are strangers to her beauty. They are incapable of the concentration necessary to grasp a theme and become enthusiastic over it, and thus live by the side of happiness, and never taste it."

ACTION

But words are all
The printed creeds,
Unless they're backed
By worthy deeds.

Who prates of faith
In days of song
Must show the stuff
When things go wrong.

A creed is trash
Though well you give it,
If day by day
You fail to live it.

WILLOUGHBY, CHAGRIN FALLS AND BEREA HAVE INTERESTING LITERARY CONTESTS; CITY MANAGER PLAN AND OTHER TOPICS DISCUSSED

Last week on Thursday, March 22, Willoughby high school showed that her talents were not entirely confined to athletic lines. There was an interscholastic triangular literary contest held between Chagrin Falls, Berea and Willoughby high schools. This contest consisted of an oration, a reading and a debate, the oration counting one point, the reading one point and the debate three points. The subject of the debate was: "Resolved: That the Federal Government Should Own and Operate all Interstate Railroads." Willoughby's negative team accompanied by the orator and reader was sent to Chagrin Falls. Chagrin Falls negative team was sent to Berea and Berea's negative team was sent to Willoughby. The program of the Willoughby versus Chagrin Falls contest was as follows:

Oration, "The City Manager Plan," John Clair, '18, W. H. S.

Oration, "The Advantages of Difficulty," Dorothy VanValkenburg, '17, C. F. H. S.

Reading, "The Going of the White Swan," Sylvia Rugh, '19, C. F. H. S.

Reading, "Larry Shannon's Easter Offering," Jeannette Brooks, '17, W. H. S.

Debate, "Resolved, That the Federal Government Should Own and Operate All Interstate Railroads."

Affirmative (Chagrin Falls) Katherine McGlenen, '20, Chalmer Stevens, '18; Robert Mosher, Alternate, '18.

Negative (Willoughby) Earl Sebring, '17, Margaret Walsh, '17; Mabel Roseum, Alternate, '18.

The report of the judges was: Oration, two to one, Chagrin Falls; Reading, Chagrin Falls; Debate, two to one, Willoughby, making Willoughby score three to two over Chagrin Falls

At home Willoughby made an equally fine showing in the contest with Berea. The Berea versus Willoughby program was as follows:

Oration, "The Land of Opportunity," Tom Jopling, '17, W. H. S.

Oration, "Disarmed Peace," Edward Allinger, B. H. S.

Reading, Selections from Kipling's Barrack Room Ballads; "Fuzzy Wuzzy"; "Gunga Din," Hugh S. Bell, '17, W. H. S.

Reading, "The Lion and the Mouse" Tillie Teperowicz, B. H. S.

Debate, "Resolved, That the Federal Government Should Own and Operate all Interstate Railroads."

Affirmative (Willoughby) Reed Fairley, Helen Rose; alternate, Lucille Whitehead.

Negative (Berea) David Gilchrist, Wm. B. Bolton, alternate, Beatrice Pick.

In this contest Willoughby won the debate and the reading, scoring four to one over Berea. Of the fifteen points to be awarded Willoughby got seven, Berea six and Chagrin Falls two, Berea winning everything from Chagrin Falls at Berea. This makes Willoughby the winner of the banner, which was to be awarded to the school winning the contest. This was felt to be a great victory by all concerned. Berea has a larger school than Willoughby and being a college town more interest is given to the literary side of the school's activities. Willoughby has devoted a large amount of time to athletics and has shown that along with the good work done in this line she can also hold her own in contests of literary nature.

OHIO TO BE BEST STATE IN THE UNION IN WHICH TO OWN AN AUTOMOBILE

Steps toward making Ohio "the best state in which to own an automobile" will be discussed at the annual meeting of the Ohio State Automobile Association at Springfield, on March 30 and 31. The conservation of safety on the public highways and the development of Ohio's road system are means to this end. Plans for their furtherance will be considered by delegates from 51 clubs.

The present legislature made available $5,700,000 in road funds for the next two years and enacted several laws [illegible] to prevent accidents. One of these requires horse-drawn as well as motor vehicles to carry lights and the other demands the dimming of glaring headlights when passing other vehicles.

Reports of association activities in various directions will be read and officers for the coming year elected. The present officers and trustees are: Richard H. Lee, Cleveland, president; Royal R. Scott, Toledo, first vice president; Fred Harpham, Akron, second vice president; D. J. Foss, Wooster, third vice president; David E. Baxter, Lima, fourth vice president; H. E. Freeman, Springfield, treasurer; Fred H. Caley, Cleveland, secretary, and John R. Bentley, Cleveland; C. C. Kilbury, Toledo; Andrew Auble, Akron; James H. Allen, Kenton; Frank A. Eaton, Lima; Eugene Rheinfrank, Toledo; G. E. Mentel, Springfield; C. C. Janes and Jacob L. Will of Columbus, trustees.

SAMUEL AUSTIN AND DR. PICKARD RECEIVE INTERESTING "WRITE UP" IN THE "ST. PETERSBURG DAILY TIMES"

The following article, clipped from the St. Petersburg Daily Times, will be of considerable local interest.

TWO CLEVELAND MEN OF FAME IN ST. PETERSBURG

Dr. Pickard, Lecturer, and Austin, "Method Expert," Are Here.

Two Cleveland men who stand out as mental forces for good in the Sixth city of the United States, are visiting each other in the Sunshine City and are spending many happy hours discussing the things which are of most vital interest in their big and useful lives.

One is Dr. Ward Beecher Pickard, lecturer, for nine years pastor of the Epworth Memorial Methodist church, one of the largest churches in this country, and superintendent of St. Luke's hospital.

He is often called the "Memory Man," because people who meet him never forget him.

The other man is not of the cloth, but is just as much of the heart. He is Samuel Austin, originator of the Austin method of business procedure, and a man whose ideas are expressed in big contracting firms that almost circle the globe.

It was he who first began building big factory and foundry buildings of steel and glass. It was his humanitarian ideas for the foundryman that caused him to do this.

He is the first to inaugurate the plan of computing the actual cost of a building and adding the share of the profit which he thought right. He does not enter into any competition and does not permit of submitting bids for competitive purposes.

In all of his branch offices he enforces the Golden Rule. In wanting to make this foundation of his splendid business life, he made it the principle of his business computation and everything revolves around it. Not a man in his employ today can say of Austin or of the Austin Method: "It looks well in print but his books show that he does not apply his rule when it comes to his charges." It begins with the charges and works out to every point of the sphere that surrounds that central figure.

Every year Mr. and Mrs. Austin, at their beautiful country estate, entertain their employes. It is a day that is anticipated from season to season. It is a happy occasion for the many interesting and beautiful features. It affords Mr. and Mrs. Austin as much pleasure is it does the members of the Austin firm.

It was from Austin's office in Germany that the story of the stamp with its short tragic epistle written beneath, gained so much comment. Beneath the stamp, placed on a letter from Germany, were the words "We are starving."

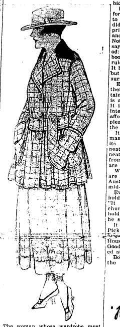
While Dr. Pickard and his friend are visiting, Mrs. Pickard and Mrs. Austin are enjoying the delightful mid-summer weather.

Every Sunday evening Dr. Pickard holds services at the Park House. "It is an overflow meeting, as the churches are very crowded. I shall hold services for two more Sundays," he said.

It is a great privilege to hear Dr. Pickard, who became nationally known [illegible] "The House that Jack Built," and "The Good for Nothing," which he delivered at Chautauquas.

Both men and their wives are at the Park House.

NEW SPRING COAT



The woman whose wardrobe must needs be moderate as well as smart, will find this jacket of check chinchilla admirable for spring and summer wear, over dainty frocks. Tan and green or gray and blue would be an effective color scheme for the plaid. The fullness of the waist is held in with a straight belt to which large pockets are attached. The collar is of satin corresponding in tone with the darkest color in the plaid. Medium size requires 2 3-4 yards 54-inch material. Pictorial Review jacket No. 6615. Sizes 34 to 46 inches bust. Price 20 cents. Skirt No 6185 Sizes 22 to 34 inches waist. Price 20 cents.

THE WILLOUGHBY REPUBLICAN

For a Great and Greater Willoughby.

E. D. Bryant........................Editor
B. BRYANT .... Business Manager

Telephone 125 K. Subscription price $1.00 per year.

This newspaper is published every Friday by The Times Publishing Co., an Ohio corporation. Republican in politics and devoted to the best interests of Willoughby and Lake County.

Entered at Willoughby, Ohio, Postoffice as second class matter.

STAND FOR A BETTER, BRIGHTER, BROADER WILLOUGHBY, FIRST, LAST AND ALL THE TIME. THE VILLAGE IN ITS INTRINSIC SELF IS A JEWEL, PERHAPS SOMEWHAT IN THE ROUGH AS YET, BUT NEVERTHELESS A JEWEL. AS WE STRIVE TO POLISH AND DEVELOP ITS REAL CHARACTER, LET US NOT FORGET THAT ITS BEAUTY MAY BE MATERIALLY ENHANCED OR MARRED BY THE CHARACTER OF THE SETTING. AS WE WORK FOR THE BETTERMENT OF THE TOWN, WE MUST ALSO DEVELOP THE SURROUNDING COUNTRY. GOOD SCHOOLS AND GOOD ROADS WILL ACCOMPLISH THIS END.

A BETTER WILLOUGHBY MEANS A BETTER LAKE COUNTY, A BETTER OHIO—A STATE WHOSE NAME STANDS FOR POWER and ADVANCEMENT WHEREVER WHITE MEN DWELL UPON THE EARTH. THE BEST FOUNDATION ON WHICH TO BUILD TOWARD THIS END IS THE COMMON SCHOOL.

The Willoughby rural school board is endeavoring to make our schools THE BEST OF THEIR GRADE IN THE STATE. Our average monthly salary to teachers is the highest in the county, and the average of personal efficiency among the teachers is very good, but we wish it to be still better.

We believe that in choosing the staff of teachers for the coming year, in both the town and rural schools, the first consideration should be efficiency and personal interest shown in the work.

Our worthy prosecuting attorney, Geo. C. von Veseler, recently stated in an address that he believed the mission of the school teacher was second to none on earth.

The teacher whose heart is in the work, is rendering greater actual service to the commonwealth than a half dozen who teach simply for the money that is in the position.

The real teacher is born, not made, and it is the REAL teacher that we want in our schools. The rural board is glad to advance the pay of its teachers when real merit and efficiency are shown and the funds are available.

In the language of the day, the clerk or stenographer in a business office has to "deliver the goods" in order to hold his or her position or gain advancement.

Why not run our schools on the same basis?

The foundation of our state or national preparedness is EDUCATION., whether business, social or political and I am for preparedness.

THERE IS MUCH MORE TO EDUCATION THAN A KNOWLEDGE OF MATHEMATICS, LANGUAGE AND GEOGRAPHY. The consolidated school, where children associate together in larger numbers, offers inestimable advantages over the one room school and we are working toward practical consolidation.

The Grange on the Plains is discussing the question of a two room school to take care of the children of that section.

If one can feel that he has HELPED TO ACCOMPLISH ONE THING THAT IS WORTH WHILE, FOR THE ADVANCE OF EDUCATION IN HIS COMMUNITY, that is sufficient reward for all the time and effort expended and a balm for all the kicks and thrusts one receives as a member of the school board.

Yours very truly,
H. E. TALBOT.

W. riffith's gigantic military spectacle The Birth of a Nation," will be iven at the Euclid Avenue Opera ouse, Cleveland, for an engagement eginning on Monday evening, April h. Following this appearance there ill be two performances daily, inluding Sunday. The matinees will art at 2:30 p. m. and the night perrmance at 8:15 o'clock. Owing to e extraordinary interest that centers in this engagement the management of the attraction has completd arrangements with Manager Hartz f the Opera House, Cleveland, to ay special attention to mail orders f patrons from cities and towns in his section of the state.

It is next to impossible to describe The Birth of a Nation" in a way hat gives one a grasp of its bigness. magine a stage 12 miles wide and s deep as the eye can penetrate. pon this field are thrown vast armies showing the making of history in s rough and virile form. Across our view flash nearly 20,000 players ho make the history of our most tirring periods of national development live, while 3,000 horses mountd by the most daring riders in the ountry play their part in the unfoldment of an intensely dramatic tory.

For the Cleveland engagement at he Opera House the same wonderful roduction, which ran two years in New York and a year in London, will e given in every detail.

The daily matinees will be a feaure of distinctive interest to visitors o the city. For these matinees the rices will be 25c, 50c 75c and $1.00. For the night the prices will be 25c, 0c, $1.00 and $1.50.

MILES THEATER

The coming week at the Miles will ong be remembered as "Hilarity Week," on account of the great abundance of comedy intermingled in very act on the bill. The feature augh maker is a musical comedy alled "Please, Mr. Detective," carryng a company of 15 funsters and a pecial car of scenery. The favorite omedian, Ed. Blondell and Company, n his original offering, "The Lost Boy," is well known as a gloom chaser. Being brim full of laughs and lever situations, Pipifax and Palo, two clever comedy acrobats, Estelle Costello, the woman that has had six divorces, Homes and Levere in a royally ribshaking comedy act of songs, sayings and dances, and the Messenger brothers, topsy-turvy boys. These six acts of diversified vaudeville, augmented with "Passion," the five act play of Seven Deadly Sins, and "Peace on the Border," the 12th episode of Patria, will make a show that should make regular patrons out of casual visitors.

B. F. KEITH'S HIPPODROME.

With an all star show next week B. F. Keith's Hippodrome will present a program that will not again be equalled this season.

In the first place there will be four headliners—and when Keith advertises headliners they ARE headliners.

Cutting out the four top actors we want to say that there are "nine tremendous hits" on the bill, and that means about the biggest show in Cleveland for every afternoon and night all next week.

Here are some of the stars:

Robt. T. Haines, Britt Wood, Chester Francis and Andrew Ross, Toots Paka, Montgomery and Perry, Paul McCarthy and Elsa Faye, Ishihawa Japs.

ALHAMBRA AND MALL

Olga Petrova, the statuesque and beautiful movie star, will appear at the Alhambra and New Mall, for four days, starting Sunday, in "The Waiting Soul."

It is not necessary to say that this famous star usually makes a striking picture of any scenario. All who follow her know that. However, this new picture is quite out of the ordinary run of plays in that it concerns the complications of a wife about to be a mother.

The fifteenth chapter of the Bushman-Bayne serial, "The Great Secret" also will be shown.

The last three days of the coming week the attraction will be Frances Nelson in "The Power of Decision."

The Alhambra now has a new orchestra under the direction of Homer Walters, a very popular leader.

STAR THEATER

A distinctive entertainment is promised to the patrons of the Star when Barney Gerard's "Some Show", with Edmond Hayes starring, opens there next week. "Some Show" is the newest offering of Barney Gerard, whose "Follies of the Day" scored such a hit at the same playhouse a few weeks ago. In the cast are Thomas Snyder, who is seen in the screaming part of "Bozo," Marie Jansen, a prima donna from the musical comedy ranks; Martha Edmond, a sprightly little singer and dancer; Mildred Cecil, who makes her first appearance in burlesque, coming direct from the musical comedy field. Others in the cast are Harry Hills, Billy Waldron and a chorus quite up to the Gerard standard.

Mr. Gerard has written a book for Mr. Hayes, which tells of the many troubles of a "Piano Mover." The music of the show is all original and was written by Barney Gerard, Albert Von Tilzer, Lew Brown and Bert Grant, composer of Lew Fields' "Step This Way."

EMPIRE THEATER

If running a beauty trust is against the law, then the management of the "American Burlesquers" the attraction at the Empire next week, will probably come into conflict with the federal authorities. This burlesque organization is said to include the largest number of really pretty choristers of any similar show on tour this season. "The American Burlesquers claim to be pacemakers.

Chief among the funmakers are Harry (Watch the Slide) Welsh, Vic Dayton, Evelyn Stevens, Pauline Hare Hughy Bernard, Billy Barnes, Sam Green and Ed. Miller. Two musical comedies from the pen of Edward Shafer, furnish the company with opportunity to display their varied talents. Fifteen of the latest song hits are included in the performance and there are several "special" numbers written expressly for the Americans.

COLONIAL THEATRE

"Mother Carey's Chickens," a dramatization of Kate Douglas Wiggin, popular novel by the same title, opens a week's engagement at the Colonial Monday night, fresh from a week in Portland, Me., and a record breaking run of five weeks in Pittsburg. Mrs. Wiggin has laid her scene in an ideal American home and has shown her cheery friendliness can influence a family and a community.

It is a clean, wholesome little comedy, with a pretty love story running through it, competently presented by an excellent cast. It is understood that Mrs. Wiggin is to be in Cleveland for the opening.

PROSPECT THEATER

Howard McKent Barnes, who has contributed a worthy successor to "The Blindness of Virtue" in his new four act play, "Her Unborn Child," which deals with birth control as its vital theme, is a young American dramatist whose work is bringing him prominently before the public.

His latest drama comes to the Prospect Theatre commencing Monday, April 9th, with matinees daily, and during the engagement the matinee performances will be reserved exclusively for ladies. All other performances are for the general public, although no person under 18 years of age will be admitted to any performance. The author has made an extensive study of his subject, and deals with it in a manner that shows deep understanding and dignity. It is certain to have a wide appeal among the thinking men and women who go to the theatre.

At the Ladies matinees Mrs. Clara Reynolds Smith will lecture on "Motherhood."

STANDARD THEATER

Gladys Brockwell, the girl of a thousand expressions, is the star of "Her Temptation," in a new Fox production at the Standard theatre the week of April 8th. Miss Brockwell plays the role of a young girl who is forced into marrying a man she does not love. She also carries on an idle flirtation with another only to find it is getting the best of her. She finally tells her husband she never loved him and the shock brings on a stroke of paralysis. At this time her lover needs funds and sees a chance by hypnotizing her and making her poison her husband, but after the will is read they find that only a small portion goes to the wife and the rest to a younger sister, so the lover at once tries to win the sister, but the older one finds her senses and announces the truth to her sister, and on the very day of the wedding he is forced to confess all and in an effort to escape jumps from the belfry and is killed. The sisters are happy as they are both saved from disgrace.

Mutt and Jeff comedy cartoons and the educational animal pictures will also be shown.

CORONA THEATRE

"The Eagles Wings" will be shown at the Corona theatre, 745 Prospect Avenue, Wednesday, April 11th, with a strong cast. The Eagles Wings is a magnificent drama of patriotism patriotic purpose and achievement based on the national theme of Preparedness. This extraordinary photoplay received the most enthusiastic praise and the warmest commendation from the highest government officials in Washington, D. C. where it was shown by special request. Don't forget the date, April 11th, at the Corona.

Other features are Sunday, "The Burning Silence," a big western drama; Monday, "Ring Rivals," with Dan Russell, Tuesday, "The Terrors of War," an immense war drama featuring Grace Cunard; Thursday, "Hair Trigger Burk," a western drama featuring Harry Carey and Friday, first episode of "The Mystery of the Double Cross," featuring Mollie King. Don't fail to see this wonderful episode.

MRS. JENNET I. PIERCE COMPARES THE NEW COMMUNITY REST ROOM WITH HOUSTON MODELS — PATRIOTISM IN TEXAS — TORPEDO DESTROYERS DESCRIBED.

ed all rise to their feet, but when the strains of "Dixie" comes the applause is deafening, but as war draws nearer they are having all kinds of demonstrations and Old Glory floats from the public and business houses, houses are decorated and the autos, both private and jitneys, carry from one to half a dozen American flags. Last Friday two torpedo destroyers entered the ship channel and one, the Monaghan, is to remain until April 2. Immense crowds have visited them every day, as the majority of people, myself, were anxious to see these boats. I think it was a surprise to all of us to find them so long and narrow, so low to the water. Just across the channel are the two Austrian merchant ships that are not allowed to leave the harbor.

The Houston Light Guard, the first company to go to the border, just returned today and were met by thousands of people at the depot, then headed by the municipal band, mayor and sailors from the Monaghan, paraded the down town streets and as they passed the Rice hotel a group of small children, the great grand children of General Sam Houston, saluted them with the Lone Star flags. Friday evening a military ball is to be given in the auditorium and every sailor and soldier in Houston is to be in uniform. Soldiers returning from the border and parading the down town streets have been a common sight and one evening as the Texas naval militia were on parade they met a ycompany of these soldiers on Main street. Both bands were playing and neither company knew the others were out till they came face to face. I expect by the time this reaches you that we will know when our boys have to leave. Gordon, as most of your readers know, belongs to this militia and is expecting to be called any minute. He has gone to drill this evening and before he left he said to remember him to all his old friends.

I am glad to see by the Republican that Willoughby is booming and also reading of the rest room to be provided for shoppers made me think of the ones here. The different oil companies are building service stations and they do beat any I ever sam in the north. They are on the bungolow style and very pretty and an addition to any street. They have their offices, sales rooms and the rest rooms. Many have a little lawn with flowers or shrubs and at night they can be seen for miles as they are so brilliantly lighted.

Sincerely yours,
JENNET I. PIERCE.

EXCELLENT BASKET BALL GAMES WERE PLAYED

On Friday night, March 23, Willoughby high school basket ball team played a game here with Geneva. At the end of the first half the score was 17 to 4, favor of Willoughby. In the first part of the second half some misunderstanding arose and as a result of this the Geneva coach called his men off the floor, thereby forfeiting the game.

A preliminary game was played by the second team with Euclid, Willoughby scoring 12 to 8 over Euclid. The line-up of the Geneva-Willoughby game was: Lawrence Wells, center; Howard Van Deusen and Elmer Gregory, forwards; Earl Sebring and Harold Van Deusen, guards.

The line-up for the Euclid-Willoughby game was: George Rose, center; Reed Fairley and Emerson Brott, forwards; Treodore Kaiser and Geo. Richards, guards. These two games closed the boys' basket ball season.

Saturday night the girls played a game with Shore high. There was a great deal of excitement felt in this game because in the previous one with Shore, Willoughby had lost. The girls were determined to win this one. The score was quite close, but Willoughby came out ahead, the score being 17 to 21. The girls expect to close their season on Saturday night in a game with Parkwood Y. W., to be played in Cleveland.

CLOVER PAYS IN ROTATION

Have you planned to seed more land to clover this spring? The crop pays by making the land more fertile besides yielding a good hay crop. For 17 years at the Ohio Experiment Station corn on unfertilized land yielded 6.2 bushels more to the acre f three-year rotation of corn, wheat clover than in a five year rotation corn, oats, wheat, clover and othy. On manured land in the th year rotation during this time c yielded 8.4 bushels more to the than in the five-year rotation e though more maure was applied the latter rotation. The Experim Station credits this yield of corn gely to the clover crop because comes once in three instead of c in five years.

LEGAL NOTICE

Frank Richeson, alias Frank Richson, alias Frank Richardson, who resides at 1213 McClelland Avenue, Detroit, Michigan, and Grace Richardson, wife of the said Frank Richeson, who also resides at 1213 McClelland Avenue, Detroit, Michigan, will take notice that on the 15th day of March, 1917, Agnes Simons as Guardian of the person and estate of Zack Simons, filed her petition in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, in Case No. 155144 against them and each of them setting forth that she is now the duly appointed, qualified and acting guardian of the person and estate of Zack Simons, an imbecile person and resident of South Euclid, Ohio. That her said ward, Zack Simons, is the owner in fee simple and in actual and peaceable possession of the following described real estate:

Parcel One—Situated in the Township of East Cleveland, county of Cuyahoga, and state of Ohio, and known as sublot No. 18 in Laura M. Stewart's sub-division of part of original East Cleveland Lot No. 53, as shown by the recorded plat in Volume 19 of Maps, page 24 of Cuyahoga County Records, and being 174.24 feet front on the east side of Noble Place and extending back 250 feet deep, measuring from the center of the street.

Parcel Two—Situated in the Township of East Cleveland, county of Cuyahoga and state of Ohio, and known as Sublot No. 16 in the subdivision of L. M. Stewart of part of original lot No. 53, recorded in Volume 19 of Maps, Page 24 of Cuyahoga County Records.

That the plaintiff's ward derived his title to Parcel No. 1 hereinbefore described by virtue of a warranty deed executed by Frank W. Bartlett who was then the owner in fee simple of said property and Mary J. Bartlett, wife of the said Frank W. Bartlett, who joined in said deed, thereby releasing her dower right in said property, which deed was executed on the 26th day of October in the year 1900, and recorded on the 10th day of November, 1900, in Volume 771, Page 123 of Cuyahoga County Records of Deeds.

That her said ward derived his title to Parcel No. 2 by virtue of a warranty deed from James W. Stewart and Laura M. Stewart, husband and wife, the said Laura M. Stewart then being the owner in fee simple of said property and the said James W. Stewart releasing his dower therein, which deed was executed on the 7th day of March, in the year 1896 and recorded on the 20th day of March, 1896 in Volume 631, page 93 of Cuyahoga County Records of Deeds. That the said Zack Simons on the respective days when said conveyances were executed took actual and absolute possession of said described premises, and has held actual, continuous and notorious possession ever since said time. That said possession has been ever since held wholly adverse to the claims and interests of the defendants herein.

That on or about the 7th day of April in the year 1900, the said Zack Simons executed a warranty deed to the premises hereinbefore described as Parcel No. 2, in which deed the said Frank Richeson is named as grantee, being designated therein as Frank Richson. That said deed was filed with the Recorder of Cuyahoga County and was recorded on the 13th day of April, 1900 in Volume 754, page 198 of Cuyahoga County Records of Deeds.

That on the 14th day of March, 1904, the said Zack Simons executed a warranty deed of the property described as Parcel No. 1 in which deed said Frank Richeson is named as grantee, being designated therein as Frank Richson, which deed was filed with the Recorder of Cuyahoga County, and was recorded on the 26th day of March, 1904, in Volume 917, page 423 of Cuyahoga County Records of Deeds. That by reason thereof the defendant, Frank Richeson, claims an estate or interest in said described premises adverse to the rights of the plaintiff and her ward.

The petition further states that neither of said deeds herein described, executed by the said Zack Simons were ever delivered to the defendant Frank Richeson, that no consideration passed from the said Frank Richeson to the said Zack Simons, and that there was no intention upon the part of said Zack Simons to deliver said deeds or to pass title thereby, and that the said Zack Simons at all times retained complete and absolute control over said deeds.

That by reason thereof, said deeds conveyed no title to the defendant Frank Richeson, and that said deeds are null and void and of no effect. That by reason of the fact that said deeds have been recorded and stand upon the records as good and valid conveyances, a cloud is cast upon the title to said real estate.

It is further set forth in said petition that the defendant, Grace Richardson, is the wife of the defendant, Frank Richeson, and claims an estate or interest in said real estate adverse to the right of the plaintiff and her said ward therein. That neither of said defendants have any claim, title or interest in said premises whatever.

That by reason of the premises a cloud is cast upon the title to said real estate which greatly and unjustly depreciates the value thereof. The prayer of said petition is that the defendants may be compelled to set forth their interests in said real estate, if any they have; that said claim of defendants may be adjudged to be null and void; that the said deeds executed by said Zack Simons to said Frank Richeson and recorded as aforesaid may be held to be null and void and of no effect; and that the plaintiff's title may be quieted against said defendants' claims, and they and each of them be enjoined from asserting such claims against said real estate; that the cloud thereon may be removed, and for such other and further relief as equity and the need of the case may require and to the court may seem just, necessary and proper.

Said defendants are required to answer said petition on or before the 5th day of May, 1917, or judgment will be taken against them. M15 A19

"HONEYPEPPER"

"Mr. Druggist, my grandson bought a 50 cent bottle of Toedtmann's 'Honeypepper.' We found it so good that I came all the way from Neff road to get another bottle. I wish my druggist near me would stock it. That medicine is certainly good. After the first or second dose the cough eased up. I was half way over here yesterday, but I had forgotten the name of the medicine. Here is the empty carton in which it came. By the way, give me also a 25 cent bottle for my neighbor."—For sale at all druggists, all wholesale houses or 318 East 105th street.

BREAKING THE GRIP OF DRINK.

Do you know someone who is fast in the grip of drink, whose chances for success in life are fast dissolving in drink, who is a burden to himself and a shame to those who should love him?

If you do know such a man, and almost all of us do, then you should know something about how he can be saved, something about the modern medical treatment that has already won over 5,000 men in Ohio and Pennsylvania alone from the grip of drink. Send for the free booklet describing how, at the old homestead of John D. Rockfeeller, there has been perfected a method of treating alcoholism that has won the endorsement of physicians, attorneys, business men—and the heartfelt gratitude of the thousands it has rescued from the enslaving clutches of King Alcohol. Write about your case, about the one in whom you are interested and the physician in charge will gladly tell you in detail and in strictest confidence, how the Neal Treatment can help him to better manhood, to a new life of usefulness and honor. Address the Neal Institute, 3920 Euclid Ave., Cleveland, Ohio. Phone Rosedale 3490. Open —that the suits and overcoats we're offering you at $20 represent the greatest Value in clothes to be found anywhere in Cleveland for these prices.

They're Kirschbaum clothes, they're marked close; we've been over the field pretty carefully; we know what's offered and we know something about clothes. We've had the co-operation of the great Kirschbaum organization to get extreme value into these goods.

at $20

The extra value is in the all-wool or worsted fabrics; the style of the weaves; the expert needlework; the artistic draping; the good-looking models that require skill to produce; nothing is omitted to make these the best clothes possible at $20. It's the IDEA that is making this clothing store grow so fast—more for your money than anywhere else. Sold in our New Clothing Store on the 3rd floor.

At $25, $30, $35 and $40 The May Co. offers equally large and satisfactory assortments; we offer the clothes of the highest class clothes makers; they're made of the choicest foreign and domestic fabrics in a variety of the popular gray effects, also shades of olive, brown, green, tan and blue, as well as plain black and blue fabrics, rough or smooth finish; we have exercised to the fullest extent the tremendous outlet and spot cash purchasing power of this great retail organization and pronounce these the best values obtainable. Attractively priced at only $25 to $40

THE ONLY THING these Kirschbaum $20 suits have in common with others is that either costs you two ten dollar bills. Carefully weighing our words we guaranntee them to contain more fabric and constructive value than any other alternative in Cleveland at $20.

This Guarantee With Every Kirschbaum Suit

(1) That the garment is made of woolens proved pure by chemical test. (2) That it is absolutely fast in color. (3) That it is thoroughly shrunk by the original London cold-water process. (4) That it is hand tailored and sewn with silk at all points of strain. (5) That should the garment fail to give satisfaction it may be returned for full and fair adjustment. And in a day when the markets are flooded with cotton-mixed fabrics and unreliable dyes, think what it means to buy your Spring suit with the broad protection of such a guarantee behind it. A great selection of suit and topcoat values at $20.00. $20

THE MAY CO. enjoys a purchasing power greater than that of any clothing store in the world; we believe in the quality of the goods we sell because we know them to be the best to be had—considerably better than you can find anywhere else for $15. We have a tremendous assortment of men's and young men's spring suits and overcoats at $15. Made of pure all-wool fabrics, strictly cold water shrunk. They are so good that we can well afford to give a full guarantee of satisfaction. $15

"NEED ANY MORE SEWING MACHINES? SEND BILL TO ME"—SAYS MAYOR COULBY AT ROUSING WICKLIFFE RED CROSS MEETING.

Wickliffe had a rousing Red Cross meeting Friday night, with Mrs. Knapp and Mrs. Pease present to arrange the organization, and 150 people at the school house to attend the meeting. Mrs. Harry Coulby was ill and could not attend, as arranged. Sixty members enrolled; sixty dollars was taken in at the meeting, and more promised. Mrs. Honeywell was elected chairman and Mrs. Sariman temproary secretary, they being the committee who were appointed to arrange the organization.

Two sewing machines have been donated; one by Mrs. Coulby, and the other by Mrs. Tiavex.

Mayor Coulby suggested that if any more sewing machines were needed, to make the purchase and send the bill to him.

It was an inspiring meeting and the response in Wickliffe wonderfully gratifying.

DR. STOCKING, CIVIL WAR VETERAN TO TO TALK AT METHODIST CHURCH.—SPECIAL PATRIOTIC SERVICE.

Sunday, April 15th, at 10:45 a. m., there will be held in the Methodist church a patriotic service. Rev. C. H. Stocking, D. D., a Civil War veteran, will deliver the message. The church will be decorated with the stars and stripes, and flowers in season. Patriotic music will be rendered by the choir. The G. A. R., the Relief Corps, the Sons and Daughters of Veterans, Soldiers of the Spanish-American war and other patriotic organizations are invited to this service.

WILLOUGHBY MUST DO ITS SHARE IN THE RED CROSS WORK

The local branch of the Red Cross wants to do their share in this great work for our country. At this time our hearts are burdened with the serious situation of America and we want to be in a position to respond to the urgent calls the U. S. is sending to the Red Cross chapters. If you are not a member, will you not become one? We sincerely ask you to assist in any benefits that may be given, that adequate funds may be available for necessary material. In times of action a gauze compress or oakum pad properly bandaged may save the life of some of our loyal boys. Will you help us to be able to furnish our share. The Red Cross nurses are ever ready and loyal and while not many of us can become nurses yet we can aid in furnishing the materials that are so necessary for them to have, to save life and alleviate suffering.

Remember the picture show benefit at the Hiawatha Monday afternoon and evening. All evening tickets 25c. In the afternoon children will be admitted for 10 cents.

Please show your heart interest by purchasing tickets for this benefit. Tickets on sale Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the postoffice.

AN EXPRESSION FROM WAITE HILL. CLIPPED FROM REGULAR CORRESPONDENCE.

"We'll all appreciate that new rest room in the S. S. Wilson store. Now we'll need some more hitching posts and why not have some along on the side streets? There might be room for quite a number which we farmers would much appreciate. As on Saturdays when everybody goes to town the posts are inadequate to meet the demand."

VISITOR FROM MEXICAN BORDER

Captain William Jenkins, of Minneapolis, was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. S. Wilson, on Easter, together with members of their family. Mr. Jenkins had just returned from the Mexican border in service with the mounted batteries, and was visiting in Cleveland his college mate, Mr. Sherman Clark. Mr. Jenkins was suddenly called into service Wednesday and expects soon to leave for the front.

CLEVELAND AD CLUB HAS INSPIRATIONAL MEETING.

One of the most enthusiastically patriotic meetings in Cleveland was held in The Statler ballroom Wednesday noon, when over 500 members and guests of the Cleveland Advertising club listened to the Welsh orator, Arthur W. Evans, a relative of Lloyd George, prime minister of England. His exposition of the topic, "What is America to Me?" held the audience spellbound for an hour. Mr. Sidney S. Wilson was chairman of the meeting and read a plan devised by the club for the formation of a Farmer army. Among the suggestions formally adopted by the club and forwarded to Secretary of War Baker are:

That farmers be assured the government will provide additional labor for cultivation and harvesting crops.

That an agricultural army be mobilized in the cities among farm-bred men for this work, and that this agricultural army be under United States government regulation, the same as a military camp.

That this agricultural army be raised by universal service and be drawn from men older than those called for military duty.

GATHERING IN PAINESVILLE.

An enthusiastic gathering of possibly 300 attended the patriotic meeting in Painesville, Tuesday night. Judge Nye, S. D. Shankland, ex-Senator Wimans, and others addressed the assembly. A sum up of the topics touched upon will be found in another column, formed as a basis for the next meeting. Senator Wimans spoke of the excellent and speedy work done by the prepared civic organizations at the time of the Ohio flood, when the city government was at loss to know what to do.

Sidney S. Wilson, of the finance committee, Red Cross, made brief remarks. He spoke of a gathering in Columbus on Washington's birthday, when a soldier from the trenches of France spoke, and took the 900 men present on a graphic trip mentally, through the horrors of the trenches. It was not death, he stated, that the boys feared, but SUFFERING, and this, then, is where our duty arises: To prepare the bandages to alleviate, in a degree, this suffering. Mr. Wilson made a most earnest plea that every person in Lake county give one dollar towards the Red Cross. The Willoughby Chamber of Commerce, Civic League, Red Cross and other local organizations were represented at the meeting.

McCulloch conducted the services. Interment was private at Lake View. Mrs. Weber was 82 years old. An aunt, who resided with her, Mrs. Ladd, is 92. Dr. Weber will be remembered as a most eminent surgeon, and who distinguished himself in many ways in this country and abroad in medical, political and national life.

SPLENDID MUSIC CLOSES THE SPECIAL LENTEN SERVICES

During these services the pastor was assisted by Rev. Thos. Hughes of Rocky River, Rev. N. E. Davis, Supt. of St. Luke's hospital, Cleveland; and Mr. George Soerheide, Supt. of City Mission, Cleveland. These brethren were a great inspiration to all who heard them. Rev. Hughes led the chorus choir and was ably assisted by Miss Margaret Converse of Cleveland, Miss Grace Orr, Salem, James McMahon, Mrs. Wm. Aid, our local chorister. That the meetings accomplished great good was evidenced by the size of the class received Easter Sabbath morning. We shall all remember with great profit the splendid sermons of Rev. Hughes, who did the bulk of the preaching. The pastor wishes to thank the local papers for the publicity given the meeting.

Dr. Chesbro will probably begin the construction of her new house about the month of June.

THE RESURRECTION

Written for the Republican by the Rev. H. E. Bright.

The tongue that blessed is silent now,
The hand that healed is still;
Death's bony fingers press his brow
To thwart his sovereign will.

His chosen band is scattered far,
The sheep no shepherd hear;
For death has come their hopes to mar,
And fill their hearts with fear.

Though hope be blasted in their breasts,
Their love is strong and true
To draw them where the body rests
Of Christ the hated Jew.

'Tis daybreak in the garden now,
The stone is rolled away;
And power divine doth Him endow,
The Life! the Truth! the Way!

He lives! The conquering Son of God,
And millions own his name:
And He who walked the common sod,
Salvation doth proclaim.

He is the Link that binds us to
That world of rare delight;
And by his power we shall pass through
Death's waters in the night.

O, Living, Resurrected Lord,
All power to Thee is given;
Guide Thou our footsteps by thy word,
Thou art the Way to heaven.

LIST OF PRIZES AWARDED AT THE KENNEDY & ROCKAFELLOW OPENING. LARGE CROWD ATTENDS.

A large crowd attended the Kennedy & Rockafellow opening last week and derived much pleasure from the prizes and enjoyment afforded. One hundred and eighty-eight were present Thursday when the Wonder Washer Drawing took place. A still larger crowd was on hand Saturday. Before the drawing Mr. Rockafellow made a few remarks on the "Buy in Willoughby" movement, calling upon the residents for more loyalty and thought on the important subject of keeping trade at home. Some goods in Willoughby, he cited, can be purchased for almost half the prices of the city stores. It is merely a question of looking around and seeing what can be had or done. He also directed attention to some facts that had been disclosed in a three weeks survey from a business standpoint of affairs in Willoughby. Co-operation, he stated, would open the door for the benefit of all. As all reap in the benefits derived from any boom in Willoughby, reciprocate, he urged, by keeping trade at home.

The prizes awarded were:

Flash Light, Mrs. Harry Sheffield; Mrs. Sheffield also drew the "Quick Meal" oil stove.

One gallon linseed oil each to Mrs. Winfield Code, Mrs. Henry Dawson, Mrs. Alf Wood and Mrs. Martin DeLoof.

One year's subscription to the Willoughby Republican was awarded to L. B. Stockwell, C. A. Royer and Fred Sprague.

It was later requested that the subscriptions be credited to the Maccabees of Mentor, which will be done.

One gallon "Sun Proof" paint to each Mrs. W. J. Gibson, Mrs. Roy Webster, Miss Hazel Yarnell, Mrs. M. J. Rentschler and Mrs. Frank Royer.

Ford outfits to Mrs. E. A. Lyons and Mrs. Sam Spears. An extra present of a cut glass sugar and creamer was given to Mrs. Lyman Cole.

"Chi-Namel" outfits to Mrs. W. A. Bates, Cecelia Barnes and Mrs. Leona Hodgson.

The "Wonder" washer was won by Mrs. P. Billson.

The following course or procedure or tentative plans have been suggested as a basis for the patriotic meeting in the library, next Wednesday night:

1. This organization shall be known as "The Lake County Patriotic Federation." All local societies, clubs, lodges and churches in the county are invited to affiliate with this Federation.

2. Each co-operating organization shall select one person as its representative in the federation. Until such representative is chosen, the presiding officer of the local co-operating organization shall be its representative.

3. The representatives of each township shall complete the township organizations at meetings to be held in the several townships on Wednesday evening, April 18, at a meeting place to be announced by the local Red Cross representative.

4. Each of said township meetings shall select two members of a County Central Committee. The president of the County Red Cross Chapter, the superintendent of the Lake County schools and the secretary of the Lake County Y. M. C. A. shall be ex-officio members of said Central Committee.

5. The members of the Central Committee shall meet in the court house in Painesville on Thursday evening, April 19, organize by electing a chairman and a secretary and formulate plans for permanently conducting the work of the Federation. They shall arrange for a general meeting of all representatives in the near future.

6. The Federation shall concern itself with securing united and efficient effort on the part of the people of Lake County in coping with the problems arising out of the world war. Some of these problems which now press for action are:

(a) Greater production of agricultural products.

(b) More efficient means of marketing these products.

(c) Canning clubs.

(d) Economy in use of provisions.

(e) Elimination of waste wherever found.

(f) More care for the physical welfare of all citizens and particularly of our youth.

(g) A campaign for a huge increase in the membership of the Red Cross Chapter.

(h) United effort to do our part in the relief of the starving in Belgium, Poland and elsewhere.

(i) Development of a plan for bringing together those who are willing to work and those who employ.

Get Best Results From Gas Service

Cleveland women have the cheapest and best Gas Service in the world—with which to cook.

The few complaints registered are usually traceable to lack of knowledge or practice in caring for ranges.
The efficiency of a gas range and the gas you burn is largely affected by the care you give your appliance.

The Cleveland woman who gets the best results from her gas range and Gas Service is the one who—

Keeps her range free from grease, using soda freely to do this.

Cleans the lint and dirt from air opening in air mixer, at least once each week, to avoid flame from smoking.

Does not use blackening on the burners.

Wipes out oven at least once each week.

Tries all gas valves to be sure they are closed before lighting any burner.

Is certain that all valves are closed before opening pilot light to oven burner.

Always opens lower oven door before lighting burner.

Turns off valve if match blows out, while she gets another.

Never leaves range until she is sure that both oven burners are lighted if both are to be used.

BEST SELLERS

The 10 best selling novels of 1916 were "Seventeen," "When a Man's a Man," "Eleanor Porter's, "Just David," H. G. Wells' "Mr. Britling Sees It Through," Ellen Glasgow's "Life and Gabriella," H. K. Webster's "The Real Adventure," Ethel M. Dell's "Bars of Iron," Francis H. Spearman's "Nan of Music Mountain," Jean Webster's "Dear Enemy," and Kathleen Norris's "The Heart of Rachael.' Many places down the list is Walpole's "In the Dark Forest," the one deeply imaginative novel of the war.

THE MAN WHO COMES OUT AHEAD

"It's the man who knows,
That weathers the blows,
And laughs at fate to her face;
It's the man who THINKS
And who knowledge drinks
That's ahead at the end of the race."

"No Pull"—"Pull," Says George Eastman, of Kodak Fame, "Should Be Regarded As a Verb, Not as a Noun"

Let me give you a snap shot of a man who has made good—big. He has made good in a good many ways. Kodak is one way, and a great way, but George Eastman of Rochester has a wide angle lens of his own, and when he snaps his shutter he pictures things most vividly.

We were talking about "pull." Let me quote him:

"The widow of an old friend of mine came to see me the other day in the interest of her son.

"I've been wondering," she said, "if you can't help my son. The trouble is he has no "pull," and he tells me he has found out that he can't do anything without a "pull." He's been trying hard, too; he has his oar in, but he doesn't seem to be able to get anything worth while.

Such was the lamentation, and such is the lamentation to which business men are compelled to listen year in and year out.

I told the good lady that I had more sympathy for the young man than I had for her. As I remember I put it something like this:

"This boy of yours, when he was a little fellow, had nothing to do but play. Your idea and your husband's idea was to safeguard him and save him from the rough corners of this world. You pampered him—he had no chores to do, like the boys of 30 years ago. He didn't have to carry the wood in and fill the wood box for his mother; and now, as you yourself say, he has his oar in but he has no "pull."

I think you have stated the case exactly and now the time has come when somebody must do his "pulling" for him.

Our cities are filled full of steam heated incompetents looking for somebody with a "pull" to do their "pulling" for them. The only "pull" that counts in this world is the "pull" that is pulled by the man himself. Inherited "pull" is no "pull" at all.

"Pull"—much as I regret it on your boy's account, madam, is NOT a noun. "Pull" is a verb.

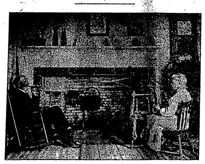
JOE MITCHELL CHAPPLE.

MODERN THRIFT.

"Are you saving up anything for a rainy day?" asked the thrifty citizen.

"Yes," replied Mr. Chuggins, "In a little while I expect to have enough to buy a brand new top for my automobile."—St. Louis Star.

DELIGHTFUL PICTURE SHOWS INTERIOR OF OLD HOME AND SPINNER AND SPINNING WHEEL



There is a real charm about this picture, which shows the inside of the old Page homestead, now belonging to the Andrews Institute for Girls. There is an air of comfort and peace about the smoker, while Mrs. Page is shown spinning flax with a wheel which has been used in this house for a great many years. On September 10th, 1916, this spinning wheel, which has been in the Page family for about 100 years, was presented to the Andrews school. The furnishings in the picture are worthy of note. The old mantel and fireplace are originals and are also nearly 100 years old. In the upper left hand corner of the fire place is an old fashioned tin oven, used for the baking of bread and pastry. The kettle in the center is suspended on the original crane, used for baking bread as well as the cooking of vegetables. The objects on the mantel are all very old. Note the clock and the candle stick to the right of the grate. The next to the last object on the left is a mortar and pestle. All the furniture is very old and hand made.

Newspaper Advertising Makes Men Bigger And Big Men Still Better Business Men

"Newspaper Advertising Essential, Economical, Indispensible," was the subject of a talk by M. P. Linn, an advertising man of St. Louis, at a banquet of the newspaper division of the Advertisers' club at the Claypool Hotel, Indianapolis, last week. Newspaper advertising is the surest source and the least expensive when directed constantly to the public concerning the opportunities to be enjoyed while shopping," said Mr. Linn.

"Newspaper advertising is not on trial. It has been tested by the ablest merchandising men in America. It has met the assaults of competition of various kinds, and it stands today bigger, stronger, greater and more supreme than at any time in its history, because the newspaper itself has become so thoroughly molded in the public mind that its usefulness is indispensible to the community where it is published.

"Newspaper advertising makes bigger and better business. Bigger and better business makes bigger and better business men. The better the business men the sooner we are able to realize the finest ideals of American citizenship, because the precepts of advertising are honesty and truth.

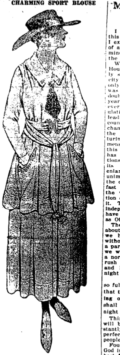
"Newspaper advertising expresses the foundation, policy, principle, basis and the achievements of the store, and it is through newspaper advertising that people see, learn and come to know the value of the establishment. It is in this manner that confidence is established, good will maintained and future prosperity assured.

"The highest sense of service is just as manifestly expressed in the small store where only a few people are employed as it is in the large department stores with sixty or eighty individual departments or specialty shops."

SOME JANITORS GROW WEALTHY

Charlton Bates Strayer says in Leslie's Weekly: While denouncing big food distributors, manipulators and middlemen for the high cost of living, an astonishing disclosure is made in New York city of the part of the janitor in boosting prices. One Brooklyn concern pays $30,000 to janitors for the privilege of doing business. The milk and ice rights of new apartments are sold before the buildings are completed at prices from $10 to $50. The Wicks legislative committee has discovered a janitor to be one who receives his rent, ice, milk, bread, rolls and newspapers free, besides getting a cash bonus from dealers in various products for his influence in gaining trade. One milk solicitor testified that physicians got 10 per cent off on their milk for recommending raw instead of pasteurized milk. A large real estate agency was found which for 13 years had been furnishing lists of prospective occupants of its properties for which it received about $100 a month from a big milk concern. Petty graft amounting in the aggregate to tens of thousands of dollars is one of many things that is forcing up the cost of living in every city. Does any one hear about any prosecutions of these grafters by the trust busters?

CHARMING SPORT BLOUSE



The sports influence is one of the most potent in the world of dress and even women who do not go in for any particular form of exercise wear the sports styles. The Russian blouse costume is carried out in natural khaki kool trimmed with braid in self color. Medium size requires 6 3-4 yards 40-inch material. Pictorial Review Blouse No. 6847. Sizes 34 to 42 inches bust. Price 15 cents. Skirt No. 6640. Sizes 22 to 36 inches waist. Price 15 cents.

Osteopathy Explained

In a strict definition of the term "pure osteopathy," or as many of us call it for short, "ten-finger osteopathy," we need not exclude the use of rational methods of hygeine or diet, nor indeed any other scientific regimen that would back up pure osteopathic treatment. But the fact of the matter is that many osteopaths do not believe that Dr. Still would extend their definition too far. We have accepted this modern enlargement of his own term. To say that any method which cures disease or which assists nature in recoveries or reactions against disease is osteopathic is not at all true; but we do not understand that Dr. Still has ever held that osteopathy itself, as a general therapeutic agent, was opposed to all kinds of hygeine, diet, sanitation, or therapy other than osteopathic manipulation. To hold such a view would truly be "more royal than the king." And yet, until the last word in osteopathic science has been haid, and the last possible experiment in osteopathic research has been made, no man can positively assert that pure osteopathic manipulation will not eventually be fonud to be all that is necessary in the treatment of disease, and by that we mean all diseases, including even the tumors. Nor can this belief be set aside as the dream of the enthusiast. On the contrary, such a belief will emerge from a study of osteopathic results—at least I nman—made with a little actual first-hand knowledge of the bady in health and disease as a working foundation for the study itself.

FOUR RULES OF LIFE

First—If possible, be well and have a good appetite. If these conditions are yours, the battle is already half won. Many soul and heart troubles arise really in the stomach, though it may seem strange to you. If you don't know how to cure yourself use common sense and the best medical advice you can get.

Second.—Be busy. Fill the hours so full of useful and interesting work that there shall be no time for dwelling on your trouble, that the day shall dawn full of expectation, the night fall full of repose.

Third.—Forget yourself; you never will be happy if your thoughts constantly dwell upon yourself, your own perfection, your shortcoomings, what people think of you, and so on.

Four.—Trust in God. Believe that God is, that He really knows what is best for you; believe this truly, and the bitterness is gone from life.—"The Arrow."

TODAY AND TOMORROW

Today may be as black as night
And desolate of cheer,
It may be hopeless now to fight
But evening shall appear
And this I know about today
Despite its care and sorrow,
It has no power on earth to stay
To cripple my tomorriw.

Today I may a failure be,
A helpless thing and weak,
Through tears I may but dimly see
The distant mountain peak.
But all this storm may pass away
My sun may start to shine,
And when the past has claimed today
Tomorrow may be fine.

My task is but to face today
With faith and courage, too,
To take what blows may come my way
And live this battle through.
And all this tangled wreck of now
Shall swiftly disappear,
Tomorrow I may find somehow
My skies once more are clear.

—Detroit Free-Press

DESTROYS ILLEGAL SIGNS

Within a few days there will be an organized movement in Massachusetts for the removal of tin, wood, cloth and paper advertising signs from the trees of the public highways. Volunteer workers representing automobile clubs, the Boy Scouts and women's clubs are to be provided with tools suitable for removing disfiguring signs and the first clean-up will be in the metropolitan districts in which the samples of the outdoor advertising are said to be as plentiful as they are obnoxious. Reports of the progress made will doubtless prove interesting, as two or three hundred clawhammers should make a noticeable difference to the country roads spoilt by signs proclaiming the merits of medicines and other products.—Ohio Motorist.

HOME MADE RUGS

Rag rugs are in demand again, and there are women who make the most wonderful rugs from rags with colors that produce a Persian effect. For the foundation burlap is used. Upon this, when cut to the desired size, the design is outlined with a soft blue pencil. Then with a steel buttonhook or large crochet needle pull a piece of cloth a quarter of an inch wide and an inch in length through the loosely woven burlap. Draw it out again as if you were taking an ordinary stitch in sewing. After the whole surface of the rug has been covered in this manner trim the uneven ends with large shears and the rug is finished. These rugs can be made from woolen or silk rags and pieces that would otherwise be wasted will be utilized, as the pieces required do not have to be large in size.

MRS. JENNET I. PIERCE WRITES A LETTER ABOUT HOUSTON, TEXAS

I will try and tell you a little of this wonderful city of the southwest. I expect this will be a rambling sort of a letter for it is hard to keep my mind on any thing these days except the war.

When I took my first ride around Houston four months ago I was greatly surprised to find it such a large city for I had expected to find it had only about 80,000 inhabitants. but was informed that it had almost doubled in population in the last ten years, having now nearly 150,000 and everything has kept up with the population until now it is one of the leading cities in this part of the country, and the opening of the ship channel is bound to make it one of the great commercial and manufacturing centers of the nation. Immense ships are already coming into this inland port and while the city has already attained large proportions in the last ten years its present size will be greatly enlarged with the development of the unimproved lands immediately about the city. This part of the country is fast becoming the oil metropolis of the world, not only in the production of oil but also in the refining of it. The Gulf Co., one of the largest independent oil concerns in the world have their offices here, also the Texas Oil Co.

The weather—what shall I say about that? It is mild, of course, and we have gone most of the winter without wraps and perhaps carrying a parasol as well, and perhaps while we were out with that same parasol a norther would come and we would rush for our houses and build fires and have more covers over us at night than I ever did in Ohio.

Of course I am glad to escape the extreme cold you have had up home, but I do not like these sudden changes.

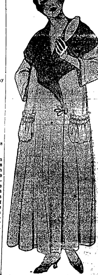
Houston has an unusually large number of skyscrapers for a city of its size and the largest, the Rice Hotel, is 17 stories high. Here we also have the Rice Institute, one of the largest and richest colleges in the country having an endowment fund of $9,000,000 left by the man for whom the institute was named. A new boulevard, one of the finest in the country, was finished this winter and is brilliantly lighted the whole length and goes out past this college. When the lights were turned on January 1 it was the occasion of a grand parade and a dance on the new pavement, led by the mayor and one of the prominent ladies of the city.

There are a number of very beautiful churches, one of the finest being the First Methodist. They raised $65,000 5last Sunday to finish paying off the church debt and they will soon own that beautiful house of worship which is worth $300,000.

The cost of living is the same here as in the north. I have paid 45 cents a pound for butter, the same for a dozen eggs and potatoes three dollors a bushel. The only apples we have come from the west and sell at 20 to 25 cents a dozen, and how I would like to get my teeth into an Ohio Baldwin this winter. Strange to say ice is cheaper here than in the north, having paid only 25 cents a hundred till this month, when it advanced five cents.

Kind regards to all,
Very sincerely yours,
JANET I. PIERCE.

DAINTY BLUE ROBE



It is easy to feel comfortable when one looks so dainty in this robe of pale blue albatross trimmed with an immense shawl collar of tub satin. The design fastens at one side with a frog of blue silk braid and there are big, shirred pockets, ample enough for the little accessories that appeal to one's vanity. The flowing sleeves are finished with hemstitched hems. In medium size the robe requires 7 yards 36-inch albatross and 1 1-4 yards 36-inch silk.

Pictorial Review boudoir robe No. 6962. Sizes 36, 40, 44 and 48 inches bust. Price 20c.

Tips For Play-Goers

B. F. KEITH'S HIPPODROME.

A splendidly balanced bill containing features to be seen only on "big time" will hold the boards at Keith's Hippodrome next week. Attention of "Hip" patrons is directed to the return of Sylvia Bidwell & Co., in "Forest Fires," a spectacular drama of Timberland, which scored a hit here some time ago. Bert Kalmer and Jesse Brown and Co. will present a wonderful feature in "Misery Land." Others are Fay, two Coleys and Fay; Kelly, Wilde & Co.; Carelli & Gillette; Jim and Marion Harkins; Whipple, Huston & Co., and Maxmillion's educated canines.

MILES THEATER

Coming next Monday to the Miles will be Amelia Bingham in "Big Moments from Great Plays," and in scenes from Joan of Arc.

Included in Miss Bingham's company are such noted Metropolitan artists as Miss Katherine Stanton, Mr. Mortimer Martin, Mr. Joseph Gillow, Mr. Edward B. Reiss, Miss Agnes Elliott Scott and Mr. L'Estrange Millman.

In connection with this big attraction there is no greater fun makers than Vine and Temple, which are certain to please. One of America's best musical acts will be found in Edgar Pendriott, an accordianist, who offers a repertoire of classy musical numbers all his own compositions. The Three Fishers are eccentric acrobats, who do marvelous feats. Holmes & Levere in impersonations of famous artists, offer something new in a vaudeville way in song, dance and chatter.

Mrs. Vernon Castle will be shown in "Wings of Death," 13th chapter of "Patria," and H. B. Warner in Fifth chapter of "Seven Deadly Sins."

CORONA THEATRE

Ella Hall, famous delineator of child roles, will furnish the attraction at the Corona theater, 745 Prospect avenue, Saturday, April 14, when "Polly Redhead" fill introduce this pretty girl in two characters. Miss Hall will play the part and will also represent a little girl who works at anything to earn a shilling, and will also represent a little girl who has been born and reared in luxury. These two little "redheads" are substituted, one for the other, in a time of domestic stress and their share in working out a happy ending to an interesting play, is of utmost importance. While Miss Hall plays both characters, there will be one episode in which, by camera trickery, both of the little "brick tops" are disclosed in the same scene. See it at The Corona, Saturday, April 14.

Other features are Monday, "The Kidnaped Bride," with Marie Walcamp; Tuesday "The Eyes in the Dark," with Leah Baird; Wednesday "The Flower of Doom," with Wedgewood Nowell; Thursday "For Lack of Evidence" and Friday, "The Mystery of the Double Cross," episode No. 2, featuring Mollie King.

BALL ON THE EVE OF THE BATTLE OF BULL RUN

"THE BIRTH OF A NATION."

Do you know that one out of every nine people in this country have seen D. W. Griffith's massive photo-spectacle, "The Birth of a Nation," which is now running at the Euclid Avenue Opera House, Cleveland?

To contrast the given patronage of "The Birth of a Nation" with that of any other histrionic presentation past or present would be unfair, for stage history fails to record the instance of any offering which ever reached, during its life, the gross patronage already played to by Mr. Griffith's master work, which apparently is as yet in the infancy of its popularity.

The census of 1910 accords the United States a population of 92,036,717. The box office records of "The Birth of a Nation" show that the piece already has been seen by, in round numbers, ten million people. In other words, about one-ninth of the population of this country has already viewed the stage representation. And in its presentation in England, Australia, and South America, this attendance has been equaled.

"The Birth of a Nation" brings forward David W. Griffith's new art of musical spectacle. The first half of the great picture exhibits the salient events of the Civil war, which came to a close at Appomattox just fifty years ago. Lincoln's call for troops, Sherman's march, the battle of Petersburg, Lee's surrender to Grant and the awful tragedy at Ford's theater live before the spectator of the Griffith drama. In the second half the South's "second uprising," this time against the carpeting regime, is shown in a thrilling story of reconstruction days. The romance of the "little Confederate Colonel," Ben Cameron, with the Northerner, Elsie Stoneman, and that of the Unionist Captain Phil. Stoneman with Margaret Cameron, the South Carolina lassie, maintain two threads of continuous love interest throughout the story. Matinese are given daily at 2:15 and the evening performances start at 8:15.

LIBERTY THEATRE

All the fantasies of the mystic East will be revealed to you at the Liberty theater for the entire week of April 16, when Harry Du Rocher presents "A Night in Hong-Kong," presented by a cast of thirty artists, and a carload of oriental scenery and lighting effects. The offering is full of comedy, song and dance numbers. A chorus of ten wear elaborate costumes and participate in a goodly share of the singing and dancing numbers. The Pon Chin troupe of Chinese artists constitute the backbone of the production and are the prevailing influence that tends to lend the oriental atmosphere to the entire thing. Several spectacular numbers are included in the repertoire of selections in which the entire company participates. It is a decided novelty attraction without a parellel and is the execution of a theme that is seldom if ever used in the production of theatrical entertainments. The performance will begin at 55 o'clock, the entire house being rented to the Fourth Church of Christ for the afternoon only.

ALHAMBRA AND MALL

The New Mall and Alhambra theaters are right now in the midst of the season of big productions.

Starting Sunday for one week, they will show Clara Kimball Young in her latest success, "The Easiest Way." This play by Eugene Walter, a former Clevelander, is by far the best work Miss Young has ever done. It is a very worldly story of a woman's fight against temptation and with a wealth of action, should go down in movie history as Miss Young's best artistic triumph.

"The Great Secret" will not be shown, during this engagement because of the length of "The Easiest Way," but will be continued the following week, the last three chapters being shown as follows: Chapter 16, April 22 to 25; Chaptre 17, April 26 to 28 and Chapter 18, April 29 to May 2.

PROSPECT THEATER

Owing to popular demand the engagement of "Her Unborn Child," the birth control play, showing at the Prospect theatre, has been extended for another week. Howard McKent Barnes, the author of "Her Unborn Child," in his play deals with his subject in a most dignified manner. He spent months in research work and the result is a play that tells the truth about birth control. The story has to do with a young boy and girl who love unwisely and they appeal to a kindly old physician to rescue the girl from her difficulty. The doctor is of the old school and shows them the only proper way out of the difficulty. Because of the theme of the play, motherhood, there will be a daily matinee for the ladies. Men will be admitted only to the evening performances. Mrs. Clara Reynolds Smith will address the ladies on the subject of "Motherhood" at each afternoon performance.

STANDARD THEATER

The week of April 15 the new special Fox Photodrama "Her Greatest Love," with Theda Bara as the star will be shown at the Standard theater. Theda Bara reaches the height of her artistic career in her impersonations of a young English country girl and later that of a woman whose lery soul has been torn by agonizing emotions. Miss Bara's characterization of Vere Herbert is elidence that she possesses a depth of feeling and emotion netirely foreign to one who has made vampire roles famous the world over. The story of "Her Greatest Love" is one of deep human appeal and will be appreciated by everyone who sees this wonderful play. Miss Bara is assisted by such well known co-stars as Harry Hilliard, Walter Law, Glen Khite, Alice Gale and others.

Max Linder comedy entitled "Max in a Taxi" will also be shown and is the funniest yet.

STAR THEATER

Dave Marion's "The World of Frolics," a follies show staged by Leon Errol of the Ziegfeld organization, comes to the Star next week. It is more pretentious than most burlesque shows, and promises better. It has broken records all over the Columbia circuit, and Cleveland has been trying to get it for months.

"The World of Frolics" is a first class musical show all the way and the cast, with Dave Marion, S. H. Dudley, Joe Mannie, Bert Hall and the like among its members, should provide lots of comedy as well. Marion will appear in his familiar role of "Snuffy the Cabman."

EMPIRE THEATER

"The Girls From Joyland," with daring and beautiful costuming, real comedians, novel electrical effects, and new and different singing and dancing numbers, is at the Empire for next week. The show consists of two bright musical farces, "Stagger Inn" and "A Night in a Harem," with "Funny Billy" Gilbert as the headliner.

MOTHERS' MISTAKES TAKEN UP AT MEETING OF W. C. T. U. SYNDICATE READING.

Twenty-five ladies met at the home of Mrs. J. Taylor Tuesday afternoon April 3rd for the regular meeting of the W. C. T. U.

This was a mother's meeting and a very interesting one, Mrs. Taylor being assigned the subject "parents mistakes." At a previous meeting she gave out stamped envelopes and asked the mothers if they would write her letters telling of mistakes they had made, but she would not embarras any one by asking their name, and but one woman had the courage to sign hers. The letters proved most interesting and helpful and made us feel inclined to turn back the hand of time and try again; or as one letter expressed it: "WE NEED TO LIVE ONCE IN ORDER TO KNOW BEST HOW WE MAY ACCOMPLISH OUR IDEALS." Several good articles were read on the subject also.

Mrs. Florence Gillette led the discussion, "Reading for the Home," in a very informal way, telling us that much of the reading put in the hands of news dealers and book stores today is simply ground out in about ten days under the direction of syndicates and little time or thought put into it—just something that will sell. She gave us some lists of good books for girls and boys to read. The discussion was most heartily entered into and it is to be hoped that the mothers in Willoughby will watch what their young people are reading as it plays a large part in the formation of character.

LEGAL NOTICE

Frank Richeson, alias Frank Richson, alias Frank Richardson, who resides at 1213 McClelland Avenue, Detroit, Michigan, and Grace Richardson, wife of the said Frank Richeson, who also resides at 1213 McClelland Avenue, Detroit, Michigan, will take notice that on the 15th day of March, 1917, Agnes Simons as Guardian of the person and estate of Zack Simons, filed her petition in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, in Case No. 155144 against them and each of them setting forth that she is now the duly appointed, qualified and acting guardian of the person and estate of Zack Simons, an imbecile person and resident of South Euclid, Ohio. That her said ward, Zack Simons, is the owner in fee simple and in actual and peaceable possession of the following described real estate:

Parcel One—Situated in the Township of East Cleveland, county of Cuyahoga, and state of Ohio, and known as sublot No. 18 in Laura M. Stewart's sub-division of part of original East Cleveland Lot No. 53, as shown by the recorded plat in Volume 19 of Maps, page 24 of Cuyahoga County Records, and being 174.24 feet front on the east side of Noble Place and extending back 250 feet deep, measuring from the center of the street.

That the plaintiff's ward derived his title to Parcel No. 1 hereinbefore described by virtue of a warranty deed executed by Frank W. Bartlett who was then the owner in fee simple of said property and Mary J. Bartlett, wife of the said Frank W. Bartlett, who joined in said deed, thereby releasing her dower right in said property, which deed was executed on the 26th day of October in the year 1900, and recorded on the 10th day of November, 1900, in Volume 771, Page 123 of Cuyahoga County Records of Deeds.

That her said ward derived his title to Parcel No. 2 by virtue of a warranty deed from James W. Stewart and Laura M. Stewart, husband and wife, the said Laura M. Stewart then being the owner in fee simple of said property and the said James W. That the said Zack Simons on the respective days when said conveyances were executed took actual and absolute possession of said described premises, and has held actual, continuous and notorious possession ever since said time. That said possession has been ever since held wholly adverse to the claims and interests of the defendants herein.

That on or about the 7th day of April in the year 1900, the said Zack Simons executed a warranty deed to the premises hereinbefore described as Parcel No. 2, in which deed the said Frank Richeson is named as grantee, being designated therein as Frank Richson. That said deed was filed with the Recorder of Cuyahoga County and was recorded on the 13th day of April, 1900 in Volume 754, page 198 of Cuyahoga County Records of Deeds.

That on the 14th day of March, 1904, the said Zack Simons executed a warranty deed of the property described as Parcel No. 1 in which deed said Frank Richeson is named as grantee, being designated therein as Frank Richson, which deed was filed with the Recorder of Cuyahoga County, and was recorded on the 26th day of March, 1904, in Volume 917, page 423 of Cuyahoga County Records of Deeds. That by reason thereof the defendant, Frank Richeson, claims an estate or interest in said described premises adverse to the rights of the plaintiff and her ward.

The petition further states that neither of said deeds herein described, executed by the said Zack Simons were ever delivered to the defendant Frank Richeson, that no consideration passed from the said Frank Richeson to the said Zack Simons, and that there was no intention upon the part of said Zack Simons to deliver said deeds or to pass title thereby, and that the said Zack Simons at all times retained complete and absolute control over said deeds.,

That by reason thereof, said deeds conveyed no title to the defendant Frank Richeson, and that said deeds are null and void and of no effect. That by reason of the fact that said deeds have been recorded and stand upon the records as good and valid conveyances, a cloud is cast upon the title to said real estate.

It is further set forth in said petition that the defendant, Grace Richardson, is the wife of the defendant, Frank Richeson, and claims an estate or interest in said real estate adverse to the right of the plaintiff and her said ward therein. That neither of said defendants have any claim, title or interest in said premises whatever.

That by reason of the premises a cloud is cast upon the title to said real estate which greatly and unjustly depreciates the value thereof. The prayer of said petition is that the defendants may be compelled to set forth their interests in said real estate, if any they have; that said claim of defendants may be adjudged to be null and void; that the said deeds executed by said Zack Simons to said Frank Richeson and recorded as aforesaid may be held to be null and void and of no effect; and that the plaintiff's title may be quieted against said defendants' claims, and they and each of them be enjoined from asserting such claims against said real estate; that the cloud thereon may be removed, and for such other and further relief as equity and the need of the case may require and to the court may seem just, necessary and proper.

Said defendants are required to answer said petition on or before the 5th day of May, 1917, or judgment will be taken against them. M15 A19

"I have tried Toedtmann's 'Honeypepper' frequently for cough and cold; it has always helped me quickly. I have often recommended it to my friends. You see it in the Suits for this Spring and Summer—the qualities and Styles; the values and prices. Look at the stock in the mass—or examine it in detail. There is always the same verdict—the richest, the brightest—the Suits that establish new standards of beauty and elegance and service. Judge all of them by

Kirschbaum's $20 Suits

They and we haven't stopped at anything to have them the best $20.00 Suit value that can be produced. All-wool fabrics to begin with, cut with the same skill and care and science and accuracy as suits that cost double, and it is the cutting that determines the fit. Then the shape is literally kneaded into the garments by know-how hands.

$20 Suits Irreproachable Unapproachable

Observe all their special points. Be critical. Look closely. Notice the collars—how they cling; then the lapels—they fall into right lines. Shoulders neither droop nor bulge. The front doesn't break; the edges don't sag. No tricky or slimpsy linings. All this painstaking excellence is having a tremendous effect.

Clap Your Eye on Any Kirschbaum $20.00 Suit

It conveys its own story—a story of artist-designers and honest workmanship united with high-class, beautiful, pure-wool materials. It gives grace and creates satisfaction with one's personal appearance—it individualizes its wearer—and that means much.

"Desire to Drink Never Enters My Mind"

THE TRIBUTE OF A NEAL-CURED MAN WHO "WON OUT" at THE NEAL INSTITUTE

"I'm in good shape and never have desire to take a drink since I left the Neal Institute, writes a New Lexington man, who adds: "It never enters my mind, so I guess there is not much danger as long as I get along that way. I have been working every day since I came home. Whenever and wherever I can speak a good word for the Neal Treatment I will willingly do it."

The one who is in the grip of the drink habit who wants to quit—knows he ought to quit—has tried hard to quit and just couldn't quit—will find that the Neal Treatment meets his want. It quickly knocks out all the lurking poison of alcohol, which is the underlying cause of desire for drink. You've got to get rid of this poison before the desire leaves you.

Stick Old Alcoholic Desire against Neal Treatment and in three days "O A D" will go down and out for the count. Scores of people have found the Neal Institute a veritable House of Happiness Redeemed.

At the regular meeting of the council Monday night the ordinance as advanced last summer regulating the jitney traffic, was passed.

Three propositions were advanced by the New York Central relative to the subway. Plans are on exhibition in the office of the town hall for public inspection. The matter will be taken up with the commissioners and the people generally, later.

John Ohm was accepted as councilman, succeeding Horace Nichols, resigned.

The matter of paving will be taken up at the council meeting the last of the month, after sufficient time has elapsed pending the sending out of legal notices to property owners, etc.

Samuel Austin was present and stated that practically all of the Barber Avenue residents are opposed to the proposed paving of that thoroughfare at this time. He will be present at the next council meeting, April 30th, with a detailed list of the persons objecting.

THANKS EXPRESSED TO ALL WHO AIDED IN HIAWATHA RED CROSS BENEFIT

The Willoughby Red Cross wish to thank all who in any way aided and helped to make a success the benefit given at the Hiawatha theatre last Monday afternoon and evening, the result of which netted the organization about $112. To the generosity of the public, to those who sold tickets and to Mrs. J. A. McMahon and Mr. Chinery, who donated their services and helped to make the evening one of pleasure with their music, we extend our grateful thanks.

We also appreciate the co-operation of the management of the Hiawatha theatre, who bore all the expense of tickets, dodgers and other advertising matter, as well as an extra priced film—their share being the minor proportion.

Much good is already resulting from this benefit as many are joining and interest is rapidly increasing.

Let Willoughby be proud of her Red Cross and her share in its advancement and success and may it be supported and encouraged by every patriotic citizen.

MATTERS OF CURRENT INTEREST TAKEN UP BY CONVERSATIONAL CLUB—ANDREWS SCHOOL GIRLS RECEIVE PRAISE

The Conversational Club was entertained for Miss Hanscom on Saturday afternoon, the 14th of April, at Andrews cottage No. 5, efficiently presided over by Mrs. Clara B. Hitchcock, president of the club. The three young ladies of the Andrews Institute who triumphantly demonstrated the high quality of their culinary skill, as also fine taste in table decoration and luncheon serving, were Zelma Murphy, Justine Trimble and Edna Colby.

The current topic talk and reviews of April magazines were full of the interest inseparably attached to the times in which we live. Mrs. Nellie Glenn Reynolds gave in a most pleasing manner her impression of political discussions and prominent personages in Washington during the exciting days preceding and including the fourth of March, 1917, and her share of personal experiences in affairs which may hereafter seem historically significant. Mrs. Ethel Griste Viall read in her own spirited fashion a paper on "Embassies and Legations," which was a happy blend of information and entertainment, personal anecdotes and unwritten history adding much to the value of the paper. The annual meeting will be held April 28 at the residence of Mrs. Reynolds.

WILLOUGHBY'S MILITARY BAND DIRECTOR PASSES AWAY

Mr. Peter Fox, director of the Cleveland Crane & Engineering Co. band of Wickliffe and the Military band of Willoughby, after several weeks' illness of typhoid fever, departed this life Thursday morning, April 12, aged 29 years.

The deceased leaves to mourn his loss a beloved wife, father, brother Frank and a host of friends. Mr. Fox was born at Sherrodsville, O., and for many years resided at Navarre, O., where he directed the Citizens' band of that place. He was clarionet soloist of the Gary band of Massillon, one of the best musical organizations in the state of Ohio. Brief funeral services were conducted at Wickliffe by Rev. J. V. Axtell Saturday afternoon, previous CLEVELAND FINDS TRADE EXTENSION TRIPS OF VALUE. WHY NOT WILLOUGHBY?

An organization was effected and officers elected at the meeting of the Willoughby retail merchants board Thursday night. E. S. Fairley was elected president and Wm. Jackman secretary and treasurer. A trade extension board was proposed and plans for this will be completed at the next meeting. Cleveland merchants find trade extension trips of value. There is a rich field adjacent to Willoughby and the compliment of the personal interest and desire for the business by a community, evinced by a trade extension trip, does much toward influencing the trade of an individual.

APPEAL BY THE FINANCIAL COMMITTEE OF THE RED CROSS TO EACH INDIVIDUAL OF LAKE COUNTY.

The financial committee of the Lake County Red Cross Society, appointed by the president, Judge A. G. Reynolds, is sending a direct appeal this week through the mails and the newspapers for the contributions of $1.00 or more for the purchasing of materials for the loyal women of Lake County to use.

It is impossible on so short a notice for the committee to get the name of every person in the county. They are therefore asking the support of all loyal citizens for each one to contribute $1.00 and get a friend to contribute a like amount. Contributions should be sent at once to Mrs. Louise Pease, treasurer, Painesville, Ohio.

The women who have donated their services for the preparation of bandages and first aid supplies are anxiously awaiting the arrival of more material which cannot be purchased until contributions are made.

The American people have been drawn into the world's greatest war. We have as our enemy a relentless revengeful foe which will hold out to the bitter end. It is one of the most serious problem sthat our government has ever faced and we who remain at home must not be inactive in service to our country.

The organization of the Red Cross opens up to us a wonderful opportunity for immediate help and the most active assistance. It is not only our duty, but is the greatest privilege extended to those of us who dwell at home.

We have an opportunity to contribute according to our individual means and thus be loyal to the greatest cause of democracy.

It is impossible for the committee and should not be necessary for any person to request financial help. Donations should come unsolicited, freely and promptly.

No matter what amount: contribute now.

Financial Committee:
Sidney S. Wilson, Willoughby, O.
Carl R. Kimball, Madison, Ohio.
H. N. Doolittle, Painesville, O.

STOCKHOLDERS MEETING OF THE BEN HUR AUTOMOBILE COMPANY

The stockholders meeting of the Ben Hur was held in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium, Cleveland, Saturday, April 14. The room was well filled. The same board of directors as now in office was elected for next year, and one new one was nominated. The directors include Messrs Bagby, Anderberg, Mott, Spyksma, Curre, Allen, Stanger and Oran S. Korach is the new director desired, and he may decide to serve.

A detailed report was given by Mr. Anderberg as to all the expenditures that have been made and how. Mr. Bagby explained the car, and moving pictures were used as a means of exhibiting the building to the audience. Mr. Stanger acted as chairman.

It appears to be the concensus of opinion that the money has been conservatively handled. Some suits have been filed against the company for various causes. Additional financing is required and this matter is now before the stockholders.

No Loans to Directors or Officers
To safeguard the interests of its depositors is the first aim of The Cleveland Trust Company.
It makes no loans to its Directors or Officers. So fundamentally important is the principal involved that some states have enacted laws forbidding loans by banks to their Directors or Officers. At The Cleveland Trust Company this is but one of a number of self-imposed safeguards.

WHITE CRYSANTHEMUMS

"The white crysanthemum im my favorite flower. There are other flowers I grant, werhaps more beautiful, which I cannot help admiring, but the white crysatnhemum somehow appeals to me more than any other flower. Why? That is more than I can tell. The unconscious movements of our soul activities cannot be turned into sodden prose. What would be the use of having a favorite flower if one could give any reason for having it? It merely reveals that part of our personality not to be logically explained, which rises within us like the reminiscences of some former soul existence. There are colors and certain sounds and odors which affect me similarly. Whenever I gaze at a white crysanthemuf my mind becomes conscious of something which concerns my life alone, something which I would like to express in my art, but which I shall never be able to realize, at least not in this vague and at the same time convincing manner, the flower conveys it to me.

I am also fond of displaying it occasionally in my buttonhole; not for effect, however, but simply becouse I want other people to know who I am, for those human beings who are sensative to the charms of the crysanthemum hail from the same country in which my soul abides, and I should like to meet them. I should not have much to say to them; souls are not talkative, but we should make curtesies and hand white crysanthemums to one another."—Sadakichi Hartmann in the Whistler Book.

ARBOR DAY

my friend,
And know you have done a useful thing.
For you never can tell where good acts end—
A bird may rest that is weary of

Or a traveler cool his burning brow
In the shade of the tree which you plant now.
And should you fall before your tree
(And this may happen to you or

You have your living monument
With its basic roots which are down-

And the lofty crest which will as-

E'en like a good deed higher and

SAYS ADVERTISING WOULD HAVE PREVENTED THE WAR

Ivy Lee Believes Independence of the Press as a Tribunal Should Be Sustained.

Ivy Lee, publicity counsel for the Pennsylvania railroad and the Bethlehem Steel corporation, speaking at the luncheon of the Advertising club on the "Future of Advertising," said the present war represents the failure of advertising.

"Future advertising," said Mr. Lee "will address itself to the mind rather than the pocketbook.

"Future political campaigns will, to an increasing degree, be conducted through advertising. The government must advertise, and both governments and corporations should through advertising, support the press, in order that this public tribunal may exist in prosperity and independence.

"War represents in reality a failure of advertising, for if through effective advertising of one nation to another the different nations could be made thoroughly to understand each other, war would be unthinkable.

"In the period after the war nations and peoples must appeal for good will to the opinion of mankind."

Osteopathy Explained

Now Dr. Still found that when he laid his hands, in certain definite ways, on the back bone of a man, the body (and mind) of the individual gave back immediate and profound reactions—what the biologists call tropisms; and this one recent biological term tells the biologist absolutely the entire osteopathic story; explains to the biologist absolutely everything that does or can occur when this method is used on the body.

Trophisms are thereactions of an organism to changes in the environment, and the human organism is highly susceptible (in common with all other living things) to such fundamental relations. Profound chemical changes can be brought about in the central nervous system (and hence in the viscera) by stimulation of the nerve endings in the skin. A prolonged cold bath, for example, will cause albumin to appear in the urine.

A BIG MAN WHO HAS MADE GOOD IN A SMALL TOWN

By Forest Cussey in "Every Week"

WHENEVER I hear anybody argue that a big man can not stay in the country and find full scope for his abilities, I just naturally think of a certain country banker down in Central Illinois who has stuck to his country job and yet has made his name known across the continent.

There has never been an instant of doubt of the fact that "Frank" Harris belongs wholly to the country. For generations the family background has been farms. In fact he was born on the same farm where his father first saw the light of day and where five generations of Harrises have foregathered. This farm he now owns and operates. It has been under Harris cultivation ever since the Indians surrendered its possession.

If "Frank" Harris was ever tempted to strike out for the big city, on the theory that the country town couldn't give him swing enough, he has never confessed it. He came straight from Columbia in 1892, to Champaign, Illinois, and had hardly been home a week before he started something that betrayed the bent of his whole career, the key-note of his character—an irrepressible faith in the possibilities of doing things in the country.

He found one of the first electric street railways in America, and took hold of it in spite of the fact that it was a mere shell—a single line connecting Champaign and Urbana, operated by one generator and a small engine housed in an abandoned factory.

Almost everybody advised him to play with something less expensive, and insisted that he was taking a short cut to parting with a large part of the Harris money. Then he handed his critics a jolt that made them gasp. He bought the most beautiful wooded tract that he could find and built a line of electric road out to it. Possibly a few electric roads in the East may have tried this artificial means of increasing travel, but at any rate the precedent of success had not permeated to the West, and young Harris was breaking new ground. The absurdity of building an electric road without having a good town at each end of it was instantly proclaimed by the wise ones. However, Harris had a co-ed university to draw travelers from and his amusement park proved to be a very nimble and persistent nickel-puller.

He Reduced the Gas Bill

At this time the gas business of the country was decidedly sick. It was staggering from the first blow dealt by the new feather-weight champion, electric light. Gas had, however, one bright ray of hope in the form of the Welsbach light. Because this worked a positive economy in gas lighting, the attitude of the gas companies generally was to hold the use of these lights to as low a piont as possible. Here again the young business executive saw that the gas meter could be made to crowd the kerosene lamp out of scores of town homes if such a change were made clearly economical to the consumer. So he went after the gas business of Champaign and Ubana and got it. This put him in possession of the whole street railway, electric lighting and gas interests of the twin towns. It looked like a cinch, and onlookers waited to see how much tribute the young monopolist would exact. But he reduced the price of gas from $2 to $1.50 and astonished the housewives by showing them how they could cut their gas bill nd get more light by using Welsbachs. He brought one of the most celebrated cooking experts of the country to demonstrate what comfort and economy could be secured from the use of gas stoves.

Naturally this kind of performance soon landed the young business maker in the chair of president of the Chamber of Commerce. He was told that it was up to him to start something that would bring in some live industries. This was not an easy job—in view of the fact that there was no water power to attract factories. But this did not hinder young Harris from tackling the job. Once more he attacked his task in a way that was "different." A tract of 80 acres, on the edge of town, was bought, subdivided, and sold for residence purposes, with the result that the organization had a working fund of about $80,000. While the drag net for industries brought in some "dead ones," the percentage was small, and those remaining from the haul, and now doing a prosperous business, represent an investment of about $700,000.

Meantime he was growing into his real job—that of hitching the banker and the farmer together with a hyphen.

Probably more than any other one man he deserves credit for putting the "County Soil Improvement Association" on the map of the United States. As The Analyst once put it:

"Thanks to the amazing mental and physical energy of a single country banker, B. F. Harris, of Champaign, Illinois, the Agricultural Commission of the American Bankers Association is doing a work that cannot be undone. It is instructing the farmer in sound finance and the banker in good agriculture, both at the same time. It is doing more than that. It is bringing farmers and bankers together on a plane of economic understanding.

I doubt if there is another layman in the United States who has exerted more influence than B. F. Harris on the four big pieces of recent federal legislation bearing on the national system of farm demonstration work, of consolidated rural schools, of good roads, and of rural credits.

"It's about time for us to take interest in the farmers as well as from them," was the slogan with which he went after his fellow bankers.

He established a magazine called The Banker-Farmer, and wrote most of the copy for it. It wasn't much to look at—but after the second issue was out country editors, city editors, financial editors, farm journal editors, and magazine editors began to look for it and to find copy in it. There was not an advertisement in it—but so many bankers bought it and gave it to customers and friends that it was a financial success almost from the start. There was a freshness, a sincerity, and an honest punch in the little magazine, made by a country banker down in the Corn Belt, that carried conviction nd interested almost everybody, from the tenant farmer to the big Wall Street financier.

The most remarkable thing about this modest publication, however, was the fact that it put the banker in a new light before the people; it interpreted him to the public as a human being who was alert to do more for his community than the community was willing to do for itself. While this periodical was opening the eyes of the people to see the representative banker in a new light, it was also opening the mental pores of many bankers to an extent to which they had never been extended before.

Learning Things at First Hand

Very likely a lot of the startling and aggressive things said by this young country banker in his speeches, his magazine, his newspaper articles, and his personal letters would have fallen flat if he had not early formed a habit of basing his doctrines on personal experience of finding out things at first hand, of living his progressive ideas first and preaching them afterward. Before he began to talk the benefits of modern agricultuarl methods, of diversified farming and scientific crop rotation, of developing the "dormant reserve" of the soil and building and protecting its fertility, of draining and reclaiming lowlands, of paving feed-yards instead of throwing 60 per cent of the corn into the mud, of raising two litters of pigs a year instead of one, and of arranging farm buildings and fields to save labor instead of wasting it—before he attempted to urge these advanced ideas upon his Champaign County neighbors, he tried them out on a farm of his own.

When he began his experiment he could habe bought the farm across the road, which was practically identical with his in character, for $150 an acre. Its average corn yield was from 35 to 40 bushels an acre. In seven years, by fertility-building methods, he pushed his own production up to 80 bushels an acre, and made his farm salable at more than $300 an acre.

He had proved his theories good: his reward came in the opportunity to help in writing the federal bill that makes the soil improvement expert a direct representative of the government. There are about 375 of these country agents in 33 Northern states. Their cost last year was about $1,200,000. The Smith-Lever bill gives the agricultural agents of the whole United States $2,060,000 for 1916-17. Of this $1,254,896 goes to Northern states. Perhaps no man in America is more responsible for this fact than B. F. Harris, the country banker, the man who has consistently declined alluring offers to go to the big city, embrace metropolitan opportunity, and make something of himself.

Possibly B. F. Harris might have made more money in a big city. That must remain a matter of conjecture. His fortune probably is not great, as big fortunes are measured today. But it is altogether likely that much more money than he now has would curtail rather than increase his enjoyments and his influnece. And it is quite certain that a fortune of several million dollars would be required to give him the same relative standing in the city, in a financial way, that he now enjoys in the country. Apparently there is no luxury that a reasonable human being could desire that this country banker does not have.

About the time when Mr. Harris was president of the Chamber of Commerce, the Governor of Illinois sent a commission to Champaign to talk permanent hard roads. The farmers of the Black Mud Belt responded with a roar of protest that made the chandelier of the Executive Mansion jingle. They observed that the cost of such a highway would be ten or twelve thousand dollars a mile, and that anybody who tried to saddle them with that expense would be mighty unpopular. Then B. F. Harris called a good roads picnic. He said:

"Let everybody come and talk right out in meeting. We're going to have the best speakers on both sides and the lid will be off. We'll have a lot of fun and learn something besides."

Well, they did. The proposition to authorize $1,600,000 bonds for a system of hard roads is before the people of that county now. Today even a politician is not afraid to talk good roads in the Black Mud Belt about Champaign.

Largely as a result of his persistent work along this line, the Tice bill became a law in Illinois. This gives state aid to the cause of good roads in his own commonwealth.

Raising Hothouse Lambs.

As chairman of the Agricultural committee of the American Bankers' Association Mr. Harris has made these matters—all intimately related to country life—the corner stones of a nation-wide work, with the result that he has powerfully influenced, in a very direct way, State and national legislation that has lately been enacted along these lines.

Since retiring from that chairmanship he has pushed the interests of the National Foreign Trade Council, of which he is a member. In urging a big publication to give greater attention to this subject, he used this characteristic expression:

"American industries and agriculture must find a wider market if we are to have our natural growth and keep our labor and capital employed, and further develop and increase our capacity and efficiency. The war situation is helping to make us think internationally—as we should—and take us out of ourselves. We are going to be forced into foreign trade, foreign banking, and a merchant marine, with a big navy for protection."

A surprising characteristic of this irrepressible country banker is the ease with which he works. He seems to have plenty of time for everything. The close personal supervision of a 25 hundred acre farm is apparently a mere pastime to him—though a farm that turns out about 3,000 hogs a year, some 1,600 hothouse lambs and beef cattle, and other things on the same scale, looks to most folks like a regular man's job, instead of an outdoor sport for a banker.

He has deprived himself of city advantages. It would be hard to name a man who has a wider personal acquaintance with the big men of the country. And this acquaintance is neither superficial nor confined to leaders in finance. In the world of art, music, literature, the drama and painting, this Corn Belt banker is as much at home as if he inhabited Fifth avenue the year round. In a word, he is distinctly a cosmopolitan in the truest and broadest sense.

ATTRACTIONS AT THE HIAWATHA

Mr. McMahon will offer Clara Kimball Young in the "Common Law" at the Hiawatha, April 23rd, and the Life of "Buffalo Bill", matinee and evening Saturday, April 28th. The story of "The Common Law" is reported as follows:

Valerie West, an educated and cultured girl who has become an artist model through force of circumstance, falls in love with Neville, a painter for whom she poses. Her love is returned, but owing to the artist's social connections, Valerie is convinced that a marriage would ruin his career. She offers herself in love to the man of her heart and the day is set on which she is to come to him under "the common law."

Through a chain of incidents of unusual dramatic power, Valerie conquers the objections of Neville's family and in the end the lovers find themselves free to be united in the safer and more conservative bonds of the law made by man.

The characters in the story are distant metropolitan types of unusual interest, and as produced by Director General Albert Capellani, the picture promises to be the sensation of the coming season.

SPRING POETRY ODDS

efforts were much appreciated, 'tis said. "Spring" was the subject, and three of the responses are given here.

Spring! Spring! What does it mean?
Why, scrub and scrape and wash and clean,
Track in the mud,
Wipe up the clay,
For springtime brings housecleaning day.

What is the most beautiful time in the year,
'Tis the spring, when the birds and the flowers are here,
It seems good when the winter has been so long,
To wake up in the morning and hear the birds song,
The days are so long and the sun is so bright,
It makes you feel like shouting outright.

The robins sing that spring is here:
Have you seen any signs, my dear?
The house is dirty as can be,
So with the robins I agree.

SUITS and OVERCOATS

First and formost the fabrics are pure wool. Every one of them is subjected to the well-known chemical test before it is bought.

Then, the ablest tailoring art is applied—craftsmen trained along the KIRSCHBAUM standard—are the only ones who touch it. Each part is begun and finished by a specialist. A sleeve maker makes the sleeves, a collar maker makes the collars; lapels, fronts, shoulders are done by men who excel in each. This highly specialized system guards KIRSCHBAUM'S Clothes from all faults—all defects. That is why the manufacturers and we sell them under a broad guarantee that gives protection to every buyer.

Tips For Play-Goers

B. F. KEITH'S HIPPODROME.

With the closing of the regular season the management of B. F. Keith's Hippodrome has provided a bill for next week that is a "hummer." There are to be 10 big acts with an array of talent that cannot be excelled in any theatre in the land.

Among the stars are:

Emily Ann Wellman, Rubeville, Miss Hamlet, Watson Sisters, Jack Marley, Weston & Claire, Claremont Bros, Hull & Durkin, Smith and Jones.

COLONIAL THEATRE

"The Show of Wonders" comes to Cleveland next week direct from the New York Winter Garden. It is really the best of burlesque, a great, big musical show with dazzling scenic effects, the best of staging and costuming, lively music and still livelier dancing and a choice assortment of well known comedians.

MILES THEATER

Headlining the Miles big vaudeville bill starting next week "Wanted a Wife," a musical farce with a capable cast of 12 musical comedy artists, depicting the midnight follies of a man looking for a wife. This act of music, song and a good story full of life with special scenery which will be sure to please. P. George, the musical chef, presenting a musical novelty; Scott Tierney in "Drifting," a dramatic playlet full of action and a wonderful love plot, Vine and Temple in their song and dance clatter, Joe Roberts in his famous banjo musical turn, and Mack and Mack round out one of the most pretentious bills seen at the Miles this season. There is also added Mrs. Vernon Castle in the Fourteenth chapter of Patria and one other great five reel feature picture.

OPERA HOUSE

It is not surprising that the Birth of a Nation, which enters upon its third week at the Opera House Sunday afternoon has achieved a country wide success never before reached by any theatrical entertainment, for underlying all the elements of a spectacular nature so admirably accentuated by the orchestral score, is a romantic story of deepest interest. The building up of a nation through war and subsequent reconstruction provided a theme which in its inspiring appeal has never before been equalled either in the spoken drama or on the cinema screen.

The intensely interesting reveals the making of history associated with the unifying of the United States into one mighty nation. It was out of the problems arising from the adjustment of the African slavery question that America found itself at last. Every step of this progress is graphically revealed in a new art form which has never been attempted before. Names that are written large in the history of our country are prominent on the program and the characters themselves appear to live again. It is a great narrative, stirring beyond your imagination and wonderful in its combination of bigness and human simplicity that is so appealing.

ALHAMBRA AND MALL

In order to popularize the wonderful new Mall Duplex theatre, an unusual innovation will be introduced the coming week.

On Sunday "The Clock," with Franklyn Farnum, will be shown in both the upper and lower Mall theatres. This is a picture showing how it is possible to overcome the habit of not being punctual.

On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in the lower theatre, with entrance on Superior avenue, "The Clock" will be shown. In the upper theatre, with entrance on Euclid avenue, "The Magdalene of the Hills," with Mabel Taliaferro, will be shown, while the 16th chapter of "The Great Secret," and the pictures of the opening baseball game will be shown in both theatres.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week the same policy will prevail. The lower theatre will show "The Girl in the Checkered Coat," while in the upper theatre "God's Law and Man" with Viola Dana will be shown. Also Chapter 17 "Great Secret."

What is conceded to be the best picture ever starred in will be shown at the Alhambra theatre, starting Sunday—Harold Lockwood in "The River of Romance."

Starting next Thursday Viola Dana will be featured in "God's Law and Man," and on the same program will be the 17th chapter of "The Great Secret."

The newest picture starring Douglas Fairbanks, entitled "In Again, Out Again," will be shown the week of April 29.

PROSPECT THEATER

You mothers and fathers who feel yourself growing old and becoming reconciled to your fate will have a chance to renew your youth, for the "Katzenjammer Kids" are coming to town. It's a brand new musical comedy made from the funny cartoons in the colored supplements and in its transition to the stage it gains added humor and furnishes one of the most pleasing evenings in the theatre imaginable. The piece is produced by Gezzolo, Gatts and Clifford, and they have spared no expense to make their offering a notable one. The three acts are pictorial gems, while the electrical effects are novel and original. The chorus is a feature which the management prides itself on.

Its engagement at the Prospect is for one week commencing Monday evening with the usual bargain matinees on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

A TEMPERAMENTAL TREAT

If you are a temperamental believer in any particular branch of that comprehensive term, "real art," we advise you to treat yourself to a performance of William Fox's million dollar picture beautiful, "A Daughter of the Gods." If landscapes appeal to you, you will see them in infinite variety, dazzlingly beautiful in the tropical sunlight. Impressive mountain sides and peaks, ravines, gorges, plains, tender valleys, shaded grottos and fern lipped pools are unrolled before you.

If you incline toward water scenes palm fringed shores, such as Conrad pictures, pearly beaches, shimmering bays peopled with mythical mermaids, giant rocks and flying spray, mountain torrents and airy waterfalls will delight your nomadic soul.

If you worship the divine in the human body, you will see the perfectly fashioned and talented Annette Kellerman, in all her awe-inspiring loveliness, beside a hundred or more engaging odalisques and dancing girls in the sultan's palace, and every one an artist's dream.

This temperamental treat will be shown at the Hippodrome on Sunday, April 29th, and will run for four weeks.

STANDARD THEATER

"The Derelict," is the new Fox production at the Standard theatre the week of April 22, with Stuart Holmes as the star supported by a cast of talented artists.

The story is of a man of the world marrying, but finding that life dull, again gets back to his old associates, and through dissipation loses home, friends and all, and is compelled to live in the slums. He steals a pocketbook but after examining it finds it to be his own daughter's. Rushing to her house he sees his child fighting off the attentions of her benefactor. He strangles the man and as he flees drops the pocketbook. The girl of course is accused of the murder but the father comes in time and confesses all. She is freed and the father shortly dies in prison, a wasted, neglected and ruined life. "Mutt and Jeff" cartoon comedies will again furnish the laughs and the Animated Animal Pictures the education.

STAR THEATER

"Step Lively, Girls," who do, are at the Star next week in Arthur Pearson's big musical show. It is out of the usual burlesque line, advance notices say, but its six big scenes, its electrical effects, marches, songs and dances and its fashion show promise all the better. It is staged by E. P. Bowers, who had a hand in the production of "Katinka," "High Jinks," "Three Twins," and the like, the cast contains a dozen or more of burlesque favorites.

EMPIRE THEATER

"The Mischief Makers," is the name of the company as well as of the show which the Empire has booked for next week. F. W. Gerhardy is the producer and his show should live up to that favored advertising phrase, "burlesque as you like it."

Ambark Ali, famed burlesque comedian, heads the cast, with Joe Freed the Dutchman, Ray Montgomery, Dolly Webb, Mabel Clark, Ruth Barbour and Charley Tyson to help him. There is one big Hawaiian scene.

Letter of April 13th.

Miss Florence Yaxley was in Painesville Saturday attending the teachers institute.

Charles Leeman Givens, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Givens, passed away Monday, the 2nd, 19 months of age, after a short illness of meningitis. All that loving hands and skilled physicians could do was done for him but to no avail and he passed peacefully away. Leeman was a dear little child and everybody loved him. The funeral was held Tuesday P. M. from the home and was private. Rev. McCulloch of the Presbyterian church of Willoughby officiated. Leon P. Davis was funeral director. His little casket was completely covered with lovely flowers, but none more lovely than little Leeman. Burial was in Willoughby cemetery beside a little sister that had passed on before. The whole community are in sympathy with the parents in their sad affliction.

The board of directors of the Municipal Athletic Association met at the town hall Friday, April 6. This was the first meeting since last fall and but little regular business was on hand. As the term is up for the present set of officers of the association it was decided to have the next meeting at the high school auditorium Friday, April 20, at 7:30 p. m. It is very necessary that we have an efficient set of officers for the year to come, as we are planning a greater activity in athletic events among the younger men and women of Willoughby. Mayor Carmichael, beside donating the use of the athletic field, has placed a prize of $50 for a baseball league, to be composed of town teams only. At present we are counting on teams from the high school, two teams from the Standard Tire & Rubber Mfg. Co., The American Clay Machine Co., a town team or business men's team, and possibly from the Ben Hur and Economy Engineering plants. Besides this we will lay out two tennis courts and have a tournament in this line of sport. Bleachers seating 200 have been ordered for those wishing to witness tthe sports.

We want to ask everyone to help make this a place for Willoughby to be proud of.

Don't forget, Friday, April 20.

LEGAL NOTICE

Frank Richeson, alias Frank Richson, alias Frank Richardson, who resides at 1213 McClelland Avenue, Detroit, Michigan, and Grace Richardson, wife of the said Frank Richeson, who also resides at 1213 McClelland Avenue, Detroit, Michigan, will take notice that on the 15th day of March, 1917, Agnes Simons as Guardian of the person and estate of Zack Simons, filed her petition in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, in Case No. 155144 against them and each of them setting forth that she is now the duly appointed, qualified and acting guardian of the person and estate of Zack Simons, an imbecile person and resident of South Euclid, Ohio. That her said ward, Zack Simons, is the owner in fee simple and in actual and peaceable possession of the following described real estate:

Parcel One—Situated in the Township of East Cleveland, county of Cuyahoga, and state of Ohio, and known as sublot No. 18 in Laura M. Stewart's sub-division of part of original East Cleveland Lot No. 53, as shown by the recorded plat in Volume 19 of Maps, page 24 of Cuyahoga County Records, and being 174.24 feet front on the east side of Noble Place and extending back 250 feet deep, measuring from the center of the street.

Parcel Two—Situated in the Township of East Cleveland, county of Cuyahoga and state of Ohio, and known as Sublot No. 16 in the subdivision of L. M. Stewart of part of original lot No. 53, recorded in Volume 19 of Maps, Page 24 of Cuyahoga County Records.

That the plaintiff's ward derived his title to Parcel No. 1 hereinbefore described by virtue of a warranty deed executed by Frank W. Bartlett who was then the owner in fee simple of said property and Mary J. Bartlett, wife of the said Frank W. Bartlett, who joined in said deed, thereby releasing her dower right in said property, which deed was executed on the 26th day of October in the year 1900, and recorded on the 10th day of November, 1900, in Volume 771, Page 123 of Cuyahoga County Records of Deeds.

That her said ward derived his title to Parcel No. 2 by virtue of a warranty deed from James W. Stewart and Laura M. Stewart, husband and wife, the said Laura M. Stewart then being the owner in fee simple of said property and the said James W. Stewart releasing his dower therein, which deed was executed on the 7th day of March, in the year 1896 and recorded on the 20th day of March, 1896 in Volume 631, page 93 of Cuyahoga County Records of Deeds. That the said Zack Simons on the respective days when said conveyances were executed took actual and absolute possession of said described premises, and has held actual, continuous and notorious possession ever since said time. That said possession has been ever since held wholly adverse to the claims and interests of the defendants herein.

That on or about the 7th day of April in the year 1900, the said Zack Simons executed a warranty deed to the premises hereinbefore described as Parcel No. 2, in which deed the said Frank Richeson is named as grantee, being designated therein as Frank Richson. That said deed was filed with the Recorder of Cuyahoga County and was recorded on the 13th day of April, 1900 in Volume 754, page 198 of Cuyahoga County Records of Deeds.

That on the 14th day of March, 1904, the said Zack Simons executed a warranty deed of the property described as Parcel No. 1 in which deed said Frank Richeson is named as grantee, being designated therein as Frank Richson, which deed was filed with the Recorder of Cuyahoga County, and was recorded on the 26th day of March, 1904, in Volume 917, page 423 of Cuyahoga County Records of Deeds. That by reason thereof the defendant, Frank Richeson, claims an estate or interest in said described premises adverse to the rights of the plaintiff and her ward.

The petition further states that neither of said deeds herein described, executed by the said Zack Simons were ever delivered to the defendant Frank Richeson, that no consideration passed from the said Frank Richeson to the said Zack Simons, and that there was no intention upon the part of said Zack Simons to deliver said deeds or to pass title thereby, and that the said Zack Simons at all times retained complete and absolute control over said deeds.

That by reason thereof, said deeds conveyed no title to the defendant Frank Richeson, and that said deeds are null and void and of no effect. That by reason of the fact that said deeds have been recorded and stand upon the records as good and valid conveyances, a cloud is cast upon the title to said real estate.

It is further set forth in said petition that the defendant, Grace Richardson, is the wife of the defendant, Frank Richeson, and claims an estate or interest in said real estate adverse to the right of the plaintiff and her said ward therein. That neither of said defendants have any claim, title or interest in said premises whatever.

That by reason of the premises a cloud is cast upon the title to said real estate which greatly and unjustly depreciates the value thereof. The prayer of said petition is that the defendants may be compelled to set forth their interests in said real estate, if any they have; that said claim of defendants may be adjudged to be null and void; that the said deeds executed by said Zack Simons to said Frank Richeson and recorded as aforesaid may be held to be null and void and of no effect; and that the plaintiff's title may be quieted against said defendants' claims, and they and each of them be enjoined from asserting such claims against said real estate; that the cloud thereon may be removed, and for such other and further relief as equity and the need of the case may require and to the court may seem just, necessary and proper.

Said defendants are required to answer said petition on or before the 5th day of May, 1917, or judgment will be taken against them. M15 A19

LEGAL NOTICE

Aldridge Sutherland, whose address is unknown, and the unknown heirs, devisees, legatees, assigns and legal representatives of Aldridge Sutherland, deceased, all of whose names and places of residence are unknown, are hereby notified that Edwards T. Buhl filed his petition in the Court of Common Pleas, Cuyahoga County, in Ohio, being case No. 155124, against them and others alleging that he is the owner in fee simple, and in actual possession of the following described premises, to-wit:

Situated in the Township of Independence, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio, and known as being the westerly part of Lot No. 48 in Tract No. 2, West of the Cuyahoga River in said Township, and bounded as follows:

Northerly by the Northerly line of said Lot, said Northerly line being also the Southerly line of land owned by Christian Lingler, Easterly by the Westerly line of 30 Acres of land, formerly owned by George Hesel; Southerly by the Southerly line of said Lot, said Southerly line being also the southerly line of said Tract, and Westerly by the center line of the road, said center line being also the Westerly line of said Township and containing 34 Acres of Land.

Above premises are subject to all legal highways.

It is alleged in the petition that the plaintiff and his predecessors in title have had and held open, actual, notorious, adverse, continuous and exclusive possession of the above described premises for more than twenty-one (21) years, but that the defendants above named claim some interest in the premises, adverse to plaintiff's rights, by reason of a mortgage securing the payment of a note for $75.00, executed by Elias C. Connelley and wife to Aldridge Sutherland, dated March 16th, 1848. Plaintiff alleges that said note has long since been paid and that said claims are without foundation either in law or equity.

The prayer of petitioner is that the defendants may be compelled to show what interest, if any, they have in said premises; that the same be adjudged to be null and void and plaintiff's title quieted against the same and for such other relief as is proper. The above named defendants are required to answer said petition on or before the 5th day of May, 1917, or judgment will be rendered in accordance with the prayer of the petition. M15 A19

Said petition is No. 154960, and will be for hearing on and after April 20, 1917. M8 A12

Situated in the township of Brecksville, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio, and known as being a part of Original Brecksville Township Lot Number Twenty-four (24) and bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a point in the center line of the Diagonal Road at the northwesterly corner of a parcel of land conveyed by James H. Coates and others to Henry T. Barr by Warranty Deed dated April 24, 1877, and recorded in Volume 279, page 446 of Cuyahoga County Records; thence easterly along the northerly line of land conveyed to said Barr, as aforesaid, about 9.10 chains to the Northeast corner of said Barr's land; thence southerly along the easterly line of said Barr's land about 7.32 chains to the center of the Diagonal Road; thence northwesterly along the center of the Diagonal Road to the place of beginning and containing 3.96 acres of land, more or less but subject to all legal highways.

The petition alleges that the defendants above named claim some interest or estate in said premises, hostile and adverse to Plaintiff's rights, which constitute a cloud on Plaintiffs' title, for the reason that the Records of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, fail to disclose any conveyance of said premises from the said Ezra Wyatt, who was the owner of said premises prior to March 29, 1854, and for the reason that the Probate Court Records do not disclose any last will and testament of Ezra Wyatt, nor administration of his estate; for the reason that in a deed from one Robert Penty to Henry T. Barr, dated December 10, 1867, no wife joins or releases dower in said premises nor was any statement made therein that the Grantor was single; and for the reason that in a deed from one Lewis Coates and others to Henry T. Barr, dated April 24, 1877, no wife joins or releases dower in said premises, nor was any statement made therein that the Grantor was single.

The petition further alleges that said defendants have no interest in said premises, that no one of them, or any one claiming through or under them or any of them, has ever sought to enforce or recover by any action at law or otherwise, any right, title or interest in and to said premises, or any part thereof, and that these Plaintiffs and their predecessors in title have for more than 21 years last past had and been in the actual, open, notorious, continuous, uninterrupted and adverse possession of said premises against all the world.

The prayer of said petition is that said defendants be required to answer all and singular the matters and things relative to any claim, estate or interest, which they or any of them have in said premises, that upon final hearing of this cause Plaintiffs' title in said premises be quieted as to said defendants, that said defendants and each of them and all persons claiming through or under them be forever barred from setting up or asserting any claim, estate or interest in said premises or any part thereof, and for relief.

Said petition is No. 155361, and the above named defendants are required to answer the same on or before the 19th day of May, A. D. 1917.

"Springtime"

A New Pattern of English Dinnerware

This is one of the very newest decorations for 1917, and has never been on the market before. The illustration suggests something of the attractiveness of the shape, but the daintiness and effectiveness of the decoration are best expressed by the name, "Springtime," and need to be seen to be appreciated. The livid colors give it an exceptionally pleasing appearance. We are showing it in full open stock.

MAYOR COULBY ADVISES ALL WHO NEED A COAT OF TAN TO SPEND THEIR VACATION IN WICKLIFFE'S COMMUNITY GARDENS

At the meeting at the school in Wickliffe Saturday night, practically every man present indicated his intention of contributing a portion of his time to the community garden work this summer. Time anywhere from three hours to one month was promised, Dr. Stocking leading the list by a promise of contributing one month's work to the cause.

S. D. Shankland of Willoughby, Mayor Coulby, Rev. C. H. Stocking, Rev. Axtell, Harry Hammer and C. C. Robbins delivered addresses.

In reference to using the vacation time as a period for contributing work to the community gardens, Mayor Coulby remarked that there was no better place to acquire a good coat of vacation tan than upon their own roads. "Spend your vacation in Wickliffe's community garden" is the new slogan. It may be said in passing that Wickliffe has arranged one of the most effective plans that has been developed along this line of work.

OLD PLOT OF GROUND SEES RETURN OF GROCERY ESTABLISHED BY JOHN HILL

It has been possibly 60 years since the grocery firm established by John Hill made its first start, and the interesting fact is recalled that it was located on the same corner plot as that of the new store of A. T. Hill & Co. A tin shop was originally kept in the old store about 70 years ago. In 1889 Mr. E. P. Walsh became asociated with the firm, Miss Hill and Mr. Walsh forming the name of A.T. Hill & Co. The old store was moved many years ago to the location familiar to the Hill friends and customers and with the establishing of the store in the block just completed marks the return to the original plot of ground. The new store is spacious and modern. A complete basement and second floor take care of surplus stocks. An oil tank with intake on the outside of the building is an interesting feature. An Otis elevator is now having fire doors installed. C. Mahnke had charge of the carpenter work on the new building and John Rutland the mason work. Stores like that of the A. T. Hill & Co. as presided over by E. P. Walsh and Miss Hill, add much to the community in which they are located and show themselves worthy of the regard and support accorded them.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS AND GRAND ARMY MEN OFFICIATE AT FUNERAL

The funeral of Mr. George Stokes who passed away Thursday afternoon was held from the home Saturday at 1:30 p. m. Rev. Floyd Randall, of Willoughby officiated. Burial was in Mentor cemetery. The pall bearers were most of them Knights of Pythias, namely Mayor Carmichael of Willoughby, Irwin Hadlock, Lyman Fenner, Walter Metcalf, Ora McFarland and Harvey Ferguson. The Grand Army men that attended were J. Frizzell, Wm. Call and Mr. Ball of Willoughby.

Friends attended the funeral from Michigan, Cleveland, Dover, Olmsted and Willoughby.

L. P. Davis of Willoughby was funeral director.

Mr. Stokes had passed his 70th milestone. He had been ill for many months but had not been considered dangerously ill until the past few weeks. He leaves to mourn his loss a wife, who is in very poor health, and five children, namely Miss Alma, Thomas, Herbert, Edward & George, who is in California. All but the latter were at the funeral. One brother over 80 attended the funeral.

Many beautiful floral pieces were in evidence, given by the Knights of Pythias and the Rathbone Sisters and others, showing the high esteem in which he was held in the community. Everybody is in sympathy with the bereaved family and especially with the wife, who is ill in bed, and the daughter, who has just recently recovered from nearly a year's illness and not got her strength back yet, and Tom, the son at home, has done double duty all through the father's sickness. He surely will be blessed.

And the supper—well, one Mason, and he is a much-traveled connoisseur, said it was simply unexcelled by any of the banquets of his experience.

Share in the Profits and Success of This Organization

Here is a live proposition. You won't have to "wait for something to happen"—it's happening every day. Present indications prove that this great organization, with just their five outlet stores now in actual operation, will do at least a $2,000,000 business within the next twelve months.

BOND'S
The Fastest Growing Chain of $15 Clothing Stores

Why We Are Selling $500,000 Worth of Preferred Stock in the Open Market

We propose to add more stores as quickly as possible. We want ready capital at once. We feel that right now is the time to attain the distinction, importance and resultant success of being the greatest $15 clothing organization in the world.

In 1916, with but one outlet store (Cleveland) in operation the entire year, and the Detroit store open about nine months of that year, the New York factory, then known as the S. & C. Clothing Co., showed a profit of nearly $100,000; this was due entirely to the volume produced by Bond's two stores alone. The S. & C. Clothing Co. and Bond's are now merged into one organization. The profits come from the manufacturing end—not from the outlet stores. More outlet stores mean more factory volume. More factory volume means more profits.

Buy Stock Now in the S-C and Bond Clothing Company
Par Value—$100 per Share
Callable in five years, at option of company, at 110.
Free from Ohio State tax and normal income tax.

A BONUS of common stock, par value $25, given with each share of preferred stock.

WHY YOU SHOULD BUY THIS STOCK

FIRST: Because this company is marketing a necessity—Men's and Young Men's Clothing. It manufactures this clothing in its own factory in New York City, America's style center, and sells direct to the wearer at an enormous saving.

SECOND: Indications prove that with just the five Bond outlet stores now in operation, the business for the year ending March 1st, 1918, will be approximately $2,000,000. And more stores are to be added as soon as possible.

Put your dollars to work. Place them with an organization which is experienced in its line—one that is a proven success. Solid, conservative business men are buying this stock because they know present conditions and are clever enough to look into the future. It will pay you to investigate this proposition.

Stock may be bought on convenient terms.

FARMERS' AND GARDENERS' CORNER

The cities may have their little mobs and riots, but the farmers will plow and sow and reap and feed their stock and go forth to their labors until the evening. The farmers have ever and always been the hope of the world.

BURNING WOOD URGED TO REDUCE COAL BILLS

While present high prices for fuel prevail, owners of woodlots can make good wages for themselves and hired men during these winter days by cutting and marketing firewood that otherwise would be wasted, and at the same time improvement can be made in the timber stands.

Not only should all waste wood be used, but "weed trees" that have no other value except for firewood should be cut out and marketed. Their removal increases the income from the woodlot and improves the condition by allowing valuable young trees greater freedom to develop. Beech, maple and other species having many wide-spreading limbs and short trunks are mentioned by the forester of the Ohio Experiment Station as undesirable trees in the woodlot that have but little value except for fuel.

HOW TO MAKE WAX TO GRAFT FRUIT TREES

Orchardists who expect to graft apple trees this spring will find the following formula for grafting wax, recommended by the Ohio State Experiment Station, satisfactory: Melt together until thoroughly mixed four pounds of resin, two pounds of beeswax and a pound of tallow. Pour this mixture into a vessel of cold water. Grease the hands with tallow, and when the wax is cool pull it like taffy until it becomes light and smooth. It may then be shaped into balls or sticks and will keep indefinitely in a cool place. Paraffine substituted for beeswax makes a harder as well as a cheaper wax.

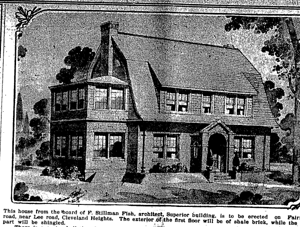
ALL SPRAY MATERIALS SHOULD BE ORDERED NOW

Due to congested freight conditions existing at present, all materials for spraying orchards, gardens and shade trees should be ordered at once for immediate shipment, is the warning from the Ohio Experiment Station. Orders sent at the usual dates will likely result in shipments being received too late for early spring applications.



This house from the board of F. Stillman Fish, architect, Superior building, is to be erected on Fairmount road, near Lee road, Cleveland Heights. The exterior of the first floor will be of shale brick, while the upper part will be shingled.

There is a center hall that divides the living and dining rooms. The living room will be finished in white enamel and mahogany, while the dining room will be entirely of mahogany. The sun room and sleeping porch will be enclosed with sash and glass. The floor of the sun room will be of tile. Ample attic and storage room is provided on the third floor.

WANTS A WORLD NEWSPAPER

Belgian Senator Says It Will Be Needed When Peace Comes.

An international paper to be published in connection with the peace conference which will follow the war was proposed in Philadelphia by Senator Henri la Fontaine, Socialist member of the Belgian senate, professor at the University of Brussels and recipient of the Nobel peace prize in 1913. He delivered a lecture on the subject "A United Pacifism" in Price hall of the law school of the University of Pennsylvania.

"The pacifists of the world," said Senator Fontaine, "should unite to support a paper, to be printed in English, French, German and Spanish, at the next conference. World questions will be discussed for months, and it will be necessary to have an international organ that can take in hand the whole of international life. In such a paper articles could be written about international life and the diplomats at the conference influenced by the pacifists, trained and expert in international law, by means of it."

PREFERS LOCAL PAPERS

Jacob Ries of Shakopee, Mill., says: "I have no hesitation in saying that the great majority of customers we desire to reach do not see a magazine at all, but they do see and read the local paper, and for that reason we should very much prefer local newspaper advertising to any other."

EARLY VEGETABLES

Seeds Planted in Boxes in the House Produce Much Earlier Crops Than Those Sown in the Open.

Home gardeners who do not own a hotbed and who can not readily buy young plants can get much earlier crops of tomatoes, cabbage, cauliflower, peppers, egg plant and lettuce if they will start the seed for their early gardens in seed boxes in the house. Early potatoes sometimes are forced in the same way. Seeds so planted germinate and are ready for transplanting by the time it is safe to sow the same kind of seed in the open ground. When danger of frost is over and the soil is dry enough to work, therefore, the home gardener starts his early garden with seedlings well above the surface. Transplanting, if properly done, instead of hurting, seems to help such plants develop a strong root system. Garden enthusiasts should get a good deal of pleasure from this kind of preliminary indoor gardening. They also can use boxes to hasten the blooming period of all sorts of flowers which stand transplanting.

Any sort of wooden box filled with good soil answers the purpose. The following directions for making the seed boxes and handling the plants have been prepared by the Bureau of Plant Industry and the States Relations Service, United States Department of Agriculture, for the guidance of the canning and gardening clubs in the north and west.

Making a Seed Box

Seeds of early tomatoes and cabbages, as well as cauliflower and pepper, should be planted in a seed box in the house at once. The seed box should be 3 to 4 inches deep, 12 to 14 inches wide, and 20 to 24 inches long. A layer of about 1 inch of gravel or cinders should be placed in the bottom of the box and then it should be filled nearly full of rich garden soil or soil enriched with decayed leaves or manure. The rich soil beneath the family woodpile or around decaying logs is splendid for this purpose. The soil should be pressed down firmly with a small piece of board and rows 2 inches made one-fourth to one-half inch deep and 2 inches apart crosswise of the box. The seed should be distributed 8 or ten to the inch in rows and be covered. The soil should be watered and the box set in a warm place in the light in the sunshine by a window being best. Water enough must be given from time to time to cause the seeds to germinate and grow thriftily, but not enough to leak through the box. If a piece of glass is used to cover the box, it will hold the moisture in the soil and hasten the germination of the seeds.

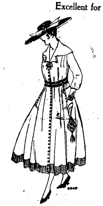
Take Out Surplus Plants.

When the plants are from an inch to an inch and a half high they should be thinned to 1 or 2 inches apart in a row so as to give them space enough to make a strong, stocky growth. If it is desired to keep the plants which are thinned out, they may be set 2 inches apart each way in other boxes prepared as mentioned for the seed box. When the weather becomes mild, the box of plants should be set out of doors part of the time so that the plants will "harden off" in preparation for transplanting to the garden later. A good watering should be given just before the plants are taken out of the box for transplanting, so that a large ball of earth will stick to the roots of each one.

Easy & Practical Home Dress Making Lessons

Prepared Specially for This Newspaper
By Pictorial Review

Excellent for Informal Wear.



Dark blue serge of excellent quality is used to make this informal frock. The trimming includes buttons, pockets and a collar of tan chiffon cloth.

Many of the most attractive dresses for Autumn are made of dark blue serge of excellent quality. This costume has admirable lines and is inexpensive. The open neck is finished with a large round collar of tan chiffon cloth. The skirt is in six gores, with panel effect back and front and the side gores attached to the long body below the normal waistline. In medium size the costume requires 4¾ yards 54-inch serge.

Before sewing any seams at all, find the front of the body, which is indicated by large "O" perforations. Hem front edge of front, then take up two tucks in front and one of each side of center-back. Turn one tuck in front forward and one backward in box-plait effect. Turn the tuck in back forward and form plaits in front at shoulder.

Next, close under-arm and shoulder seams. Turn the edges of front and back sections under slot perforations and base. Adjust pocket lap to position. Join side gores as notched and form inverted plait in side gores and press. Adjust to position, lapping the folded edges of front and back on side gores, and close seams underneath, leaving the edges free above single large "O" perforation in side gore for pocket. Sew the upper edge of side gores to front and back as notched. Plait front above the front edge of side gore placing "T" on small "o" perforation and tack.

The two pocket sections may now be arranged together and edges having double notches and small "o" perforations stitched together. Stitch upper edges of pocket and sew pocket to edges of side gore and front. Next, face the collar and sew to neck edge.

A pretty cuff adds chic to the sleeves. To make with this effect, close seams as notched, gather lower edge between double "TT" perforation, then close seam of cuff, finish edges below perforation for closing. Face turn-over and sew to cuff, notches and edges even. Sew cuff to sleeve, notches and seams even. Sew sleeve in armhole, as notched, small "o" perforation at shoulder seam easing in any fulness.

The two belts may now be adjusted to position with upper edge of upper belt and lower edge of lower belt at small "o" perforations near center-back; close, belt at left side front and finish with a bow and ends. If desired, a leather belt, or ribbon sash may be used.

Pictorial Review Costume No. 6949. Sizes, 34 to 44 inches bust. Price, 20 cents.

Testing Advertising By The Proportion Of Residents Who Call At A Store

In talking recently with a man who has made a large success as an advertising salesman in another place this question was asked him: "When a merchant says it does not pay to advertise, what do you tell him?"

"I just ask him this: What proportion of the population of this town has been inside your store during the past two months?"

"Very few merchants ever claim they have had 10 per cent. of the population. Most of the non-advertisers would be glad to get one per cent. A lot of them probably get only a small fraction of one per cent. with any regularity.

"Then I say, how are all the rest of the people going to know about your goods? How can they tell whether it would be for their advantage to patronize you or not? If you have good values or special bargains how do they now about it? A great many of them rarely or never pass your store. The great majority that pass give you only a glance. You are not getting their business, having done nothing to interest them.

"Then I go on to say there are just three ways to get some of this trade now slipping past them. They can send around solicitors from door to door, distribute circulars or hand bills or advertise in newspapers. The newspaper notice is read carefully where the solicitor is summarily turned down, and besides the advertising is twenty times cheaper than canvassing. And hand bills are chucked into the waste baskets while newspapers are read. If you don't care to use any of these methods, I tell them, most of the people of this town will continue to pass you by without knowing anything about your goods."

These remarks fit here as well as in the town where they are made. A merchant must tell the public about his goods in order to get trade.

FOX FARMING

Silver foxes a few years ago brought as high as $15,000 a pair in the open market. The enormous prices obtained at that time were due largely to speculative operations, according to a new publication of the United States Department of Agriculture, and ranch-bred silver foxes have recently been advertised for sale at from $500 to $1,000 a pair. With a comparatively large number of silver foxes in domestication, with a clearer understanding of their successful management, and with a return to moderate prices for breeders, a steady, healthy and general development of silver fox farming is predicted. How and where fox farming may be undertaken with promise of any degree of success is fully discussed in the publication mentioned, Farmers' Bulletin 795, "The Domesticated Silver Fox," which may be had on application to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

DON'T BLOCK THE TRAFFIC

Don't block the traffic of progress.

The point is brought out clearly in Spokes, the official chatterer of the rotarians, in this way:

A traffic blockade occurs dainy on most of the busy thoroughfares of a great city like New York.

The chauffeur toots his horn impatiently. The truck driver whistles and hoots. The traffic cop gets red in the fact shouting directions. Progress is stopped, even though the obstruction may be a small one.

Business traffic suffers often from very small obstructions, and the line of waiting customers, too well bred to hoot, whistle and shout, are irritated beyond endurance.

PEACE COMET COMING

"The Peace Comet", as it is appropriately termed, which is due to make its bow to this sphere during the early summer, is traveling at the rate of 131 miles a second or moe than 1,134,000 miles per day, and this is its first appearance for 60,000 years. A vivid imagination would be needed to conjure up the happenings of our world when another 60,000 years have passed, and when the 1917 comet makes its reappearance.

Professor Wolf of Heidelberg, is responsible for the 1917 comet, and he first discovered it on April 27, 1916. Now the American observatories have sighted the spectacle, and have cabled the news to Greenwich observatory.

Observers say that the coming comet will be one of the most astonishing and wonderful of all phenomena. It is exceptionally large and the nearest point reached by it to the earth will be 164,000,000 miles. Yet in July of this year it will be visible to the naked eye, tho astrologers are dubious whether it will outshine in brilliancy the great comet of 1882, which later brushed the sun's corona in passing round the sun, and traveled at the rate of 300 miles a second.

Osteopathy Explained

But Dr. Still found that manipulation, in certain ways, of the spinal column and its dependant tissues produced certain startling and special reactions, and this was strikingly the case whenever there was in the backbone any visible or palpable irregularity or lesion or deflection. His studies of the spinal mechanism led him to the conviction that virtually all so-called diseases, pains, symptoms, and so on, were indirectly caused by these spinal lesions, when other anatomical lesions, or displacements or tensions, or other structural defects, were absent elsewhere. Disease, in this way, quickly resolves itself in his mind, into two grand divisions—local and systematic. It is difficult, often impossible, to find a spinal lesion (of any kind) in a given case. Therefore must we say it does not exist? By no means. The spinal column has been developed into a mechanism which, by its very structure is subject to continuous bony displacements and to continuous automatic correction of these displacements. But this corrective mechanism is by no means perfect, and it is rational to hold that every spine is subject to a certain percentage of displacements that do not correct themselves. These displacements may be so fine as to be difficult to find, but it is safe to say they are there nevertheless.

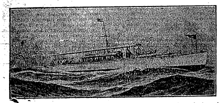
KEITH'S MAN GIVES YACHT TO UNCLE SAM



Mr. E. F. Albee, vice president of the B. F. Keith circuit and general manager of the United Booking Offices, has set a splendid example to yacht owners of the country. Mr. Albee, who is a true patriot, has presented his wonderfully equiped boat Beaumere to the United States navy as a submarine chaser and dispatch boat. There have been many who have donated their boats to the navy, but Mr. Albee has arranged to pay all running expenses of the boat during war time, including the salaries of the crew. The Beaumere is one of the speediest boats on the Atlantic coast and under forced speed is capable of doing 30 miles an hour. Guns will be mounted fore and aft and it will take a speedy diving U-Boat to get away from the Beaumere. Manager John F. Royal of the Hippodrome, who has sailed on the Beaumere, said Mr. Albee's boat should prove very valuable to a fleet of destroyers.

Gas Most Carefully Measured Fuel

Do you know that natural gas is one of the most carefully measured commodities you use?

It is!

You pay for what you use—no more—no less.

When you stop using gas the hands on the meter stop.

When you commence again, the meter starts.

The gas you use is measured under your very eyes and remember—

You do not have to order a ton of gas and then wait for it.

which the world is now struggling with."

The patriotic women of Lake county are sewing every moment of their spare time, making bandages and first aid supplies for the government. They need more materials and need them quickly. There must be no delay and every dollar which can be raised is spent immediately for the materials so much in demand.

The financial committee, appointed a couple of weeks ago by Judge A. G. Reynolds, chairman, has worked out a plan by which every person can at least give a dollar for the cause. These circulars are going out this week through the mails and through the schools. It is not a request; it is a patriotic appeal to each and every one, whether they get one by mail, whether one by the school scholar or whether they have to ask for a blank, to send immediately one dollar to Mrs. Louise B. Pease, treasurer, Painesville, Ohio.

The Red Cross is chartered by Congress to meet the necessities of war. It is the only voluntary agency for relief officially recognized by the United States government. Your help is needed now. No other agency provides a practical opportunity for helping the soldiers and sailors and their families as the Red Cross Society. The measures for relief must be prompt and adequate. Send your dollar promptly.

Let us make Lake county the largest volunteer body of workers in the rural districts of Ohio.

Getting Along Fine With no Desire to Drink

CHEERFUL MESSAGE FROM A MAN MADE LIQUOR-PROOF IN THREE DAYS AT THE NEAL INSTITUTE.

"I am still getting along without any desire for drink, and the good part of it is, the longer I am away from it, the more I detest it. The smell is disgusting to me."

So writes a graduate of the Neal Institute who, in three days of the Neal Treatment, was changed from a hard drinker into a man who despises everything alcoholic.

The Neal Treatment there administered is a physician's harmless vegetable remedy, which is taken internally, with no dangerous hypodermic injections. The results are tonic is effect and in three days all desire for liquor is changed to dislike for everything alcoholic.

There is no publicity. Names are never revealed. Your own investigation is not only invited, but urged. Call in person or address for booklet, The Neal Institute, 3920 Euclid avenue, Cleveland, Ohio. Open day and night. Other Neal Institutes located at Cincinnati, Columbus, Pittsburgh and Detroit.

Tips For Play-Goers

B. F. KEITH'S HIPPODROME.

A fairy fantasy of spectacular splendor is "A Daughter of the Gods," the William Fox motion picture with Annette Kellerman as the star, which will be shown at B. F. Keith's Hippodrome starting Sunday matinee. The pictures reach the climax of cinema elaboration and realism, a story in which mermaids, gnomes, elves, fairies and human beings are united in a bewildering succession of changing scenes, having been staged on the coast, amid the wave swept rocks and in the caverns and ravines of Jamaica, West Indies.

To the beautiful natural background this afforded is added the magnificence of an apparently complete Moorish city erected for the purpose of this picture and at the end with reckless extravagance consumed in flames. Participating in the various scenes are over 20,000 adults and 1,200 children, the latter taking the roles of gnomes and elves. Mr. Fox expended a sum in excess of one million dollars to make the finished production.

"A Daughter of the Gods" is a fanciful story which might be almost a distinct fable out of the Arabian nights. In its making the camera has caught nature with the sea as their background, of truly wonderous beauty, and it has the immeasurable advantage over other spectacles of the films in that it is dominated by a great and striking personality.

She is Annette Kellerman, who is to the swimming art what Pavlowa is to the dance and Charlotte to the and around her singularly beautiful and graceful water feats clings the story, telling at the same time a wonderful story of the Orient. It is one of the very high levels that the motion picture art has reached. Daily matinee performances will be given during the engagement at the Hippodrome and a feature of the production will be the interpolation of an original musical score by a large symphony orchestra.

OPERA HOUSE

"The Birth of a Nation," which has packed the Opera House twice daily for three weeks past, continues its run at the Opera House. It is a big film and a good one, with plenty of excellent acting and any number of startling spectacles, battle and mob scenes. The musical score, rendered by an augmented orchestra, is a part of the production which cannot be disregarded when the astonishing drawing power of the big photo play is considered.

LIBERTY THEATER

A double entertainment is scheduled for the Liberty theatre for the week of April 30. In addition to five acts of sterling vaudeville Miss Marjorie Rambeau, the famous American actress will be seen in a six act photo play entitled "Motherhood." This is the first time this picture has been shown and it is a positive success. This picture begins with the Sunday matinee April 29, and continues throughout the remainder of the week. The vaudeville offerings are as follows: Davis and Kitty in a series of musical comedy capers, otherwise known as a nifty divertisement of surprises. Flood and Erna in a balancing and juggling oddity as well as comedy songs and dances. The Trojan Four, a quartette of harmonists in a musical program long to be remembered. This is a strictly big time act and one of the big hits of the bill. Billie Carter, singing comedienne, will try her charms on you and sing for you some very pretty ballads. Alfred Farrell and company present a vocal novelty, with special scenery and elaborate wardrobe. Several photoplays complete this bill.

STANDARD THEATER

For the week of April 29th the Standard Theatre offers Valeska Suratt in Rider Haggard's famous novel, "She." This film is the most elaborate and beautiful photoplay ever released as a regular feature, and Miss Suratt surpasses her many former triumphs. She plays the title role Asheya, She Who Must be Obeyed, a white queen of a savage tribe who has attained immortality by bathing in the fires of the Flame of Life. The story of "She" begins 3,000 years ago when Kallikratis, a young Egyptian priest, is killed by Asheya when he refuses to abandon his young wife for her. The widow gives birth to a son whom she charges to avenge his father's death. This solemn duty is passed from generation to generation through 3,000 years. In the present era its fulfillment falls to a modern young man, whom "She" also tries to persuade to love her but circumstances favor him. She is condemned by the Gods to be turned into a hideous ape, whereby he escapes back to civilization and he has avenged the death of his forefathers.

MILES THEATER

Next week at the Miles Joe Maxwell and his big musical comedy, the "Ladies Reducing Parlor," with 15 of vaudeville's greatest musical comedy artists, in three big scenes; music, harmony and comedy, is not forgotten in this lively musical show. A new playlet entitled "The Dog Thief," with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas, Holmes and LeBere, in a very clever offering by themselves. Grinnell & Esther in the funny eccentricities, Bigelow and Jones the singing violinist, Frank Ford, in "First Aid to Father," and last but not least, Marguerite Clark in "The Valentine Girl" and Mrs. Vernon Castle in "For the Flag," last chapter of "Patria," round out one of the season's best bills.

PROSPECT THEATER

There will be man yin the audience when the "Smart Set" appears in their musical comedy entertainment entitled "How Wewtown Prepared," coming to the Prospect next week, who do not go to the theatre more than two or three times during the entire season. Their interest in an approaching event always presages something unusual in its line. The announcement that the "Smart Set" is coming has set these theatrical epicures all agog with pleasurable anticipation. Salem Tutt Whitney and J. Homer Tutt head the company and are prepared to gratify the desires of the most exacting musical appetite, for it is said that the "Smart Set" has the best score and music that has been written in years.

CORONA THEATRE

Charlotte Walker, announced as a star in a new Broadway play written by her husband, Eugene Walter, is featured in the Thanhouser feature "Mary Lawson's Secret," supported by Wm. Beatman Davidson, which is to be shown at the Corona theatre, 745 Prospect avenue, Sunday, April 29th. Charlotte Walker has an immense following throughout the country; she has been starred on the stage in "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," "Just a Woman," and other plays written by her husband, Eugene Walter, autho rof "The Easiest Way." Her popularity has been increased by being starred in motion pictures.

Other features for the week are: Monday, Jack Ford in "The Trail of Hate;" Tuesday, "Her Wayward Parents," with J. Belasco and an all-star cast, a comedy drama; and Wednesday, "The Birth of Patriotism," with Irene Hunt and Leo Pearson, a vivid five act drama.

STAR THEATER

"A New York Girl" is the name of the Star's attraction next week and it promises very well indeed. The two-act farce with music is called "Ninety in the Shade," but it is refreshing just the same. Mlle. Babette is the bright particular star of the cast, but producer Peter S. Clark has surrounded her with a group of performers who make her work for her honors. Harry Bentley, Clare Evans, Irving Sands, Sylvia Brody, Mamie Mitchell and Jane Pearson are all burlesque favorites.

EMPIRE THEATER

Harry (Hickey) Levan and Clare DeVine are headliners at the Empire next week in "The Big Revue of 1917" which is real burlesque, and good. They have with them 50 competent assistants and no end of catchy music and sparkling comedy. A feature of the program is a series of impersonations of leading motion picture favorites. It is burlesque as you like it.

EXPERT ADVICE OFFERED ON CITY GARDENING

The Ohio Branch, Council of National Defense, has arranged to send to the different cities of the state trained expert gardeners to address evening gatherings of back yard and vacant lot gardeners on different phases of garden management, including soil preparation, varieties and amounts of seed necessary, depths of planting different crops cultivation, intercropping, etc., and if schedule permits the expert can remain over to make personal visits.

Those interested should immediately get in touch with the Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, of with the Mayor, and ask that arrangements be made for a visit from one of these experts.

FIGHTING FOR MY COUNTRY AND FLAG

TO THE EDITOR:

Company A, Trench No. 1, Machine Gun No. 23.

Volley No. 1—$5. per day to Soldiers families. The boys are willing to fight for their country without money and without price.

But are we so cheap as to say that their dependants should not have $5 per day to live on during their absence?

Volley No. 2—I want 10,000 men over 40 years of age who will agree with me to offer our services to the President and request that we be sent down to the first trenches.

Volley No. 3—Pay all war debts by issuing greenbacks, the same as Lincoln did in 1861.

Then all classes will be obligated to go and fight for their country and flag.

Volley No. 4—Why tax the rich to pay the war debt and compel them to collect such tax from you in the higher cost of living?

Volley No. 5.—Loan the farmer boys and girls $5,000 each without interest, to enable them to buy land, then the million and a half of country boys and girls who come to the city yearly will remain on the farm and the host of living will drop 50%.

Volley No. 6.—Let's rally around Old Glory, boys, and give a hearty cheer, when Uncle Sam conscripts all classes then all will volunteer..

Wyatt; ——— Wyatt, the unknown wife or widow of said Lorenzo H. Wyatt; the unknown heirs, devisees and legal representatives of said Lorenzo H. Wyatt, deceased; ——— Penty, the unknown wife or widow of Robert Penty; ——— Coates, the unknown wife or widow of Lewis Coates, all of whose residences are unknown, and the names of the unknown heirs, devisees and legal representatives being unknown, will take notice that John Kaminski and Josie Kaminski, as Plaintiffs, filed a petition against them as Defendants in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, alleging that they are the owners in fee simple and in the actual possession of the following described real estate, to-wit:

Situated in the township of Brecksville, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio, and known as being a part of Original Brecksville Township Lot Number Twenty-four (24) and bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a point in the center line of the Diagonal Road at the northwesterly corner of a parcel of land conveyed by James H. Coates and others to Henry T. Barr by Warranty Deed dated April 24, 1877, and recorded in Volume 279, page 446 of Cuyahoga County Records; thence easterly along the northerly line of land conveyed to said Barr, as aforesaid, about 9.10 chains to the Northeast corner of said Barr's land; thence southerly along the easterly line of said Barr's land about 7.32 chains to the center of the Diagonal Road; thence northwesterly along the center of the Diagonal Road to the place of beginning and containing 3.96 acres of land, more or less but subject to all legal highways.

The petition alleges that the defendants above named claim some interest or estate in said premises, hostile and adverse to Plaintiff's rights, which constitute a cloud on Plaintiffs' title, for the reason that the Records of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, fail to disclose any conveyance of said premises from the said Ezra Wyatt, who was the owner of said premises prior to March 29, 1854, and for the reason that the Probate Court Records do not disclose any last will and testament of Ezra Wyatt, nor administration of his estate; for the reason that in a deed from one Robert Penty to Henry T. Barr, dated December 10, 1867, no wife joins or releases dower in said premises nor was any statement made therein that the Grantor was single; and for the reason that in a deed from one Lewis Coates and others to Henry T. Barr, dated April 24, 1877, no wife joins or releases dower in said premises, nor was any statement made therein that the Grantor was single.

The petition further alleges that said defendants have no interest in said premises, that no one of them, or any one claiming through or under them or any of them, has ever sought to enforce or recover by any action at law or otherwise, any right, title or interest in and to said premises, or any part thereof, and that these Plaintiffs and their predecessors in title have for more than 21 years last past had and been in the actual, open, notorious, continuous, uninterrupted and adverse possession of said premises against all the world.

The prayer of said petition is that said defendants be required to answer all and singular the matters and things relative to any claim, estate or interest, which they or any of them have in said premises, that upon final hearing of this cause Plaintiffs' title in said premises be quieted as to said defendants, that said defendants and each of them and all persons claiming through or under them be forever barred from setting up or asserting any claim, estate or interest in said premises or any part thereof, and for relief.

Said petition is No. 155361, and the above named defendants are required to answer the same on or before the 19th day of May, A. D. 1917.

"OLD IVORY" TINTED POTTERY
Will Double Your Garden's Charm

BIRD HOUSES and BIRD BATHS
Will Bring You Songs of the Woods

With the first warm days one is sure to find spaces in the garden which call for the addition of some piece of pottery to add that essential touch of new beauty. For just such a place as this, a piece of Wheatley Pottery will serve admirably whether the plan of your garden offers a spot that is formal in character or a niche that is permeated with the air of friendliest informality.

Its Old Ivory Tint—a neutral color—will harmonize perfectly with any background, with a lawn, a red brick house, a stucco pergola, or a crystal color fountain.

Aside from the attractiveness of the bird houses themselves, the interest and life of a garden are very much enhanced by the presence of birds. A vast number of the birds which inhabit our surroundings have beautiful plumage and pleasing song, and surely no other creatures are so wonderfully adapted to the destruction of insect pests. By providing suitable and attractive houses to meet their requirements, you will encourage them and gain for yourself and family many a pleasant hour in watching their active and interesting life.

To meet every need of bird lovers, from those who live in the small apartment to those who have extensive grounds, we carry a line of bird houses ranging in price from 70c to $65.00.

TWENTIETH YEAR—NO. 14. WILLOUGHBY, OHIO, MAY 5, 1917. ONE DOLLAR A YEAR IN ADVANCE

AFFAIRS OF THE BEN HUR—DEBTS OF THE REALTY COMPANY AMOUNT TO $82,000. CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MAY RECEIVE OFFER FROM NEW FIRM.

Chas. P. Moore, real estate expert on factory property, of Cleveland, was appointed receiver of the Ben Hur Automobile Co. a week ago Tuesday. The petition was filed by The Hoyt Service, advertising specialties, Hitchcock and Fackler being attorneys for the plaintiffs. Mr. Moore has also done considerable work for the Nickel Plate and the Penna. Rys. Mr. Moore was in Willoughby Thursday morning. The debts of the Ben Hur Realty Co. amount to $82,000.00. Debts of the Ben Hur Motor Co. amount to $250,000.00. A considerable amount of unpaid stock, however, and material on hand, will offset the latter. There are 11 manufactured cars, of which the receiver is endeavoring to secure possession. Several propositions are being given consideration in regard to what may be done. A fine factory and splendid site offers attraction to manufacturing concerns and one very well and favorably known manufacturer is now considering the property with the attorneys, according to information learned in talk with them Thursday morning. These attorneys represent the largest creditors, who took care of the advertising in New York and other cities.

It is said that a sale of the building might realize enough money to pay all debts, leave the company free from debt, and possibly some equity for the stockholders.

Most of the stock was sold in amounts of less than $100.00, ranging from $20.00 to $40.00 each. That it was solely a promotion affair, the attorneys are not as yet in a position to say.

The Chamber of Commerce will probably be called upon to make the same offer as was made to the Ben Hur in an order to secure the locating here of a desirable and well known firm who would be an asset and an addition to the community.

The financial committee of the Lake County Red Cross Society, consisting of Sidney S. Wilson, Willoughby, H. M. Doolittle, Painesville and Carl R. Kimball, Madison, feel very much gratified in the response to the appeals for help. NOTED CHURCH ARCHITECT PASSES

The death of Mr. S. R. Badgley of Stop 26 the Main line Saturday, removed an architect, well known in church work. Mr. Badgley was the architect and a member of the Epworth Memorial church, Cleveland. A modern scheme of departmental Sunday School systems was one of the ideas upon which he was working and which had received the approval of the Methodist and other churches. The funeral occurred May 1st, Rev. Lichliter preaching the sermon. Rev. H. E. Bright, Rev. Stocking, Rev. Axtell and other ministers were in attendance. Mr. Badgley was taken to St. Catherine's, Ont., for interment.

Since his death Mrs. Badgley has suffered a stroke, and her condition is critical.

PORCH CLIMBERS AT THE TRYON HOME

Returning from a meeting of Decoration day committeemen about 11:30 Wednesday night, Mr. Hern, of the Wilson store, was attracted by an unusual noise at the home of his neighbor, Alfred Tryon. About the same time a call from Mrs. Tryon assured Mr. Hern that there was something wrong, and securing a rifle and flash light, he ran over. The porch climber had been on the roof of the porch, frightening Mrs. Tryon by endeavoring to break through the window. Mr. Hern called James Moloney, who responded promptly, and search was made all through the neighborhood, without result. During their absence the porch climber returned and fired a shot at the Hern window. Previous to Mr. Hern's call, a report was made by Ira Crowther of an attempted burglary at the Kane home, Stop 147 the Shore line, and Mr. Moloney believes it possible there is some connection between the two attempts.

MRS MARY CARMICHAEL

The following obituary of Mayor Carmichael's mother is taken from the Daily Herald of Wellsburg, W. Va.:

"I live for those who love me, and those who know me true, for the heaven that smiles above me and awaits my spirit too; for the wrongs that need resistance, for the cause that needs assistance, for the future in the distance, and the good that I can do."

On Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock at her home on Commerce street, occurred the death of Mrs. Mary Carmichael, beloved wife of J. W. M. Carmichael, in her 74th year of age.

Mrs. Carmichael was stricken last Thursday with a stroke of paralysis, since which time she has borne the accompanying pains in a way that only a true Christian heart can look to the final farewell to this earth and its work, before entering into that great kingdom above, there to greet her loved ones who had gone before and to await those who will follow. Born in Ireland, County Tyrone, in the year of 1843, Mrs. Carmichael, in company with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Forbes, came to America at the age of 17 and was married shortly afterword to Mr. Carmichael, since which time she has made her home in this city. Early in life she associated herself with the Presbyterian church, and her achievements stand as a monument to her work. She was especially devoted to the work connected

PARCEL NO. 1.

Situated in the township of Warrensville, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio, and known as being a part of original Warrensville Township, lots Nos. 95 and 96 and bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at the intersection of the southerly line of the Right of Way of The Erie Railroad, with the center line of Warrensville Center Road; thence southerly along the center line of said Road to the Northwest corner of a parcel of land conveyed by Henry Coyer and wife to Ervin Eastwood by deed dated July 6th, 1885, and recorded in Volume 387 page 33 of Cuyahoga County Records; thence easterly along the northerly line of the land so conveyed to Eastwood and along the easterly continuation of the same to the southerly line of the Erie Railroad right of way; thence westerly along said right of way to the place of beginning, containing about 2.39 acres of land, being that part of parcel 1 in the Deed from Ann Ward and husband to Mary Simpson, dated January 12, 1888, and recorded in Volume 421 page 499 of Cuyahoga County Records, which lies south of the right of way of the Erie Railroad, be the same more or less, but subject to all legal highways.

PARCEL NO. 2.

Situated in the Township of Warrensville, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio, and known as being a part of original Warrensville Township lot No. 96 and bounded and described as follows:

Beginning in the Westerly line of what was formerly known as the Vial Salisbury farm at the southeast corner of five acres of land conveyed by Henry Coyer and wife to Ervin Eastwood by deed dated July 6th, 1885 and recorded in Vol. 387 page 33 of Cuyahoga County Records; thence Easterly along the easterly continuation of the southerly line of the land so conveyed to Eastwood to the center line of Miles Ave.; thence northwesterly along the center line of Miles Avenue to its intersection with the southerly line of the Erie Railroad right of way; thence Northwesterly along said southerly right of way line to the southerly line of the first parcel of land in the deed from Ann Ward and husband to Mary Simpson, dated January 12, 1888, and recorded in Vol. 421 page 499 of Cuyahoga County Records; thence westerly along said southerly line to the northeast corner of the land conveyed to Ervin Eastwood as aforesaid; thence southerly along the easterly line, of the land so conveyed to Eastwood, 20 rods to the place of beginning, containing 2.15 acres of land, be the same more or less, subject to all highways, being the 2nd parcel of land conveyed by Ann Ward and husband to Mary Simpson by deed dated January 12, 1888, and recorded in Vol. 421 page 499 of Cuyahoga County Records.

The petition alleges that the Plaintiff derived her title as residuary legatee under the Last Will and Testament of Mary E. Simpson, deceased, upon the payment of certain bequests which have been duly paid.

The petition alleges that the defendants, William Young, and the unknown heirs, devisees and legatees of William Young, deceased, Elias Brown, and the unknown heirs, devisees and legatees of Elias Brown, deceased, claim some interest in the premises above described as Parcel No. 1, hostile and adverse to Plaintiff's right, which constitute a cloud on Plaintiff's title for the reason that on the 7th day of February, 1854, Alexander and Jane W. Garrett, then the owners of said premises, executed to William Young, a mortgage on said premises, recorded in Volume 72, Page 296, of Cuyahoga County Records, which mortgage was due and payable in six months from date and which mortgage was on the 27th day of May, 1856, by the said William Young assigned to Elias Brown and which assignment is recorded in Volume 72 at page 296 on the margin of the above described mortgage. The petition alleges that said defendants have no interest in said premises, whatsoever, that said mortgage has been paid, but through ignorance or carelessness, no cancellation was obtained.

The petition alleges that the defendants, Harry Hunt and the unknown heirs, devisees and legatees of Harry Hunt, deceased, claim some interest in the premises above described as Parcel No. 1, hostile and adverse to Plaintiff's rights, which constitute a cloud on Plaintiff's title for the reason that on the 8th day of January, 1855, Alexander and Jane W. Garrett, then the owners of said premises, executed to Harry Hunt a mortgage on said premises, recorded in Vol. 77, page 606 of Cuyahoga County Records, which mortgage was due and payable in three months from date. The petition alleges that said defendants have no interest in said premises whatsoever, that said mortgage has been paid, but through ignorance and carelessness, no cancellation of the same was obtained.

The petition alleges that the defendants, Edmond Clinton, and the unknown heirs and devisees of Edmond Clinton, deceased, claim some interest in the premises, above described as Parcel No. 2, adverse and hostile to Plaintiff's rights, which constitute a cloud on Plaintiff's title, for the reason that the Records of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, do not disclose any conveyance for said premises from the said Edmond Clinton, who at some time prior to September 17, [illegible] was the owner of said premises [illegible] sion of the same, but said conveyance was not recorded in Cuyahoga County, Ohio, and has been lost or destroyed.

The petition further alleges that none of said defendants nor any one of them has any interest in said premises or any part thereof, that any interest they, or any of them, may have had, has long since been barred by lapse of time and the Statutes of Limitations: that none of said defendants nor any one of them, nor any one claiming through or under them, has ever sought to enforce, attempted to convey, exercised or attempted to exercise any interest or ownership in said premises, and that as against said defendants, this Plaintiff and her ancestors and predecessors in title have had and held the actual, open, continuous, notorious and adverse possession of said premises for more than 21 years last preceding the filing of the petition in said action.

The prayer of said petition is that said defendants and each of them be compelled to answer and set up what, if any, interest they have or claim to have in said premises, or be forever barred from asserting the same: that said claims be adjudged to be null and void; that Plaintiff's title be quieted in said premises as against said defendants and for relief.

Said petition is No. 155709, and the defendants first above named are required to answer the same on or before the 2nd day of June, A. D. 1917.

BEAT HIM TO IT

A recent controversy in a New England city over a bill for the use of evening clothes worn by men who took part in the inaugural of the mayor, reminds the Christian Science Monitor of an incident that took place in a small town "out west," in the early days. It appears that a social event was planned, and a visitor of some note was invited to attend. When he appeared he wore a business suit, while the natives present were all trying to look comfortable in "hard-boiled" shirts and other "proper" garments. The visitor was subjected to looks askance at his lack of formality. When called upon to speak, however, he apologized for his dress by saying that he had been to all the stores in town to hire an evening suit for that night, but every one had been rented.

Leigh Mitchell Hodges In The "North American" Gives a Sermon In Thirty-one Words

Turning the leaves of a Christmas gift calendar the other day, I came upon these four lines:

He drew a circle that shut me out—
Heretic, rebel, a thing to flout.
But Love and I had the wit to win:
We drew a circle that took him in.

The first reading of this quatrain may not thrill you as it thrilled me. If not, read it again—and again, until you are thrilled by the great thought thus briefly and simply expressed.

"Because I did not think as he thought, because I did not do as he did, because I did not believe as he believed," for these or any one of a hundred other reasons he drew his circle.

What an everyday occurrance this is! How unreasonable we are when it comes to many such matters! We talk much about independence and liberty, and the next thing you know we are drawing circles to shut out those who are exercising the very rights and privileges of which we have been talking!

BUT—and of all the "buts" in existence, this is one of the finest and noblest. For a "but" can be fine.

BUT—he cannot thus easily dispose of me.

He cannot thus outline a space where our intercourse and our co-operation shall end!

He cannot, try as he may, shut me out from helping where I feel help is needed; from serving where service is demanded; from following the full and free dictates of conscience in an effort to fill the place to which I feel called.

For there is a force which will ever help us to outdraw any circles he may draw! There is a force which gives is power to outwit him at every turn; to make him work with us even tho he thinks we are against him.

That force is love!

With Love, it is easy to draw the circle that takes him in—and tho at first he may seem displeased at this enforced companionship, if the spirit of Love has been our guiding star, soon he will come to see how fine and necessary it is that we should work together—all of us—for the bettering and happifying of men and things.

The writer of the lines quoted is Edwin Markham—who became suddenly famous seventeen years ago with his poem on "The Man With the Hoe."

That poem has been read around the world, and has played no small part in waking men's minds to a realization of the rights of humanity.

But in these four lines I think Mr. Markham has done somethnig even finer. For here he has boiled down and crystallized the sum and substance of the best religion that can be applied to life.

It is a great sermon in thirty-one words; a lesson each should learn so simply and straightly told as to court remembrance.

And I felt it would serve admirably as a daily guide for any one of us.

LADIES' DAY

AT CLEVELAND "AD" CLUB HAS INTERESTING WOMAN SPEAKERS

Wednesday, the 25th, was Ladies' Day at the Cleveland Advertising Club. Luncheon was served at 12:00 in the ball room of the Statler hotel to the members and their friends. At 12:30 Miss Georgia Norton, of the Cleveland School of Art, was introduced as toastmistress. She complimented the members on the fact that they recognized this is the "Women's Age" and so included the ladies in at least part of their affairs. After a short talk on the subject of the important part women play in public affairs, Miss Norton introudced the speaker of the day, Mrs. Julia Heath, president and founder of The National Housewives' League of New York. Mrs. Heath gave a very interesting and instructive talk on the consumers' view point. She said it was the object of the League to bring the consumer and the producer closer together, to teach the housewife to study economic conditions, to learn the value of food stuffs and all commodities and finally to force the manufacturers of food products, textiles, etc., to put on the market only those products that are absolutely worthy and thus give the consumer the value of his money. She strongly advised the purchase of those goods only which are stamped with the manufacturer's trade mark. Mrs. Heath gave several instances of the struggle of the League against great odds and presented altogether an unusually good talk and one which demonstrated to the unbelieving male mind that women are really capable of doing something worth while.

Miss Muriel Abbott gave two very enjoyable violin selections.

Announcement was made of the advertising convention to be held in St. Louis early in June.

IF WE KNEW

By Martha E. Bales, Willoughby, Ohio

If we knew those teardrops falling,
That we shed in bitter pain
Would bring forth abundant harvest
When he gathered in his grain;
If we knew those smileless faces,
That we kiss and kiss again,
Will shine brighter than the stars
That compose Heavenly train.

If we knew the things that vex us
When so sorely we are tried,
If but conquered were the jewels
That a king might wear in pride.
If we knew the kind words spoken
To the lonely and the poor,
Were worth more than heaps of treasure,
To bring blessings to our door.

If we knew those worldly pleasures
Stole the noblest and the best
Oh the living little sunbeams
That should light dear home nest.
If we knew those little footsteps
In the darkest paths might stray,
Would we seek our selfish pleasures
And leave them lonely day by day.

If we knew the gold we treasured
Was as nothing to a smile,
That was like a ray of sunshine
To help others bear a trial.
If we knew a kindly handshake
And a sympathetic tear
Were the sweetest things life giveth
How we'd treasure them with care.

If we knew the right and did it
With our hearts a-tuned to prayer
How we'd brighten up life's pathway
That is now so full of care.
Then, ah-then we'd never utter Bitter words that we might rue
And our lives would be so different,
If, ah, if, we only knew.

Finding Your Proper Niche. Houdini and Chapple Talk of The Importance of Being One's Self

After a first-night ovation I went "back" to see Houdini in his dressing room at Keith's theatre, Boston. Emerging after his second plunge into the Chinese torture cell—dripping from head to foot—he had hurried into his street clothes. Right here be it said that even the street clothes of Harry Houdini are distinctive. His cleric-like collar, fastened in front, is encircled by a narrow black bow tie. He wears a soft white shirt, striped with hair line of black, and black suit, with small round hat. He is slightly below medium height, blue eyes, silvered hair.

Houdini is billed as the "Elusive American," "Marvelous Self-Liberator," the "Greatest Escapist in History." He's more than a performer who attracts and mystifies. He is a philosopher. He knows human nature. While he has the most complete library on magic in the world, and is a thorough student of the classics, he has not forgotten the days when he sold newspapers and held copy in a print shop.

"How do you manage to get out of tight places?" I asked him on behalf of many a weary executive and salesman.

"Reminds me of the time President Wilson said to me 'I envy your ability in getting out of tight places.' It is a very useful thing to know.' " magic, you learn the relation between eye and hand; between feeling and hearing. That's all there is to it. Differentation and keen development of certain senses."

It sounded easy enough but it was Houdini speaking.

"Most people," he continued, "can do some one thing better than any one else. Great thing is to find what it is. Nothing's so difficult as to find your proper niche—where you fit. That's about all there is to life—finding the key that fits. The moment you find the key, you can unlock any door you wish."

This was Salesmanship Science, no less.

Houdini has no press agent. He needs none. He has appeared before the "crowned heads of Europe", and is probably the world's most complete cosmopolite. No matter where he is, he is at home.

"If I could succeed in being a leader in my line, I never worried about the price they would pay me," he declared.

I spoke of the fascination, the mystery of his work, and—

"You know," he said gravely, "your business is just as fascinating, just as mysterious to men who know nothing about it as mine is to you. You consider your work very simple. It is—to you. You understand it. My work is simple to me."

"Problems?—there are problems in every line. Each man thinks his own the most weighty, too. You've heard the old fable about the man exchanging his troubles with another whose burdens appeared lighter. It wasn't long before he was glad to shoulder again his own troubles. He was used to them; they fit him, somehow."

"Isn't your work a great strain on your endurance?" I asked.

"That's another thing that many business men overlook—the fact that intense, intensive work burns out the faculties, both of body and brain. I find it necessary to loaf about half the year, but it's during the loafing time that I create."

There is a tiny lady with Houdini, his wife, his helpmate, his chum, who for 23 years has been the only one he admits con beat him in an argument. To her he turns before performing those hazardous feats which have made him famous throughout the world. As is the case with many men who have achieved success, Houdini always had an unusually warm affection for his mother. Although four years have elapsed since her passing, he is still in mourning. Thinking of this the lines of Napoleon came to mind—"When the heart speaks, glory itself is an illusion."

"Why I have succeeded I cannot tell, he said modestly, but whimsically—"I would rather be Houdini just as he is, with all his faults and failings, than anybody else. I'm content to be myself."

If we all felt that way, I thought, we would accomplish infinitely more than we do. Epictetus insisted that "He is a man of sense who does not grieve for what he has not, but rejoices in what he has." A feeling of contentment with oneself does not necessarily mean conceit, but it does mean confidence, self-trust, which Emerson said is "the essence of heroism."

Houdini considers Roosevelt one of the great Americans. Incidentally Houdini is the only man that ever fooled the Colonel and got away with it. They crossed together in 1914, and after some revelations about his recent discoveries—disclosed by Houdini—Roosevelt called him the "most stupendous mystifier I have ever seen." Houdini admires Winston Churchill, with his staccato stutter; Charles Schwab, who called him a "wizard," and said he'd "hate to swap horses with him in mid-stream."

Daily Thought.

Drops of dew refresh the faded flowers, so do kind words cheer the aching heart.

Western Reserve University Has Exhibit of Famous Book Plates

Mr. George F. Strong, librarian of the Hatch library of Adelbert College of Western Reserve University, announces several recent gifts to the library.

Honorable Theodore E. Burton, president of the Merchants National Bank in New York, has given the library 35 volumes in history, literature and politics, and has deposited with the library nearly 500 volumes in all departments of literature which may be freely used by members of the university. Many of these books are standard works.

Professor Frank P. Whitman has given 100 volumes in history, biography, literature, art, music and science, 130 pieces of memorbilia relating to Western Reserve University and Adelbert College, and a number of documents and pamphlets relating to the war.

Mr. Paul Lemperly has given to the library a copy of his privately-printed "Jude the Obscure: a Letter and a Foreword," one of only 27 copies printed. This valuable little book contains the correspondence, hitherto unprinted, which passed between Thomas Hardy and Miss Jeannette L. Gilder following upon Miss Gilder's harsh review for the New York World of Hardy's "Jude the Obscure," a review which had a pronounced influence upon public opinion.

Mr. John C. White, '65, of Cleveland, has supplied funds for the purchase of certain sets.

An exhibit has been prepared in the library of 30 book plates of celebrated persons, selected from the Lemperly book plate collection recently given to the university. Among the plates exhibited are those belonging to Lord Byron, Lord Tennyson, Gibbon, Carlyle, Matthew Arnold, Thackeray, Anthony Trollope, Rudyard Kipling, Oliver Wendall Holmes, Daniel Webster and Gladstone.

Harvester Man Believes In Importance of Change of Outlook---

By Joe Mitchell Chapple.

Mr. Cyrus McCormick, president of the International Harvester Co., has four or five offices. He is a believer in atmosphere. He values the importance of a change of outlook. He gets tired of sitting in one position. We can't all have four or five different offices, but we can at least shift the scenery now and then and brighten the corner where we are."

This is Mr. McCormick's busiest month. January is his month for interviews, personally and intimately, with the 200 general agents of the great corporation of which he is the head. He sees every man of them and visits with him, talks with him. He gets the varying point of view of each. This contact results in a high character of generalship and a comprehensive grasp directed on direct personal reports.

As I talked with Mr. McCormick and he brought out this January idea, it seemed to me there was a peculiar quality of soundness in it. Many of our great business executives meet their men from day, or time to time; somewhat, perhaps, in a haphazard way. But Mr. McCormick sets aside one solid month for it, does it and finishes it. What record he makes or what storehouse of knowledge he keeps on this January visitation, I don't know, but I imagine the substance of it is by no means lost. The International Harvester Company isn't built that way.

—Joe Mitchell Chapple.

SMALL SEED POTATOES ARE USED FOR PLANTING

Small tubers have been used for seed for one season without serious reduction in the yield in the gardens of the Ohio Experiment Station. The continued selection of small seed, however, is not recommended because yields would eventually decline under such a practice. Potatoes weighing less than two ounces yielded only 10.7 bushels per acre less than tubers weighing more than 6 ounces, whole tubers being planted in each case.

Because of the high price of potatoes this year many home gardeners will plant only eyes or peelings with a small amount of flesh adhering, using the rest of the tuber for food. The experiment station horticulturists say that this method is successful of the eyes are planted rather shallow about a foot apart in the row, and in fertile, well-prepared soil.

ALL BECAUSE THE PEAR TREE BLOOMED

A Delightful Spring Story From "Every Week"

By Fannie Heaslip Lea

To begin at the beginning (which mostly isn't being done this year, yet has its advantages if you care about about getting at the root of a thing), Linda missed her car that morning. Otherwise she might never have noticed the pear tree. And missing the car interupted the sequence of Linda's existence, halted her efficient routine, which ran, if you like to stop and look at it, something like this:

Every morning at half-past six Linda Rowland got out of bed to the tune of a large and stolid alarm-clock. She dressed hurriedly, with full attention to soap and water, but little time for face powder. At seven she breakfasted in a clammy boarding-house dining-room: one orange and one slice of toast, one cup of coffee, and one egg. Twenty-eight minutes past seven saw her standing on the corner of Prytania and Toledano streets, and she always caught the seven-thirty car. At eight o'clock invariably she hung up her hat in the office and took the cover off her machine.

She was a stenographer, of course. One doesn't get up at half-past six from sheer personal inclination.

However, upon the morning in question Linda missed her car, a calamity resultant upon several smaller calamities—a broken shoe-string, a delayed breakfast, and so on. She stood like a small, prim figure of Desolation upon the street corner, and saw the seven-thirty go by (having unavailingly run for it). Seven-thirty three would bring another; but you know how it is: a missed car is a missed car.

It was with the worst grace in the world that she composed herself to wait.

It was then that she noticed the pear tree.

Merely as a pear tree she had seen it before. Gnarled, stubby and naked, it had stood all winter just inside the low stone fence of the corner yard. Birds had passed it by and bleak little winds had jeered through its branches. To look at it you would have said the sap was dead within it. Now, overnight, it had trembled into bloom. Against the blue March sky it spread the largesse of a thousand bridals—whiter than sea foam, whiter than new silk, more fragile than rose leaves, more bouyant than butterflies. Spring? The quintessence of all the springs in yesterday's in seven thousand years! The sky behind it, turquoise; gray-green branches showing through; and oh, that clustered, dripping, ineffably faintly fragrant wealth of small white flowers.

Tears stung Linda's eyelids as she looked—the tears of beauty's lover. She settled her black sailor hat, [illegible]ened the collar of her plain white blouse, and buttoned the topmost button of her blue serge coat. Her heart was beating faster; her gray eyes widened, glowing, upon that [illegible] ecstacy of bloom.

Then the seven thirty-three car came by, and Linda got aboard. She found a seat far up in front, and resigned herself deliberately to thinking of the pear tree. To look at her you might have supposed she was thinking of adding machines. A small, pale face, long gray eyes, an indeterminate bun of brown hair beneath any-woman's hat, that was Linda. Her chin was delicious, and the line of her throat slenderly appealing, but Linda did not know it. She wore badly cut white collars, immaculately laundered, and gave the matter little thought beyond buying new collars when the old ones began to fray. As for her hats, they were much the same the year round; felt in winter, straw in summer, but always a sailor, simply trimmed, and rolling a little on one side—as sailors have been known to do.

There was, of course, a very good reason for frugality. Linda, as a stenographer in the large and uninteresting office of the Gas Company, made twelve and a half dollars a week, on which you cannot very well blossom like the rose with impunity. She gave her mother, who was the hostess of the clammy dining-room, four dollars a week for overhead and underfoot expenditure; and four from twelve does not leave Golconda.

Linda, who had been at work since she was eighteen and who was now twenty-four, had managed, by dint of excessive effort, to save in the last three years a little over two hundred dollars. A small bank-book reposed proudly in a drawer with her clean stockings and handkerchiefs and she sometimes thought with righteous defiance of that week-end known as a rainy day.

She was not in love with her work, which was steady routine, with small chance for promotion; but she did it to the best of her ability, being one of that large army who need the money. Her employer had never asked her out to dinner, and she had never had to defend herself from the impertinent advances of any of the men with whom she came in contact. She did not like Irish stew, but she ate it two or three times a week for luncheon because it was sensible and inexpensive. For the same reason, she wore cotton stockings.

To such a personality, what harm could a pear tree do, however crazily in bloom? Nevertheless—

GAMES THAT YOU WILL LIKE

To play "Bachelor's Kitchen" one person must be "It and he acks the others, in turn, what they will contribute to the kitchen. After each one has volunteered something, "It" goes around again asking one person any kind of question, to which the person must answer te name of the article he has promised to contribute. If he laughs or gives any other answer, he must change places with the questioner. The latter may ask as many questions of one person as he wishes, but when he is tired of finds that he cannot catch that person, he may go on to another until he finally gets a victim.

"Blind Man's Singing School" can be played by any number of persons, the one who is blind man being blindfolded, while the others line up before him. At a signal from the blind man, the players sing the scale, each player singing one note in his natural voice or in a squeaky tone. When the blind man thinks that he recognizes a voice, he stops the scale and calls that person's name. If he is right, they exchange places; if wrong, the game goes on as before, the players changing places, if they wish to better conceal themselves.

You must play "Bookbinder" very quickly to make it fun. Each player holds out his clenched fists, the back of the hand up, and on each pair of hands a book is placed. The bookbinder takes up one of the books and raps the owner's knuckles with it. The player must draw back his hands to escape the rap, for if he is struck he must be "bookbinder" Should the bookbinder only pretend to grasp the book, and the player draws back his hands and drops the book he becomes "It" The fun lies in quick playing, the bookbinder pretending to take up one book and as quickly taking up another, thus keeping the players always on the alert to keep from having their knuckles rapped or else from dropping their book.

THE GARDEN AS A SCHOOL

Prof. E. L. Thurston, Superintendent of the Public Schools of Washington, D. C., recently said as to the moral and educational value of the home garden:

"School gardening is a very helpful occupation for those who engage in it. It teaches a child much that books do not teach. It makes clear to him that 'efforts pay.' It makes clear to him the fact that good results come from regularity, and the value, too of application. The home garden requires steady attention, thought and care, but it responds in full measure where these are given. I think the home garden also gives a child a decided insight into the real meaning of much that his geography and history state as facts.

"I believe especially that the home garden should be encouraged at the present time because of our economic situation. Home gardening may well be said to represent a national need. It is one form of that 'national thrift' we are so anxious to develop in our midst. There is no doubt whatever but that the development of the home gardening plan will not only benefit the children directly, but will benefit the community at large in the aid it gives in meeting the high cost of living. We may look on this not only as a home movement, but as a movement to meet a civic and community need. Our citizens and our boys and girls who are to be citizens will be the better members of the community because of their active interest in the garden movement."

GARDEN NOTES

Don't allow a single acre of land that is ready to cultivate to grow up to weeds this summer. You can't afford it and neither can your country.

HONEY—INCREASED PRODUCTION A PATRIOTIC DUTY

To the Public:

There will probably be a shortage of sugar in the United States in the near future, and there will be need for all the honey that can be produced. There is no danger of overproduction as the 1916 crop has disappeared at good prices. Prospects now indicate that there will be no decrease in prices.

It behooves every beekeeper, as a patriotic duty, to do his part by putting his apiary in condition for the biggest production possible. Where colonies have perished during the winter, entrance to such hives should be closed at once to prevent robbing and the possible dissemination of disease. Weak colonies should be combined, materials and supplies should be ready and prepared and every necessary thing be done to be ready for honey flows.

The Department of Agriculture of Ohio through its force of apiary inspectors, is ready to lend beekeepers every assistance possible, and will curtail regular inspection duties in order to give demonstrations, render advice and lend such other assistance within its power. The Federal Bureau's of Crop Estimates will continue to issue reliable honey crop reports and the Bureau of Markets will do everything in its power to assist in the proper distribution of the honey crop.

RED CROSS SELLS OLD LETTERS OF BENJAMIN FRANKLIN

At the Red Cross sale in London recently letters of Benjamin Franklin donated by Emily Carey were sold. The letters were written by Franklin to his friend, Dr. Shipley, bishop of St. Asaph's, and his daughter, Catherine Louisa Shipley, between 1771 and 1779, and deal with the war for independence, Franklin's mission to France, his return to America, and his travels.

Twenty-eight lots were put up together. The bidding started at 400 guineas ($2,100). After a stiff struggle among Lady Wernher, the Maggs brothers and Frank Sabin, the prize was won by Sabin for 650 guineas ($3,412.50.)

WHEN TO PLANT POTATOES

Early planted potatoes have generally yielded the heaviest in tests made at the Ohio Experiment Station, although gardeners say loss will result from plantings made before the weather is fairly well settled and danger of frost past. In the region of northern Ohio the first two weeks of May are considered most suitable. On the experiment station farm at Wooster yields of potatoes have gradually fallen off from seed planted after about the middle of May. In the latitude of southern Ohio tubers may be planted the last week in April.

The Marmon 34 is 1100 pounds lighter than other cars of its class. Yet it rides easier than the heaviest cars. Prove this by an hour's ride over any highway. Sit at the wheel or in the tonneau at 50 miles an hour on a country road and experience the ease and luxury of boulevard driving.

Racing experience paved the way for this car. Like racing cars, the Marmon 34 is light and perfectly balanced.

The Marmon designers secured roadability by distributing weight properly—by securing the proper relation between sprung and unsprung weight.

You tour all day on any highway without fatigue in a Marmon 34—the result of scientific construction.

We're glad to prove these statements now—on any road you may choose.

Tips For Play-Goers

B. F. KEITH'S HIPPODROME.

William Fox, whose $1,000,000 spectacle "A Daughter of the Gods," is the attraction at B. F. Keith's Hippodrome, must have had in mind Cardinal Richelieu's memorable statement as to the word "fail" not being in the lexicon of youth when he undertook the task of producing this enchanting super-picture.

Profligate, it might seem, in his expenditures and met constantly with the opposition of the elements he won success where another would have been drawn down in the maelstrom of failure. Taking over an entire tropical island in the Carribean he built a city and populated it with thousands of persons only to see it devastated by flood, swept away by hurricanes and ravaged by pestilence.

As fast as calamity followed calamity, this dynamic man took up where nature had completed its havoc and started anew, grimly positive that success must come out of what seemed absolute defeat. The reward of his persistence and patience is best evidenced in his present film offering, for at no time in the history of the motion picture industry has there ever approached anything so stupenduous or so surprisingly artistic as "A Daughter of the Gods."

Supremely perfect in its detail, with a story that both entrances and staggers, this production eclipses anything that has ever before been attempted and bids fair to remain for time to come as a monument to the name of Fox and as a period from which will be computed anything that aims toward the beautifully superlative in filmed stories.

LIBERTY THEATRE

A bargain program is scheduled for the Liberty theatre for the entire week of May 7. In addition to a superb array of vaudeville offerings, the patrons of this theatre will have the privilege of witnessing a first class five-reel photoplay production, making in reality two shows in one. The added attraction in the way of a photoplay is Clara Kimball Young, the most wonderful moving picture actress that is dear to the hearts of many, in one of her latest successes entitled "The Easiest Way." It is a five reel production and a masterpiece. A song and dance revue entitled "The Betting Bettys", containing a cast of 12 people is the headline attraction on the program of vaudeville. Craig and Wade have an unusually witty program of comedy talk. The Karuzas offer a novelty attraction in the way of shadowgraphy. Violinio, as his name implies, is very adept in the art of playing a violin. His program is extensive and covers a wide range of classical and popular ballads. The photoplay featuring Miss Young will commence with the Sunday matinee, May 6, while the vaudeville offerings will have their opening on Monday evening following.

PROSPECT THEATER

Wm. H. Kibble's production of "Uncle Tom's Cabin will be the attraction at the Prospect all next week with matinees on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Mr. Kibble has successfully solved the problem of combining the old and the new "Uncle Hom's Cabin" into a big, spectacular play that leaves out nothing worth retaining of either the straight method or the circus method. All worthy features of the old landmarks are retained, while the thread of the story has been cleverly reconstructed making it more coherent; this with the introduction of a host of high-class specialties throughly in keeping with the piece, goes far toward forming an evening's entertainment.

STAR THEATER

"Fred Irwin's Big Show" is the Star's attraction for next week and Fred Irwin's shows have been favorites for many years. Emmet Guilfoyle is the featured comedian, and his performance, half clown and half nut, is brand new.

PASSING OF MRS JANE HARRISON GROVER

Written for the Republican by Mrs. Mary Grover.

Twice during the past month the "angel of death" has entered the Grover family. The first to be called was Mrs. J. N. Grover at Stop 30. The second time Mrs. Jane Grover Harrison listened to the call "child come home," and Saturday evening last her earthly life was ended.

Aunt Jane, as we all called her since the death of her husband about 6 years ago has lived with her daughter, Anna Davis, who has tenderly and lovingly cared for her mother and our hearts go out in sympathy to this sorrowing daughter.

Mrs. Harrison had she lived until October, would have been 75 years old.

Besides the daughter she leaves a son, Alfred Harrison, and one sister, Mrs. Fannie Brain, three brothers, H. C., S. N. and J. N. Groves, and a host of other relatives and friends to mourn the loss of one we all loved.

Owing to illness the son and brother were unable to attend the funeral, which was held on Tuesday at the home of the daughter at Stop 29 and was in charge of Undertaker Davis. Rev. Floyd H. Randall, her pastor, spoke feelingly of her life and influence in the community. Mrs. Tanner and Mrs. Chapman sang two selections, "God Will Take Care of You" and "My Father Knows."

Many beautiful floral pieces were silent witnesses of the respect and admiration for our dear Aunt Jane.

The bearers were nephews, Cliff and Clyde Grover, Will and Harry Grover, David and George Brain.

Interment was in the Willoughby Ridge cemetery beside her husband and daughter Nettie, who died many years ago, at the age of 16.

"Rest for the toiling hand,
Rest for the anxious brow,
Rest for the weary way-worn feet,
Rest from all labor now."

Mrs. James McNeill and Mrs. Joseph Neill spent a day in Collinwood last week.

Wyatt, deceased; ———Penty, the unknown wife or widow of Robert Penty; ——— Coates, the unknown wife or widow of Lewis Coates, all of whose residences are unknown, and the names of the unknown heirs, devisees and legal representatives being unknown, will take notice that John Kaminski and Josie Kaminski, as Plaintiffs, filed a petition against them as Defendants in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, alleging that they are the owners in fee simple and in the actual possession of the following described real estate, to-wit:

Situated in the township of Brecksville, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio, and known as being a part of Original Brecksville Township Lot Number Twenty-four (24) and bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a point in the center line of the Diagonal Road at the northwesterly corner of a parcel of land conveyed by James H. Coates and others to Henry T. Barr by Warranty Deed dated April 24, 1877, and recorded in Volume 279, page 446 of Cuyahoga County Records; thence easterly along the northerly line of land conveyed to the said Barr, as aforesaid, about 9.10 chains to the Northeast corner of said Barr's land; thence southerly along the easterly line of said Barr's land about 7.32 chains to the center of the Diagonal Road; thence northwesterly along the center of the Diagonal Road to the place of beginning and containing 3.96 acres of land, more or less but subject to all legal highways

The petition alleges that the defendants above named claim some interest or estate in said premises, hostile and adverse to Plaintiff's rights, which constitute a cloud on Plaintiffs' title, for the reason that the Records of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, fail to disclose any conveyance of said premises from the said Ezra Wyatt who was the owner of said premises prior to March 29, 1854, and for the reason that the Probate Court Records do not disclose any last will and testament of Ezra Wyatt, nor administration of his estate; for the reason that in a deed from one Robert Penty to Henry T. Barr, dated December 10, 1867, no wife joins or releases dower in said premises nor was any statement made therein that the Grantor was single; and for the reason that in a deed from one Lewis Coates and others to Henry T. Barr, dated April 24, 1877, no wife joins or releases dower in said premises, nor was any statement made therein that the Grantor was single.

The petition further alleges that said defendants have no interest in said premises, that no one of them, or any one claiming through or under them or any of them, has ever sought to enforce or recover by any action at law or otherwise, any right, title or interest in and to said premises, or any part thereof, and that these Plaintiffs and their predecessors in title have for more than 21 years last past had and been in the actual, open, notorious, continuous, uninterrupted and adverse possession of said premises against all the world.

The prayer of said petition is that said defendants be required to answer all and singular the matters and things relative to any claim, estate or interest, which they or any of them have in said premises, that upon final hearing of this cause Plaintiffs' title in said premises be quieted as to said defendants, that said defendants and each of them and all persons claiming through or under them be forever barred from setting up or asserting any claim, estate or interest in said premises or any part thereof, and for relief.

Said petition is No. 155361, and the above named defendants are required to answer the same on or before the 19th day of May, A. D. 1917.

JOSIE KAMINSKI.

Jewel Carmen will again appear opposite Mr. Farnum. She gives her usual capable performance. The rest of the supporting cast is well up to the standard.

A Regular $22.50 Value.

Three dainty little daisies in a cluster make up the central characteristic feature of this decoration. The flowers with their leaves distributed at regular intervals between two parallel gold lines. The plainness of the shape of the pieces and the daintiness of the decoration make this a very pleasing and unusual pattern. For hand painted china the price is certainly very attractive.

BETTER BABIES—BETTER CLEVELAND!

Do you know that 18,284 babies were born in Cleveland last year? And do you realize that 2,034 of them are dead right now?

Forty per cent of them died before they were one month old.

To prevent these deaths, to give baby a chance, this week is being devoted to a study of baby—of baby problems.

It is called National Better Baby Week.

The Federation of Women's Clubs and the Children's Hygiene Bureau are sponsoring the movement in Cleveland.

Before the bureau was organized death claimed 150 out of every 1,000 babies born in Cleveland. Last year the death rate was reduced to 107 out of every 1,000 babies born.

Briefly—the bureau last year saved 774 babies. Our highest duty this week is to aid and support the Federation of Women's Clubs and the Cleveland Child Hygiene Bureau.

Let's do our duty!

Gas service, as much as any other element has helped Cleveland mothers raise Better Babies—Healthier Babies.

We, in Cleveland, are happy that Gas Service permits better air for baby's lungs.

Several card clubs have raised money and contributed directly to the treasurer. Mr. Tieche of Willoughby is organizing a band to be known as the "Lake County Red Cross Band" and is composed of musicians throughout the county. He proposes to give a series of concerts in each town and donate the proceeds to the society, as mentioned in another column.

The teaches and scholars of Lake County have been very gracious in their help to the financial committee in the distribution of 3600 of the Red Cross dollar contribution cards, which it is hoped will be liberally used by the recipients. Each person receiving one of these cards is asked to give one dollar and hand the duplicate remittance blanks to a friend who will also contribute.

The western part of the county has responded very liberally and it is hoped that the eastern part of the county will not be slow in recognizing the opportunity of quick remittance. An equal number of circulars will be sent through the mails to direct addresses and if any duplication arises, which no doubt will, the person receiving two circulars will kindly pass one to some nieghbor who has not had the opportunity of contributing.

The membership in every town is rapidly growing and the women are constantly asking for more material.

It is urged therefore, by the committee to make your contributions promptly to Mrs. Louise B. Pease, treasurer, the Lake County Red Cross Society, Painesville, Ohio.

A LETTER FROM DR. LOWE

Eustis, Florida, April 30th, 1917.
Dear Editor of Willoughby Republican.

On receipt of this, please change my address for your interesting and advancing journal from Eustis, Florida to Mentor, Ohio.

We will start northward on Tuesday morning, May 1st, with a short stop over at Washington, D. C., and Pittsburgh, Pa.

The inclosed clipping accounts for me not finding time to occasionally send you a few lines for your readers as promised. I now expect to be in a position next winter to comply with your request.

There are so many attractive features in this place that should appeal to those who are past the hard working years of life, and are interested in preserving health, and enjoying the last end of the race. There are upwards of 50 of Lake county people who are awake to the wisdom of coming to Eustis, Fla., for self preservation, and the enjoyment of that which they have gathered up themselves, rather than to leave it for others to quarrel over, and perhaps work a detriment to them.

Trusting that we may be of some little value to the home community at Mentor, and possibly our country, during the coming summer, I am

Yours patriotically,
J. W. LOWE, M. D.

AUTOMOBILE GYPSIES RELIEVE MAN OF TEN DOLLARS

Gypsies passing through Mentor at 4:15 Tuesday relieved Wilbur E. Williams of $10. Sheriff Phelps of Painesville was called and he advised getting in touch with Constable Moloney at Willoughby. Mr. Moloney arrested and detained the gypsies in front of the library. They were detained until Mr. Williams arrived and picked out Marguerite Poolish as the one who secured the money. She smoked a very large pipe in a nonchalant manner while she was being arraigned. The warrant was issued by Justice of the Peace Sherman, who assessed a fine of $5 and costs. The $10 was returned to Mr. Williams.

WICKLIFFE, WILLOUGHBY AND OTHER POINTS REPRESENTED AT MEETING

Several committees were appointed at a meeting in Painesville Monday night of the Lake County Patriotic Federation. Nine were appointed upon a committee to raise $2,500 for the Y. M. C. A. welfare work in the army training camps. J. Edw. Weit of Willoughby related many of the interesting facts told by John R. Mott at the recent meeting in Cleveland. Mr Robbins of the Cleveland Crane & Car Co., member of the 10th Ohio, in the last affair with Spain, corroborated the need of Y. M. C. A. work in the training camps. He and J. Edw. Weit of Willoughby were included upon the committee.

Elimination of waste was presented by Miss Scranton of the Suffrage League. This was referred to a committee composed of W. J. Carmichael, R. M. Ostrander and Miss Scranton. The needs of the farmers for seed and space was reported, and a carload of potatoes for seed will be procured and sold at lowest figure to applicants. In Mantua they have been offered at $2.75. Farmers are requested to write in their requirements. S. D. Shankland, Mayor Carmichael, J. Edw. Weit, Mrs. Viall, Ethel D. Bryant and others were present from Willoughby. It is likely that recruits from Lake county will go to Fort Thomas, and there is much need of physical welfare work at that point now, according to report of Ralph Donnan. Recreation, physical training and general welfore in the training camps is the object aimed at, and greatly needed.

BOYS TAKE STOCK JUDGING TRIP—DR. RUSSELL'S FARM AT KIRTLAND RECEIVES FAVORABLE COMMENT

Accompanied by H. S. Twing, of the Ohio State University, the boys of the W. H. The University allows three free trips to Lake county during farmers week. The work is conducted under the county Y. M. C. A.

In Kirtland all the Kirtland boys and girls visited the farm of Dr. Russell. One of the finest herds of Guernseys in Lake county is possessed by the doctor and this sterling resident of Kirtland came in for special comment by Mr. Twing account of the fineness of his herd and farm in general.

T. B. Morley's farm in Mentor was to be visited Tuesday. Old Orchard farm Wednesday, while Thursday and Friday were to be devoted to Madison, North Madison and Perry, visiting the Hull boys at the latter point.

THE WILLOUGHBY DRILL CORPS FOR CIVILIANS FORMED

A group of prominent Willoughby business men, headed by Mayor Carmichael, have been busy the past week in getting a group of citizens interested in military service.

The object of forming a company here is to enable those interested in military drill to get the fundamentals of company manouvers. The idea of this company is to give the citizen who has never had any drill, both theory and practice.

WAITE HILL CALLS ON THE AUDTIOR

The writer and family were Painesville visitors Friday a week ago and called on the Auditor with that "pesky" tax bill after we'd "racked" our brains on it the evening before and supposed we'd got it all right, but found it was all wrong, so of course we had another "spell" at it. Now I for one don't like this new tax law, taking so much of our time when we should be planting garden "sass." As all the papers are telling us farmers we must "wake up and get busy" now how do you think we like that kind of talk? When we hardly take time to sleep at all during the busy season, which is 12 straight months out of every year. When one is doing all they can possibly do and a good deal more than they ought to do, then to be told to wake up and get busy, it kind of gets us right in the neck.

ARREST IN WICKLIFFE

Constable Moloney arrested Felix Celmer in Wickliffe Monday charged with shooting with intent to kill. The warrant was issued by Justice of the Peace C. H. Miller. The hearing is set for Monday, the 14th.

GRAPHIC STORY OF WAR EXPERIENCE TOLD BY BARONESS HUARD

The pictures shown by Baroness Huard in connection with her talk in Willoughby Wednesday night were interesting, but the story she told was so graphic, the word pictures so clear, that the impression from the word pictures stand out even more clearly than that of the camera. The Baroness took the listeners from a bridge party previous to declaration of war to a hospital now operated by her in a chateau in France.

From one wounded soldier succored by her to the bodies of forty thousand that were burned, from lack of any other method of disposing of the dead forms.

She took them through her own beautiful chateau while it was inhabited with servants and joyous guests. She told of her departure with one 21 year old horse who did valiant duty, a bicycle, nurse and a few others. She showed the return to the chateau after it had been occupied by German generals for nine days, depredated beyond belief—original pictures representing 20 years' work by the Baron and ready for public exhibit, removed from their frames; tapestries and works of art removed or destroyed. She told of taking care of 120 typhoid cases in her home on an allowance of 36c per day—and coal at $38 per ton—a graphic story simply and conversationally told—with the dramatic ability of Francis Wilson, father of the Baroness. Original sketches by the Baron were offered for sale at the close, funds to be used for the Baroness' hospital in France. Many took advantage of the opportunity to contribute, and the Baroness graciously autographed the pictures when desired.

If reason and common sense constantly enquire WHY to the death, desolation and destruction portrayed, the need of the alleviation of the suffering by the hospital and the Red Cross becomes all the more apparent.

Florence Wasson opened the program, singing with her usual charm. Mr. Wilson expressed appreciation of the privilege accorded by the Baroness of hearing her here, in his introductory remarks, and his pleasure in presenting her to a Willoughby audience. The Baroness seemed most pleased and happy at her reception.

A word of thanks is surely due Mr. Wilson for his efforts in having Baroness Huard appear in Willoughby.

BARONESS ENTERTAINED AT DINNER PARTY

Twelve covers were laid for a dinner party Wednesday night when Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Wilson entertained the Baroness Huard. In addition to Willoughby guests, there were included Mr. and Mrs. Raddatz and E. H. Roberts. Mr. Raddatz is president of the Cleveland Advertising Club, while E. H. Roberts is the secretary.

Correcting a False Impression

In contradiction of the argument that footwear has advanced fabulously in price, we will ask that you take note of the prices quoted below. Also the explanation of why it is possible for us to maintain these schedules.

BASEMENT STORE

Women's high and low models	$2.50 to $5.50	Men's boots and oxfords	$2.50, $3, $3.50

Women's boots, according to certain reports, are only to be had at most extravagant prices. As will be noted our highest price for women's boots is $15 and these are made by Laird and Schober and Wright and Peters, whose names alone insure the purchaser of none but the highest grade procurable at any price.

The leather from which the great bulk of our shoes were made was contracted for and became our property when the market was normal, which explains our ability to Guarantee a Saving of from $1 to $3 on every pair of staple footwear and even up to $5 on women's novelty boots.

Never in the long history of our store has our assortment been as far-reaching and varied as now. We invite inspection of these displays and the opportunity of demonstrating that an extravagant expenditure for footwear is NOT necessary.

A Safe, Sound Investment

The wise investor—the man who makes his money make more money, is never blinded by a promiase of tremendous profits. He looks beyond the investment itself to the men who are back of it, and carefully analyzes the market for the product to be sold and finds out for himself, just as you would do, exactly how good the investment is before he buys. By doing this he eliminates any chance of speculation.

No Speculation In This

Here is, without doubt, a golden opportunity. Speculation does not enter into it; the class of business men who are buying this stock, prove beyond question of a doubt that it is a good investment. Investigate it from every angle. Go into detail; find out for yourself.

Men's Clothing a Necessity

No matter how "hard" or how good the times may be—men must wear clothes. Therefore in placing your money with a corporation such as Bond's, you are bound to receive most satisfactory returns, year in and year out. And in this particular case, the dividends should increase constantly by reason of the fact that the institution is growing and expanding all the time.

Bond's Method of Merchandising Means Money for the Investor

Briefly, the plan is this: A modern, well equipped and economically operated New York Clothing factory, owned by the Bond organization, makes the clothing that is sold direct to the wearer through Bond's outlet stores. It is a combination of the chain-store plan and the producer to consumer idea—both moneymakers, as is evidenced by the fact that the most famous and dependable brands of shoes, hats, cigars, household articles, etc., are today being sold through chain stores, the profits of which run into millions each year.

History and Growth of the Bond Clothing Company

From a small beginning about 18 months ago, Bond's has grown to be a powerful factor in the clothing business, with a New York clothing factory and five very busy outlet stores in good live cities—Cleveland, Detroit, Toledo, Akron and Pittsburgh.

Bond's Clothes are popular priced garments, the price to the wearer being $15. Because they are of exceptional quality, every store opened thus far has proved a wonderful success.

At the present rates of business being done in the five stores now open, it is estimated that a gross business of $2,000,000 will be the result at the end of the next 12 months.

With every facility for the making and selling of men's clothing, with experts at the head of each department, and with a capital back of them that makes cash buying possible, Bond's factory and chain of stores will soon be, without doubt the greatest organization of its kind in the world.

Invest in Bond's Factory and Chain of Stores

In order to quickly acquire sufficient capital to open more outlet stores in several cities immediately, $500,000 of 7% cumulative preferred stock will be sold at par—$100 per share. To investors who act at once a bonus of common stock, par value $25 per share will be given. The preferred stock yields 7%—and the common stock—which you in reality, get for nothing, will, according to present indications, bring your investment up to a phenomenally profitable basis.

Patrick Tailoring Company

HERE'S WHERE THE BETTER GRADE OF CLOTHING IS SOLD

Better clothing for less money is the slogan of the Patrick Tailoring Co., 312-13 Park building, Cleveland. Concerning the company's plan, Guy Patrick, manager, said:

"We are going to sell suits, overcoats, raincoats and extra trousers at cost.

"We issue a membership certificate for $5.00 and in return we make your suits, overcoats, raincoats and extra trousers at cost for one year, or in reality three buying seasons. We do not care how many suits, overcoats, raincoats and extra pair of trousers you have made. Never in your life have you bought clothing so cheap in price and receiving the best there is in high class tailoring. We are strictly high class tailors and compare with the best. Every garment is guaranteed to fit you perfectly. [illegible] it. A question we want to ask you Mr. Buyer: What profit do you think you pay on any suit or overcoat you buy regularly at retail price? You buy a regular $30.00 suit or overcoat during clearance sales for $22.50, do you not? The difference is $7.50. You know they make $7.50. Do you think that when you buy at $22.50 you are buying at cost? Think this over. For a $5.00 bill you can buy any number of suits, overcoats, raincoats or extra pair trousers at wholesale prices for one year, or rather three buying seasons.

"Think this over and make us prove it. It's the volume we are after and we are going to get it at these prices with high class tailoring back of it. This is not a theory. It has been tried and found to be absolutely practical. It is volume and low expenses that enables us to do it. All our salesrooms will be above the ground floor. We can convince any man we are the cheapest merchants in the United States in price, and no man or men makes them better.

"Salesrooms being established in all principal cities, with Cleveland as our headquarters. Under our plan you can buy $17.50 and $20.00 suits and overcoats for $11.00 and $12.50.

"You can buy $22.50 and $25.00 suits and overcoats for $14.50 to $17.

"You can buy $30 and $35 suits and overcoats for $19.50 to $23.50.

"You can buy $40 and $45 suits and overcoats for $26 to $30.

"You can buy $60 and $65 suits and overcoats for $40 to $45.

"We also make palm beach, linen and silk suits for hot weather. Every garment guaranteed to fit perfectly and not to shrink. Our prices in hot weather suitings range from $8 to $22.50 wholesale. Can make them cheaper but don't think it advisable. Suits that retail from $14.50 to $35.

"Our raincoats we make from $4 to $14.50 wholesale. Coats that retail from $8.50 to $25. We make full dress suits from $17 to $45. Suits that retail from $25 to $75. We always show 2,000 patterns from which to choose your suit or overcoat.

GOOD AND CLEVER

If all the good people were clever,
And all clever people were good,
The world would be nicer than ever
We thought that it possibly could.

But somehow, 'tis seldom or never
The two hit it off as they should;
The good are so harsh to the clever,
The clever so rude to the good!

So, friends, let it be our endeavor
To make each by each understood,
For few can be good like the clever,
Or clever, so well as the good!
—Elizabeth Wadsworth in Christian Science Monitor.

AN EDITOR'S LIFE IN THE COUNTRY

Gets Up at 5 a. m., Writes His Paper, Sets the Type, Prints It and Attends to Circulation and Advertising.

Persons who are prone to criticize publishers of some of the small town weeklies for their failure to promptly comply with every business detail that experience has shown to be important in the conduct of a successful enterprise are likely to be more considerate in their views when they learn of the busy lives led by some of the men who conduct newspapers in rural communities. Such a man, for example, is C. J. Stockwell, publisher of the Times of Genoa, Neb. Stockwell gets up every morning to begin his day's work at 5 o'clock. His day of labor ends "when the work is done," sometimes well into the night.

"What wonderful changes have taken place since I entered a printing office as 'devil' 47 years ago!" said Stockwell last week. "At that time nearly every country editor was a printer whohad served his time and had been graduated as a 'jour,' as they were called, a term which in later years was changed to 'tramp.'

"The wages paid an apprentice 47 years ago were $40 and board the first year, with a small increase the second and third years.

"When I look back at the work I was compelled to do in my apprentice days I realize it was a schooling which fitted me for the hard knocks I have since experienced on country papers. The old time all around printer is rapidly passing away. The printer of today is a specialist in some particular branch of the business. He has not knowledge or experience to fill every place in a country office.

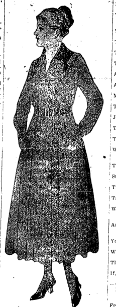
"The man who owns and runs a country paper today in a small town must be a worker and understand the printing trade if he is to succeed. When I was a 'jour' I always aimed to earn more than the wages I received, and I feel justly proud that I was never 'fired' from a job for incompetency or because I did not earn my wages.

"Fifteen years ago I established the paper I now own, and, with the exception of the first month in business, I have conducted my printery without help, with the exception of press days, when a boy assists in running off the paper on a hand press.

"I write all the local and editorial matter, compose the type, do all the jobwork and attend to circulation and advertising. It was driving business at first, but constant application has made it seem easy, and now, at 62, when many men of my age have passed the period of usefulness in a printing office I feel I am good for several years more of work in the harness.

"The average country editor who has been successful owes his success to ceaseless toil, to his plodding qualities. No man in the community more than the editor of a country paper, sacrifices more for the good of the town. His work, like that of the minister, goes before the public for approval once every week. But editors know that when 'thirty' comes and they lay down the stick and rule in the majority of cases the verdict is that something has gone out of the community that was its friend and to whom the people looked for guidance and advice."—American Press.

PRACTICAL SPRING FROCK



Just a bit of daintiness that is wearable, is what one might say of this frock of printed foulard and cashmere. The foulard Russian blouse is held in with a belt of the skirt material and the large collar is of cashmere stitched with narrow braid. Under the blouse is worn a guimpe of soft batiste shirred around the neck. Several rows of soutache ornament the skirt about the straight lower edge. Medium size calls for 4 3-4 yards 40-inch foulard and 3 1-4 yards 44-inch cashmere.

Pictorial Review Guimpe No. 6590. Sizes 32 to 44 inches bust. Price 15 cents. Jumper No. 7007. Sizes small, medium and large. Price 15 cents. Skirt No. 6180. Sizes 14 to 20 years. Price 15 cents.

"Ramona," the novel by Helen Jackson, recently put out as a moving picture, has had the greatest circulation of any book excepting the bibles of the various religions. It was first published about 34 years ago and 3,800,000 copies have been sold.

URGENT APPEAL FARMERS

Fellow Citizens:

In view of the fact that the United States it at present a participant in a world war it is necessary for us to consider the food question. It is not sufficient that the people of Ohio or Lake county are able to feed themselves. It is a question of whether the food produced in the whole world is sufficient to feed the entire people of the world. The men now fighting in the trenches do not want bullets, they want bread. It is no longer a war of men and munitions but a war of food supply.

In order that you may know something of the actual conditions we wish to call your attention to the yields in Ohio in 1915 as compared with 1916.

Corn	165,000,000	82,900,000
Wheat	40,000,000	18,000,000
Oats	69,000,000	42,000,000
Potatoes	12,500,000	3,540,000
Barley	930,000	880,000
Rye	1,750,000	1,000,000

On the blank you received the 1916 report on corn reads 52,500,000. This should read 82,900,000.

VALUE OF A LIBRARY

A library is the strengthener of all that is great in life, and the repeller of what is petty and mean; half of the gossip of society would perish if the books that are truly worth reading were but read.—George Dawson.

The administrative board of the very anxious to help you all it can. The special food agent appointed for this county is working under the direction of this board. The county food commissioner and this board urge that every farmer in the county plant every available piece of ground he has. The food agent advises the planting of corn, potatoes and beans.

If the war should end in 30 days, the price of food stuff will not go down. Germany will be a greater purchaser than before as her land is run down. This also true of the whole of Europe. The crop raising land will not raise as much after the war as before. We will receive high prices for some time after the war.

The Patriotic Federation desires to co-operate with every farmer in the county. We want to know your needs regarding help, seeds, also your plans regarding greater production this year. We want you to plant. We will help with the harvest if needed. If for any reason you have not received a record blank from your township deputy kindly get in touch with him at once. His name appears in this paper. Trusting you realize that not only the welfare of the nation but the world is depending on you, and that you will make a great effort to produce more than ever before, we are,

ALL BECAUSE THE PEAR TREE BLOOMED

A Delightful Spring Story From "Every Week"

By Fannie Heaslip Lea

Linda thought of it all the way downtown. It came between her and her carbon copies like the wraith of some lonely lady. She perceived its fragrance and felt again the ache of of its vernal beauty with every hour told off by the office clock. She was abstracted, and was twice called sharply to time by the head of the Information Department. At noon, before going to lunch, she went reluctantly, in the grip of some amazing impulse, to the bank and drew out ten dollars of her cherished reserve fund.

She made up her mind to buy a hat. I have tried to laugh at her, but I can't. Can you?

As the long, bright afternoon wore itself away, with the machines merrily clicking, the telephone ringing sweetly, and all the other happy noises of a large office going gaily on about her, Linda's cheeks grew nervously flushed and her eyes bright.

It was not her time to buy a hat. She always bought a straw in April, a felt in November. Also she commonly paid five for the one, four for the other. Nevertheless—

She asked to be allowed to leave the office early, an unheard-of request from Linda, and therefore more easily granted. Once down the stairs she went swift as a homing pigeon to a little hat-shop on Canal Street.

It was a little late and the day had been dull; so the large, deep-bosomed lady who waited on Linda showed no amazing interest.

"Something dark," she observed, regarding with a practiced eye the hat that Linda wore. "Something in a sailor, dearie? Kinder simple?"

Linda looked about her. From every shelf flamed roses, lilacs, orchids, lengths of gold and silver ribbon, folds of jewel-colored velvet. Mirrors gave back rainbows of tulle, cascades of metallic lace. Dusk was on the little shop, and the mystery of adventure.

The heart in Linda's breast beat heavily.

"No—" she said at length; not a sailor; something more like—with flowers—"

The large lady looked again, a trifle more keenly. She placed a ringed hand on her flesh-colored Georgette crepe bosom, and heaved a sympathetic sigh.

"I know,' she said, "I know dearie, just what you want. Sit right down before this mirror—take off your hat. I'll bring it over; I go the very thing—something on the spring idea—eh?"

She went and returned, bearing on her hand a small hat of rough green straw with a narrow band of silvery-looking ribbon about the crown, and a small posy, of all the demurest flowers that grow, perched quaintly at one side.

"Now will you tell me," demanded the large lady, settling the hat firmly down upon Linda's soft, brown hair "is that too sweet—or is it not?"

It was, of course. Beneath that gray-green straw, Linda's eyes turned pools of wistfulness; her clear, pale skin grew softer, her lips warmer, her smile younger. You know what a new hat can do for fainting feminine spirits.

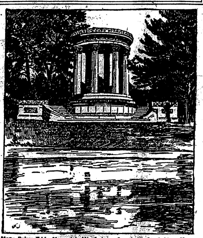
Unique Memorial Completed



Mary Baker Eddy Memorial, Mt. Auburn Cemetery, Cambridge, Mass.

The beautiful memorial to Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, has been turned over to The Christian Science Board of Directors by Elbert S. Barlow of New York City who held the contract for its construction.

The memorial, which is at Mt. Auburn cemetery, Cambridge, Mass., has required over a year and a half to complete. The fund for its construction, amounting to over $150,000, was first announced by the directors in June, 1911, and was some time ago fully subscribed. These contributions have been made as expressions of sentiment by Christian Scientists throughout the world.

The site on which the memorial is located is not only one of great natural beauty, but on account of its grade has rendered possible a more picturesque and interesting treatment architecturally than would be possible on a perfect level lot. The plot, which is approximately 80 feet square, slopes gradually from the level of the roadway to the lake with a drop of about ten feet. The memorial consists of a circular open colonnade of eight columns, [illegible] to a lower platform at the lake's edge. The scheme has no prototype and is merely a screen of columns open to the sky, inclosing a flower-grown circle.

The material used for the memorial is Bethel white granite, the inscription in the frieze and upon the top of the pylons being of white bronze set deep into the stone work. The detail, which on account of the size of the reproduction is only indicated, is entirely floral in form and free in treatment, the wild rose and the morning-glory being used as the main motives. It is interesting architecturally, to note that while it is extremely free in treatment and not at all conventional, it is generally very classic in feeling. The extreme width of the memorial is about fifty feet, and the colonnade is eighteen feet in diameter. The columns themselves are fifteen feet in height and are similar in general character to those in the Clepsydra of Andronicus of Cyrrhus. The large pylons were exhibited at the American Institute of Architecture in New York a short time ago and experts pronounced them the finest pieces of carved granite ever executed.

The architect is Egerton Swartwout of New York City who designed the [illegible]

INTEREST AND CO-OPERATIVE SPIRIT SHOWN IN LETTER FROM W. E. WALL

We are in receipt of the following letter from W. E. Wall, of the Fred G. Clark Co., Cleveland. Mr. Wall has recently purchased the McAlister property at Stop 51. We believe that merchants and consumers alike will find points of interest, and a co-operative spirit in this communication. Courtesy, stocks and deference to the desires of a customer are all factors in TRADE EXTENSION THAT MAY BEGIN INSIDE THE STORE.

April 23, 1917.

The Willoughby Republican
Willoughby, Ohio.
Gentlemen:

It is with pleasure that I acknowledge your enterprise and kindness in sending to me several copies of your valued paper, which I have read with much satisfaction, and I trust the good people of Willoughby and the surrounding country appreciate the great asset which they have in such a publication because it certainly deserves their full support and encouragement. I have already given you my subscription.

I am pleased to learn that the merchants of Willoughby have a Chamber of Commerce, and if they are sincere and willing to join hands with one another, much can be accomplished, and there is no time better to start in at it than the present. The question is: How active are its members? And, has all its members studied the importance of unionizing of things which should be done and ORGANIZING SO THAT THEY MAY BE ACCOMPLISHED?

A general survey should be made by the Chamber as to Willoughby's relative position and what might reasonably be expected in the future, if the proper energy is put forth by its citizens. I FEEL THAT THERE ARE FEW PLACES ON THE MAP THAT HAVE A BRIGHTER OUTLOOK THAN WILLOUGHBY AND THE ADJOINING TERRITORY AS A PLACE FOR SUBURBAN HOMES, AND THE CITIZENS OF WILLOUGHBY SHOULD DO EVERYTHING IN THEIR POWER TO CATER TO THE BUSINESS WHICH THEY SHOULD NATURALLY BRING.

THEY SHOULD NOT OVERLOOK THE FACT THAT PEOPLE ARE COMING INTO THEIR MIDST WHO HAVE BEEN ACCUSTOMED TO KEEN COMPETITION, WHERE EVERY COURTESY POSSIBLE HAS BEEN SHOWN THEM. IT SHOULD BE THEIR AIM TO GET EVERY DOLLAR'S WORTH OF THEIR BUSINESS AND NOT HAVE THEM BUYING THEIR EVERY DAY SUPPLIES IN CLEVELAND

WILLOUGHBY HAS AN EXCELLENT MEDIUM, THROUGH THE WILLOUGHBY REPUBLICAN AND THE CHAMBER, TO LET THE PUBLIC KNOW WHAT THEY HAVE TO OFFER, NOT ONLY WITH FARMS, PRODUCTS, BUT IN THE WAY OF HOMES, BUILDING LOTS, ETC., AND THE EXCELLENT RAILROAD FACILITIES FOR REACHING THE SAME.

The Chamber of Commerce too can do much to encourage the citizens and merchants of Willoughby to make their homes attractive, their streets and stores clean and inviting. The merchants should always keep the proper stock of merchandise and at the proper prices. I have been told, but I have not as yet had the opportunity to verify this, that one can buy groceries, meats and many articles of daily use cheaper in Cleveland than in Willoughby. This should not be. The merchant should get out of the idea that these people who come out there for the summer are wealthy people and they only buy from them when they have to, and, therefore, they will charge them all kinds of prices. This is wrong. THERE IS NOTHING THAT WILL BUILD UP OR RUN DOWN A TOWN QUICKER THAN THE GOOD WILL OR THE ILL FEELING OF THE PEOPLE THAT COME INTO YOUR MIDST.

The merchants should place themselves in a position WHERE EVERYBODY PLUGS FOR WILLOUGHBY, and when a family moves, say from Cleveland to Willoughby, it can be truthfully said "WE BUY ALL OUR STUFF IN WILLOUGHBY BECAUSE WE CAN DO BETTER." THERE ARE CARLOADS OF PRODUCE GOING FROM CLEVELAND TO WILLOUGHBY EVERY DAY, WHICH THE MERCHANTS OF WILLOUGHBY OUGHT TO SELL. THIS IS A MATTER FOR THE CHAMBER TO LOOK INTO.

Yours Sincerely,
WILLIAM E. WALL

Rain, rain, all we are getting these days is rain and mud. The roads are fearfully bad in some places, so that our mail carrier hasn't used his auto for several days. There is one terribly bad place near here. It's at the foot of the hill leading to K. flats. The supervisor came about two weeks ago and fixed it all in good shape, but every time it rains the teamsters just cut it all out again with their heavy loads.

Lots of fields of oats around here that were sown three weeks ago are not up yet, and people are fearful that they will never sprout under present conditions with such cold weather and so much rain, and we don't get our gardens planted much yet, as what we have planted are keeping their heads under ground.

We didn't count them, but should judge there were over 100 and a pretty sight they make, too, but they always look prettier to us when they get past without tramping on our garden or wheat field, but they went along all right this spring.

CO-OPERATION INVITED TO MAKE BANNER YEAR FOR WILLOUGHBY PLAY GROUND

Every one who has the interest of the Willoughby boys and girls, as well as the interest of the boys and girls of older growth, at heart, and we believe this excludes no one, are sincerely invited to co-operate with the officers and teachers, and make this a splendid year for the playground.

POEM DELIVERED IN HONOR OF MRS. NETTIE HILL

By Mrs. Sherman

Love's light illumines the pathway ye trod,
Comrade of yesterday, now saint of God.
Gracious and great was your soul in its stay,
Greatest of all in its going away,
Blessing the world, that you loved and you left,
Soothing the hearts that your going bereft.
Death did not daunt and you feared not your fate,
Sweet were your words, we must love, trust and wait.
Faith that makes faithful—truth that makes true,
Hallow our hearth from the heights gained by you.
Happy white ribboner, home-like is Heaven.
God gird—guide us thro help you have given.
Sisterly spirit of sweetness and might,
We wear the symbol, in ribbon of white.
"Christ and His Kingdom," our watchword shall stand
Till banners of peace shall enfold every land.
Born into beauty and born into bloom
Victor immortal, o'er terror and tomb,
Fast fall our footsteps, we follow from far,
Love's light leads heavenward, from gates left ajar.

DR. AND MRS. LOWE OF MENTOR, BUILD NEW HOME IN EUSTIS

The local paper at Eustis, Florida, contains the following interesting article in regard to the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Lowe at that point:

Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Lowe, of Mentor, Ohio, who made their first visit to Eustis, Florida, seven years ago, and at that time purchased an improved building lot on Lemon avenue, near the Velvet Way, have each winter since been here observing and studying climatic conditions conducive to health and longevity, together with the needs and advantages of a suitable home in the sunny south, and have been engaged this past winter season in the building of a Eustis home. They are directing the erection of a two-story residence of a Colonial type entirely different from anything heretofore constructed in the place.

The porches at each end of the building for both stories are ten feet wide.

There is a commodious concrete basement with an inlet for a hot-air heater. The modern arrangement is such that the main entrance is nearly at the center of the side of the building and opens into a nine-foot wide hall. A living room the full width of the house has a large fireplace at the west end. A dining room, dutch corner or breakfast room, kitchen, sleeping porch, five other rooms for sleeping or other purposes, two bath rooms, and plenty of closets are the various divisions.

This home will be pushed to completion as near as possible within the next few days as the Dr. and Mrs. Low are obliged to return to their post of duty at Mentor, Ohio, by May 1. Any unfinished part of the interior work will receive attention in time for an early opening next fall.

THE POTENT GARDEN

Pretty Soft for Father!

Mother's sorting out the seeds of cabbages and squash,
Brother's bought some overalls, and learned to say "B'gosh!"
Sister's busy plotting out the little muddy beds
That by and by will be full if luscious lettuce heads.
Auntie's studying a book in "How to Make Things Grow,"
And all that father has to do is hoe! hoe! hoe!

We will not fear the market man when summer once is here,
We just will cull green vegetables as soon as they appear.
We'll flit about from plant to plant, as doth the busy bee,
And pluck the lush potato and the toothsome bean and pea.
And thus our labors will produce quite everything we need,
And all that father'll have to do is weed! weed! weed!
Of course the predatory worms will be here by and by,
The sullen slug, the browsing bug, the fleet and flitting fly.
The mother and the family will study magizines
That tell the best and quickest ways to save the corn and beans.
We'll get new information on the subject every day,
And all that father'll have to do is spray! spray! spray!
—James I. Montague, in New York American.

AUCTION

Any number of people can play auction. One of them is the auctioneer, and he gives a slip of paper to each of the bidders, on which they write the name of an article. They then fold the papers and put them in a hat. The auctioneer marks one of the slips and puts in an extra blank one. The player auctioned off stands on a platform with the auctioneer, while he gives a comical description of the person, telling all his good qualities and pleasing appearance. Then each of the players draws a slip from the hat. [illegible]

PASS ALONG THE MAGIC WORD—CO-OPERATION.

The up to date way to spell success is co-o-p-e-r-a-t-i-o-n.
Even Robinson Crusoe couldn't succeed alone.
Neither can you.
If you haven't got the co-operative spirit, train it.
Work for the other fellow, and he'll hand out something in return.

OLONIAL THEATRE

Pays to Advertise," farce by Cooper Magrue and Walter Hars the Colonial Stock Company's ng for next week. It has been before in Cleveland, as a Cohan Harris production, and it is fun all the way. The plot has with the worthless son of a magnate, who, driven from home s father, joins forces with an tising enthusiast, starts making or rather selling it, and soon s his father come to time. The any has proven its worth from the first and next week's attraction should give it even better chance to show its skill than does this week's production. Ben Johnson, who plays the irate father who does not believe in advertising, created the role in the original production three seasons ago.

OPERA HOUSE

"The Birth of a Nation" will continue as the Opera House attraction next week. It has already set a new record for length of run in Cleveland, and none can guess how much longer it will stay. It is a stirring photo drama of the Civil War and the reconstruction period, with the best of acting and of spectacular mob and battle scenes. The accompanying music is a delight.

MILES THEATER

"Miss America," a musical comedy which pokes a lot of fun at certain kinds of recruiting efforts, and which has a real patriotic ring, is the biggest feature on the Miles vaudeville bill next week. There is a big and attractive chorus. William Harts and Myra Solon are the principal songsters and funmakers. Other features on what should prove an excellent bill are Tyler and St. Clair, who play upon xylophones and miranbophones (at least that's what the advance notice says,) Kearney and Rose with a comedy dialog and some new songs, and Dolson, an eccentric dancer of the best. Marie and Billy Hart will appear in their comedy skit, "The Circus Girl," Mae Murray in "The Primrose Ring," heads the list of first run photoplays.

ALHAMBRA AND MALL

A story of the undying love of a beautiful East Indian girl for an army physician is told in "God's Law and Man's," which comes to the Alhambra theatre for four days, starting Sunday.

Viola Dana has the leading part and she is supported by a strong cats including Robert Walker.

This picture is made from the celebrated novel "A Wife by Purchase." The physician meets the girl in her native land. He loves her but affairs of state and family make it necessary for him to marry another. But something happens to bring the young man out of his trouble which makes the story all the more interesting.

The last three days of the week the Alhambra will show "Sowers and Reapers," a pretty rural romance, with a touch of pathos and many thrills. It features dainty Emmy Whelan, seen recently in the successful picture, "The Pretenders."

CORONA THEATRE

"The Greater Woman," with Marjorie Rambeau is the first screen appearance of the stage beauty under the direction of Frank Powell and will be shown at the Corona theatre, 745 Prospect avenue, Saturday and Sunday, May 12 and 13. "The Greater Woman," treats on a big problem for women. Should a woman forgive or condemn the unfaithful man? This question is raised and answered in "The Greater Woman," which is vibrant with this eternal question, a question as fundamental as the mating instinct, and as cleanly told as any drama ever screened. There are scenes taken on the stage in which Sam Haidez, a dancer, does some most artistic dancing. The film is beautifully tinted, which adds to its beauty.

Other features are: Monday, "One Wild Night," with Kingsley Benedict; Tuesday, "The Girl in the Garret," with Molly Malone; Wednesday, "The Phantom's Secret," with Mignon Anderson; Thursday, Harry Carey in "The Honor of an Outlaw," and Fridau, "The Mystery of the Double Cross.

LIBERTY THEATRE

A corking good variety bill is scheduled for the Liberty theatre for the week of May 14. A continuance of their present policy will be followed, that is, the offering of a feature picture as an added attraction to their regular vaudeville bill. The picture will be Geo. M. Cohan's first attempt at motion pictures, and will bear the title of "Broadway Jones." It is a sure winner and a wonderful production. A very gripping feature or headline attraction on the vaudeville bill is also offered. Prince Karmi, a great India prince, who has the secrets to more mysteries and wonders than any other man living. He offers his great illusion sensation. He has a carload of scenery and oriental effects that astonish you. It is a most wonderful and interesting act. Leonard and Dempsey, strictly "big time" act, and one of the neatest in the business is also booked for this bill. They call their offering "A Night at the Club," and it is very effective. Art Adair, the boob musician, will entertain you with his comedy antics and his really enjoyable music. The Van Baldwin troupe of acrobats and Wolf and Zadelia in their musical comedy presentation entitled "The Golf Cure" completes the bill. The picture featuring Geo. M. Cohan will have its opening on the matinee showing on Sunday, May 13, while the vaudeville will open on the evening performance on Monday.

EMPIRE THEATER

"The Follies of Pleasure," whose annual visits have been real burlesque events for three years past, is at the Empire next week, with a cast of 60 and a real beauty chorus. Dot. Lighton is the star and she has a capable supporting company which numbers many good comedians, among them Clyde J. Bates, the tramp, Mae Mills and Tom McKenan. There are two farces with music and eight scenes, every one of which is guaranteed to keep the audience laughing.

STAR THEATER

Different comedy, different songs and dances, different costuming—that is what the Star promises next week in Fred Irwin's "Majestics." It should be high class burlesque. Florence Bennett heads the cast, which numbers among its better known members such stars as Paul Cunningham, who will sing his own songs, Frank DeMont, who is fresh from big time vaudeville, Al. Keit, May Penman, and Nardine Gray. There are 15 elaborately staged scenes, and some unusual lighting effects.

BE SURE TO SEE THE FRENCH WAR EXHIBIT FOR RED CROSS

The big French war exhibit opened Wednesday in Gray's armory, Cleveland, with a record rush.

Hundreds of grim tools of the great struggle in Europe are on exhibition and hold the interest for hours.

Big guns that spit destruction at Verdun, torn battle flags, captured German aeroplanes, battered ambulances, German "Minnowerfers," mortars, all are there.

Baron and Baroness Charles Huard, delegates from the French government, in charge of the exhibit are enthusiastic over the response of the Cleveland people.

The French government has entrusted to the Baron and Baroness Huard 25 reels of official pictures showing some of the desperate conflicts on the Somme. They are wonderful.

Actual trenches have also been dug southeast of the armory. The batteries, barricade, dugouts, hospitals, parapets and plank walks have been precisely reproduced by "Corporal" Jack Hand.

The exhibit will continue for a week and the proceeds will be equally divided between the Cleveland Red Cross Society and the French War Relief Society.

THE MALL

One of those pretty little rural romances, so dear to the heart of most movie fans, and of which we have a few, will be at the Mall theatre Sunday to Wednesday, May 13 to 16.

It is called "Sowers and Reapers," which however, does not mean that it is a play of agriculture. "Sowers and Reapers" concerns the life of a girl and the love of a man, showing the result of sowing seeds of wrong and evil. Emmy Whelen, a [illegible] actress of the legitimate stage, who recently made a hit in the picture "The Pretenders," is the star.

Next Thursday to Saturday the attraction is Viola Dana in "God's Law and Man," a story of the mystifying and strong love of an East Indian girl for an army physician. It is adapted from the novel "A Wife by Purchase."

There'll be kicks about the heat—later on.
There'll be growls from all we meet—later on,
Every fellow will declare that it's mighty hard to bear,
And wish for chilly air—later on.

They will oft express regret—later on
When the brows and cheeks are wet later on;
The rude jibes they used to fling at the backwardness of spring,
And they'll yearn for winds that sting—later on.

High the mercury will rise—later on;
And Old Sol blaze in the skies—later on;
And electric fans will whizz, and the soda founts will fizz—
And the heat will sizz—later on.

They'll be sorry that they growled—later on;
And at fuel dealers scowled—later on;
For the man that sells them ice will extract a heavy price
For a measly little piece—later on.

Bear in mind it will be hot—later on;
Comfort vainly will be sought—later on;
So when springtime days are cold don't about the weather scold,
For there'll be heat uncontroll'd—later on.
Yes, it's bound to be interesting—later on;
Also many things you'll want to know—later on;
So then come in and invest and the Republican will do the rest
And will give you what is best—later on.

MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR MRS. HILL

It was fitting that the opening of the May meeting of the Willoughby W. C. T. U. should take the form of a memorial for Mrs. Nettie Hill, who for the past two years had served as its beloved and efficient secretary.

The devotionals were in charge of Mrs. H. E. Bright, who read the 90th Psalm.

Leading characteristics of the life of Mrs. Hill were lovingly, tenderly referred to by those who had known her intimately and were high tributes to the sterling worth, devotion and loyalty of this promoted member.

Rarely has the loss of a single member so shadowed the organization, whose hearts go out in sympathy to the inner circle of her home. The devoted mother, loving husband, idealized daughter.

Business meeting was held. Mrs. Eugene Reeve presented a paper, "The Men and Women of Tomorrow." This gave much food for that wholesome and timely suggestions and deserves a wider hearing.

Mrs. Ida Carlton, county superintendent of S. S. work, was present, representing her department, urging the use of the opportunity as presented by the Sunday School to spread the gospel of prohibition and total abstinence from all things harmful.

The interest and enthusiasm as shown by attendance at meetings and a steadily increasing membership is gratifying.

Activity in the work of state and national prohibition is patriotism of the highest order—not alone to conserve the grain products and send them into life sustaining instead of life destroying channels, but because it strikes at the root of that which threatens the unborn of our nation.

"HONEYPEPPER"

"I have tried Toedtmann's 'Honeypepper' frequently for cough and cold; it has always helped me quickly. I have often recommended it to my friends. One of them, on East 120th street, had to stop work on account of coughing for four months. I induced him to take 'Honeypepper;' he took four bottles and is now back at work. Look in a Gun-Muzzle

To make your impressions of the war—America's war—real, go to Grays' Armory. Contact with some of war's realities at the French War Exhibit will give you a gripping sense of what war is. You'll truly understand the things you have been merely reading about.

Grim Tools of a Great Struggle

Practically all the war material exhibited—and there are ten carloads of it—has seen actual service on the western front.

There are big guns that spit fire and destruction at Verdun and Peronne; torn battle-flags that waved along the Somme; aeroplanes that directed fire on the hottest battle-front in history; a battered ambulance from the American Field Service.

There are French "75s" and German "Minnewerfers"; gas bombs and big shells; mortars and machine guns.

There are relics by the score—helmets of captured German hussars; sabres, uniforms, decorations, tents, personal and field equipment of all sorts.

And for the better understanding of these things there are hundreds of official photographs from the archives of the French Government—loaned that America may see, at close range, what the world-war is like.

All these are comprised in the main exhibit—to which admission is 50c.

Step in a Trench

Actual trenches have been dug (southeast of the Armory)—exact facsimiles in construction and equipment of those of the heroic lines "somewhere in France." Their batteries and barricades, their dugouts and hospitals, their plank walks and parapets—all are reproduced. Admission 25c.

See the Action

The French Government has loaned 25 reels of official films, showing some of the desperate engagements of the battles of the Somme. The realism of pictures taken under fire will write for you a new chapter of experience. Admission 25c.

Proceeds of the Exhibit Go To Relief Work

Cleveland Chapter, American Red Cross and the French War Relief Clearing House.

STANDARD THEATER

"Royal Romance," one of Fox's latest and most delightful productions with Virginia Pearson in the star role, will be the feature at the Standard theatre for the week of May 13. She plays the part of a princess, though cherishing since childhood a love for the Emperor Maximilian, she refuses to marry him because his prime minister and not his heart suggested the match. So she decides to give the young ruler a chance to win her love. She goes to a mountain village where the Emperor hunts incognito. She also under an assumed name. They meet and he soon falls in love with her. Shortly afterward he is called back and takes a sad leave of her, but she also goes back to the imperial city during a fete. While wandering near the palace she saves his life from an assassin. After introducing his savior to the court he asks her to become his morganatic wife. She refuses and then he determnies to make her his empress. The ministers are stirred at this and determine to block the match. They have a young prince take her to supper and tell the emperor about it. After seeing this he turns away, but the young prince calls him back and introduces her as his sister, Princess Sylvia. Then all misunderstandings are cleared up and Maximilian asks Sylvia to become his empress. She accepts.

NEWSPAPERS BIG AID TO COUNTY FAIRS

In a questionaire sent to the secretaries of nearly 200 county fairs in 24 states, 92 per cent of the answers received stated that the paid newspaper advertising was successfully used, while 60 per cent of the secretaries asserted that their heaviest item for publicity was in newspaper advertising.

The average amount spent in country newspapers in advertising by 30 county fairs, taken at random, was a trifle more than $220.

About 50 per cent of the replies indicated that billboards were used, while nearly the same number stated that they found it profitable to use the movie slides.

However, a majority of the really successful fairs pin their greatest faith to paid newspaper advertising in their efforts to get good crowds. In fact, the concensus of opinion of secretaries seems to be that all other means of advertising merely help to emphasize the display carried in the newspapers and that for real efficiency in publicity more money should be spent in newspaper advertising than for all other media.

Why We Are Selling New Furniture at ¼ to ⅓ DISCOUNT

We ordered large shipments of Quality Furniture for early deliveries. Fire destroyed our warehouse (not the furniture store), and left us without accommodation. Rather than pay large storage rents, we will dispose of our entire stock and make room for the furniture. An opportunity for you to save what we would ordinarily pay for storage charges.

Floor Lamps
We have probably two hundred Floor Lamps for you to select from, but the one pictured below will be the choice of many, as it is not only a new design but an unusually attractive one. It will be sold while twelve last at $18.75, complete.

Cane Suites
Many beautiful Cane Suites were sold this last week. Suites of this character are probably more artistic for the living room than any style you could select. This particular suite is in solid mahogany and upholstered in a very high grade of silk velour. It will be sold at $165.00 for the three pieces, instead of $300.

Like Cut

CEDAR CHEST
(Like Cut)
Constructed of solid Tennessee red cedar, beautifully bound with copper bands and fitted with lock. 40 inches long, 18 inches wide and 18 inches deep. We have six different styles, all the same size. A good value at $19.50—this week only at $11.75

Store Your Furs at Home

Eighteen Complete Dining Suites
Like cut here—reached us last week. They are constructed of solid quartered oak, jac. finish, and consist of a massive 60-inch Buffet, 54-inch Table, and six Genuine Leather Slip Seat Chairs to match. These were meant to sell at $165, but we will dispose of them quickly at $105 for the suite complete.

MAY AND JUNE BRIDES
Are probably investigating the claims of the different furniture houses. WE INVITE COMPARISON. An economical purchase of your initial outfit is the ambition of every bride and groom. Would you ride 5 or even 10 miles out of your way to save $100 on your outfit?
Complete outfits of NEW furniture $150.00 and up.

KIRSCHBAUM SUITS, $25.00

Consider One Point—"FIT"

From week to week we have talked about the QUALITY and STYLE and THOROUGHNESS of KIRSCHBAUM SUITS—and now we wish to emphasize their FIT.

These Suits fit with graceful exactness and easy precision because the technique of every step of their construction is controlled by art and science. The details are too many to print, but the great thought of the tailors is to create Suits that fit ideally.
And then, our salespeople are trained to help you secure the proper fit. They take in your proportions at a glance—and know the particular division of Suitdom that you should wear. This expert advice is our idea of service. Trust our judgment and we assume all responsibility. If a flaw develops we will smooth it away and we won't be satisfied until it is smoothed away.

This guarantee applies to KIRSCHBAUM SUITS at $25.00—and also to the ones at $20.00, $30.00 and $35.00.

The College Room is too crowded to accommodate remnants and clutters of broken assortments. Therefore, we have rounded up all the unsold balances of the fastest selling $20.00, $22.50 and $25.00 Society Brand, Kirschbaum and other fine Suits and clipped the prices to $17.50 for a quick and complete clearance. Finding your style and size among them is like finding money.

Boys' Two-Trousers Suits
Value $7.50; Special $5.65

Consider these Suits from any point—quality, model, workmanship, value—and they measure far beyond everybody else's best.

The price is extraordinary—$5.65 for $7.50 Suits—well, such values are scarce this season.

Only an organization such as ours—applying hundreds of thousands of dollars to the Clothing business—enlarging an outlet already among the biggest in the world—has the power to bring such chances to you.

$5.65—Only—$5.65

For such Suits, including an extra pair of trousers, is a curiosity in boys' Clothing. To see these Suits is to buy—and to buy is to satisfy the boy and save money.

WHO IS RESPONSIBLE FOR ALL THE INTERESTING AFFAIRS THAT HAPPEN OVER IN WICKLIFFE?

Nobody seems to claim the credit for all the interesting, public-spirited affairs that happen over in Wickliffe, but nevertheless, every week, something seems to occur.

Last week they gave a patriotic party in the nature of a farewell to two young men who have recently enlisted. They are Glenn Peck and Clarence Tyte. The party was given in the school house, the auditorium of which is large and commodious. A good crowd was in attendance. Mrs. Honeywell did much to make the affair a success. Mrs. Barber sang "We're All for the U. S. A.," Dorothy Hills played, and Dr. Stocking delivered a splendid impromptu address. Master Brooks and little Miss Honeywell gave recitations.

NEWLY ORGANIZED LAKE COUNTY RECRUITS MAY PARTICIPATE IN MEMORIAL DAY PARADE

Preparations are well under way for the greatest Memorial Day parade ever attempted in Willoughby. Indications are that three bands and over 20 organizations of various kinds, numbering in all eight or nine hundred persons, will be in line. At a meeting in Painesville Monday night Eagle Commandary No. 29, Knights Templar voted to march in the parade. If permission can be secured Company M. of the 5th Ohio Infantry, the newly organized Lake county company, will participate. The matter has been taken up with Colonel Zimmerman. A company of 70 boys at the high school has organized a cadet corps and are drilling daily with Supt. E. M. Otis in charge. Daily drills are also being held on the Andrews Institute grounds. The Andrews girls and the Willoughby branch of the Red Cross will participate in the Women's division. SAMUEL AUSTIN WILL FLOAT THE FLAGS OF EIGHT NATIONS DECORATION DAY

SAMUEL AUSTIN PLANTS "SECOND LINE TRENCH" OF POTATOES

"O look!" said a youngster passing the residence of Samuel Austin the other day, "there's American, "Union Jack" and German flags out;" and that, Mr. Austin remarked, talking about his patriotic garden, shows the need of a little flag education among the public. Very few appear to know the flags of the different nations. It is a safe guess, from remarks heard in the audience, that none could tell all the flags that were shown upon the stage the night Baroness Huard lectured here. The flags shown were the property of Mr. Austin. He has purchased eight flags. They are the British, French, Italian, Belgian, Russian, Servian, Roumanian and Japanese. He was obliged to secure them from Canada. Local dealers claimed it was hard enough to secure American flags, much less those of the Allies.

The accompanying picture shows Mr. Austin's patriotic garden. Three flags wave above the "second line trench" board daily. Mr. Austin started his garden in the belief that it would be an incentive to many others, and is intensely interested in it. He expects to float all of the eight flags above it Decoration Day.

His flags may be borrowed by all requiring such, and he is considering placing them in the schools some day, and offering a prize of an American flag to the child who can name at once all of the nations whose flags are represented. Mr. Austin's patriotic garden covers one third of an acre in front of his Euclid avenue home, and attracts much attention.

AUXILIARY SHOWS RESPECT TO MEMBER

The ladies auxiliary to the Christian Woman's Board of Missions met at the home of Mrs. Maria Beebe Friday last for their May meeting. Owing to sickness and various causes the attendance was not as large as usual, yet the program in charge of Mrs. Hackett was well rendered and considerable business was attended to.

Mrs. Rachel Yaxley, one of the oldest members, who is quite ill on Second street, was visited by many of the auxiliary who showed their respect and love by taking flowers to cheer and brighten the "sick room."

MISS DODD SELLS CAKE

The Woman's Club entertained other local clubs at a patriotic party at the home of Mrs. Wm. Etzenspreger Friday last. Mrs. H. F. Kennedy cut for the prize offered for the neatest sewed patch for the quilt which the ladies made. Mrs. Kennedy lost. Miss Dodd won the prize, which was a cake. Knowing she could not eat her cake, and keep it too, Miss Dodd sold the cake for $1.25 and donated the proceeds to the Red Cross. About 40 guests enjoyed the afternoon and pleasant entertainment provided by the hostess.

Others contributing include members of The Standard Tire, American Clay, John Sherwin, Grove Curtis, of New York, and the Willoughby Republican.

The officers are very active and much good is hoped to be accomplished. Tennis courts will be laid out. J. Ray Dickey is the new president of the association and is very enthusiastic over the prospects and plans. All wishing to contribute are asked to send checks to Mrs. J. B. Chesbro or Donald Van Duezen.

WILLOUGHBY GIVES $98.40 TO BARONESS HOSPITAL

Ninety eight dollars and forty cents was given to the Baroness Huard, at the close of her lecture in Willoughby Wednesday last, for the benefit of her hospital. More would probably have been realized some have reported, had the method of receiving it been more accessible, or the crowd less.

The owner came out and identified the car, and it was returned to the city from Logar's garage, where it had been taken by the constable.

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS OF AGE, BUT OLD SOLDIER OFFERS SERVICES TO COUNTRY

Dr. Stocking, pastor of the Willoughby Ridge church, is 75, and very patriotic. He has recently written President Wilson asking that he be appointed chaplain at any point where his services could be used. He stated in his application that his grandfather served in the revolutionary war; that he himself served in the civil war, and that his son fought in the late Spanish war; also that he is in perfect health and possessed of much endurance. Nobody in this part of the county can be found who feels that Dr. Stocking can be spared from this community, however.

MRS LANG SUMMONED ON FIRE CASE BY STATE MARSHAL

Mrs. Lena Lang and her daughter were called to Cleveland Thursday morning to testify by State Fire Marshal Dorreen, to testify in regard to the attempt to set fire to her home, after the report had been made by Chief Ryan of Willoughby.

The matter is having the attention of the state marshal in Cleveland at this time.

The effort to set fire to the home of Mrs. Lena Lang was made Monday night. Mrs. Lang reports there was a disturbance around the house about eleven o'clock and in the morning she found newspapers and coal oil under and upon the back porch. The paint was scorched and the sill had started to take fire, but had evidently gone out. The hose upon the porch was also burnt. About two quarts of newspaper ashes and the top of an oil can were also found

C. P. & E. RE-ELECTS J. JORDAN

A report was circulated recently that J. Jordan, general manager of the C. P. & E. had resigned. This report was in error, as while Mr. Jordan's health at present calls for a change of climate, the resignation, if it is accepted, would not be effective until fall. As will be noted in another column, Mr. Jorday was re-elected to his office at the annual meeting of the company, the company declining to consider the resignation until such time as Mr. Jordan might desire to leave Willoughby.

MRS. AUSTIN, MRS. PICKARD AND OTHERS TELL OF WINTER EXPERIENCES

At the Ladies Aid meeting at the Methodist church Wednesday afternoon many of the ladies related interesting experiences of their sojourns in southern or western climes during the winter. NEW ALLOTMENT OPENS

Lots were being offered Willoughby residents Tuesday by a young woman representing the McNutt-McCall Co., of Cleveland, who are opening an allotment on the D. Z. Norton, formerly the Brown property, on Euclid avenue. The sale was consummated last week, being made to Mr. Churchill, manager of the Winton Motor Car Co., Cleveland. It is reported that Mr. Churchill will build a home for himself on Sterling Hill.

Two hundred and fifty-four lots are planned for the allotment

It is reported that two tennis courts will be laid out upon the property.

SERVICE AND SQUARE DEALING AID IN SUCCESS OF LOCAL MAN

Many congratulations were extended I. M. Crowther, local automobile man, upon the opening of his new garage in Painesville last week. The opening covered three days. James McMahon sang to a crowded house Thursday night, and Saturday night saw the new garage well introduced to the public. An air of permanency is given by the extremely substantial and attractive building and this impression is carried out by the space, accommodations and arrangements as found within. As many as 50 automobiles may be carried at one time. The repair shop and garage space are commodious; and space that had originally been intended for suites, will be reserved for assembling rooms later. Mr. Crowther has handled the Ford cars in Willoughby since 1910. He is the distributor for Lake county for the Oldsmobile and Dodge cars and of the latter 30 were sold at his salesroom between March 1st and April 15th. Work done upon any car may be determined at any time thereafter, upon a moment's notice, by means of a system Mr. Crowther has arranged.

Permanency, square dealing and service are required in the automobile business today. These Mr. Crowther gives in full measure. They are the foundations upon which he has built his success, and firms built upon these principles are an asset to their community.

THIEVES HAVE SYSTEM—TAKE NUMBERS FROM DR. CHESBRO'S CAR.

ENGAGEMENT RING TAKEN AT GRANGER HOME

The home of Emory Granger of Wilson avenue was entered Friday last between two and nine o'clock. A diamond engagement ring, one other ring and locket and chain were taken. Mrs. Granger is of the opinion that professionals were the culprits, as an inexpensive bracelet was passed by. The jewelry was particularly valued as keepsakes, and Mrs. Granger is hopeful it may be located at pawn shops.

MARMON 34

A GALLON Equals a Gallon and a Half

Most Marmon owners report they are averaging from 12 to 15 miles to the gallon of gasoline under ordinary driving conditions. This, we believe, is considerable more mileage than is obtained from cars that may be compared to the Marmon.

Scientific construction, 1100 pounds lighter weight, motor efficiency, perfect balance and reduced inertia—all these are factors that contribute to this extra mileage.

Also, Marmon owners report the tires on the Marmon give from 2000 to 3000 extra miles of service.

Not only is the Marmon wonderfully economical to operate, but it broadens your touring range and increases convenience.

Easy to handle, comfortable to ride in, beautiful to look at; the Marmon 34 has assumed the leadership among major-class cars.

Wheelbase 136 inches—one chassis; many body styles, open and closed.

FAREWELL PARTY TO SOLDIERS AT LAKE ERIE COLLEGE

Even the junior promenade at Lake Erie College felt the influence of the war spirit. This formal affair, given on Saturday, May 5, by the junior class at the college, developed into a farewell party for brothers and friends who have already enlisted. Over half the guests, and there were about 50 couples dancing, will leave for the coast or for training camps within a fortnight. The function was less elaborate than usual, programs, expensive decorations and favors had been voted against by the students, as a war-time economy and their escorts were asked not to send them corsage boquets.

An American flag hung on the mantelpiece in Social hall. Except for several bowls of yellow daffodils the large room, beautiful in itself, had no other decoration. The tables in the dining room, where the dinner preceding the dance was held, were decorated with white sweet peas and red, white and blue streamers. The gowns were very beautiful, made of fluffy tulle in all colors of the rainbow. In the receiving line were president Vivian B. Small, Miss Antoinette Burton of Cleveland, president of the class of 1918, Dean Lillian B. Brownfield and Miss Alice Cory, honorary members of the class, and Miss Ruth Miller, vice president.

Miss Laura E. Snell, secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement, spoke Sunday, May 6, at the Y. W. C. A. meeting at Lake Erie College.

A tea was given by the freshmen in honor of the faculty members of their class on Monday, May 7, from 3 to 5 in Social Hall. Miss Mary Evans, Miss Luette P. Bentley, Dean and Mrs. Henry T. Wade, and Miss Clara Louise Bain were the honor guests. Miss Jane Dickinson of Ashtabula, president of the class, received the guests; Miss Margaret Marshall and Miss Katherine King presided at the tea tables. Miss Josephine Wilson and Miss Margery Harrison sang during the afternoon. Yellow daffodils were used as decorations.

The Red Cross classes in first aid began on Monday evening at Lake Erie college. Dr. George Barnett, a graduate of Western Reserve Medical school, who is practicing at Fairport, is giving the lectures. Two groups of thirty each are enrolled in the course. At his first lesson Dr. Barnett discussed the origin of the Red Cross movement, the significance of the flag and gave instructions in the treatment of shock. The bandaging of wounds will be taught next Thursday.

THE POTATO CROP, CONTRIBUTED BY J. EDW. WEIT, FORMER PRESIDENT WILLOUGHBY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The following article is taken from a report secured by the American Steel & Wire Co., through its traveling men, and is sent to us through the courtesy of J. Edw. Weit, former president of the Willoughby Chamber of Commerce:

There is still time to make the necessary arrangements to grow a bumper crop of late potatoes in 1917.

It is no longer the question of feeding 102,000,000 people, it has become the question of feeding, and helping to feed, 231,000,000 people. Moreover, we shall be called upon at the cessation of hostilities to provide some food for all the peoples of central Europe.

It would seem to be an impossibility for some business men, and the new bureaucracy, (yes we have built up one) to understand their country is actually at grips with Germany. They do not seem to comprehend that we have allies, fighting for us, and that as men of honor we must supply these allies with food, money, munitions, yes, give our lives if need be.

It seems impossible for these men to understand that the old order of things has passed away, never to return; that business in the future cannot be in the old worn channels; cosmopolitanism must entirely replace provincialism.

The men who are at this time trying to curtail production (there are such men) of foodstuffs, for fear of over-production, are either knaves or fools. Jockeying for favorable commercial position in handling the crops of 1917, and betraying the country, must be dealt with severely.

At this writing there is raging around the work of putting in the 1917 potato crop a fierce controversy over the subject of acreage. The real experts of conditions, the arm chair experts, and the "interested" business men are engaged in this battle. Already it is being insinuated, suggested, there will be a considerable increase in the potato acreage this year, that the production of potatoes is likely to reach 600,000,000 bushels. (Germany alone has produced as high as 1,579,000,000 bushels of potatoes in one year and has made good use of them.) DO THE MEN ABOVE REFERRED TO REALIZE THAT 500,000,000 BUSHELS ARE ONLY A DROP IN THE BUCKET. IT IS NOT TOO LATE NOW—IT WON'T BE TOO LATE FOR THIRTY DAYS—TO GREATLY INCREASE THE ACREAGE OF POTATOES PLANTED IN THE PRINCIPAL POTATO GROWING DISTRICTS OF THE UNITED STATES IN 1917.

It is easy to indulge in destructive criticism, and this is usually as far as criticism goes; such criticism is deadly. It is possible to use constructive criticism and accomplish the most beneficial results. What steps suggest themselves at this time to secure the maximum acreage of potatoes this year?

A. Fix a minimum price for the potatoes to be grown this year; help the farmer to secure seed, fertilizer, spraying chemicals and labor.

B. Have the Secretary of Agriculture brush aside a Bureau head and release for immediate publication, and wide-spread distribution, Gore's work on drying potatoes, Stuart's work on storing potatoes, Round's work on feeding potato ensilage.

Transfer the Arlington Farm potato drying plant to some potato producing center in the West, where it may be used as an object lesson for interesting men who only need a suggestion to start them doing things. These men can't travel to Washington and the Arlington Farm.

C. Take the necessary steps to erect twenty, or more, potato drying units in the country of the Arlington Farm model.

THE POTATO—IN NATURAL STATE OR DRIED—IS THE MOST WELCOMED FOOD ON THE TABLE OF OUR PEOPLE AND ON THE TABLES OF OUR ALLIES. LET US HAVE MORE POTATOES THIS YEAR.

ANOTHER SPLENDID ARTICLE ABOUT HOUDINI. HE LIVES IN "THE HOUSE BY THE SIDE OF THE ROAD," HERE, THERE AND EVERYWHERE—BY JOE MITCHELL CHAPPLE.

"Next to my own country, I love England," said he. "I'm an American, though, first, last and all the time. I'm an aviator, and in case there's war, will surely be a member of the aviation corps. There's one man in England I do admire exceedingly, and that's Henry Selfridge, who went over there 'cold turkey' (whatever that means, I'm sure I don't know), and inaugurated American methods in England. His store is a rendezvous for Americans, a sort of harbor of refuge, gives that stranger a real ideal picture of America at her best."

On the stage, in his dressing room, dining with grand dukes, or at Child's restaurant, he is the same Houdini always himself.

"Did you ever think, Joe," with one of those quick, winsome smiles, "that the greatest trick is just being yourself at all times? It doesn't come by cultivation, but by a sense of relaxation, of self-effacement."

That's a phase too seldom considered in everyday life, but its recognition has spelled success for many a man. Naturalness and ease of manner will make an impression where brilliant wit or sparkling repartee fail.

The next time I met Houdini, we were at lunch, and he was in a hurry because he'd promised to "do some tricks" for an old man who could not come to see him. That's his greatest joy, going around to see old people. He thinks young people today are too prone to be thoughtless of the elderly, and it was an inspiration to see the delight he had brought to that keen old man of 94.

Houdini has certain rules of conduct, which I think are worthy of close consideration.

Safety ALWAYS instead of safety first.

It's better to be SURE than SORRY.

Never take any chances.

Don't be too "quick on the trigger." If you're not sure the proposition's right, say no.

When he was last in Washington, he attended a Senate session. On his entrance, Vice President Marshall halted the proceedings to pay him tribute.

Frequently he tried to change the subject, to talk of something else. I wanted to hear about Houdini, so I asked him if, in his opinion, audiences differed greatly throughout the world.

"Well," he said reflectively, "I would say no great difference, except, possibly, in the quality of response. I always feel I must get acquainted with my audience by making the 'speech' myself. In foreign countries I do not use an interpreter, I speak to them in their own tongue."

A good suggestion for executives and salesmen, I thought.

"I want them to know I am just a real fellow. Then I must prove the apparatus and have the committee on guard. Probably few people would think that committee have only the same eyes as the audience; can see no more or less. The setting also is important. Some of the most wonderful feats I have performed have appeared neither difficult nor hazardous, but they are a great deal more dangerous than it would be possible for people to believe. The public always insists upon the spectacular.

Houdini and others of his calibre have elevated vaudeville to a high

ALL BECAUSE THE PEAR TREE BLOOMED

A Delightful Spring Story From "Every Week"

By Fannie Heaslip Lea

"I'll let you have it for ten dollars, and that's giving it away. But it looks like you, dearie!" said the lady.

"I'll take it," said Linda briefly.

"You'll never be sorry that's a chic little hat." (She said it archly, "cheek.") "What's the address dearie? You got good hair, which is God's own mercy when it comes to buying a hat—if you know what I mean."

Linda gave her address and went home. She flung the pear tree a glance, almost frightened, when she got off the car at Toledano street; but in the early dusk the pear tree showed nun-like and vague—a white cloud sleeping in the fence corner. Still its fragrance hovered.

The new hat came home next day, and, still in the grasp of that blind desire for something she had not yet touched, Linda wore it on the third day down to work. She never got on her car in the morning now without a backward glance at the pear tree.

Half way through that day, it came to her with overwhelming clearness that the green hat made the blue suit impossible—dull, even dusty-looking. Linda caught her breath and wrestled with heself. She thought of rainy days, she thought of illness, she thought of wise provision for old age; but in the end she drew thirty dollars from the bank and bought with it a suit—of some gray stuff, a short, well cut skirt, a loose, boyish-looking coat. And that night, when the boarding house was quiet, she tried her hair in a new way—a softer way, a way having more "cheek" about it, as her friend the lady in the hat shop would have said.

"What're you getting new clothes for now?" inquired Mrs. Rowland, when this efflorescence of raiment came to her notice. She was mostly too tired to be very observant.

"Because I need them," said Linda. She evaded further questioning.

But the new suit led to a new blouse—to four new blouses, to be exact, because a business woman cannot very well go to bed while her clothes are being laundried; and to dully shining pumps, because a new skirt makes old shoes look shabby; and eventually, upon one feverish battle-ground of a day, to three pairs of silk stockings—that was after a morning in which Linda had stolen a twig of the pear tree over the fence to stick in her buttonhole. The faint, heavy, fragrance of the flowers was like an enchanted drink to her. Oh, well! She bought the stockings and changing in the rest room which the so thoughtful Gas Company provided for its retainers, wore a pair of them home with the new pumps.

"MA'S AT IT," CONTRIBUTED TO THIS PAPER BY MRS. MARY GROVER, WILLOUGHBY

My easy chair is filled with books
And picture frames and things
My humidor holds picture books
And carpet tacks and strings;
I cannot find my favorite pipe
Nor e'en my smoking coat.
The air with dust is overripe,
It's easy now to note.
Ma's at it.

Last night I tripped upon a chair
Which blocked the narrow hall,
No rocker e'er before was there
That I can now recall.
This morn I couldn't find my shirts
My underwear or hose
They're somewhere in the house,
she says,
But just where, goodness knows.
Ma's at it.

She wears a towel round her head,
Her back's begun to ache,
On soap I soon expect to tread,
Left somewhere my mistake.
My razor and my shaving strop
Have disappeared from sight
She'll have the house turned upside down
I'm sure by Wednesday night.
Ma's at it.

THE POTENT GARDEN

Pretty Soft for Father!

Mother's sorting out the seeds of cabbages and squash,
Brother's bought some overalls, and learned to say "B'gosh!"
Sister's busy plotting out the little muddy beds
That by and by will be full if luscious lettuce heads.
Auntie's studying a book in "How to Make Things Grow,"
And all that father has to do is hoe! hoe! hoe!

We will not fear the market man when summer once is here,
We just will cull green vegetables as soon as they appear.
We'll flit about from plant to plant, as doth the busy bee,
And pluck the lush potato and the toothsome bean and pea.
And thus our labors will produce quite everything we need,
And all that father'll have to do is weed! weed! weed!
Of course the predatory worms will be here by and by,
The sullen slug, the browsing bug, the fleet and flitting fly.
The mother and the family will study magizines
That tell the best and quickest ways to save the corn and beans.
We'll get new information on the subject every day,
And all that father'll have to do is spray! spray! spray!

—James I. Montague, in New York American.

His always long on scenic and effects and of course, he iggest chorus, in avoirdu l the world.

EMPIRE THEATER

"The Tip Top Girls," who play the Empire next week, is one of the few burlesque organizations which pretend to give a connected musical show. There is a real plot in their production and a cast of capable burlesque favorites to carry it through. Mabel Lynest and Nellie Greenwood, both stars from other lines of theatrical work, are headliners, and Ben Small and John Bohlman in German and Irish roles are always good. The scenery and costuming are up to standard.

STANDARD THEATER

"The Book Agent" is the latest Fox production to be shown at the Standard theatre for the week of May 20, with smiling George Walsh in the role of the purveyor of printed information. This new picture gives the athletic star what is probably the most congenial part he has ever played. The story itself is full of life and ginger, comedy and light drama, with not a dull moment. It gives the different adventures of a poor book agent, and his ups and downs in life, sometimes with lots of money, most times none, but he finally strikes it right and wins both a fortune as well as a life partner. The cast includes pretty Doris Pawn, Willard Louis, the funny man, and many others of great repute. The Standard Weekly War Review direct from our own war correspondent to our screen will also be shown at every performance as well as a cartoon comedy.

ALHAMBRA AND MALL

One of the most popular actresses of the stage or screen will be seen in her latest picture play at the Mall and Alhambra theatres Sunday to Wednesday, May 20 to 23.

It is Ethel Barrymore and the picture is the "Call of Her People." Only once in about three months does a new picture come to Cleveland with this famous woman. Miss Barrymore takes her time in making a picture and so does it well.

"The Call of Her People" is said to be a wonderful production, as good as her last picture, "The White Raven."

The last three days of next week Mme. Petrova will be seen in a new picture, "The Soul of a Magdalene."

Movie fans are finding the program of comedies, news films and educational pictures in the lower Mall theatre very popular. It is a variety program and if one wants to see more he or she may go upstairs to the upper Mall, where the feature picture is shown.

LIBERTY THEATRE

A huge musical comedy production with an all-star cast of 30 people is the attraction at the Liberty theatre for the week of May 21. Jimmie Hodges and Jean Tyner, with their own company, present the musical comedy sensation entitled "Pretty Baby." They carry a carload of scenery and their costumes and lighting effects are most wonderful. A chorus of 15 pretty girls render a series of singing numbers in a style that marks perfection. Mr. Hodges can well be remembered as the star of his own show entitled "A Night on a New York Roof Garden," which played this theatre late last season. He is one of the bright lights in the musical comedy world and assisted by Miss Jean Tynes they make a pair that is unbeatable. Several novelty numbers feature the show, such as a Hawaiian number in which the members of the chorus participate in a barefoot Hawaiian dance that goes over with a bang. The production is staged in two acts and four scenes, with a complete program of musical and vocal specialties. It is a complete evening's enjoynent and will be shown twice each evening at seven and nine during the entire week with a matinee on Saturday afternoon.

The Garden of Allah

At B. F. Keith's Hippodrome Monday matinee there will be presented for the first time in Cleveland a picturization of Robert Hitchens' celebrated novel of northern Africa and the Sahara desert, "The Garden of Allah," which was so successful as a drama several seasons ago. Both the picture and the drama, of course, are taken from Mr. Hitchens' book, a recognized classic in American literature. The popularity of both the novel and play, therefore, presages great interest in the film.

Nothing will be left undone in the Hippodrome to surround the "Garden of Allah" with the atmosphere its picturesque story deserves. One of the main features of the exhibition will be a symphony orchestra of 40 men, under the direction of Carl Bernthaler, conductor of the Pittsburgh Festival Orchestra. The Hippodrome itself will be transformed into an oriental garden. Two performances will be given daily, after the opening Monday matinee, at 2:15 and 8:15 p. m. Although this picture has played for $2.00 everywhere the manageemnt of the Hippodrome has arranged to offer this picture at popular prices. Real camels and Arabs will be used in conjunction with this production.

CORONA THEATRE

"Motherhood," second of Marjorie Rambeau's screen successes, is the first great classic to be born of war literature. This big picture is built on a powerful story by Frederick Arnold Kummer an author of many spectacularly successful short stories. The story of "Motherhood" deals with war and the horrors of war, but it is not a picture of battle scenes, bloody encounters and wholesale slaughter. It rather touches on the thoroughly personal and human side of the war and what it means to the homes and families. It shows the part of women in war. It illustrates how the children bear their share of the burden of warfare. See it at the Corona theatre, East 8th and Prospect, Saturday, May 21st, 1917.

Other features are Sunday, Clara Kimball Young in "The Deep Purple," Monday, Dan Russell in "Beach Nuts," Tuesday, "Her Great Dilemma," with Lee Hill and Louise Lovely, Wednesday, "Like Wildfire," with Herbert Rawlinson and Neva Gerbert, Thursday, Harry D. Carey in "A 44-Calibre Mystery," and Friday "The Mystery of the Double Cross," Episode No. 6.

LUNA PARK

The Gillette Trio, bicyclists, are headliners on the free vaudeville bill at Luna Park next week, and their act is replete with thrilling novelties. Other turns which are deserving of mention are those of Wilbur, the "mechanical doll," who is a clever ventriloquist, and of Frederick, Nelson and Frederick, with a musical comedy act. Sue Stead is a whistler, singer and comedienne at the same time. The Hughes sisters have a startling series of eccentric dances. There are band concerts every afternoon and evening, and cabaret performers and free movies in the gardens every night. The management has set June 2 as the date for opening the big bathing pool.

"An Eye for an Eye."

"Lex talionis" means the law of retaliation. It provided that the punishment should be the same in kind as the crime. Thus we have the expressions, "An eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth," "Whoso sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed." Many other expressions like these are found in the Bible and elsewhere.

Buy Bond's $15 Clothes & Save Up to Ten Dollars
There's no DOUBT about it, when it comes to wear, quality and real style, you can get just as much satisfaction from a Bond $15 Suit or Topcoat as you would from a $25 garment bought of the ordinary retailer. Just because you PAY him more, it doesn't necessarily follow that you get more.
Pay for Clothes---Not Selling Expenses
Figure it out for yourself. Who pays for the road salesmen who go out to sell clothes to the retailer? Who pays for the losses from bad credits? Who pays for the retailer's profit and running expenses? The wearer of those clothes, of course.
When you buy at Bond's, you buy of the maker, and pay less because you do not pay for the above expense items.

Fact of the matter is, we often have certain models in stock ready to sell before other manufacturers have them ready for their road salesmen to show to retailers.

"HONEYPEPPER"

"I have tried Toedtmann's 'Honeypepper' frequently for cough and cold; it has always helped me quickly. I have often recommended it to my friends. One of them, on East 130th street, had to stop work on account of coughing for four months. I induced him to take 'Honeypepper.' [illegible]

SOMETHING ABOUT THE UNRIVALED MARMON

To go 15 miles out in the country in a fully equipped and luxurious 7-passenger car with one gallon of gasoline is true!

That statement is indisputable, for the fact that the management of the Flower-Webster-Cutter Company at 1733 Euclid avenue, Cleveland, is back of it.

The men who have put this unrivaled car to the front have evolved an idea that will surely appeal to every person, whether he be a motor devotee or a pedestrian: Here is their way that hundreds of dollars may be saved:

"Why not reduce the high cost of living by buying a Marmon car and reside, during the summer months, in Cleveland's beautiful suburbs?

"Going 15 miles from Cleveland, with the entire family in the car, would cost say 25 cents for fuel.

"Then at 6 o'clock, after the tired business man is home, he and his wife and children, have taken into their lungs the pure air of the countryside.

"Now here is where the cutting down of the H. C. L. comes in:

Vegetables in the country are sold but slightly above their cost of production; meat may be obtained at a fraction above wholesale prices; rent for a modern home in the country is as one to 10 in the city: then there is the life-prolonging, joy-giving qualities that add years and years to the most phlegmatic if they but take advantage of a ride in a Marmon roadster.

No one dares say that any city man who has the love of his family at heart could do better than take the folks into the country for the hot summer months, which means saving money for himself if his transportation is right—and that would be in a Marmon car.

Getting Along Fine With no Desire to Drink

CHEERFUL MESSAGE FROM A MAN MADE LIQUOR-PROOF IN THREE DAYS AT THE NEAL INSTITUTE.

"I am still getting along without any desire for drink, and the good part of it is, the longer I am away from it, the more I detest it. The smell is disgusting to me."

So writes a graduate of the Neal Institute who, in three days of the Neal Treatment, was changed from a hard drinker into a man who despises everything alcoholic.

The Neal Treatment there administered is a physician's harmless vegetable remedy, which is taken internally, with no dangerous hypodermic injections. The results are tonic is effect and in three days all desire for liquor is changed to dislike for everything alcoholic.

There is no publicity. Names are never revealed. Your own investigation is not only invited, but urged. ORDINANCE NO. 1290

By Mr. Gormsen.

An Ordinance determining to proceed with, and levying and assessing special tax to pay the cost and expense of improving Kenilworth Avenue between Detroit St. and Sloane Ave., by paving same with brick, or bituminous concrete, or sheet asphalt, or asphalt block, or bithulithic, or concrete, doing and and all grading, draining, curbing and constructing delinquent house connections incidental and necessary thereto, and authorizing the Mayor and Director of Finance to issue bonds in the sum of Six Thousand Seven Hundred Seventy ($6,770.00) Dollars in anticipation of the said special tax to provide a fund for the payment of the portion of the cost and expense of said improvement for which said special tax is levied.

Be it ordained by the Council of the City of Lakewood, State of Ohio, (three-fourths of all members elected thereto concurring.)

Section 1. That it is hereby determined to proceed with the improvement of Kenilworth Avenue between Detroit St. and Sloane Ave., by paving same with brick, or bituminous concrete, or sheet asphalt, or asphalt block, or bithulithic, or concrete, doing any and all grading, draining, curbing and constructing delinquent house connections incidental and necessary thereto, in accordance with Recolution No. 1586, passed February 5, 1917, and in accordance with plans, specifications, estimates and profiles heretofore approved and now on file in the office of the Director of Public Works.

Section 2. That all claims for damages resulting from said improvement shall be judicially inquired into after the completion thereof, and that the Director of Public Works be and he is hereby authorized and directed to enter into contract for said improvement in the manner provided by law, which improvement, in accordance with Article 15, Section 16 of the Charter, has been estimated by the Director of Public Works to have a life of [illegible] years.

Section 3. That for the purpose of paying the cost and expense of said improvement there is hereby levied and assessed a special tax upon the several lots and parcels of land designated in and in accordance with Estimated Assessment No. 410 as made for that purpose by the Director of Finance and recommended to this Council by the Board of Revision of Assessments. Said estimated assessment was made on the basis of special benefits conferred by said improvement on the several parcels of land therein described and the same is herein confirmed, adopted and approved.

Section 4. That the owners of the several lots or parcels of land included in said assessment shall pay the amounts from them severally due as shown by Column No. 3 of said Estimated Assessment No. 410 to the City Treasurer on or before thirty days from the date of the passage of this ordinance, at their option, and in default thereof said special assessment with interest at the rate of five per centum per annum upon deferred payments, shall be payable to the County Treasurer in 10 annual installments with the regular taxes of 1917 to 1926 both inclusive.

Section 5. That to provide a fund for the payment of the portion of the cost and expense for which the special assessment herein is levied for said improvement, the Mayor and Director of Finance be and they are hereby authorized to issue 10 bonds of the City of Lakewood, Ohio, in the aggregate sum of Six Thousand Seven Hundred Seventy ($6,770.00) Dollars, of which bonds one bond in the sum of Six Hundred Seventy-seven ($677.00) Dollars shall be due and payable on the 1st day of October, 1918, and one bond in the sum of Six Hundred Seventy-seven ($677.00) Dollars shall be payable each year thereafter with interest thereon at the rate of five per centum per annum, payable semi-annually on April 1st and October 1st each year, until all of the said bonds have been duly paid and retired. Said bonds so authorized, to be issued shall be dated day of sale, shall be signed and sold by said officers as provided by law and the proceeds thereof shall be applied to the payment of the cost and expense of said improvement as aforesaid, and to no other purpose whatsoever. The full faith and revenue and all the real and personal property of the City of Lakewood, O., are hereby pledged to the payment of said bonds and the interest thereon. If within the time above specified and before the sale of said bonds, any of the owners of said property shall pay their total assessment in cash, the aggregate sum in bonds to be issued shall be reduced by deducting the amount so paid in cash from the total amount of the fund to be provided and the bonds issued shall be severally reduced in amount proportionately.

Section 6. That upon the sale of said bonds the proceeds thereof, together with moneys received from cash payments of said assessments, shall be placed in the City Treasury and disbursed upon proper vouchers in payment of the cost and expense of the improvements aforesaid.

Section 7. That said annual payments of said assessments and all portions thereof, shall be applied to the payment of said bonds and the interest thereon, as the same shall become due, and to no other purpose whatsoever.

Section 8. That for the purpose of providing funds in an amount sufficient to pay the principal and interest on said bonds, and to provide the Sinking Fund for the final redemption of such portion of said bonds and interest as shall not be paid by the assessment aforesaid, there shall be and is hereby levied upon all the real and personal property in the City of Lakewood, Ohio, a direct annual tax in addition to all other taxes, sufficient for said purposes; and the amount thereof shall be ascertained, levied and certified by the proper tax authorities of said City annually, and shall be collected as other taxes are collected.

Section 9. This ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its adoption, legal publication and the earliest period allowed by law.

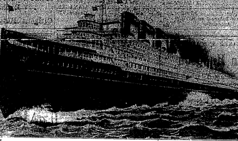
BUSY TIMES ON THE GREAT LAKES



Navigation on the Great Lakes is now open and the familiar sound of steamboat whistles is indeed a welcome one to many, for not only the steamers relieve the freight congestion but also furnish a most comfortable mode of travel for passengers.

Officers of the C. & B. Line, which operates the great ship "Seeandbee" and steamers "City of Buffalo" and "City of Erie," daily between Cleveland and Buffalo, predict the season will surpass all others in volume of passenger and freight. Never has business started off with such a rush, which surely reflects the general prosperous condition of the country.

Vacation trips which afford a change from every day scenes are now regarded as essential by the American people, and thousands are turning to the great lakes for the most alluring trips by water.

An Investment That Means Profit

Signs of the Times
Seven billions of dollars—the hugest sum of money ever released from the country's treasury—is beginning to flood the United States.
It is the psychological time for conservatice investment.

The Templar Motors Corporation of Cleveland has A. M. Dean as its Chief engineer. Automobile men know that means a good car.
It has M. F. Bramley as its president. Bankers and business men know that means a sound organization.
Stock in this company is being sold at $11.00 a share. As soon as this block is gone, the price will be $12.00. The first allotment was over-subscribed $103,000 in five months, and the present block is going fast.
$500.00 invested in Stutz stock four years ago means $22,500 today; Chandler, three years ago, $11,500 today; Paige-Detroit, five years ago, $10,000; Hupp, six years ago, $45,000.
There have been motor investments which have failed. Some lacked management, some the right kind of a car, and some went under for lack of capital.
Templar Motors has every essential. It is a good buy.

TWENTIETH YEAR—NO. 17. WILLOUGHBY, OHIO, MAY 25, 1917. ONE DOLLAR A YEAR IN ADVANCE

CREDITORS' MEETING OF THE BEN HUR AUTOMOBILE COMPANY

The creditor's meeting of the Ben Hur Automobile Co. was held in Willoughby at the plant, Saturday, May 19th. Representatives of a large number of creditors were present. Mr. Moore, the receiver, Mr. Robbins of the Cleveland Hardware Co., J. D. Fackler, who represents the largest creditor, The Hoyt Service Co., J. B. Spyksma, treasurer, and many others, were in attendance. Many of the local creditors are subcontractors under Paul Bros.

Mr. Spyksma stated that the company would like to go ahead and carry out their original plans if it could possibly be arranged. Mr. Robbins, of the Cleveland Hardware Co., stated that the plant was an unusually fine one, that it was really undervalued in the appraisal, and that it could not be erected today for the sum expended. Ralph Blue, legal representative of the Ben Hur Co., and Mr. B. P. Bagby, vice president of the firm, were quoted as being desirous of continuing, but would lend their co-operation to any plan the creditors desired. Mr. Spyksma stated that a contract had recently been offered for 500 cars for export. Also that at a meeting of four stockholders in Cleveland last Friday night, representing 1,000 shares or more each, they had stated their ability to raise $5,000 each. Time was therefore asked for by Mr. Spyksma. The building when completed, will have cost $175,000. If built today, including the land, it would cost $185,000, it was said. The total indebtedness of the local company amounts to $83,000. $59,000 was expended for materials. The town of Willoughby had agreed to advance $8,000 when $25,000 had been paid in wages.

Mr. Fackler expressed the hope that the same proposition would be offered to any new company who might purchase the plant. Mr. Fackler said he would not force a sale through at any sacrifice price. It was finally agreed that the receiver should secure power from the court to advertise and sell the plant to the highest bidder at private sale. A committee consisting of L. W. Penfield, Mr. Jones of the Johns-Manville Co., and Mr. Robbins of the Cleveland Hardware Co., was appointed, and will be conferred with before any offer is accepted. The receiver will confer with this committee before recommneding any sale to the court. Mr. Jones is president of the Cleveland Associated Credit Men.

COUNCIL PASSES PAVING ORDINANCES. MUNICIPAL COAL YARD DISCUSSED

At a meeting of the council Monday, May 21st, ordinances covering proposed paving were passed, as will be found in another column. Samuel Austin was present with a list of names of Barber avenue residents all but three of whom opposed the paving of Barber avenue at present, owing to high cost of labor, material, etc. It was decided that Barber avenue would not be paved, but graded, drained and graveled. Other stipulated streets will be paved in accordance with ordinances passed.

The question of having a municipal coal yard in Willoughby was taken up and the possibilities of such a venture will be considered by a committee appointed.

A committee was named to secure new street name plates. The house numbering campaign will be inaugurated with a view to facilitating the work of the inspector when free mail delivery goes into effect. Another meeting of the council will occur on next Monday night.

ANNUAL MEETING OF LIBRARY BOARD

The annual meeting of the village library and Historical Association will be held in the library auditorium on Monday evening, May 28, 1917, at 7:30 o'clock, eastern standard time. The term of office of five members of the Board of Trustees has expired, therefore it will be necessary to elect their successors.

Food Conservation—The Elimination of Waste

In response to some requests we will feature a few articles on the important subject of elimination of waste in the preparation of foods, at this time.

ABANDON FOOD PREJUDICES

Don't be Finicky

Be willing to try new foods. Certain plentiful and nourishing foods widely used and enjoyed in one section are practically unknown in other sections of the country. Learn to know ALL the good things; not only a few.

People too easily get into food ruts—insist on eating only the food they are used to and refuse to give a fair trial to others. This causes undue demand for certain staples, with resulting scarcity or high prices when crops are short. At the same time other valuable foods may be relatively cheap and available. A striking instance of this is failure to fully appreciate rice—a valuable source of starch—when potatoes are scarce and high. Another example is refusal in certain sections to use anything but wheat as a breadstuff when corn—a valuable cereal widely used elsewhere as a breadstuff—is plentiful and relatively cheap.

Cook Food Properly

Learn how to cook all kinds of staple foods and to serve them in a variety of ways. Simple dishes well prepared are better than expensive foods badly cooked.

Many persons are prejudiced against certain good foods because, when first tried, the foods were improperly cooked or prepared.

Remove from your vocabulary "don't like" or "can't eat."

Most individual prejudices against widely popular foods are either imaginary or baseless.

Try to like every simple food; give it a fair trial.

Demonstrate thrift in your home. Make saving, rather than spending, your social standard.

POTATO SCAB CHECKED BY TREATING THE SEED

Formaldehyde gas treatemnt is pointed out by botanists at the Ohio Experiment Station as most satisfactory to growers of large acreages of potatoes for preventing scab on tubers. Where only a few potatoes are to be planted, they say soaking uncut seed for an hour and a half in a solution of four ounces of corrosive sublimate to 30 gallons of water, or for two hours in a solution of a pint of 40 per cent formaldehyde to 30 gallons of water will be the easiest way to control scab.

Large quantities of seed potatoes may be stored in a tight tent or room. A pint of formaldehyde is added to one and one-half fluid ounces of sulphuric acid and this mixture poured on 10 ounces of sodium dichromate in a flat bottomed dish or pan. This formula is sufficint for 1,000 cubic feet of space in the room. A strong gas is liberated and the room should be tightly closed for 24 to 48 hours. Injury results from this treatment to sprouted potatoes. On account of war prices sodium dichromate is used in this formula instead of potossium permanganate as ordinarily advised for treating potatoes.

Scab is also carried in the soil and old potato fields may be infected. Planting on scab-free soil insures more healthy tubers.

PRESIDENT AND HIS WIFE RIDE HORSEBACK

President Wilson for almost the first time has been seen upon horseback in Washington. He and his wife had two fine saddle horses, it is believed, belonging to the string owned by Dr. Grayson. It is said that President Wilson handled himself very well indeed, upon a horse, although it has been several years since he has mounted one. It is said that he has been an expert horseman. Mrs. Wilson's mount was a high-spirited animal, and, of course, she looks just as pretty on horseback as she does on her two small feet. Dr. Grayson says that "the outside of a horse is good for the inside of a man," and has been urging President Wilson for some time to take horseback rides. The President was accompanied by Dr. Grayson, of course, and by White House secret service men, who were also mounted. The president and Mrs. Wilson left tthe White House very secretly in an automobile and went to Rock Creek Park, where their mounts were being held for them, and thus they avoided the notoriety which they both detest.—National Tribune.

ANOTHER SPLENDID ARTICLE ABOUT HOUDINI. HE LIVES IN "THE HOUSE BY THE SIDE OF THE ROAD," HERE, THERE AND EVERYWHERE—BY JOE MITCHELL CHAPPLE.

plane. During his Boston engagement, every performance was thronged with people who had "bought" Houdini. He had SOLD Keith's to Boston. As we sat there, sipping our coffee, and writing on the menu cards I thought it was something like a restaurant using a "specialty" as an enticement, and then being able to sell other things on the bill of fare. Like a sale of some one thing in a department store like a Rexall "One Cent Sale"—like any number of things in everyday life.

Like many others, I was curious about his name—Houdini—which, in popular parlance, is being used as an adjective, descriptive.

"Yes," he said, rather sadly, I thought, "I have made a name for myself literally and figuratively. When I started, the people insisted upon a foreign trade mark on all their goods—the 'made in America' slogan hadn't yet been approved—and so I became 'Houdini.' The people didn't need to know"—smilingly—"it was Ehrich Weiss from Appleton, Wisconsin, they were coming to see. I love the name my mother bore; the name that is mine but I have given myself as Houdini to the public. Sometimes I would like to get away from it all, but I recognize that the Houdini the people are paying to see belongs to the people. Shortly before her death, I gained my mother's consent to legalize the name 'Houdini.'"

With all his other distinctions during his brilliant career, Houdini has fulfilled the dream of Sam Walter Foss—

"Let me live in a house by the side of the road
And be a friends to a man."

For he has lived in a "house by the side of the road," here, there and everywhere, and the record of the good he has done will bring him the sobriquet requested by Abou Ben Adhem of old—"One who loves his fellow man."

To me, he widened the horizon of business as related to all other activities, proving how all effort is akin.

Scientists and Harvard professors are searching for the fourth dimension. Has Houdini solved the mystery?

I asked him. He shook his head neutrally—this creature of self-liberation. I felt I had met a man who had done something new under the sun.

Business men are all looking for the fourth dimension—production, sales, and no loss.

Houdini philosophy helps us all.

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN GIVES $50.00 PER MONTH TO THE RED CROSS

William Jennings Bryan, former secretary of state, is to give $50 a month—until he is called for service himself—for Red Cross relief work among the American soldiers and sailors. In his letter to Miss Boardman making his offer he asks:

"If I send the checks to you will the amount be divided equally between the two branches of the service?"

ROOSEVELT'S SON ENLISTS

Quentin, youngest son of Col. Theodore Roosevelt, has enlisted in the signal officers reserve corps. He received his papers at the war department, and will be sent immediately to the aviation school at Mineola, L. I.

During his course of instruction he will be rated as a private, but when he has qualified he will receive an officer's commission, and be attached to one of the airplane squadron stations.

DISCOVERY OF AMERICA COST $7,000.00

The discovery of America cost a little more than $7,000, according to documents found in the archives of Genoa. These documents record the value of Columbus's first fleet at $3,000. Columbus himself was paid a salary of $300 a year and his two captains $200, while the members of the crew were each paid at the rate or $2.50 a month. It was a great investment, fully justifying the expenditure.—National Tribune.

GEN. McALPIN DEAD

Gen. Edward A. McAlpin, chief owner of the Hotel McAlpin in New York, died recently at his home at Ossining, N. Y. He was 71 years old. He is survived by five sons.

Gen. McAlpin enlisted as a drummer boy in Co. A., 7th N. Y., in the Civil war, and later became Captain of that company.

He was the son of David Hunter McAlpin, who made a fortune in the tobacco business, and was himself many times a millionaire.

PASTRY BANNED IN FRANCE

French pastry may be bought today in any country except France. The confections which made France famous were placed on the forbidden list. No pastry may be eaten for two months.

DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS WITH MEXICO RESTORED

Complete and formal diplomatic relations with Mexico were restored when PresidePnt Wilson received at the White House Ignacio Bonillas, the first Mexican embassador to be received since the overthrow of Madero. Mr. Bonillas was presented to the President by Mr. Lansing, Secretary of State, and was surrounded by his military aids in uniform during the brief ceremony.

"SPRING FEVER"

By Martha E. Bales, Willoughby

Out near the streamlet I wandered
When Nature was calm and still,
And the sunset lay in its beauty
Over river, valley and hill;
The trees stood tall and stately
Beside the glistening stream,
And all the buds were slowly bursting
Red in the sunset gleam.

And soft through the budding branches
Quivering a-down the hill,
Like a voice from the golden sunset,
I heard the robin's trill,
Deep in my heart finding echo,
Stirring a vague unrest
Till my heart grew as strangely restless
As the rustling wind from the west.

O'er and o'er in sweet cadences,
I heard the robin's trill
As he sang his mate a love song
In the boughs beside the hill.
Oh bird, why art thou restless?
Go seek thy tiny nest,
The home you have built to abide in
And fold thy wings in rest.

But stay! I love thy singing,
Oh robin, so bonny and free.
Come perch on the bush by my window,
And sing in the morn to me.
Sing of the hopes I have cherished,
Sing of the lands free from care,
Sing of the Heaven up yonder,
Where all is so sweet and fair.

SAVE THE TREES.

Fruit occupies quite an important place as a food and in keeping people healthy. As potatoes, wheat and other staple foods promise to be high the coming winter, the canning of all surplus fruits along with that of vegetables this summer will be of great help in solving the food situation. It would be well to secure spraying material, and be ready to spray when the proper time comes.

For the control of the codling moth, apple trees should be sprayed just after the blossoms have fallen with three pounds of arsenate of lead and 1 1-4 gallon of lime and sulphur to 0 gallons of water. This spraying must be thoroughly done in order to secure the best results.

Spray plum trees and cherry trees with the above formula just after the blossoms have fallen and the number of plums and cherries stung by the curculio will be reduced to a minimum.

A Delightful Spring Story From "Every Week"

By Fannie Heaslip Lea

She did not allow herself now to consider the rainy day... Her first pair of silk stockings provided a thrill that allowed of no gloomy reflections whatsoever.

Her cheeks were flushed, her eyes shining, when she stepped on the Prytania street car. It was the most crowded hour of the day, but what of that? with silk stockings to stand in! She was not, however, forced to stand. At the very front of the car, next to the door, two small seats faced each other across the aisle. One of these Linda attained.

Her vis-a-vis, a tall young man in blue serge, sheltered himself in an evening paper, above which he scowled alertly. Linda folded her hands in her lap, looked down at her feet, and drew a long sigh of contentment.

The car, crowded with home going shoppers and business men, lurched along between vague twilit spaces. Lights blossomed up and down the street. There was the busy murmur of voices, the hiss of the conductor's bell, the occasional click of fares rung up.

Linda never knew just when she first looked across and met the eyes of the man in the opposite seat. Because her instinct [illegible] her, and because she had been properly taught by movies and Sunday supplements, she looked down again at once. But not before a little stinging thrill ran over her from head to foot. He had (she was astoundingly conscious of it) the nicest eyes imaginable, deep-set and steady, with a flicker of fun in their depths. In that one startled glance, Linda was also aware of a

Don't be Finicky.

Be willing to try new foods. Certain plentiful and nourishing foods widely used and enjoyed in one section are practically unknown in other sections of the country. Learn to know ALL the good things; not only a few.

People too easily get into food ruts—insist on eating only the food they are used to and refuse to give a fair trial to others. This causes undue demand for certain staples, with resulting scarcity or high prices when crops are short. At the same time other valuable foods may be relatively cheap and available. A striking instance of this is failure to fully appreciate rice—a valuable source of starch—when potatoes are scarce and high. Another example is refusal in certain sections to use anything but wheat as a breadstuff when corn—a valuable cereal widely used elsewhere as a breadstuff—is plentiful and relatively cheap.

Cook Food Properly

Learn how to cook all kinds of staple foods and to serve them in a variety of ways. Simple dishes well prepared are better than expensive foods badly cooked.

Many persons are prejudiced against certain good foods because, when first tried, the foods were improperly cooked or prepared.

Remove from your vocabulary "don't like" or "can't eat."

Most individual prejudices against widely popular foods are either imaginary or baseless.

Try to like every simple food; give it a fair trial.

Demonstrate thrift in your home. Make saving, rather than spending, your social standard.

POTATO SCAB CHECKED BY TREATING THE SEED

Formaldehyde gas treatemnt is pointed out by botanists at the Ohio Experiment Station as most satisfactory to growers of large acreages of potatoes for preventing scab on tubers. Where only a few potatoes are to be planted, they say soaking uncut seed for an hour and a half in a solution of four ounces of corrosive sublimate to 30 gallons of water, or for two hours in a solution of a pint of 40 per cent formaldehyde to 30 gallons of water will be the easiest way to control scab.

Large quantities of seed potatoes may be stored in a tight tent or room. A pint of formaldehyde is added to one and one-half fluid ounces of sulphuric acid and this mixture poured on 10 ounces of sodium dichromate in a flat bottomed dish or pan. This formula is sufficint for 1,000 cubic feet of space in the room. A strong gas is liberated and the room should be tightly closed for 24 to 48 hours. Injury results from this treatment to sprouted potatoes. On account of war prices sodium dichromate is used in this formula instead of potossium permanganate as ordinarily advised for treating potatoes.

Scab is also carried in the soil and old potato fields may be infected. Planting on scab-free soil insures more healthy tubers.

PRESIDENT AND HIS WIFE RIDE HORSEBACK

President Wilson for almost the first time has been seen upon horseback in Washington. He and his wife had two fine saddle horses, it is believed, belonging to the string owned by Dr. Grayson. It is said that President Wilson handled himself very well indeed, upon a horse, although it has been several years since he has mounted one. It is said that he has been an expert horseman. Mrs. Wilson's mount was a high-spirited animal, and, of course, she looks just as pretty on horseback as she does on her two small feet. Dr. Grayson says that "the outside of a horse is good for the inside of a man," and has been urging President Wilson for some time to take horseback rides. The president was accompanied by Dr. Grayson, of course, and by White House secret service men, who were also mounted. The president and Mrs. Wilson left tthe White House very secretly in an automobile and went to Rock Creek Park, where their mounts were being held for them, and thus they avoided the notoriety which they both detest.—National Tribune.

ANOTHER SPLENDID ARTICLE ABOUT HOUDINI. HE LIVES IN "THE HOUSE BY THE SIDE OF THE ROAD," HERE, THERE AND EVERYWHERE—BY JOE MITCHELL CHAPPLE.

plane. During his Boston engagement, every performance was thronged with people who had "bought" Houdini. He had SOLD Keith's to Boston. As we sat there, sipping our coffee, and writing on the menu cards I thought it was something like a restaurant using a "specialty" as an enticement, and then being able to sell other things on the bill of fare. Like a sale of some one thing in a department store like a Rexall "One Cent Sale"—like any number of things in everyday life.

Like many others, I was curious about his name—Houdini—which, in popular parlance, is being used as an adjective, descriptive.

"Yes," he said, rather sadly, I thought, "I have made a name for myself literally and figuratively. When I started, the people insisted upon a foreign trade mark on all their goods—the 'made in America' slogan hadn't yet been approved—and so I became 'Houdini.' The people didn't need to know"—smilingly—"it was Ehrich Weiss from Appleton, Wisconsin, they were coming to see. I love the name my mother bore; the name that is mine but I have given myself as Houdini to the public. Sometimes I would like to get away from it all, but I recognize that the Houdini the people are paying to see belongs to the people. Shortly before her death, I gained my mother's consent to legalize the name 'Houdini.'"

With all his other distinctions during his brilliant career, Houdini has fulfilled the dream of Sam Walter Foss—

"Let me live in a house by the side of the road
And be a friends to a man."

For he has lived in a "house by the side of the road," here, there and everywhere, and the record of the good he has done will bring him the sobriquet requested by Abou Ben Adhem of old—"One who loves his fellow man."

To me, he widened the horizon of business as related to all other activities, proving how all effort is akin.

Scientists and Harvard professors are searching for the fourth dimension. Has Houdini solved the mystery?

I asked him. He shook his head neutrally—this creature of self-liberation. I felt I had met a man who had done something new under the sun.

Business men are all looking for the fourth dimension—production, sales, and no loss.

Houdini philosophy helps us all.

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN GIVES $50.00 PER MONTH TO THE RED CROSS

William Jennings Bryan, former secretary of state, is to give $50 a month—until he is called for service himself—for Red Cross relief work among the American soldiers and sailors. In his letter to Miss Boardman making his offer he asks:

"If I send the checks to you will the amount be divided equally between the two branches of the service?"

ROOSEVELT'S SON ENLISTS

During his course of instruction he will be rated as a private, but when he has qualified he will receive an officer's commission, and be attached to one of the airplane squadron stations.

DISCOVERY OF AMERICA COST $7,000.00

The discovery of America cost a little more than $7,000, according to documents found in the archives of Genoa. These documents record the value of Columbus's first fleet at $2,000. Columbus himself was paid a salary of $300 a year and his two captains $200, while the members of the crew were each paid at the rate of $2.50 a month. It was a great investment, fully justifying the expenditure.—National Tribune.

GEN. McALPIN DEAD

Gen. McAlpin enlisted as a drummer boy in Co. A., 7th N. Y., in the Civil war, and later became Captain of that company.

He was the son of David Hunter McAlpin, who made a fortune in the tobacco business, and was himself many times a millionaire.

French pastry may be bought today in any country except France. The confections which made France famous were placed on the forbidden list. No pastry may be eaten for two months.

DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS WITH MEXICO RESTORED

Complete and formal diplomatic relations with Mexico were restored when PresidePnt Wilson received at the White House Ignacio Bonillas, the first Mexican embassador to be received since the overthrow of Madero. Mr. Bonillas was presented to the President by Mr. Lansing, Secretary of State, and was surrounded by his military aids in uniform during the brief ceremony.

"SPRING FEVER"

By Martha E. Bales, Willoughby

Out near the streamlet I wandered
When Nature was calm and still,
And the sunset lay in its beauty
Over river, valley and hill;
The trees stood tall and stately
Beside the glistening stream,
And all the buds were slowly bursting
Red in the sunset gleam.

And soft through the budding branches
Quivering a-down the hill,
Like a voice from the golden sunset,
I heard the robin's trill,
Deep in my heart finding echo,
Stirring a vague unrest
Till my heart grew as strangely restless
As the rustling wind from the west.

O'er and o'er in sweet cadences,
I heard the robin's trill
As he sang his mate a love song
In the boughs beside the hill.
Oh bird, why art thou restless?
Go seek thy tiny nest,
The home you have built to abide in
And fold thy wings in rest.

But stay! I love thy singing,
Oh robin, so bonny and free.
Come perch on the bush by my window,
And sing in the morn to me.
Sing of the hopes I have cherished,
Sing of the lands free from care,
Sing of the Heaven up yonder,
Where all is so sweet and fair.

SAVE THE TREES.

Fruit occupies quite an important place as a food and in keeping people healthy. As potatoes, wheat and other staple foods promise to be high the coming winter, the canning of all surplus fruits along with that of vegetables this summer will be of great help in solving the food situation. It would be well to secure spraying material, and be ready to spray when the proper time comes.

For the control of the codling moth, apple trees should be sprayed just after the blossoms have fallen with three pounds of arsenate of lead and 1 1-4 gallon of lime and sulphur to 0 gallons of water. This spraying must be thoroughly done in order to secure the best results.

Spray plum trees and cherry trees with the above formula just after the blossoms have fallen and the number of plums and cherries stung by the curculio will be reduced to a minimum.

ALL BECAUSE THE PEAR TREE BLOOMED

A Delightful Spring Story From "Every Week"

By Fannie Heaslip Lea

She did not allow herself now to consider the rainy day. Her first pair of silk stockings provided a thrill that allowed of no gloomy reflections whatsoever.

Her cheeks were flushed, her eyes shining, when she stepped on the Prytania street car. It was the most crowded hour of the day, but what of that? with silk stockings to stand in! She was not, however, forced to stand. At the very front of the car, next to the door, two small seats faced each other across the aisle. One of these Linda attained.

Her vis-a-vis, a tall young man in blue serge, sheltered himself in an evening paper, above which he scowled alertly. Linda folded her hands in her lay, looked down at her feet, and drew a long sigh of contentment.

The car, crowded with home-going shoppers and business men, lurched along between vague twilit spaces. Lights blossomed up and down the street. There was the busy murmur of voices, the hiss of the conductor's bell, the occasional click of fares rung up.

Linda never knew just when she first looked across and met the eyes of the man in the opposite seat. Because her instinct pricked her, and because she had been properly taught by movies and Sunday supplements, she looked down again at once but not before a little stinging thrill ran over her from head to foot. He had (she was astoundingly conscious of it) the nicest eyes imaginable, deep-set and steady, with a flicker of fun in their depths. In that one startled glance, Linda was also aware of a

SUGGESTIONS FROM THE POINT OF VIEW OF ANOTHER WOMAN RESIDENT

Much favorable comment is noticeable in the letters received from the women residents, in regard to the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce as communnty workers. The commendations show a sense of fairness and an encouraging interest. The suggestions made are a helpful indication of the desire to co-operate in the progress of the village. No doubt the ladies would appreciate a reply from the Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

To the Willoughby Chamber of Commerce:

Perhaps to no part of the community does the Chamber of Commerce as a factor for good loom so portentiously as to the women of the village, who have watched the results of its activities with EVER-INCREASING INTEREST.

Not only is one's civic pride gratified, but the improvements wrought have in no small degree lightened the daily round of labor.

EVERY MOVEMENT FOR THE BETTERMENT OF THE VILLAGE BY THIS EARNEST BODY OF CITIZENS HAS BEEN DULY NOTED AND HEARTILY APPROVED.

One of the most puzzling problems of the housewife was solved by the clean-up days, when the accumulation of unburnable rubbish, which is now whisked out of sight as by magic, was accomplished.

And now, Mr. Chamber of Commerce Man, we appeal to you for help in another direction.

Help us to keep our houses inside and out attractive for you, by conceiving a way to abate the smoke nuisance which is turning our once clean little town into a miniature Pittsburgh.

RED CROSS DESIRES THAT ALL INDIVIDUALS ARRANGING BENEFITS HAVE PROPER CREDIT

The members of Willoughby branch of Red Cross very sincerely and gratefully appreciate any effort made to increase the finances of the organization. Sewing material must be had and such material is expensive and it means money to keep necessary stock on hand, therefore financial assistance is always welcome. But to avoid various misunderstandings and that all may have proper credit for work done and for other obvious reasons, we kindly ask that all entertainments or any ways and means of raising money be advertised and signed by those having charge of same.

We are proud of the spirit which has prompted successful effort on the part of several people and organizations of the village. May the good work continue.

BUYING GAS

Nearly everything you buy is weighed or measured.

Scales weigh your meat.

Baskets measure your apples.

And meters tell the quantity of gas you use.

The accuracy of meters is proof positive that gas is as carefully measured as any commodity you use.

Before a gas meter is sent to your home it is thoroughly tested for accuracy.

Every meter is in perfect condition and ready for years of service before it is placed.

You pay for the gas which is carefully measured as it passes through the meter.

COLONIAL THEATRE

"Hit the Trail Holliday" is the Colonial's attraction and it should be a dandy. George M. Cohan, the author, has taken for his hero a bartender who turns evangelist to fight the liquor traffic, and he gets a lot of fun out of the development of the plot. So will the audience. The barkeep has some of the characteristics of Billy Sunday, and some of his mannerisms, but there is no sting in the fun. It is a difficult subject, but it has been handled without offense. "Hit the Trail Halliday" was here last February and Cleveland liked it. The Colonial Stock Company, augmented for the occasion, should make of it a real success and a very entertaining one.

PROSPECT THEATER

Films come and films go. "Enlighten Thy Daughter" is here to stay. It will be at the Prospect theatre, beginning Sunday afternoon.

Thousands of films have been produced this year. Few have survived the public censorship. "Enlighten Thy Daughter" has been heralded as a masterpiece.

Stripping convention of its robes, "Enlighten Thy Daughter" stands pre-eminently the first film ever produced to probe beneath the surface of conditions as they exist today.

Its authors knew no boundaries; convention was ignored. The inside of the cup was shown. There are no short cuts through the film. It is running over with facts as they actually exist.

During a limited run of two weeks "Enlighten Thy Daughter" will find an especial appeal to every woman, no matter of what creed, or what belief. It is strangely human in its general appeal.

Produced at a cost of thousands of dollars, "Enlighten Thy Daughter" will make its initial local appearance at the Prospect theatre for a week or more, beginning Sunday afternoon, and continuing throughout the week.

Performances will begin at 11:30, 3:00, 7:30 and 9 p. m. There will be a special orchestra.

LIBERTY THEATRE

"A Trip to the Moon," a comedy travesty with a lot of sensations thrown in, is the feature of the Liberty's vaudeville bill for next week. Vincent Gardner and company present it. The Tiller sisters sing and dance. The Aaron Trio are musicians above the ordinary, and they have several novelty numbers.

An added feature is William Farnum's photoplay, "The New Governor," a revision of the one formerly known as "The Nigger," which was builded upon the drama of that name. The exhibition of this picture will begin Sunday. The photoplay will run the entire week.

ALHAMBRA AND MALL

"The Barrier," by Rex Beach, America's greatest author of red-blooded, man-sized stories, will be shown for the first time Sunday at the and Alhambra theatres. The engagement will continue throughout the week.

"The Barrier" is essentially a story of Alaska, in the great out doors where right is might but the law has its say. It has played three months in New York and is still running. The critics there say it is a picture without a flaw.

"The Barrier" was produced by Edgar Lewis, who made "The Nigger," "The Great Divide," "The Bondman" and other great plays.

MILES THEATER

"Shot at Sunrise," a comedy sketch which comes within an ace of being tragedy, is the headliner on the Miles vaudeville bill for next week. Next in importance should prove the appearance of Ruth Roye, singing comedienne, who is fresh from an engagement with Charles Dillingham's "Big Show" at the New York Hippodrome. Tanean brothers, in blackface, will sing and dance, and so will Sim Imps and A Girl, who add acrobatic stunts to their eccentric foot work. Kane and Herman have a lot of clean comedy and many good songs and Billy Gleason is a capable monologist. There will be first-run motion pictures starring Pauline Frederick and Olga Petrova.

CORONA THEATRE

With charming Miss Clara Kimball Young as the star, "The Savage Instinct" will be shown at the Corona theatre, Saturday, May 27th. Handsome Chester Barnett will be seen as Miss Young's support in this attractive and highly entertaining play. The wonderfully woven story that runs throughout the play makes the "Savage Instinct" a more than notable production. This picture plays on "The Heart of the Blue Ridge," and will be a big attraction that you would not want to miss. See it at the Corona theatre, 745 Prospect avenue.

Other features are Monday, Eilleen Sedgewick and Gypsy Hart in "Dropped From the Clouds;" Tuesday, "Money's Mockery," with Douglas Gerrard; Wednesday, "Money Madness," with Mary MacLaren and Eddie Polo; Thursday, Ruth Stonehouse in "The Stolen Actress;" Friday, 7th episode of "The Mystery of the Double Cross," with Molly King.

STAR THEATER

"The New Liberty Girls," Drew and Campbell's own show, is at their theatre next week and it should be a good one. Jack Conway, funniest of stage Irishmen, is the producer and the leading fun maker, and he has the best of support in such burlesque stars as Arthur Mayer, Etta Joerns and Barry Melton. The play, called "Riley's Vacation," is supplemented by a remarkable acrobatic specialty by Paynton and Green, and by the singing of the Liberty Four, a first-class quartet. The whole is staged pretentiously and costumed with the best. The musical score and the lyrics are especially good.

EMPIRE THEATER

Jack Reid's "Record Breakers" are at the Empire next week, playing the last engagement that house will have this season. Patrons will be sorry when the theatre goes dark, for Reid always brings a good show and this is his biggest. There are two farces with music, "The Birth of a Sensation" and "The Sanatorium," which are very funny, and the musical numers are excellent. Reid is the orig inal burlesque "dope fiend," and he has good support in the comedy from Nat Young, Babe LaBelle, Norma Jerome and Lucille Ames.

LUNA PARK

The bill for Luna Park next week features the Weston Models, one of the best posing acts of the summer season. The other acts include Van Horn and Ameri, a novelty and comedy acrobatic act; Lightning Weston, a spectacular and artistic painting in oil; the Crutchfields in a cowboy flirtation; Ma and McCree the Boy—the girl who keeps the world smiling, and the three Fishers, a novelty offering, "A Night in the Everglades."

Buy Bond's $15 Clothes & Save Up to Ten Dollars

There's no DOUBT about it, when it comes to wear, quality and real style, you can get just as much satisfaction from a Bond $15 Suit or Topcoat as you would from a $25 garment bought of the ordinary retailer. Just because you PAY him more, it doesn't necessarily follow that you get more.

Pay for Clothes---Not Selling Expenses

Figure it out for yourself. Who pays for the road salesmen who go out to sell clothes to the retailer? Who pays for the losses from bad credits? Who pays for the retailer's profit and running expenses? The wearer of those clothes, of course.

When you buy at Bond's, you buy of the maker, and pay less because you do not pay for the above expense items.

Because we are receiving daily shipments of merchandise from our New York factory, we are showing newer styles than any other Cleveland store.

Fact of the matter is, we often have certain models in stock ready to sell before other manufacturers have them ready for their road salesmen to show to retailers.

"HONEYPEPPER"
"I have tried Toedtmann's 'Honeypepper' frequently for cough and cold; it has always helped me quickly. I have often recommended it to my friends. One of them, on East 120th street, had to stop work on account of coughing for four months. I induced him to take 'Honeypepper'; he took four bottles and is now back at work. He says 'Honeypepper' did it."—Geo. A. Reynolds, Supt. Calhoun Collection, City of Cleveland. For sale at all leading drug stores. All wholesale houses or send 25c to [illegible] St., Cleveland.

TWENTIETH YEAR—NO. 18. WILLOUGHBY, OHIO, JUNE 1, 1917. ONE DOLLAR A YEAR IN ADVANCE

STANDARD TIRE AND RUBBER COMPANY MOVES OFFICES

Attendant upon securing truck and moving service the Standard Tire & Rubber Co. contemplated moving its general office from the Hippodrome Building to the Penfield cottage, recently purchased, Monday, June 4th. The building has been transformed into a suitable office building and the factory office work in Willoughby will be condensed there to some extent. Considerable advantage is derived from the consolidation of the offices in Willoughby. The factory is busy in both the tire and the mechanical departments.

F. H. MURRAY DONATES LAND; JUDGES WILL JUDGE POTATOES

A representative list of the lawyers and judges of Lake county are numbered among the ones who will promote a patriotic garden for Lake county. The proceeds, if any, (the latter is a modest expression of one of the lawyers) will be given to some patriotic order. If no results are obtained those promoting the venture will make up the deficit. The following named lawyers have contributed pro rata to the extent of one thousand dollars:

G. W. Alvord, H. S. Amidon, E. F. Blakely, E. K. Giblin, H. E. Hammar, H. T. Nolan, B. C. Shepherd, E. H. Pierson, Homer Harper, G. H. Shepherd, R. M. Ostrander, L. G. Tuttle, M. A. Tuttle, G. N. Tuttle, C. H. Nye.

Mr. F. H. Murray has donated us the use of 10 acres of good land. The $1,000 is to be used for hiring team work, purchasing seed and fertilizer. The above named lawyers expect to contribute the labor. Judge Nye is chairman; Mr. Nolan, M. A. Tuttle, Judge Shepherd and R. M. Ostrander will form the executive committee.

R. M. Ostrander also is a general manager and will look after the growing of the crops. It may be expected that a splendid garden will be in evidence, for such an array of legal talent could not but coax the most obdurate of vegetables from the land.

The lawyers, too, will surely profit from this outdoor labor and exercise during the summer. One may expect much in the way of legal decisions next winter.

SPECIAL MEETING TRUSTEES OF THE ANDREWS INSTITUTE

The board of trustees of the Andrews Institute for Girls held a special meeting on Saturday, May 26, 1917. This was followed by the regular quarterly meeting on Tuesday, May 29th.

The meeting of Saturday was taken up with consideration of financial matters relating to the Institute's interest in The New York Steam and Ice Companies.

There were present at the meeting the following trustees: Messrs. Van Gorder, Orcutt, Kennedy, St. John, Carmichael and also Messrs. Wilson and Shankland. The attorney for the school, Mr. Hammar, and the attorney for The New York Steam Company, Mr. Miner, were present at Saturday's meeting, at which certain resolutions were passed to assist the Steam Company financially in the present war crisis. A loan not exceeding $300,000.00 will be made to the Steam Company through the agency of the school by an organization of a coal company controlled by the school. It is intended to act only as a holding company and as extra security against any unforseen contingency which might arise. This method of relief had previously been worked out by Mr. F. H. Goff, presi-

MEMORIAL DAY SERVICES RECEIVE MUCH PRAISE

The Memorial services in Willoughby Sunday, the 27th, proved to be a splendid success. All having charge of plans, arrangement and program, deserve much commendation. The parade was a special feature, and one that called forth many expressions of admiration. The Andrews School girls, it is said by a military teacher, really did better than some of the soldiers in training do. The smaller school children did splendidly also.

Rev. Martindale's talk was listened to with interest. Rev. Martindale is a retired Methodist minister, and was scheduled for two other addresses the same day. He gave a careful summary of the events leading up to the United States entering the war.

A capacity audience enjoyed the address, Andrews Glee Club, school drill, the double quartette and other features presented.

The services at the cemetery by the Knights were beautiful and reverential.

LARGE CONCLAVE OF WOMEN ATTEND MEETING

The Woman's Home Missionary Society of Cleveland District held its 24th annual meeting on the 24th of May in the M. E. church. The program was exceptionally fine. Three conference officers were present, also Miss Carrie Barge of the National Association, who was the principal speaker of the day. One hundred and sixty members enjoyed the picnic dinner, which was served in the dining room of the church.

There were about 250 ladies in attendance from Cleveland. Mrs. Miller presided.

MRS CLARA BREYLEY IMPROVING

Mrs. Clara Breyley, who has been quite seriously ill for some time, under the care of Dr. Phrania Chesbro, is convalescing rapidly.

WICKLIFFE OBSERVES MEMORIAL DAY

The Memorial parade in Wickliffe with appropriate exercises, was carried out with the usual success that attends Wickliffe affairs. Mayor Coulby gave a brief address at the cemetery, dwelling upon the importance of doing our regular work in the most efficient way, during these trying times. He spoke eloquently of the Red Cross work. Captain Ellen also spoke and his remarks were flavored with patriotism and enthusiasm. The Willouhgby Drum Corp, school children and Red Cross all made a splendid showing. A couple of pretty floats were also in evidence.

MRS. HARTY OPERATED ON

Mrs. Mary Grover called at the hospital in Glenville Thursday for the purpose of seeing and cheering Mrs. Ida Harty, who was operated on a week ago for appendicitis. The Hartys were formerly connected with the Winden farm, having moved to Brecksville about a year ago. Mrs. Harty is reported as doing well.

FIVE HUNDRED COPIES OF BARONESS HUARD'S BOOK SOLD

Over 500 copies of the Baroness Huard's book, "My Home in the Field of Honour," have been sold by the Burrows Company and they are still re-ordering in lots of 100 copies and upwards. Folks who did not hear the lecture buy it to read the story the Baroness tells. Those who heard her speak buy the book for the longer story, and to retain the book of the war, by Francis Wilson's daughter, as their own. The book is illustrated by the Baroness' husband, Charles Huard, who is the official painter of the war to the sixth army of France. Believing that many of the local folks who heard the Baroness would like to own the book, the S. S. Wilson Co. have placed a few in their stock, for local convenience in Willoughby. The book is of much interest and is written in the same simple and conversational style in which the lecture is given.

THE VOLUNTEER

By Homer Harper

Tune—"Auld Lang Syne."
In time of peace the government
Protects and cares for you,
And when it is assailed by foes
There's but one thing to do—
And that is, make the sacrifice
And follow duty's line.
And lay your life, if needs must be Upon your country's shrine.

A future race shall come and go
As time pours out the years,
But patriot name shall be embalmed
With grateful people's tears;
Nor wreath, nor statue, bronze or stone,
Shall willing soldiers need—
For graven on each loyal heart
Shall be each valorous deed.

I. M. CROWTHER ASSISTS IN RECOVERY OF AUTOMOBILE

The garage of T. Newman, 17608 Euclid avenue, Cleveland, was entered recently and a Chalmers and White roadster taken. The Chalmers was run off the bank at Stop 18, Brush Hollow. The White roadster was noted by I. M. Crowther in front of the school at Stop 18. The fact that the machine was on the wrong side of the road, and other features, led Mr. Crowther to believe that it was a stolen car. He notified Constable Moloney, who investigated and found that the machine was one of the stolen Newman cars. Mr. Newman came out later and recovered both machines.

E. F. BIRKHOLZ AND J. EDW. WEIT TO ADDRESS MEETINGS

At a meeting of the local Y. M. C. A. board at the high school Monday night, plans were arranged that the importance of the Y. M. C. A. army welfare work might be brought before the public. Several expressed a desire to learn more of the movement at the meeting of the Township Patriotic Federation, held in the library recently. Opportunity will, therefore, be given to hear E. F. Birkholz, who will speak on the subject at the Presbyterian church Sunday, June 3rd.

Sunday, June 10th, J. Edw. Weit will speak at the Congregational church. The same Sunday T. B. Lanhan, who had charge of the Y. M. C. A. work on the border, will address an audience at the Methodist church. The Y. M. C. A. work in Europe, training camps in this country and other matters of much interest will be gone over.

It is interesting to note in this connection that John R. Mott, whose stirring talk at the Statler upon this work, of which he is the head, is still fresh in the minds of the hearers, recently was appointed by President Wilson, upon the committee of eminent men who will be sent as advisers to the Russian Republic. It is said that the only time John R. Mott was known to shed tears was at the moment when this honor was conferred upon him by President Wilson.

ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT AT THE KIRTLAND SCHOOL

Written for the Republican by Mrs. Mary Grover.

The exercises for the graduating class of 1917 of the Kirtland high school were held in the Mormon temple Friday evening, May 25.

The class numbered 11, eight girls and three young men. All did themselves and their teachers much credit.

The music was a special feature.

The decorations were simple, yet beautiful. The class colors, green and orange, trimmed the pillars in the auditorium. The platform was very pretty with ferns tied with yellow bunting and sprays of apple blossoms with green leaves twined with the class colors formed a fitting and artistic background for the graduates, teachers, board of education and Rev. Floyd H. Randall, who were seated at the front of the platform.

The Salutatory was given by Miss Rose Hunkin. Miss Katherine Markell gave the Valedictory. The auditorium was filled to its utmost capacity with relatives and friends of the graduates.

Class Roll

Rose Hunkin, Florence Yaxley, Dorothy Morse, Elsie Martin, Blanche Grover, Gladys Harmon, Katherine Markell, Gertrude Morse, Harry Port, Maynard Freshley, Vernon Chapman.

LITTLE FOLKS ENTERTAINED AT PARTY

Twenty-four little guests from the District No. 1, Kirtland School, were entertained by their teacher, Miss Winifred Logan, at her home Friday evening last. Flowers and small gifts from the little pupils testified to the esteem in which their teacher is held.

Games and refreshments were enjoyed. First prize for peanut finding was awarded Mabel Rhodes. Consolation to Lucille Schaffer. For "Pinning on the Donkey's Tail," Francis Yaxley received the first prize, while Lenore Ryan was consoled. The party lasted during the wee sma' hours of 6:30 to 8:30. The guests included Neva Pace, Leolyn Ryan, Mary Ely, Francis Yaxley, Isabel Plaisted, Mary Walsh, Mary Judkins, Dorris Rhoads, Lucille Schafer, Ethel Sears, Mabel and Fay Rhodes, Lenora Ryan, Hazel Yaxley, Milo Daniels, Edward Ely, Kenneth Yaxley, Allen Prokop, Charlie Pace, Roger Clark, Glenn Pace, Warren Ely, Joseph Walsh and Elva Rhoades.

DON'T BE A BUSINESS SLACKER

Right now the man who allows fear to paralize the hand he writes checks with is just as dangerous to his country as the deliberate crank who throws a bomb

The Premier Motor Corporation believes that the business slacker here at home is our one real enemy—far more of an enemy than the Kaiser, because the Kaiser can not get at us.

If you can not thrust a bayonet, you can at least drive your business harder than you have ever driven it before and thus help create the imperative prosperity with which alone this war can be won.

It betrays weak-mindedness to think of diving headlong into a period of panic, penance, abject fear and hysterical economy.

The man who sneaks down and buys a marriage-license life preserver is not the worst breed of slacker. Conscription will take care of him. But for the business slacker there is no law but his own conscience.

The man who destroys business takes the bread out of the mouths of thousands.

No matter what comes—
Don't be a Business Slacker.

* * * * *

Right now is an almighty good time to take the bull by the horns and look him square in the eye.

America is at war. It is a big war—a very big war. It may be a long war. And when we try to imagine what may happen no one can blame us for looking serious.

But there is absolutely no reason for being scared, or, in a business way, even apprehensive.

We can not avoid the firing line—we can avoid the bread line.

War is Transient—the United States is Permanent

The demands on us will be great—but our resources are inexhaustable. The United States to-day has practically all the real money in the world. But money is just like a man—if it is inactive it is useless. While we are talking about making our factories and our farms produce—let's not forget to keep our money producing. We will encounter serious problems, but American ingenuity and inventive genius is equal to any emergency.

We are going to win this fight because we are on the side of right—and when we come out of it we are Going To Be a Real Honest-to-God Nation.

Meanwhile, what about business?

The real barometer of America's business are the smoke stacks to her factories—her dinner pails—and the mouths of her one hundred millons.

America is Going Full Speed Ahead—Don't Let Anybody Talk You Out of that

Even if America desired hard times, the world would refuse her the wish. We have been conscripted as the world's kitchen, the world's ship yard, the world's bank—The World's General Business Manager—Carte Blanche.

America is bound to be prosperous. That's her part in the war. Someone must keep wealthy enough to meet this war's pay roll. That's our job. As a result, the great mass of men, women and children in this country can no more avoid getting money out of this present emergency than a lily in the rain can avoid getting wet.

Get these facts through your head, for they are the only true facts on which you can base your business plans.

America Has Taken What Amounts to a Seven Billion Dollar Order

And, mind you, this is only the first of many such orders. Seven Thousand Million Dollars worth of shoes, canned goods, harness, motor trucks, automobiles, ships, blankets, clothes, guns, munitions and what-not must be manufactured and delivered. Who gets this seven billion?

If you are a merchant, every customer on your books will get a piece of it. If you are a manufacturer or mechanic, you yourself will get your part of it.

There is going to be no non-productive labor or capital in this country. Everybody must produce—which means that everybody must be on somebody's pay roll.

For at least three years America can not avoid being the most prosperous nation the world ever saw.

America's wealth is about to be Redistributed and Put in the Hands of Our People.

—not in the hands of the hoarding few.

When our people get money they have the courage to spend it.

So look out for big business—Tremendous and Inevitable Big Business—and get ready to take care of it when it comes.

We assure you that the Premier Motor Corporation, for one, proposes to keep right on building and selling and creating its share of the wealth with which this war must be fought, and we have reason to believe that the whole motor car industry feels exactly the same way about it.

The biggest week Premier ever had was last week—our biggest day so far was last Friday.

—and it looks now as if we had only started—proving that honest merit still wins. Premier, with its unheard-of advantages and its unquestioned quality, constitutes real economy at $1,985.

Meanwhile remember that the man who allows fear to paralyze the hand he writes checks with is as dangerous to his country as the deliberate crank who throws a bomb.

THE OFFER OF THE COLLEGE

"To be at home in all lands and all ages; to count nature a familiar acquaintance, and art an intimate friend; to gain a standard for the appreciation of other men's work and the criticism of your own; to carry the keys of the world's library in your pocket, and feel its resources behind you in whatever task you undertake; to make hosts of friends among men of your own age who are to be leaders in all walks of life; to lose yourself in generous enthusiasms and co-operate with others for common ends; to learn manners from students who are gentlemen, and from character under professors who are Christians—this is the offer of the college for the best four years of your life."

The preceding paragraph, written by William Hyde, president of Bowdoin College, is an inspiration to those who have decided upon going to college and an alluring incentive for those who have not. College offers all the above mentioned and a good deal in addition.—From the University School News.

WHEN FATHER PACKS THE TRUNK

Contributed to this Paper by Mrs. Mary Grover.

When mother packs the trunk she lays
Each garment in its place.
She folds things neatly, smooths them down
And leaves no vacant space.
She works in such a quiet way
You'd never think 'twas hot,
And when we get to Lonelyville
There's nothing she's forgot.

When father packs the trunk, gee whiz!
You ought to see him, now!
He grabs the things up, right and left,
And chucks them anyhow!
He rams them in, and jamps them down,
And later on you'll find
The very thing he wants the most
He's somehow left behind.

A "HIGH SPOT" IN THE HISTORY OF WILLOUGHBY

As Related by C. P. Lilly

(The following story as related from memory by C. P. Lilley, tells of one of the "high spots" in the history of Willoughby.).

On June 16th, 1850, the steamer G. P. Griffith left her docks at Buffalo, bound for Cleveland and Detroit. The boat was under the command of a new captain. He had, a few days previous to this, purchased the controlling interest in the boat. He was carrying a passenger list of over 300 passengers; German and English emigrants and a few other nationalities mixed comprised the larger part of the list. The boat was carrying a full cargo of merchandise, freight also. All passenger carrying steamers at that time were not considered equipped without the saloon or bar, and the "Griffith" was no exception. It was also provided with this.

The saloons at that time aboard the boats were rented by the saloonkeeper by the season. They were under heavy bonds. They were not allowed to sell alcoholic liquors of any kind to passengers or crew who were in any way intoxicated. It seems the captain of the boat had taken some advantage of the law upon the sailing of that vessel. Just before the sailing of the boat three men walked aboard and enquired for the captain, the time the boat was to sail for Cleveland. He looked at his watch and replied "one hour and so many minutes,—nearly two hours." One of the men made the remark that he guessed they had better go down below and take a steamer, "the Saratoga," which was lying just below the "Griffith." It was then nearly due for the "Saratoga" to sail.

"Well," the captain said, "it is all up to you, gentlemen, the "Saratoga" is a good boat, but a slow boat. This boat," he said, "has a record. We sail at such an hour, and we expect to beat that record on this trip."

One of the men said then they did not take the boat that was going to race, so they decided to take the "Saratoga." The captain said "that is as you wish, but I will guarantee this boat will be in Cleveland first." They bid the captain good-day and left.

They went aboard the "Saratoga" and were landed in Cleveland safe and sound.

Previous to this the captain had ordered his under officer to have an extra supply of fuel put aboard. He said they would need more fuel and more wood upon this occasion than is common to use. He also ordered an extra quantity of oil and lard. Before this, when the boat was fixed to start, a carriage drove upon the docks—two ladies alighted. They were met by one of the officers, who conveyed them to their stateroom aboard the boat. One was an older lady, the other middle aged. After they had been in their room a few moments the younger woman enquired for the captain. The officer said the question was a stunner to him, but in order to satisfy her replied that the captain was in the office, and that he would be in to see them in a few minutes. The young lady spoke up and said: O dear, I wish we were at home. If we were we certainly would stay there. The officer inquired what was the matter and she said "I do not feel right concerning this boat. She said it had seemed to her all that morning that something awful would happen to the boat before it made its round trip.

CONTROL OF CLOTHES MOTHS

Packing woolen goods, furs and rugs in tightly sealed pasteboard boxes or wrapping them in paper will prevent clothes moths and carpet beetles from destroying them, according to entomologists of the Ohio Experiment Station. Frequent brushing and airing in the summer prevents the insects from getting a foothold. Steam cleaning and the use of gasoline in cracks in floors or in storage boxes are also recommended to control these pests. Napthalene tends to repel moths.

HOMEMADE BREAD

Simple Recipes Which Should Enable the Inexperienced Housewife to Produce Satifsactory Results.

By the home baking of bread—the largest single item in the diet in almost every household—housewives should be able in many cases to reduce expenditures for food, say specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. The making of this important food in the home is a relatively simple process, the specialists point out. Even housewives not accustomed to home baking should be able to produce satisfactory results by using the following simple recipes of the department.

White Wheat Bread—Short Process

For one loaf of bread pour one cup of boiling water, scalded milk, or a mixture of the two, into a mixing bowl over one teaspoon salt, one tablespoon sugar and one tablespoon lard or other fat, if fat is desired. Allow the mixture to cool until it is lukewarm. Mix one-half cake compressed yeast with a little of the lukewarm liquid and pour it into the other mixture. If liquid yeast is substituted for the compressed sort, the ingredients should consist of one-fourth cup of yeast, three-fourths cup milk water or milk and water mixture, and the quantities of the other substances already mentioned.

If convenient, set the mixture of yeast, liquid, salt, sugar and fat aside in a warm place, not over 86 degrees F., for an hour before adding the flour. If not convenient to set the mixture aside add the flour at once, putting in a little at a time, and kneading until the dough is of such consistency that it sticks neither to the bowl nor to the hands. This requires about 10 minutes. After the flour is added, cover and allow to rise 1 3-4 hours at a temperature of 86 degrees; it may be better to set it at a lower temperature, but the lower the temperature the longer the time required for the rising. Cut down the dough from the sides of the bowl, grease the hands slightly. Knead a little and set aside to raise again for one hour. With a good bread flour the dough should treble its bulk with each rising. With a soft wheat flour it should not rise much beyond twice its volume. Divide into portions, mold and place in greased pans of standard size (1½ quarts). Allow to rise until a light touch will make a slight dent. With good bread flour this happens when the dough reaches the top of the pans. Bake 50 minutes.

Home-Ground Wheat Bread.

1 1-4 cups water or skim milk, 1 1-4 teaspoons salt, 1 tablespoon sugar, 3 cups home-ground wheat flour, 1-2 cake dry yeast or 1 gill liquid yeast.

Set a sponge at night, using half of the flour. In the morning add the rest of the flour, beat well, put into a greased pan, allow to rise until it doubles its bulk, and bake. (For particulars as to setting the sponge, etc. see directions for making wheat bread.)

ALL BECAUSE THE PEAR TREE BLOOMED

A Delightful Spring Story From "Every Week"
By Fannie Heaslip Lea

presentable chin and a likeable mouth, a dark blue brocaded tie, the glint of a queer greenish stone in his tie pin—

For five minutes of rather shaken and conscious aloofness Linda looked at the floor, looked down the car, looked out of the window; then, against all precedent and dreadfully against her own will, she looked back at the stranger.

His eyes rose to meet hers above his neglected newspaper.

Linda flushed—almost imperceptibly. His look was unmistakably for her, yet somehow entirely without offense. She regarded him coldly and looked away. She was conscious that he folded his newspaper and rolled it between his hands. With the eyes that every woman wears in the back of her head, she knew that he presently settled his tie.

She was berathing quickly, which surprised her, and a sweet, wild sense of adventure, danced about her heart, which surpresed her yet further. (It was spring, you remember, and on Linda's homeward way the pear tree still blossomed.) However it was, and whatever the reason, when Linda's eyes for the third time met the eyes of the young man in the blue serge, she smiled—the faintest, shyest flicker of a smile. And the young man smiled—almost as faintly, if not quite so shyly. The car proceeded in a rosy haze.

The old story, you observe. Pity 'tis, 'tis true.

Two blocks farther on Linda left the car—when to her breathless horror the young man rose and followed. She had been holding the thought when she smiled, of her imminent departure; but obviously the fate of the evil-doer was upon her. Her hurried steps took her no faster than his unhurried stride.

Community Matters of Idividual Interest

The thick atmosphere and downpour of soot at times turns our main street into a very undesirable thoroughfare and the constantly belching chimneys, although bearing testimony to our growth and prosperity, are proving a VERY REAL DOMESTIC CALAMITY to those who must wield the cloth and brush in defence of cleanliness.

Again we ask your aid in enforcing an ordinance which, at the time of its passage by the village council, caused great rejoicing, but the anticipated result was not attained for there has been no abatement of the ear splitting noise of the motorcycle or auto, whose driver cuts out his muffler and makes life miserable for those who wish to enjoy the pleasant days on their porches.

If that, and an EFFECTIVE speed ordinance could be enforced which would make for the safety of little children especially, it would add still more to our great debt of gratitude to the Chamber of Commerce.

Signed: A WILLOUGHBY HOUSEWIFE

WILL REP CHAMBER OF COMMERCE luu C

AN OPEN LETTER ADDRESSED TO THE KIRTLAND GRANGE, FOR THE BENEFIT OF ALL SUBURBAN SHOPPERS AND OTHERS, BY THE SECRETARY OF THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE:

Mrs. Dora McFarland,
The Kirtland Grange,
Dear Madam:

Your communication to the Willoughby Chamber of Commerce was duly received and presented to the Board of Directors.

We note your suggestion for a Ladies' Rest Room in Willoughby. In reply to the suggestion there has been in planning for some time just such a place, and at the present time it is almost completed. The S. S. Wilson Co. are fitting up the front half of the middle room upstairs for a Ladies' Rest Room. Comfortable chairs, a place to lie down, a place to write, phone connection, parcel checking, toilet—all are provided.

Other places in town for the convenience of shoppers will be found in the Cleveland Trust Bank, second floor Town Hall, and Kennedy & Rockafellow's.

In your visits to Willoughby keep in mind any suggestions your Grange may feel desirous to make for the betterment and development of Willoughby, or the CONVENIENCE AND SERVING OF ITS SHOPPERS.

Communicate with us at any time, making any suggestions as will help us to make life in all its phases more pleasant.

Very truly yours,
E. F. BIRKHOLZ,
Secretary Willoughby Chamber of Commerce.

SPECIAL MEETING TRUSTEES

dent of the Cleveland Trust Company and Messrs. Tolles and Hammar.

At the Monday meeting Mr. A. R. Duram, president of the New York Steam Company, presented an oral report regarding the present management, policy and financial situation. He explained that while the labor question was a serious one, yet the coal situation was a real menace at this time.

At both meetings Mr. Franz C. Warner, architect, and Mr. Arnold of Arnold and Tripp, landscape architects, retained by Warner and Litchfield, presented general plans for sewer, water, roads and grading on certain portions of the new location. They recommended an expenditure of about $98,000.00. Upon the suggestion of the board they brought in estimates of curtailed plans the completion of which would cost in the neighborhood of $60,000.00. After a general discussion it was the sense of the board that all building plans be temporarily held in abeyance awaiting the outcome of the war situation and also the present contingencies of the New York Steam Company.

At the meeting on Monday a resolution was passed authorizing the giving of a deed of 25 feet towards the so-called Ben Hur avenue, running off from Vine street.

Another resolution of importance was the authorization of the purchase of the Alice E. Hanscom property on Glen avenue for $7,000.00. This will become a part of the general plot plan.

The budget for 1917-18 was presented and adopted, carrying an authorized expenditure for a total ex-

STUDENT'S RECITAL AT LAKE ERIE COLLEGE.

The student recital at Lake Erie College on Monday evening, May 28, began at 8:15 in Memorial hall. The following participated in the program:

Miss Thelma Robinson, '19, Miss Marjorie Harrison, '20, Miss Elizabeth Kendall, '20, Miss Mildred Gugler, '20, Miss Florence Owen, '19, Miss Marion Saunders, '19, Miss Emily Brown, '20, Miss Olivette Gourley, '19, Miss Nancy Hubbard, '19.

TRIBUTE PAID HEROES AT LAKE ERIE COLLEGE

Tribute was paid to the heroes of other wars at the Memorial day vesper service at Lake Erie College Sunday afternoon, May 27, at which the G. A. R., the Woman's Relief Corps, the Sons of Veterans, the Ventrans of the Spanish War, the Ladies' Auxiliary and the Boy Scouts were honored guests.

Professor George Johnson of Case School of Applied Science, Cleveland, gave the address. There was a special program of patriotic music, given by the college choir under the direction of Dean Henry T. Wade of the department of music. Memorial hall was decorated in a patriotic way for the occasion; a large flag draped across the back of the platform and small flags marking the seats reserved for the honored organizations who marched in the procession.

Professor Johnson preached on the blessedness of sacrificing one's life for the brethren. He recalled the stand taken for liberty by our English forefathers in the time of Cromwell and by the heroes of the Revolution; and he reviewed, also, the struggle to save the union for Democracy in 1861, and finally the liberating of Cuba. The heritage from the heroes of these great epochs makes the present generation worthy to fight for democracy today.

PRICES ON FOOTWEAR

In few instances are there any departures from the prices we have quoted in the past, setting at rest whatever reports you may have heard about the necessity of paying extravagant prices for shoes. While we have condensed the number of quotations they embrace practically our entire stock.

Men's Price Range

Men's boots	$4 to $7	Men's oxfords	$3.50 to $7

Basement Store

Women's high and low models	$2.50 to $5.50	Men's boots and oxfords	$2.50, $3, $3.50

Women's boots, according to certain reports, are only to be had at a most extravagant prices. As will be noted our highest price for women's boots is $15, and these are made by Laird & Schober and Wright and Peters, whose names alone insure the purchase of none but the highest grade procurable at any price.

The leather from which the great bulk of our shoes were made was contracted for and became our property when the market was normal, which explains our ability to Guarantee a Saving of from $1 to $3 on every pair of staple footwear, and even up to $5 on women's novelty boots.

Never in the long history of our store has our assortment been as far-reaching and varied as now. We invite inspection of these displays and the opportunity of demonstrating that an extravagant expenditure for footwear is NOT necessary.

Tips For Play-Goers

F. KEITH'S HIPPODROME.

F. Keith's Hippodrome will open eason of popular priced summer deville next Monday. Last year form of amusement met with lerful success in this city. The management will add several features to the light breezy pro- of vaudeville and motion pic- to make this season even more lar. There will be seven enter- ng vaudeville acts of a type to fy the warm weather audiences. e will be a one hour motion pic- show before the vaudeville and beautiful arbor with its free lem- e and buttermilk will be pro- d on a more lavish scale than before. The question was often d last season how this theatre d offer such excellent shows for twenty and twenty-five cents. management of the Hippodrome ank in stating that the great ca- y allows them to offer Cleveland big shows for a nominal cost. opening show is sure to prove o set a fast pace for the rest of season. The usual Sunday vau- le concerts will be given. On day (Registration Day) the mat- will start at 2 o'clock and there be some fitting exercises to co- orate one of the most impressive in American history. On Sat- y and Sunday there will be three rmances and two shows on all days. For those who are desirous of knowing the time of starting it is announced that pictures will be shown from 1:30 to 2:30 and vaudeville from 2:30 to 4:30. In the evening the performances will start at 7:30.

COLONIAL THEATRE

"Mile-a-Minute Kendall," the Colonial Stock's offering for next week, is a lively farce by Owen Davis, just released by Oliver Morosco for stock presentation. It ran in New York from November until May, and had best of notices.

The story concerns a riotous young spendthrift who elopes with an adventuress, but is saved and made into a real man by a simple country girl. Miss Cahill, of course, will be the charming daughter of the farmer, and Mr. Fassett the mullionaire's son.

If those who have seen it in the east are to be trusted, the action is as fast as the name of the play, and there is comedy a-plenty and quaint rural philosophy thrown in for good measure. The management looks for another record breaking week wit it as the attraction.

STAR THEATER

"The Innocent Maids" opens the Star's summer stock season Monday with a musical show in two acts. It is a promising organization, and brings to town such recognized burlesque headliners as Al Franks, Ada Lum, Mae Comeron and Connie Fuller. Two bigtime vaudeville features have been adde dto the bill in "The Big Four Quartet" and Ora Ental, a dancer with an unusual repertoire. The show, summer stock as it is, should compare very favorably with the best of full season attractions.

LUNA PARK

Three high class acrobatic acts feature the free vaudeville bill at Luna Park next week. Harry Davis, eccentric comedy juggler; Victoria and Georgetta, upside-down dancers, and The Youngers, in a head-balancing act, deserve a place on any bill. Oother features are those offered by the Roselly Trio, with an unusual singing act, and by Mack and McCree, billed as "The Boy and Girl Who Keep the World Smiling." They had been booked for this week, but could not get released in time to keep the Cleveland engagement.

LIBERTY THEATRE

"War Brides," photo play version of the one-act vaudeville playlet in which Mme. Alla Nazimova starred two years ago, is the attraction at the Liberty all next week. The powerful little drama has been expanded for film purposes into a full two hours of entertainment, and has lost little by the change. The initial presentation will be Sunday afternoon.

STANDARD THEATER

The week of June 3 this theater will show one of Fox's latest and best photoplays, "The Silent Lie," with Miriam Cooper, a young star of great ability, in her first production for this company. The story tells of a woman who battles against the almost overpowering wrath and resentment of her own father, who has detested her from birth because of her mother's unfaithfulness. The girl is left in the snow, but is rescued by Conahan. After she has married him, he suspects that her past is not without a blemish. Her own father confirms Conahan's belief, and the big trapper finds solace in the loneliness of his forest cabin. When he finds that the father is trying to bring disgrace on his wife, Conahan returns to the village. He arrives in time to save his wife from shame and to learn that she still loves him in spite of his unjust suspicions.

The Weekly War Review and Mutt and Jeff comedy cartoons will make up a pleasant program.

CORONA THEATRE

"Camille," with Clara Kimball Young as the leading lady, will be shown at the Corona theater, 745 Prospect avenue, Sunday, June 3. "Camille" deals with the life story of an adventuress, who finally falls deeply in love with a young student in Paris. The student's family does everything possible to break up the affair, and much sorrow comes to Camille as the result of these efforts. She goes back to the old life and her old lover, but the man of her own heart in the end learns she never truly loved anyone but himself. This is a picture that you should not miss. Other good features all week. We change our entire program daily.

MILES THEATER

Coming Monday C. H. Miles has made arrangements to present to lovers of high class vaudeville and pictures one of the greatest programs ever presented in Cleveland. It is the intention of Mr. Miles to keep the beautiful Miles theater open all summer, and in so doing there will be a grander and bigger program of the best vaudeville material now before the public. First comes "The New Producer," a musical comedy with 15 people. It is full of pretty musical numbers, wonderful costumes, including three sets of scenery and electrical effects, which go to put this production in a class by itself. Bill and Mayo in an excellent comedy singing and talking and dancing act, then comes Richard Wally and company. Reno, the tramp cyclist, in his new act, "The Man Has Wheels." Devine and Williams in their greatest act, "The Boy in the Street." Ben Franklin and company will present the dramatic playlet, "The Girl at Home," and to fill out this wonderful bill is Louise Huff in "Freckles," and coming on Thursday for the last four days is Fannie Ward in "Unconquered."

Buying Bond's $15 Clothes Shows Good Judgment

It never has been good business to pay more for an article than is necessary. According to the standardsset up by the ordinary retailers, Bond's clothes are really worth up to $25. But remember—when a retailer charges you that much—he has added to the wholesale cost enough to pay his profit and expenses. Bond's plan ELIMINATES the retailer. The clothes come DIRECT TO YOU.

New York's Newest Styles
For Spring---Your Choice

Just One Price $15 The Year Around

Some Plain Facts---Read Them

We make these clothes in our own New York factory. By reason of tremendous volume we turn out more and better clothes with a minimum overhead expense.

We sell direct to the wearer—for cash. This cuts out road salesmen's costs, retailers' charges for profit and expense, and losses from bad credits.

These facts are of vital importance to you, Mr. Man. because they bring Bond's Clothes to you for $15, instead of having to pay up to $25 for them.

WAITE HILL NEWS

Waite Hill, May 29, 1917.

Mr. W. B. Pease of Painesville was motoring around over Waite Hill and Pleasant Valley Friday of last week in the interest of his Insurance company.

Arthur Hoose and family motored up to his father's Thursday of last week.

Miss Hattie Dean of Willoughby spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Luther Givens.

Raymond Givens of Camp Perry came home Saturday last for several days' visit among relatives and friends.

* * *

There has been so much rain and cold weather that many around here that had gardens partly planted have had to plant all over again, especially sweet corn.

* * *

Mr. C. C. Webster and family have moved into the Maher house, formerly the Richard Yaxley house.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Cox, a 9 pound son Sunday morning. All doing well. Mrs. Cox is being cared for at the home of Nettie Gillette in Willoughby.

Irwin Hadlock was in Cleveland on business Monday.

A fine monument has been placed in Waite Hill cemetery for T. C. Cox and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen from Mentor were callers at Irwin Hadlock's Sunday.

Miss Dora Givens has returned to her home in Virginia after spending nearly two months at her brother's, Luther, here on Waite Hill.

Please remember the date, June 5, of the Band concert at Kirtland town hall, for the benefit of the Red Cross. Everybody turn out and give them a boost.

* * *

The Cox cider mill that has stood on the corners for so many years, has been torn down.

* * *

"Billy" Cox, who joined the U. S. navy a few weeks ago, has been very ill with pneumonia and in the hospital at Norfolk, Virginia, but is getting better so that he's written several letters home. We're all in sympathy with "Billy" around in this neighborhood, where he was so well known.

* * *

Mr. Dave Waite, we understand, is improving, which we're glad to note.

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Cox entertained a company of friends from Cleveland over Sunday.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Givens are moving to Willoughby from the Parkhurst place.

A new family will soon move in the Wells house as the Wells family have rented their farm and will soon leave for N. J.

The Otises were out Sunday.

Several trees were blown down and uprooted during that fearful gale Saturday night, a week ago.

The commencement exercises of Kirtland high school on Friday last was a grand affai and drew a large crowd. The exercises were unusually fine. The Madison orchestra rendered fine music for the occasion. There was also some fine vocal music from Cleveland parties. The temple was beautifully decorated and the class of course were looking their "level best." Saturday P. M. the class all went to Willoughby and were photographed in a group.

* * *

It's Mr. Richard Yaxley that has been ill recently, instead of his wife as we stated in our last week's letter.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. H .O. Wells were guests over Saturday night and Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Wells of Cleveland. Mr. Hills came after them and brought them home in his auto.

* * *

Most everyone around here attended the Memorial and Decoration Day doings in Willoughby Sunday and all pronounce it a grand affair. The speaking and music by the quartet and the bands was just simply grand and called out a great throng of interested spectators.

WITH YEARS, ACTIVITIES OF SAMUEL AUSTIN INCREASE

C. C. Hatfield of Chicago, International Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. was in Willoughby Saturday last looking over the Lake county work. He was exceedingly pleased with the progress that is being made.

Mr. Hatfield was Lake county's first Y. M. C. A. secretary, holding the position about nine years ago. Among other folks, Mr. Hatfield called upon Samuel Austin. Mr. Austin is much interested in the Y. M. C. A. work, and remarked that while he was not able to do as much as he would like in a physical way, in a financial way he was anxious to do all possible. At 67, Mr. Austin's vigor and alertness are much more indicative of a man of 47, than the 67 he claims.

One of the anecdotes in Gamali Bradford's "Portraits of Women" describes an encounter between George Ticknor, the Boston publisher, and Lady Holland. "I understand, Mr. Ticknor," said the haughty ruler of London society, "that New England was originally settled by convicts." "I was not aware of that," Ticknor replied promptly, "but I know that some of the Vassalls, your ancestors, were early settlers in Massachusetts."

Hear the call of Liberty!
Shall freedom perish from the earth?
In this hour, in the greatest crisis of centuries, America is the hope of the world. Our nation—cradle of liberty, and now its last rock and refuge—is called upon, that mankind shall be free.
To each one of us comes the call. Shall we answer like men? Shall the embattled farmers of Concord and Lexington, or Appomattox and Gettysburg have died in vain? Or shall we, out of our abundance, cause the bells of Liberty to ring the world around.
Decide now. The Government asks for no gifts. But it will borrow your money ($50 or more) and deliver to you
United States Liberty Bonds
paying you 3½ per cent interest (tax free). Backed by the never-broken faith and credit and by the entire resources of the United States, richest of all nations, these bonds are the world's safest investment.
Friend, let it not be said that you were deaf to mankind's dire need. If you love liberty and peace, don't go to bed to-night until you have seen your banker and ordered your Liberty bonds. Your banker will handle the order and give detailed information.

Haven't Touched a Drop of Liquor

Former Drinker Writes Neal Institute

"It has been a year since I took the Neal Treatment and I wish to say to you that it has been a great benefit to me. I haven't touched a drop of liquor since taking the treatment and have no desire to do so. I intend to stay away from it as long as I live. I hope you will have many happy years in your good work."

Just another echo from more than five thousand homes in Ohio and Pennsylvania alone, made happy by the wonderful work of the Neal Treatment in rescuing men from drink. Constant attention by physicians who have specialized in treating alcoholism, makes possible a quick, sure, safe method of changing an irresistable craving for drink into intense loathing for anything alcoholic. Three short days of vegetable medicinals, all taken by mouth, and the poison of alcohol is neutralized and eliminated from the system. Careful diet and good tonics purify the blood, steady shattered nerves and tone up weakened organs. The patient leaves the Neal Institute enjoying such health as he has not had since he first started drinking. No hypodermic injections of dangerous drugs are ever given in the Neal Treatment.

Investigate now. Bring your physician. Don't put it off another day. Write for free booklet giving full information. Neal Institute, 3920 Euclid avenue, Cleveland, Ohio. Phone Rosedale 3490. Other Neal Institutes located at Columbus, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh and Detroit.

INDIAN HISTORY AND PROPHECY BLEND IN ANDREWS INSTITUTES PURCHASE OF LAND EARLY DEDICATED TO AMERICAN GIRLHOOD

The purchase of a small property from Miss Hanscom recently made by the Andrews Institute, as mentioned in last week's Republican, adds to its fine estate another portion of the Wood farm and thereby of the original woodland tract on the Chagrin river, "opposite the present village of Willoughby," as set down in the early history of the Western Reserve, in which was born the first girl child among the early settlers of this romantic region. The pretty story of the adoption of the baby girl into the affection of the Indian tribe of the locality and the blessings invoked upon her by the chieftain is a happy blending of history and prophecy and should be COMMEMORATED IN A WORTHY WAY when the noble vision of Mr. and Mrs. Andrews takes tangible form amid the leafy spaces thus early consecrated to American girlhood. Miss Hanscom takes a keen interest in both the history and the prophecy thus beautifully related by the great memorial of the Andrews Institute to the life story of another daughter of the Western Reserve, Margaret St. John Andrews.

HELP WIN THE WAR BY BUYING A LIBERTY BOND IN WILLOUGHBY

By S. S. Wilson

The time for argument for and against the war is past—that question has been decided. Right or wrong, we are in it and in it to the one great finish. It is now simply a question of how quickly, how efficiently we can do the job. American-like we must act promptly; American-like we must finance the game liberally; American-like we must care for the boys at the front with proper clothing and equipment and care for the wounded and the prisoners humanely. It will not be the great money men alone who will have the glory of furnishing the money. They are doing their share and promptly, too: but it will be the honor and glory of every American man and woman and child to step forward and help finance the great venture. The treasury department has made it easy for every home to have a United States bond—a $50 dollar bond at least; a small payment down and the remainder in four easy payments during June, July and August. Let it be said that Willoughby stepped forward and did her share; let it be said that every home in Willoughby made the necessary sacrifices to help the government in this great crisis. Don't wait and say, "Oh, let George do it, he can afford to;" but say, "I'm going to help my country and I'm going to be one of the FIRST to buy a bond."

In doing so you will not only be serving your country but will be buying the soundest investment known. Your money will be drawing 3 1-2 per cent interest and if the government issues any bonds paying a higher rate during the war YOU MAY EXCHANGE YOUR BONDS FOR BONDS PAYING THE HIGHER RATE.

Funds are most needed now, and NOW is the time to subscribe

A TRIBUTE TO THE WORK OF THE LAKE COUNTY Y. M. C. A.

Last Sunday at the Presbyterian church, Mr. E. F. Birkholz retold the story as related by John R. Mott recently, of the welfare work of the Y. M. C. A. in the war. Listening to this talk, the thought occurs that the work of the Y. M. C. A. is taken a great deal for granted. Just what they are doing in a community is not always fully realized. Mr. Ralph L. Donnan has therefore asked Prof. E. M. Otis to express his opinion of the local work, for publication in the Republican, and we take pleasure in presenting Mr. Otis' very excellent article herewith:

THE WORK OF THE Y. M. C. A.

I have been asked to pass judgment on the work of the Y. M. C. A. in our village. Although I am one of the board of directors and have at least a nominal connection with this organization, my assistance has been so slight that it will not be inappropriate for me to offer a few expressions of appreciation. Furthermore, I have to deal with a large number of the young people who have

WHAT IS NEWS?

The definition of a compliment has been aptly expressed as an agreeable expression of the truth. The definition of news has been humorously expressed as "that which should not have happened, but did." Many ideas have been expressed by metropolitan editors on the question, "What is news?" Many of them, too, seem to have lost sight of their ideals. It would be interesting to learn just what our readers believe to be news. We will be glad to hear from them upon this subject.

TRIBUTE TO LOCAL Y. M. C. A.

been members of this group of workers, and many of their activities are directly connected with the school and its social, educational and athletic life. On account of this situation I have an opportunity afforded to few persons to estimate the benefits conferred by such organizations.

There are two kinds of results gained by the work of this group. The first is the easiest to measure and is perhaps more or less negative in its function. The boys have had a busy winter, planning and carrying out events of social and educational value. This in itself has kept many from indulging in harmful pastimes, for of necessity there is a limit to the pleasures and entertainments to which young people may give attention. It has done more than to give an evening a week to wholesome exercise of body and mind, for the participants make these events topics of conversation both in prospect and retrospect. IN BRIEF, IF BOYS ARE THINKING AND DOING GOOD THINGS IT IS IMPOSSIBLE TO DO EVIL AT THE SAME TIME.

On the positive side, that is in the development and improvement of conduct and good habits, it is much more difficult to measure the effects of Y. M. C. A. work. Other agencies contribute to the betterment of social conditions among the youth and it is impossible to say which ones deserve the most credit. One thing is certain, however, there is a marked difference in the helpfulness, courtesy and general behaviour of the young men of our school. I am convinced that WE HAVE NEVER GRADUATED A GROUP OF YOUNG FELLOWS MORE MANLY, RESPECTFUL AND UNSELFISH THAN THOSE WHO LEAVE THIS YEAR.

Since a large number of these were active members of the local "Y" it is my opinion that no small part of their training was due to the work of that organization.

I have spoken only of the physical and moral benefits which I have noted. My opinion is that the records of our churches and Sunday Schools will show a greater interest in spiritual affairs than we have been able to show for several years. This could scarcely be otherwise when we realize with what emphasis this work is being pushed, as well as the type of men in whose charge it is placed.

In conclusion permit me to say that we feel that the Y. M. C. A. is one of our most powerful aids in the educational work we are attempting in this community.

E. M. OTIS, Supt. of Schools.

A "HIGH SPOT" IN THE HISTORY OF WILLOUGHBY

As Related by C. P. Lilley

The officer pacified her as well as he could and left. Everything being in readiness at the scheduled time, the boat was to sail—the bell rang, and the boat started on its voyage, under a full head of steam. The bell continued to ring until they were out of sight and hearing of Buffalo. The boat proceeded on her way up the lakes. When the boat reached abreast of Conneaut then the report was made that it was on fire; when the boat reached there. It continued on its way until Ashtabula. There they changed wheelsmen. They knew then that the boat was on fire, but he was keeping still in hopes to reach Cleveland. The man who took the wheel at Ashtabula held the wheel to Fairport, keeping the boat on its course. The government light house keeper at Fairport notified the mayor of the town that there was a steamer coming up the lake upon fire. To notify the sailors of Fairport who were commanders of scows—to make sail and prepare to go to the boat if it did not enter Fairport. If it did, there would be no need of going out as the boat drew near, he stated where it was time to make preparations to enter the Fairport harbor the man said he made calculations to enter the harbor on order or no order if he kept the wheel. When the bow of the boat was turned to make Fairport Harbor the captain came up and said—"Dick—what are you trying to do with this boat?" The wheelsman said: "Captain, your boat is on fire—no one gave me orders to make Fairport harbor, but I turned the bow to do so. The captain said: "You fetch this boat back upon her course. This boat is bound for Cleveland and not Fairport." The man said, "Captain, you will never make Cleveland. You are now 30 miles from Cleveland and the boat never can make 15 of it." The wheelsman continued and said "You may send another man to this wheel, as I am going ashore. The captain said: "I will run this boat to Cleveland or run it to H——." In a few moments another wheelsman came up and the first one let himself over

A Delightful Spring Story From "Every Week"
By Fannie Heaslip Lea

"I should have known better!" panted Linda's frightened heart. "He'll try to speak. What'll I do? What'll I—"

She clutched her purse and all but [illegible] new shoes bearing her neatly. Vaguely through her alarm showed a rebellious sense of regret: "And he looked so nice—he looked—"

Then she came all at once in the twilight to her mother's dwelling and security. The old house faced upon the street, and Linda, with a little gasp mounting the steps, looked to see her pursuer go by defeated.

He mounted the six stone steps behind her.

She [illegible] her latch-key in the door, heart stammering against her side.

"What do you want?" she demanded.

"May I come in?" inquired the villain of the piece.

She thought he [illegible] enraged her.

"Please go away—at once."

"Sorry, but—"

"There is a policeman at the corner!"

"Don't be afraid of him! Besides I don't really see any—do you?"

His voice was like his eyes, deep and touched with a lazy humor.

"How dare you follow me in here?"

"Well you see, I—"

"Don't you know I can—have you—arrested?"

She made a nervous little gesture, skrinking closer to the door behind her.

"Please don't."

MAN WILL TRAVEL TEN THOUSAND MILES TO ATTEND "AD" CONVENTION

Traveling 10,000 miles to attend a convention is not considered as particularly unusual by J. Wright Sutcliffe of Johannesburg, South Africa, who is now on his way to the United States.

In a letter Sutcliffe says "If it is humanly possible I will be in St. Louis for the convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the world June 3 to 7, although I will have to travel about 10,000 miles to do it and boats are very uncertain in their sailing just now."

FIRM GIVES EMPLOYES LIBERTY BONDS

The White Tool & Supply Co., H. C. Ellsworth, president, has presented each of the young women employed in their offices with a $50 Liberty Bond. This makes a present of eight bonds to be distributed.

JUNE NOT TOO LATE FOR PLANTING BEANS

Field beans planted in June mature a crop in Ohio in ordinary seasons. Well-drained, limed loam soils of medium fertility produce the best crops. From 200 to 300 pounds of acid phosphate per acre is the only fertilizer the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station recommends for soils in this state to be devoted to beans. A two-row corn planter or grain drill can be used to drill the beans one or two inches deep in rows 28 inches apart. Two to three pecks of white beans will seed an acre.

Cultivating the bean field every week to ten days, and soon after rains, as necessary, saves moisture and keeps down weeds. Only shallow stirring of the soil is necessary. Diseases may be spread more easily if the beans are cultivated when the leaves are wet with dew or rain, the Experiment Station has found.

CONGRESSMAN EMERSON GIVES BOOKS TO CITY CLUB

Pictures and Books Added to Club During Past Week.

The past week brought many gifts to the Club-Home. Members and friends alike contributed pictures and books which made glad the hearts of the house and library committees.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer presented the Club with an enlarged group photograph of Governor Cox, Mayor Davis and former Ambassador Myron T. Herrick, taken by a staff photographer in the Club-Home, Saturday, April 28, when Governor Cox addressed the Club on "Ohio's Part in the War." The picture is a splendid gift to the Club.

Member Eisenberg, of Akron, donated a framed picture of General Joffre, and a beautiful American flag mounted and framed.

Member Albert Finck gave the Club three sugar-pine cones, secured from the vicinity of the Yellowstone National Park.

Congressman Henry I. Emerson sent the Club library 75 copies of the address of President Wilson to Congress on April 2, 1917.

Two volumes of the Manual for the Quartermaster Corps of the United States Army, just published, were received addressed to "Library Committee, City Club," and were marked "From the War Dept." Only one guess is given this time as to the identity of the member who thought of the Club in this connection.—The City.

Sweet clover is being cultivated in practically every state in the Union. At the present time the largest acreage is found in the western North-Central states and in the Mountain states.

WAITE HILL NEWS

Waite Hill, June 6th.

Mr. H. O. Wells and wife left on Thursday last week for their daughter's in N. J., where they intend to remain through the summer. The daughter, Miss Mary, will remain in Willoughby.

It seems lonely not to see a soul stirring around the old place or a light in the evening. It's the first time that house has been vacant since it was built, in 1852, by Mrs. Wells' grandfather, Jesse Tryon.

Mrs. Georgia Tryon of Willoughby has been taken to a Cleveland hospital for treatment for rheumatism. We understand she is gaining.

* * *

Mr. Ed. Stokes and family of Willoughby were at the Stokes home for several days the past week.

* * *

We're hoping for the sake of these "amateur" potato growers that the potato bugs won't be as plentiful as they were last season, else they'll have to get Paris green and plaster by the carloads.

* * *

There is to be a war garden in Kirtland on the late Mr. Clark's farm of 20 acres. My, what a lot of truck they'll raise on such a large garden and besides there'll be lots of smaller war gardens.

* * *

Hubert Stokes has been quite ill but at last account was on the gain.

A family by the name of Van Pelt from York state have moved into the Fred Presley house, lately vacated by Luther Givens and wife.

The city folks have all got out to their summer homes excepting the Parkhursts and they're waiting for their house to be finished.

The writer and family motored to Painesville Decoration day and took in the doings, which were fine indeed, and drew a large crowd of people.

We think the Willoughby Republican fortunate in being able to get the writeups of Mrs. Mary Grover as they are always interesting, whether it's prose or poetry. Also a poem from the pen of Mrs. Martha Bales we note occasionally which adds to the interest of any paper. Surely The Republican is on the road to prosperity, as it's getting better every week. It's a newsy little sheet and should find its way into every home in the county, and only $1.00 per year, in these times with everything way up to "G."

The Sunshine Club will meet this Wednesday with Mrs. Wm. Raser.

* * *

Corn planting seems to be the order of the day. The ground isn't dry enough yet, but it's so late that everybody seems to be rushing it.

* * *

The writer and family took a drive Sunday around through historic, picturesque old Kirtland, over the hills and valleys, and found nice smooth roads all the way excepting about one-half mile on the Flats, from the foot of Waite Hill to the foot of Whiting hill the road is something fearful and it certainly is dangerous for cars to try to pass each other. It's about as bad as River street in Willoughby. "'Nough said."

DEATH OF MRS. SARAH LETT

Mrs. Sarah Lett, mother of Mrs. Patrick Ryan, passed away at her home Wednesday, May 30th. The funeral occurred the following Friday, interment in Willoughby cemetery.

NEIGHBORHOOD BOYS ENLIST

Albert Wicker and John Wicker, sons of Sherman Wicker, Stop 29, are among the boys who have enlisted. Maynard Page is another boy of the same neighborhood who has joined the same company.

CONVENTION MUSIC

The Sunday Schools of Ohio have caught the patriotic influence of the hour, according to word received from State Secretary Arthur T. Arnold. According to Mr. Arnold each session of the State Convention, which meets at Marion June 27, 28 and 29, will be opened with "The Star Spangled Banner," to be followed by "Onward Christian Soldiers." It is thought that this will express the patriotic militant sentiments of the convention. The program is to be followed three times daily, for the three days of the convention. Music for the convention is to be in charge of the well known chorister and hymn book author, E. O. Excell.

VAN GORDER WEDDING

Heights, a cousin of the groom. The bride was attended by her twin sister, Miss Mary Soden, and the little twins, Jane and Julia Van Gorder. The bride entered on the arm of her father, Mr. Albert Soden, who gave her in marriage.

Mr. Edward Kater of Cleveland was the groom's best man.

The ceremony, at which the Rev. Ward Beecher Pickard, D. D., officiated, took place in front of the bay window in the spacious living room, the window being banked with palms and white lilacs. The bride was most charming in her gown of white Georgette crepe with the soft folds of the bridal veil falling over it. She carried a shower boquet of lilies of the valley.

The bridesmaid was also gowned in white Georgette crepe. Her flowers were Ward roses and maiden hair ferns. The little flower girls in dainty white dresses, and pink ribbons, bore baskets of sweetheart roses and forget-me-nots.

The attractive bridal table was set for 12 in the dining room. Ropes of smilax reached from the chandelier to the corners of the table beneath which was a large flat basket filled with Ward roses and lillies of the valley. Small baskets of sweet peas and lillies of the valley decorated tables on the porch and in the hall.

Nearly 50 guests were present, relatives of the bride and groom from out of town. Mr. Fuller is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin in mechanical engineering.

The young couple went immediately to their new home at No. 1441 East 120th street, Cleveland.

PAINESVILLE SCHOOL CHILDREN WIN FLAG

Each year to stimulate the interest of the school children, the old soldiers offer an American flag to the [illegible] percentage of the students in the parade Decoration Day. Five hundred children marched in the parade. Miss Kilcawley's room at the St. Clair St. school had the honor of having the largest number in line and won the flag.

CALIFORNIA VISITOR ENTERTAINED

Mr. and Mrs. Stockwell entertained Mrs. M. J. Bernheim of Los Angeles, Cal., recently. Mrs. Bernheim is an aunt of Mrs. Stockwell's. She was accompanied by Mr. Stockwell's sister, Mrs. Edmonds, of Cleveland, and expects to return to Los Angeles in the fall.

LEADING MAN IN CHESTER WALLACE COMPANY ENLISTS

Phil. Helge, leading man in the Chester Wallace company, has enlisted, leaving recently for Ft. Sheridan, Ill. He is in the officers' reserves, having passed all of the physical examinations, with very high standings.

work of the pupils above the average of the regular high school productions and spoke of the generous interest always shown by Mr. Wallace in the school.

This is also evidenced by the fact that each year Mr. Wallace gives the senior class a party in the way of an evening at one of the performances of the Chester Wallace players. This year the seniors witnessed the play, "In Walked Jimmie," Thursday of last week. About 50 were in attendance from Willoughby. A most beautiful bouquet was sent up by the Willoughby students.

All are most enthusiastic in the praise of Mr. Wallace and his productions. The company had finished a 23 weeks' stay in Butler previous to coming to Painesville. The remainder of the summer season will be spent in Williamsport, Pa. Willoughby surely has occasion to be proud of the talent of its home folks at home and abroad.

STUDENTS' PLAY

Monday. The second showing was given Thursday night.

The play was excellently presented, the cast including:

Col. George Annesley, a retired army officer .... George Rose
Count Karloff, a Russian diplomat .... John Clair
Col. Frank Raleigh, Worburton's regimental colonel .. Benn Daniels
Monsieur Pierre, the Annesley's chef .... Earl Sebring
Magistrate Watts of the third precinct court ...... Charles Minegan
Clerk of the Court .... Benn Daniels
Officer O'Brien of the mounted police .... John Clair

William, a stableboy, Edwin Broderick
Miss Betty Annesley, the Colonel's daughter .. Mattie LaMoreaux
Miss Nancy Worburton, her chum .... Marion Randall
Mrs. Conway, her confidante, ... Margaret Walsh

Each actor deserves special mention, if space permitted, the universal verdict being that the production was "fine." The gowns of the girls were particularly charming and effective. Special music, as interspersed by Miss Wasson, Mrs. Etzensperger and others, lent a delightful and unexpected pleasure to the affair.

BOYS PICKED UP BY PROBATION OFFICER

Two boys were picked up by Probation officer Moloney at 1 o'clock Tuesday morning, on Erie street. Mr. Moloney notified Capt. Newman of the 14th precinct, and learned that the boys had taken $7.50 in money and a bicycle, and that the fathers of each were looking for them. After the notification the parents came out and took the boys, arriving at 3 a. m. Raymond Thompson and Harold Ehrenberg, both of Cleveland, were the runaways' names.

E. F. BIRKHOLZ TELLS OF Y. M. C. A. WORK

In an earnest, sincere and interesting talk, E. F. Birkholz, who has been connected with the local Y. M. C. A. work for the past seven years, re-told the story of the welfare work of the Y. M. C. A. in the army, as related by John R. Mott recently. One secures a more intimate idea of the need of the work of the Y. M. C. A. when told of 5,000 prisoners in a German camp, surrounded with electrified barbed wire, stamping around in the cold, 60 of whom had been confined as maniacs because of the fact that they had nothing to do. Mr. Birkholz [illegible] entertainment and education provided —how the Y. M. C. A. had access to every camp, excepting the country of Turkey, and of the need of funds and what had been raised to carry on this stupendous and worthy work. Other opportunities will be given to hear J. Edw. Weit and T. B. Lanham, Sunday, June 10th and all who heard Mr. Birkholz' most interesting talks, and those who did not, will want to hear these two speakers upon the same subject.

The Housewife's Bit

Our country is at war—War means sacrifice, but only the intelligent sacrifice helps to win.

Our country is at war—young men are going, some to give their lives—all to risk their futures.

Our country is at war—and every head-of-family is called upon to save, to buy his Liberty Bond.

Factory and business houses are asked to run full time—"business as usual"—but to cut wastes, to use labor economically.

The housewife will help by keeping the table well and wisely supplied. She will can and preserve an extra lot this year, that fresh fruit and vegetables may not be wasted.

Gas Service will lessen the discomfort of this patriotic duty.

Tips For Play-Goers

ALHAMBRA AND MALL

Norma Talmadge, the beautiful young screen star, has just completed a new and striking photoplay written for her by the famous playwright, Wilson Mizner, which will be presented at the Alhambra and Mall theatres for four days, starting Sunday. Its name is "The Law of Compensation."

This picture is a typical story of a woman who was ambitious. Living in comfort and with a happy family, she listens to the tempter, a man who makes her believe she can become a great singer, but out of the past looms a warning that finally saves her.

It is the second picture starring Miss Talmadge, made in her own studio.

The last three days of next week, these theatres will show "Lady Barnacle," a new comedy drama featuring Viola Dana. This story is now running in the All-Story magazine. It is possible for those who are reading it to see the complete story in pictures.

THE MILES

Coming next Monday will be one of the greatest and biggest vaudeville shows ever presented in Cleveland. The first on the bill will be the big, pretentious musical comedy offering, "The Chorus Girl," with 15 people. Then comes Tojetti and Bennit, a team that has just come from the big time houses, in their delightful, scintillating dancing triumph. Billy Gleason, the king of song, who presents old and new songs in his only classy way. O'Connor and Dixon, said an eminent critic, present a humorous, interesting, unique and intensely natural and human act in their clever act of song and story.

"Six Imps and a Girl," a dancing novelty with seven people, who present dances old and new in a manner all their own. Then comes Jerrard and McKeevy in their dramatic playlet "The Westerner." This is a real melodrama, relating a thrilling story of the timberland and embellished with one of the most vital scenic effects. The movie program will be Myrtle Stedman in "The World Apart."

STANDARD THEATER

Valeska Suratt, in her newest screen success, "The Slave," will be shown at the Standard theater the week of June 10. The gorgeous costumes which Miss Suratt wears in "The Slave" makes the picture a really dazzling film. She even outdoes her own record established in "The New York Peacock" for the number of costumes. She wears more than fifty different gowns in this drama; several of them are trimmed with live lillies. She plays the role of forelady of a Fifth avenue fashion shop. She spurns the tempting life of luxury led by the models of the place. Old Moneybags, a frequent visitor at the shop, proposes to her, although twice her age. That night she dreams of all the luxury of an old man's darling, and as she gazes out upon the dreary row of tenements and eats her sodden breakfast, Moneybags comes for his answer, and she says "Yes." She knew her past and dreaded a future like it.

CORONA THEATRE

The popularity of Clara Kimball Young has increased steadily since she left the stage in 1913 to become a motion picture actress. Today she stands at the head of her profession, beloved to motion picture fans. The prestige of this gifted player has not been affected by the craze for celebrities of the stage on the screen. She has stood competition with the most noted stage players in the world, advancing in favor with the public. On Saturday and Sunday, June 9th and 10th, Lewis J. Selznick presents Clara Kimball Young in a six-reel version of Robert W. Chambers' novel "The Common Law." "The Common Law" is one of Miss Young's most noted successes. Is marriage necessary? This is one of the questions solved by the heroine of "The Common Law." See it at the Corona theatre, East 8th and Prospect Ave., Saturday and Sunday, June 9th and 10th.

Other features are Monday, "The Scrapper," with Jack Ford; Tuesday, Ruth Stonehouse in "Tacky Sue's Romance," Wednesday, "In the Field of Honor," with Allen Holubar; Thursday, "The Black Mantilla," with Claire McDowell and Friday, Molly King in "The Mystery of the Double Cross."

GREAT PROGRAMS FOR PATRIOTIC CHAUTAUQUA

Many towns in Cuyahoga county are to be favored soon with the "Chautauqua Circuit" of entertainers, as will be seen by the advertisement in this issue.

Announcement of the 1917 Chautauqua program, which has just been made, indicates that Chautauqua week will this year touch a new high-water mark in its appeal to the general public. The program gives every indication of having been arranged with unusual regard for balance and variety, and with an eye almost prophetic in its vision of the needs of the Chautauqua in this great patriotic year.

The musical attractions include the famous San Carlos Grand Opera Co. (return engagement due to universal demand); the Apollo Concert Company; Col. J. A. Pattee's Old Soldier Fiddlers, Vierra's Royal Hawaiian Singers and Players; The Zeidelor Symphonic Sextette; the Lyndon-Gordon Comapny, and the Crawford Adams Company.

NEW GREELEY STORY

J. E. M. Raley of the National Railways Advertising company sends us this good story about Horace Greeley's penmanship. It appeared in the Truth magazine.

Horace Greeley's penmanship was so bad that someone always had to translate it into English. Sometimes these translations were blunderingly funny, as in the case of his answer to a lecture committee in Illinois. Here is what Greeley wrote:

Dear Sir. I am overworked and growing old. I shall be 60 next Feb. 3. On the whole, it seems I must decline to lecture henceforth, except in this immediate vicinity, if I do at all. I cannot promise to visit Illinois on that errand certainly not now.

Yours,
HORACE GREELEY.

And here is what the chairman of the committee replied:

"Dear Sir Your acceptane to lecture before our association next winter came to hand this morning. Your penmanship not being the plainest, it took some time to translate it. But we succeeded and would say your time, '3d of February,' and terms, $60, are perfectly satisfactory. As you suggest, we may be able to get you other engagements in this immediate vicinity. If so, we will advise you. Yours respectfully.

M. B. CASTLE."

The most wonderful things in nature are the smallest.

A flea leaps 200 times its own length. A six-foot man would have to jump 1,200 feet to parallel the event.

One species of fly takes 440 steps in traveling three inches and does it in half a second—corresponding to a man running 20 miles a minute.

Turnip seeds under good conditions increase their weight 15 times in a minute, and in a single day turnips in rich soil increase 15,000 times the weight of their seeds. The globe turnip's seed in a few months is enlarged by the air and soil to 27,000,000 times its original size.

There is no force more powerful that a growing squash. A squash 18 days old, has been harnessed in such way that the growing process lifted 50 pounds on a lever; 19 days later it lifted 5,000 pounds.

Do not risk storing your pretty winter frocks, furs and cloaks without having them cleansed by our process, which removes all grease and other impurities that attract moths.

Section 2. Said extension shall be operated by means of electricity or any other modern motive power except steam.

Sec. 3. The tracks of said extension shall be located in the center of Cedar road, shall be five feet apart, and shall be laid with tee rail weighing at least ninety-five pounds per yard.

Section 4. The tracks of said extension shall be built and maintained at the present or any future legally established grade of the roadway.

Section 5. The company shall pave between the rails of its tracks, the five-foot strip between the tracks, and a space one foot in width outside of each outer rail of its tracks with brick or such other material as may be satisfactory to the village, and maintain and renew said pavement in constant good condition.

Section 6. If the village shall desire to lay sewer, water or other pipes in Cedar road under the tracks of said extension, after their construction by the company, the village shall bear the cost of removing and replacing the tracks, foundations and pavement, but the village expressly reserves the right to repair any such pipes or to make necessary connections with such pipes under said tracks, or to cross under said tracks with new pipes; and in case of such repairs, connections or crossings, the operation of cars shall not be interrupted; but said company shall support its tracks for excavation, without any liability on the part of said Village for any loss, or damage occasioned thereby.

Section 7. Section 9. Said company shall at all times and under all circumstances save said village and its successors harmless from any and all damages, costs and demands whatsoever caused by or arising from the construction and maintenance of said railroad, or its abuse of the privileges granted hereby, or by reason of any negligence of itself, its agents or employes, or on account of any defect in any of its appliances or equipment, during the continuance of this grant.

Section 10. Said extension shall be operated as a part of the Cedar avenue or Euclid avenue line of said company within the city of Cleveland at the option of the company.

Universal transfers shall be given without additional charge to and from all lines at all present or future points of intersection in the Village, but in the event of the construction in the future of two or more lines reaching the same point in the village, the company shall not be required to furnish a round trip for a single fare.

Section 12. The company shall operate at least one car every fifteen minutes, each way, over the extension hereby authorized, daily, between six o'clock A. M. and eleven P. M., and one night car that shall leave the Public Square in the city of Cleveland at or about midnight and no reduction in service on any other line in the village shall be made by reason of this extension.

Whenever the wires of said company shall interfere with the removal of buildings across or along said street under permit from the proper authorities to remove such buildings across or along such streets, such wires shall be temporarily removed and replaced by said company, provided said company shall not be required to remove its poles or wires for such purpose unless it shall have received one day's notice from the corporate authorities of the village of Cleveland Heights, and unless, also, the person desiring to so remove any such building shall have first deposited with the said The Cleveland Railway Company a sum of money sufficient to cover the ex[illegible] ment of said poles and wires, provided further that no wires shall be required to be removed between the hours of five o'clock A. M. and eleven thirty P. M., and that all removing of buildings across or along the tracks of said company shall be done quickly and rapidly between the hours of eleven-thirty P. M. and five o'clock A. M.

Section 14. Wherever in this ordinance the words "The Cleveland Railway Company," or "said company" are used, they shall be held to mean and include The Cleveland Railway Company, its successors and its assigns, as fully as if the same were written out at length; and wherever the words "The village of Cleveland Heights," or "said village," or "the village" are used, they shall be held to mean and include the village of Cleveland Heights and the authority which may succeed said village in the control of said streets; and wherever in this ordinance the expression "taking effect of this ordinance" is used, it shall be held to mean the forty-first day after the passing and due publication of this ordinance, no petition for its submission to popular vote having been presented, or, if such petition has been presented, the day following the official ascertainment that a majority of the popular vote at the submission of this ordinance to vote has been in favor of this ordinance.

Hear the call of Liberty!

Shall freedom perish from the earth?

In this hour, in the greatest crisis of centuries, America is the hope of the world. Our nation—cradle of liberty, and now its last rock and refuge—is called upon, that mankind shall be free.

To each one of us comes the call. Shall we answer like men? Shall the embattled farmers of Concord and Lexington, or Appomattox and Gettysburg have died in vain? Or shall we, out of our abundance, cause the bells of Liberty to ring the world around.

Decide now. The Government asks for no gifts. But it will borrow your money ($50 or more) and deliver to you paying you 3½ per cent interest (tax free). Backed by the never-broken faith and credit and by the entire resources of the United States, richest of all nations, these bonds are the world's safest investment.

Friend, let it not be said that you were deaf to mankind's dire need. If you love liberty and peace, don't go to bed tonight until you have seen your banker and ordered your Liberty bonds. Your banker will handle the order and give detailed information.

All He Had Time to Do.

My grandson, four years old, was knocked over by a motor bicycle a few months ago. He was unconscious, but not hurt seriously. A few days later, when he was feeling pretty good, I asked him why he did not think of it that his papa had forbidden him to go across the street. "Oh, grandma, I had no time to think. I could only quick close my eyes," he answered.—Cleveland Leader.

TWENTIETH YEAR—NO. 20. WILLOUGHBY, OHIO, JUNE 15, 1917 ONE DOLLAR A YEAR IN ADVANCE

SIDNEY S. WILSON HONORED WITH PRESIDENCY OF ADVERTISING CLUB

At a banquet and annual meeting of the Cleveland Advertising club Wednesday night, S. S. Wilson was elected president of the club. Prominent speakers addressed the gathering before and after the balloting. Mr. Wilson has been a member of the Ad club for about 10 years and is regarded as one of its most active members. During the past year Mr. Wilson served the club as vice president and chairman of the educational committee. He is very popular with all the members and is regarded as one of the most loyal workers.

"Is he well liked?" was the query made at the club the morning after the election. "Well, you can't say too much on that score," was the reply. "He is liked and admired by every member of the club."

MEETING HELD TO DISCUSS COMMUNITY COAL COMPANY

King Coal has been much in evidence in Willoughby during the week, because seriously, merrily and otherwise Willoughby has on a little municipal coal war. "Great oaks from little Acorns grow"—coal prices were high; coal was scarce. Mr. George Rockafellow, president of the Chamber of Commerce, said: "Why not try and get some coal at lower price?" Action followed words. Coal and lower prices have followed the action. Orders and co-operation suggested a community coal yard. A community coal yard means a company for Willoughby. A company that those who use coal may be stockholders in. If you burn coal, there would be a flicker of satisfaction in knowing that the flicker of the coal meant a flicker of profit on stock invested in a community coal yard. A meeting was held in the bank Wednesday night to consider the proposition. So Willoughby may be one of the first to operate a community coal yard.

If you are interested, drop in and talk the matter over with Mr. Rockafellow. If Willoughby cannot have a gas plant perhaps it may have a community coal yard.

MISS SHERWIN APPOINTED WAR WORK LEADER.

Miss Belle Sherwin of Winden Farm was elected chairman of the Cleveland division of the woman's committee of the Council for National Defense at a meeting held the 12th. Miss Sherwin is a member of Mayor Davis' war commission.

THE WILLOUGHBY REPUBLICAN IS GROWING

During the past three weeks, 73 new readers have been added to the Republican's subscription list. The list includes among recent subscriptions, Dr. John Quayle, of Mentor Plains, Miss Belle Sherwin, of Winden Farm, Mrs. Harry Coulby, wife of the mayor of Wickliffe; Mrs. F. B. Squires, Fred G. Clark of Mentor, etc.

DR. JOHN QUAYLE RECEIVES MUCH MENTION

The New York Evening Mail and other papers devoted a full column article to Dr. John Quayle in their issue of June 7th. In an interview with Dr. Quayle at the Waldorf Astoria, he remarked that a "man's moral stamina and will power are in exact proportion to his physical fitness," and his plan is to reclaim all who are rejected for physical reasons. Dr. Quayle is well known throughout Lake county, having his summer home upon the Plains.

LOCAL BOY IN ATLANTIC FLEET.

Midshipman Paul H. Talbot, who is now of the first class in the U. S. Naval academy at Annapolis, left recently to join the Atlantic fleet and will spend the summer, till Aug. 22, on one of our largest dreadnaughts. This will take the place of the customary summer cruise, which is a part of a midshipman's course. It is not known where the fleet is located, and all letters are censored so that no information can leak out which might be valuable to the enemy.

LIBERTY LOAN IN WILLOUGHBY.

Up until late Wednesday afternoon $56,000 had been subscribed to the Liberty loan in Willoughby, and it was the belief of Mr. Bundy that $120,000 at least would be taken here.

Mr. Means of the Liberty bond campaign stated Tuesday that Lake county would not only buy more than her allotted bonds, but probably lead all the counties in the state in her amount per capita. J. B. Works, who married the late Dr. Clark's daughter, spoke at the meeting in Willoughby Monday night; also Edward Bower of Cleveland. James McMahon sang and Mr. Bundy presided. A rather small audience listened to the lucid reasons for buying the bonds as presented.

DEATH IN PENFIELD FAMILY.

The announcement by Rev. Bright Sunday of the death of Mrs. Elsie Penfield, aunt of L. W. Penfield, awakened a host of recollections in the thoughts of those who are familiar with the long time trend of affairs in Willoughby. Thoughts of when the Penfield family resided in the old Penfield home, now occupied by Dr. Moore. Thoughts of stories told of a delightful hostess and splendid host, when social affairs of interest and charm were held in the old home. Thoughts of a man who was foremost in doing much for Willoughby and in fostering its largest manufacturing plant.

All this and much more is covered by the troop of reminiscences of those who remember. Mrs. Penfield was born on the Willoughby Ridge—Elsie Marie Ferguson—in 1829. She was married in 1850 to James Makeman Penfield. She died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. D. H. McBride, New York city, on June 9. Previous to her marriage her parents moved to Willoughby village, owning and occupying a residence on the east side of Euclid street, adjacent to the Van Gorder home. Her marriage was solemnized there. For 15 years Mr. and Mrs. Penfield resided at the old Penfield homestead at Willoughby Center, where their daughters, Glendora and Edith, and their son Raymond were

COMPLIMENT FOR WAITE HILL AND FOR THE REPUBLICAN

The Republican is in receipt of the following letter from Mrs. Mary Grover, Stop 29 the Main Line. We believe it is unnecessary to say that this letter is entirely unsolicited. This co-operative spirit on the part of our friends is greatly appreciated by the editor, who, in July, will have an anniversary of one year as editor of The Republican. It is especially pleasant to have this letter from Mrs. Grover, therefore, at this time:

June 11th.

My Dear Miss Bryant:

I wish through the columns of The Republican to express my grateful thanks to the Waite Hill Correspondent for her kind words of appreciation of my feeble efforts to help. The great ambition of my life is to make others happy and to help and encourage all who in any way are trying to succeed in their vocation in life, and if by my contributions to the Republican anyone is helped, then I shall feel that I am "doing my bit" to God and Home and Country.

I feel that the Waite Hill writer deserves much credit for her energy and perseverance in getting such newsy items to the Republican each week. It certainly encourages the editor and all its readers also "to do their bit."

I heartily agree with the Waite Hill correspondent that the Republican is a fine paper and is grownig better all the time. I note with much pleasure that the four pages of last week's issue came all together and that is a decided improvement. The Weekly Church Calendar on the second page helps us to know what is being done at the several churches in the village and who the speakers are and what they wiill bring before their several congregations. Truly there is no comparison whatever to the "Delta" of a year ago and the splendid paper we are getting at the present time under the new name "The Willoughby Republican." Certainly everyone ought to be reading it, as it contains so much of the news of the town, besides the county court items and doings at the Hub, and the subscription price being only $1.00 brings it within the reach of nearly everybody.

Sincerely yours,
MRS. MARY GROVER.

The item referred to in the Waite Hill correspondence of last week, follows:

"We think the Willoughby Republican fortunate in being able to get the writeups of Mrs. Mary Grover as they are always interesting, whether it's prose or poetry. Also a poem from the pen of Mrs. Martha Bales we note occasionally, which adds to the interest of any paper. Surely the Republican is on the road to prosperity, as it's getting better every week. It's a newsy little sheet and should find its way into every home in the county, and only $1.00 per year in these times with everything way up to 'G.'"

WILLOUGHBY GRADUATES ITS LARGEST CLASS AT FORTY-SIXTH ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT

"Semper Paratus"—"Always Prepared"—motto for the graduating class of 1917, hung in white letters over the stage the night of the 46th annual commencement, Friday, June 8th. The auditorium was entirely filled. Invocation and benediction was rendered by Father Moseley. The Girl's Chorus and Boys' Glee Club rendered selections, E. F. Birkholz, leader, Mrs. McMahon, accompanist. James McMahon is the director.

Prof. William J. Hutchins of Oberlin Graduate School of Theology, and County Supt. F. H. Kendall gave the addresses. Supt. Otis gave a brief talk before the presentation of the diplomas. There were 25 graduates, the largest graduating class of the high school.

Excerpts from Excellent Talks Given.

Professor Hutchins gave a most splendid address. He spoke of the widening of the horizon of the thoughts of men during the past two years, being almost beyond imagination. Education, he said, must teach us to SEE and to HEAR, in the words of Robert Louis Stevenson; to be patient with the handicaps of life; and never to have to respond "not prepared," when opportunity arises.

J. H. R. PRODUCTS COMPANY MOVE BASKET FACTORY. MODERN ADDITION TO BE BUILT

The J. H. R. Products Co. of Willoughby has purchased the basket factory owned by the B. O&. railway at Painesville and is now engaged in tearing it down. The building at Painesville includes boilers, some shafting and machinery, building tile, etc., all of which will be moved to Willoughby and used in the construction of a modern, fireproof building about 75x200 feet. The building, after erection, will be used for the manufacture of hydrogen peroxide, blanc-fixe and other heavy chemicals.

The New York Central railway has decided to use the equipment formerly intended for the construction of the Ben Hur siding to construct a siding into the plant of the J. H. R. Products Co. About 11 cars are now upon the tracks, loaded with the basket factory equipment, and possibly 15 or 20 more will be required to haul the remainder.

COUNTY Y. M. C. A. ACTIVE IN WILLOUGHBY

Much Interest Among the Men and Boys During the Past Year.—H. A. Sherwin Considered it His Best Investment.—

By Ralph Donnan.

The only organization in Lake county that is interested in the all round development of the boy is the County Y. M. C. A. For the past nine years we have had such an organization in the county and while there has not been very much said about it, yet during that time there has been a steady growth and development.

The Association has proven its worth among the boys and men of Willoughby and as the interest grows and men co-operate, larger and better things will result.

Some of the outstanding things during the year are The Boys Camp. Ten Willoughby boys spend more that a week at the Y. M. C. A. Camp and every one will tell you that it was time well spent. The Y. M. C. A. Camp is run strictly on business principles and under the leadership of Christian men with high ideals. It is not simply to give the boys a good time, but to help them in right living and thinking.

The Groups have held over 40 regular meetings and at nearly every meeting the boys had a splendid talk along lines that would help them to be better fellows. They have also had several good business talks and several illustrated lectures. The Mother and Son banquet was in itself worth all the effort that has been put forth to bring this work to pass. The County Boys' Conference held February 22nd was another big feature of the work.

There are many other features that could be mentioned, but one is the fact that the County Y. M. C. A. is not only helping the boys of Willoughby but it is active in every part of Lake county. The stronger and better the work in Willoughby the better the work is over the entire county. The work is a county-wide movement and it is not for one community or town alone. Each community and town is expected to do its share of work and to carry its part of the budget. Willoughby is represented on the county committee by Ernest Birkholz and J. Edward Weit. Rev. Floyd Randall is president of the local board, which is under the direction of the county committee. The County Y. M. C. A. reaches the greatest number of boys at the smallest cost per capita. The late Mr. H. A. Sherwin said: "Of all the money that I gave to different organizations I consider the subscription to the Lake County Y. M. C. A. the best investment I make."

WILLOUGHBY GRADUATES ITS LARGEST CLASS

Need of Another School Building For Willoughby Taken Up by Superintendent Kendall.

County Superintendent Kendall spoke of the need of another school building for Willoughby. The rapid growth and crowded condition of elementary school testified to this, he said. The importance of the elementary school was dwelt upon, as many pupils, he related, never got beyond that point in their regular schooling. He congratulated the school on having sent a champion speller to Columbus last year; and an essayist this year, and of the favorable impression that the present graduating class had made.

Professor Otis Awards Chamber of Commerce Prizes.

Prof Otis spoke in congratulatory terms of the class, stating that it was better prepared in initiative, physically and for general work than any preceding class. The prizes awarded by the Chamber of Commerce, as mentioned in The Republican some time ago, were won as follows: Gertrude Gillette, first; Tom Jocelyn, second; Hugh Bell, third and Reed Feirley, fourth. This was for the records in English, $20.00 being the prize offered. For all around studies, athletic ability, literary work, etc., prize was awarded to Margaret Walsh. The ten dollar prize for the best literary society was awarded the Thespians.

The present graduating class won the prize for class receiving highest number of points.

A "HIGH SPOT" IN THE HISTORY OF WILLOUGHBY

He said we will have to fix the seine, now called a net. I wanted to see the lake and father said I might go with them. Everything was ready and we started toward the village of Wickliffe. Wickliffe at that time contained a Temperance hotel and one small store, which was run by a Mr. Vorce. After passing through Wickliffe we came to what is called the Lloyd Lake road. We passed down a ways, and came to where they were grading to build a railroad. The railway was to extend from Cleveland to Ashtabula. It was a one track road and in time it was hoped it might be extended to Erie. It was to be called the Cleveland and Ashtabula Railway, consisting of one track. Now it is called the New York Central and consists of four to six racks.

We passed over the new grading passed on through the woods we noticed smoke and saw three men coming towards us. They were sailors. They asked to be directed to a hotel, and we told them to go to the Lloyd. We learned they were shipwrecked sailors. Then they told us of the fire—that 300 or 400 people were drowned and that 50 or 60 bodies had been taken out. They were digging a long grave—enough for two rows of boxes, we found. Some were baking boxes—some carrying. They were getting their lumber from a saw mill that stood back from the bank of the lake. The saw mill belonged to a Mr. Kennedy. He was the father of our present townsman, Hiram Kennedy. He afterwrads became a sailor himself, and built several boats and sailed some of them. I was not acquainted with him at that time, but knew him well in after years. The men were working and talking and I stood listening. The body of Capt. "Bobbie," as they called him, was brought in. I remember it as if it was yesterday—dressed in black pants, white shirt, white vest, and black necktie. The captain's wife and mother were brought in with him. A white collar around her neck, over a worsted dress, was fastened a gold pin, with a picture in the pin. I was but 17. I had never seen a lake captain, dead or alive, and how I looked upon this one in this remarkable scene! These are a few remembrances of an old settler.

Very truly youres,
C. P. LILLEY.

WOMAN FIXTURE IN JOURNALISM

Her Growth Since Eve Was a Peporter Sketched by Head of Louisiana State University School for Newspaper Workers.

By H. M. Blain, Director of Journalism, Louisiana State University.

No one asks now if there is a place for women in the newspaper field. In fact, woman's energy, versalitility and initiative have spoiled the play of the old nursery.

Women have always done newspaper work in this country. In colonial days, when there were less than 100 papers, 20 per cent were edited and published by women. As early as 1732 Mrs. James Franklin defied the apthorities by editing and publishing her husband's paper, brother of the illustrious Benjamin, while he languished in jail on the charge of libel.

Only in the twentieth century, however, has woman had a secure and recognized place in newspaperdom. Twenty-five years ago her sphere was limited to the society column. Now women are progressive and successful editors of papers.

Growing in Power

The facetious reporter no longer dares laugh at his fair colleague. If he does he is soon informed by the "old man" that the society editor and the womans' page pay most of the salaries on the paper.

Why, there are as many kinds of newspaper women as there women. "Woman's opportunity in journalism," says an experienced woman editor, "comprises the whole register of possible feminine attainment, from witnessing the dying agonies of a mad dog to getting married." There are the women who write the beauty secrets of Lillian Russell and the heart throbs of Billie Burke; who preside over the shopping columns and do out of town shopping for readers; who, camera in hand, tour the world afoot; who sail above the clouds to record their thrills; who hire out as cooks and waitresses to learn why the servant problem is a problem; who housekeep and write about it. There are health and eugenic writers, editors of musical columns, authorities on auction bridge, women who have taken up the tango and maxixe from the news point of view, telephone exchange girls who write in their spare moments, correspondents for farm papers, press agents for theatres, private press agents for multi-millionaires and notables, magazine special article writers and short story writers.

Plenty of Opportunities

Surely there are opportunities enough and to spare. The only danger is that you will be like the young lady in North Carolina who failed to recognize her golden opportunity and missed her calling. For years writers had tried to interview O. Henry. His constitutional reticence and modesty rebelled. This young lady however, who had vainly tried to break into the journalistic field, was thrown with him intimately in his home town, and out of sheer pity for her he opened his heart to her time and again. Years afterward she told a newspaper friend and was amazed to find that she had utterly failed in the first requisite of a newspaper woman. She had not recognized the valuable story that would have crowned her once for all as a successful newspaper and magazine writer.

The opportunity that I covet for you girls of Louisiana, however, is even now at hand. Our state and indeed the whole country need more than anything else intelligent, trained country editors. There is your opportunity. With your natural business sense and the journalistic bee in your bonnet, you can carve out a most attractive career. The city paper has its limited field; the country paper has no limit. Community service is its slogan, and without it no community can fully develop.

WOMAN'S CITY CLUB GIVE TO RED CROSS

Through the members of the Women's City Club $2,100 was raised for memberships in the Red Cross. This included two patron memberships, ($100), seven life memberships ($25) as well as annual, sustaining and contributing memberships.

NEWSPAPERS DYNAMIC ADVERTISING MEDIUMS SAYS HUDSON MOTOR CO.

The following editorial appeared in the May issue of the Hundon Triangle, a trade paper which is sent out to each and every dealer and salesman of Hudson automobiles in the United States. Read what the Hudson Automobile company thinks of the newspaper as an advertising medium:

The burden of the newspaper message today is closest to the people's heart. Millions of eyes seach its columns. Under the ocean on steel cables, overhead on the telegraph wires, are racing reports pregnant with destiny.

The newspaper has crowded national magazines aside for the present as the medium par excellence for advertising. "Next to reading matter in the newspaper will meet every literate eye. Edition after edition all day long, the newspaper presses disgorge the latest word from all parts of the world. And all are eagerly read.

The hotel guest, hears the flip of the newspaper falling through his transom in the gray dawn. Formerly he let it lie until he was dressed. Now he gets up and takes it back to bed with him. The householder seizes the paper the first thing in the morning, and he reads the last edition before retiring at night. Newspaper circulation has jumped by thousands. And readers no longer turn first to the "comics" and sports section.

We would rather see the Hudson advertiseing today in the leading newspapers of every city than in any group of national magazines that could be suggested.

And this is to urge upon you the desirability of making frequent use of your leading paper to advertise the Hudson car, for there we believe we can place the most telling message today.

"CANNED" POSTAL CARDS

Navy Men's Communications Are Printed for Them Now.

An apparent censorship of the mail of the men on United States naval vessels is indicated by a postal card which, received from a sailor on an American battleship, has been made public by the marine corps publicity bureau.

On the reverse side of the card are sentences such as "I am quite well" and "I am wounded and am getting well and hope to return to duty soon," and so on.

Above these is printed warning that anything written on the card except address, name of sender and date will result in the destruction of the card. [illegible]

PROCLAMATION ISSUED BY MAYOR HUNTINGTON. AN APPEAL TO THE PEOPLE OF LAKE COUNTY

Will you stand back of the boys of Company M?

One hundred and fifty boys and young men, enlisted members of Company M, Fifth regiment, Ohio Volunteer Infantry, are preparing to leave their homes to fight for you at the battle front.

They have given up father, mother, sister, wife and sweetheart, friends and all that they hold dear to face the hell of screaming shells and bursting bombs, they are leaving all of the comforts and luxuries behind. Instead of their homes that they have heretofore enjoyed, they will be compelled to live in tents, huts or trenches. Will you stand back of them?

These boys are making the supreme sacrifice—they are going to the front, they are home boys, our boys, the pride of Lake county, and they require at once $1,000.00 that they may have the common necessities of life. They may require meals enroute, shelter, shoes, clothing and many other necessities. It may be months before the government will be able to supply every little detail for their care and comfort.

These brave boys who are volunteering, are giving up all there is to give; they are willing to face death if need be, in its most fiendish form, to lay down their lives on the battlefield of the most terrible war this world has ever known and all that is being asked of you is that you stand back of them and help to raise a fund sufficient to take care of them until such time as the government will be fully able to do so.

One thousand dollars would be less than seven dollars apiece, to maintain one hundred and fifty men from two to three months and furnish them some of the luxuries and delicacies which you, Mr. Householder are enjoying daily in your peaceful homes. Send subscriptions at once to E. D. Barber, Treasurer, Co. M., Main street, Painesville, Ohio. Lake County Volunteer Recruiting Service.

ALL BECAUSE THE PEAR TREE BLOOMED

A Delightful Spring Story From "Every Week"

By Fannie Heaslip Lea

"Then go away—at once," said Linda sternly.

"Can't very well," said the young man, meekly. "You see, I live here."

"Since when?" inquired Linda with outraged sarcasm.

"Since this morning." He added for her further enlightenment "I'm boarding here, y'know."

"Oh!" said Linda.

"Yes, really," said the young man politely. He looked very tall in the dusk. "May I open the door for you?"

Whereupon he did, astoundingly open her own door with her own key, and usher her into her own house.

Linda fled up the stairs like a competent business woman pursued by demons—which is to say, with dignity, but without lingering.

That night at supper the young man appeared and was introduced as Mr. Hewitt from the West. Linda, who looked no higher than her plate, allowed him a nervous and almost imperceptible bow. But after dinner she waited for him in the hall, where odors of cabbage and boiled mutton mingled friendly wise upon the stagnant air.

"I should like to speak to you a minute," sai'd Linda.

How was he to know that her hands were cold, her knees trembling?

"I'm entirely at your service," said Mr. Hewitt.

They repaired to a corner of the dim-lit and unengaging parlor.

"I—I want to explain to you," said Linda.

He waited couteously.

"That I—I don't want to be misunderstood—"

"Yes?"

"When I—smiled—at you in the car—this evening—"

"Oh—did you smile at me?" he inquired, instantly, with every appearance of keen interest.

She looked at him out of her long gray eyes, a little uncertain, a little frightened, then her look steadied bravely.

"I did," she said; "but I don't—that is, I never did before—and I'll be glad if you wouldn't mention it to anybody here."

"You can trust me," Mr. Hewitt assured her gravely. "Still, you were so displeased when we met on the steps—I'm glad to know you did smile at me."

"It was something funny about your tie," said Linda coldly, and left him standing beside the window.

The little glow succeeding her temporary possession of the whip-hand endured briefly. You can not in any comfort live alongside your sin—witness our old friend a certain Mariner with an albatross upon his chest. Linda had dared an adventure in a moment of silk-stockinged recklessness, but she had not thought to take the adventure home with her. Life assumed all at once a hazardous but oddly not altogether pleasing aspect.

"Mr. Hewitt seems to be a real nice young man," commented her mother upon the night after his arrival.

"As young men go," said Linda grimly.

"Well—what's he done to you?"

"Oh, nothing!"

"Didn't I hear him ask you to go out to a moving picture with him tonight?"

"Yes—but you didn't see me go."

"So I see, Miss Cross-Patch," returned her mother tiredly. "It's a wonder you wouldn't be a little more like other girls and a little less like an old lady. Where'd I ever get such

EXHIBIT AND COMMENCEMENT WORK AT WICKLIFFE SCHOOL

About 500 people attended the commencement exercises at the Wickliffe school, evincing the splendid interest that is shown in its progress. The auditorium was decorated with flags, palms, ferns and other plants. The class roll included Ethel Merrills, Thelma Kellogg, Catherine Rice, Serla Leist, Dorothy Fields, Clara Sabette, Lucy Sack, Helen Gould, Ralph Reeder, Harry Martin, Howard Martin, Willis Brewer, Kenneth Fuller, Gordon Whiting and Abednago Reese.

The teachers at the school number: First grade, Florence Yarnell; second grade, Marie Freshley; third grade, Arvilla Carrell; fourth grade, Alice Greene; fifth and sixth grades, Willis Wingert; seventh and eighth grades, Nellie Rogers.

Exhibits included construction and modeling work, sewing, drawing, etc. The Domestic science class showed delightful 'eatables."

Fifteen graduates number the largest class Wickliffe has graduated so far. The little tots went through their "Daisy drill" without an error, which was exceptionally good. Helen Rust, a small girl of seven years, gave a solo. Eleanor Cartwright of the fourth grade gave a piano solo, while pantomines, drills and other features were shown by other grades.

Catherine Rice was salutatorian of the graduating class, while Abednago Reese was valedictorian. The class history by Thelma Kellogg was well written and well delivered. The class prophecy by Abednago Reese was very good. Helen Gould, Ethel Merrills and Catherine Rice gave piano solos, and Lucy Sack, Clara Sabette, Leola Leist and Dorothy Fields had recitations. The boys showed their patriotism in a play entitled "Our Own Beloved America," showing how other nations have come to America and find it to be the best of all. This was given in costume and dialect with the following cast of characters.

Uncle Sam, Ralph Reeder; Scotchman, Harry Martin; Irishman, Willis Brewer; Chinaman, Howard Martin; Jew, Ferdinand Bleich; Italian, Kenneth Fuller; German, Gordon Whiting; Englishman, Abednago Reese.

Wickliffe surely has every reason to be proud of its pupils and their school.

THE NEW DISTRICT SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT

The retiring District School Superintendent, William Gillespie, has been engaged in school work in the west end of the county for nineteen years. For some years he was principal and teacher in the Wickliffe school. Later he became township superintendent of Willoughby and Mentor townships. When the new county supervision system was established in 1914, he became district superintendent in District No. 1, comprising Willoughby, Mentor and Kirtland townships and Mentor Village, which position he has held for three years. He has taken active part in educational matters in Lake county during these years and has made many friends.

Frederic M. Wood, his successor, received his elementary education in Madison township and graduated later from the Geneva Normal school. He received the degrees of A. B. and A. M. from Western Reserve University. For five years he was principal of Willoughby high school; for eight years he was a teacher in Lincoln and South high schools in Cleveland, and for the last five years he has been at the head of the academic department of Andrews Institute for Girls. Mr. Wood is much interested in rural school work and will no doubt make an excellent district superintendent.

MISS TAKAMORI RETURNS.

Willoughby folks are much interested to learn that Miss Takamori completed her difficult program of work at Teachers' college, Columbia university, in a highly creditable manner. Miss Mary Cody, who recently spent a week with her in the university, reports that her teachers speak most enthusiastically of her work as a student and her poise and sincerity as a woman. She received the master's degree. She was honored by a place on the program of the International Kindergarten Union at the recent session in Boston, where her illustrated address was generously applauded.

She is eager to return to Japan and share with her own people the benefits of her study and experience in this land. She will have charge of the kindergarten normal department at Kwassui Jo Gakko at Nagasaki, a Methodist girls' school, where she received her education during Miss Mary A. Cody's principalship.

She gave a garden party in Painesville Wednesday of this week similar to the one given on Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Austin's grounds last summer for the purpose of raising funds for a kindergarten building where a charity kindergarten will be conducted for the children of the very poor and where kindergarteners can receive their practical training.

born. They then came to Willoughby, purchasing the residence at 44 Euclid, where their daughter Gertrude was born. Later they purchased the property and built the residence now occupied by Dr. Moore. This residence was Mrs. Penfield's home until after the death of her husband, James W. Penfield, which occurred April 20, 1897. She was a member of the Methodist church of Willoughby and a most loyal and enthusiastic worker. Music, friends and social life were dear to her, and notable social affairs were regular occurrences at her home.

After the death of her husband she spent much of her time with her children, Mrs. F. A. Seiberling of Akron, Mrs. D. H. McBride of New York city, Mrs. James M. Hough of Toledo and Mr. Raymond C. Penfield of New York. She made frequent visits to the home of her nephew, L. W. Penfield, and to her numerous friends in Willoughby. She was always happy in referring to Willoughby as her home. One sister, Mrs. Mather Smith, of Warren, who is now the only one left of 11 children, survives her.

Sweetness and integrity were attributes of her character. She had not missed a service at church in New York since February and sang out clearly all the hymns by heart.

She was fond of repeating a verse, especially the lines which run:

"When all life's lessons have been learned,
The moon, the sun, the stars forever have set—
Then we shall understand."

A phaeton and a white horse conveyed the young couple on their wedding journey from Willoughby Ridge to Niagara Falls. There were no railways through then. In the New York home of the McBride's there are pictures that have been retained of the Falls. Under these Mrs. Penfield lay after her death.

Rev. Bright took for his text, "At the Evening There Shall Be Light." A long and beautiful life, with love and devotion expressed in word and deed, truly cannot but reflect, lead to and leave for others the light.

NEWS of the PLAINS

The Plains was well represented last Wednesday night when S. D. Shankland met with the Patriotic association. Mr. Shankland gave us an excellent address, and if there was any latent patriotism among us it surely must have been aroused. Mrs. H. F. Kennedy and father, with Miss Helen Randall, accompanied Mr. Shankland, and Mrs. Kennedy presented the work of the Red Cross in such a manner that we feel new members will come into that organization from this community.

Tips For Play-Goers

Colonial Theatre

"The Dictator," rollicking farce by Richard Harding Davis, is the Colonial stock company's offering for next week. It will be the most pretentious of the company's offerings to date, scenically and otherwise, and it should be the funniest. Mr. Davis knew his Latin America with its revolutions and its unconscious humor, and in "The Dictator" he made the most of that knowledge.

Luna Park

The Laguina Trio, a versatile team of trapese, rink and web performers, features the well balanced bill of free vaudeville in Luna Park's out door theatre next week. Other numbers deserving headline notice are those of Helen Keeley, boxer and bag puncher, and of Gussie Flame, who offers the dances of all nations. Cecil Jefferson, billed as a daughter of the south, has a good musical number, as have the Mudge Morton trio. Frear, Baggott and Frear have an unusual club juggling act.

There is vaudeville at 3, 8 and 9 each day, and two band concerts.

ALHAMBRA AND MALL

After months of absence Harold Lockwood returns to the Alhambra and Mall screens in a new picture, "The Haunted Pajamas."

This is a clever comedy-drama dealing with the adventures of a young man who bought a pair of silk pajamas, 400 years old. They have a habit of changing their color to the amazement of the wearer and also changing the looks and appearance of the wearer. Many other novel happenings are charged to the pajamas, all of which go to make a very clever comedy and with such a popular and talented star as Mr. Lockwood, this picture should prove unusually entertaining at this time of the year.

Another popular star to be seen at the Mall and Alhambra next week will be Ethel Barrymore. Her latest picture is "The Greatest Power," and will be shown Thursday to Saturday.

Miles Theatre

Opening Monday at the Miles is the season's all-star vaudeville bill. Headlining this big wonder bill is Mlle. Lotta and Company in her big, magnificent and massive creation, "The World Apart." This is considered one of America's greatest posing acts and Mlle. Lotta is presenting some of the greatest and most timely tableaux, such as "The Flower Girl," "The Wandering Minstrels," "Rock of Ages," "Life in the Trenches," "Child of the Sun," and last, but not least, "Liberty." Beautiful scenery, wonderful electrical effects, put this act in a class by itself. Jones and Krane, who present the dramatic sensation "After Dark," Wilber and Betts, singers and dancers, Mary Marsh, songs of old, Smith and Conger, dancers who dance, will fill out this wonderful bill.

CORONA THEATRE

Bessie Barriscale and Wm. Desmond are the leading players in "The Payment," to be shown at the Corona theatre, East 8th and Prospect, Sunday, June 17th. This is a problem play that deals with the ambitions of a country girl who aspires to fame and fortune. She comes to a big city and after encountering many hardships, decides to make compromises with the established moral laws. She meets a man who is willing to help her climb the ladder of fame as an artist but he exacts a payment which she at the time considers a trifle. Later in years her distorted ideas of social values come back to their true focus. When she meets a man she really loves she is face to face with a very difficult problem.

Other features: Monday, "The Honor of Men," with Neal Hart; Tuesday, "The Thief Maker," with Molly Malone; Wednesday, "The Fire of Youth," with Jack Mulhall; Thursday, "The Brand of Hate," with Tina Marshall; Friday, "Mystery of the Double Cross," 10th episode, with Molly King.

Star Theatre

The Girls of the Moulin Rouge is the third of the Star's burlesque stock attractions for the season. It is a lively musical show, with much of comedy and a big attractive chorus. Billy Foster and Frank Harcourt, familiar to burlesque patrons, head the cast.

An especial vaudeville feature on the bill is offered by Mlle. Davenport and her posing models.

STANDARD THEATER

The week of June 17, Stuart Holmes appears in an entirely new role in his latest production, "The Broadway Sport." Those who have hated the cool villain of countless Fox plays have a novel sensation in store for them, when they will see him as an awkward small-town gawk, the clerk in a small mill. Mr. Holmes has the part of Hezekiah Dill. An old maid employed in the offices loves him but he has a hopeless ambition to wed the boss's daughter, the village belle.

While working late one night he catches two yeggmen at work on the safe. The door is open and he throws them into the vault, after rescuing the money. Then he has a vision of a trip to the White Lights, and he travels a rapid pace, until the boss arrives with the sheriff, which ends his dream. With the boss is his daughter and the lowly clerk proudly restores the money. The girl embraces him and calls him "hero" and he smiles for the first time in his lonely life. A new life has opened up for him.

Other attractions will conclude a fine program.

WHAT LANGERS HAVE TO SAY AS TO HATS

There is a vast difference between mere hats and hats you truly love. To love your hats does not mean simply to pay liberally for them. But after giving your precious time to their selection, to be ABSOLUTELY satisfied, to know that they are not mere conjectures, but masterpieces produced by master minds in a master shop and of materials made by masters of the art, harmoniously combined in the most pleasing proportions, and scientifically conforming to the individual for whom designed, making absolute their correctness of style and workmanship, is the real love test.

These are the essentials necessary for truly lovely and smart hats, and no shop in the city is equipped, qualified and able to offer all these essentials better than LANGERS, importers of French millinery. A true master shop, replete with art and skill in millinery is at 1270 Euclid avenue.

ADVERTISING IN WAR

British Agent Tells of Success Met by the British Government

After raising a volunteer army of 5,000,000 men and many billions of dollars through advertising, Great Britain is now a believer in the potency of advertising, according to P. G. A. Smith, partner in the Dorland Advertising Agency of London, who talked on "Wartime Conditions in England as Seen by an Advertising Man" at a luncheon of the Poor Richard club in Philadelphia last week. More than 1,000 members attended.

Before the war the English government was not convinced that publicity methods were necessary in the management of a nation, but when time came really to stir the people's patriotism the officials of England took the advice of expert advertising men and spent money for newspaper space, motion picture films, posters, etc., Smith stated. Advertising has done its share to keep the Germans back.

"The start of the war was a signal for a letup in advertising," Smith said, "but as time went on the old state of affairs was resumed. Now it is the newspapers that have sought a letup. The big papers are asking advertisers to confine their space purchases to four inches, two columns wide."

"IT SPINS THE MOTOR,"—DISCO ELECTRIC STARTER

The two-unit Ford starter, made by the Disco Electric Starter Corporation of Detroit, Mich., is just what Ford owners and Ford dealers have been waiting for and now their wants may be supplied with a most meritorious device at a very reasonable cost. Here are a few things claimed for this wonderful invention, and are for sale at Bissinger's Magneto Exchange, 1613 Prospect Avenue Cleveland, Ohio:

The Disco Two-Unit System consists of a motor to turn the engine during starting and a generator to charge the battery, storing sufficient surplus energy to supply a steady flow of brilliant and unfailing light to all lamps.

The starting motor transmits the power to the crangshaft by the famous Bendix drive, and not by a troublesome ball and roller clutch, or through a long train of gears, which invariably get out of alignment.

The starting motor is exceptionally powerful, and will spin the engine at from 160 to 200 revolutions per minute, with the lowest possible current draw from the battery, on this account adding much to the life of this member.

The two-unit Disco is absolutely unique, owing to the fact that the complete system can be installed in 3 1-2 hours on any model "T" Ford, by anyone who understands the use of the most ordinary tools. Every part necessary for the installation is furnished with complete instructions. The wiring is made up into harness form and is very simple, requiring very few connections.

HOW TO GROW CELERY

Growing celery for family use by the bed method cannot be excelled for attaining crispness and delicacy of flavor, according to horticulturists of the Ohio Experiment Station after testing various schemes of intensive garden culture for this crop. According to their plan celery may be obtained in the small garden from November until mid-winter.

For this crop a level bed four feet wide and as long as desired is selected. A ditch is dug six inches deep full width of the bed, smoothed on the bottom, covered with three inches of stable manure and then with three inches of the best soil saved for the purpose. Soaking the ground causes it to settle. If desired radishes, lettuce or another early crop may be grown before planting celery.

To water the bed a row of three or four inch tile is imbedded about an inch in the surface soil, running lengthwise of the bed and placed a foot from the outer edge of the bed, the two rows of tile being two feet apart. One end of the tile is stopped with clay or mortar and the other end elevated a little, so that a garden hose may be inserted to water the bed. No watering is done except by filling these two rows of tile.

Early in July celery plants once transplanted are set crosswise of the bed six inches apart in rows a foot apart. Golden Self-Blanching and Giant Pascal have proved good varieties, according to the Experiment Station specialists. The plants are watered and the soil is stirred at least once a week. When the plants are nearly a foot high they are banked with soil to the tops, and in late November they are covered completely with dirt and then with several inches of straw. The celery may be used as soon as blanched, but it keeps till mid-winter in this condition.

ESSENTIALS IN GROWING MORE CORN PER ACRE

"Corn is by far the most valuable food plant that can be grown in the region adapted to its culture, and Ohio is preeminently such a region," says the May Monthly Bulletin of the Ohio Experiment Station with regard to measures necessary to attain maximum crop production during this year of increased demand for food supply. "Still, in Ohio the possibilities of the corn crop are far from realized. We can grow one-half more corn on the average Ohio farm, and produce it at lower cost and with less labor than former crops have cost," it continues.

In summing up the essentials of producing the greatest crop of corn this year, the bulletin gives the following recommendations:

A test should be made of each ear of corn before planting to see whether all kernels will germinate. Because of unfavorable conditions last season, there will be an unusual amount of poor seed this year.

Because of accidents from birds and insects, plenty of seed should be planted and extra plants thinned out when about six inches high.

At the experiment station corn planted early in May has yielded 20 per cent more than that planted during the latter half while June planting has given only two-thirds as much as that planted by the middle of May. In southern Ohio corn may be planted in late April.

Ohio farmers are throwing away hundreds of thousands of days of labor every year in attempting to grow corn on poorly drained land. Such land should now be left idle and effort spent on improving better drained parts.

In the eastern half of Ohio a dressing of ground limestone stirred into the soil after plowing and before planting is almost certain to increase the yield of corn and following crops sufficiently to repay far more than its cost. Farmers in western Ohio, however, are advised to go slow in using lime.

In all parts of Ohio, all fields long cultivated are hungry for phosphorus. In 11 counties over periods of 3 to 23 years, acid phosphate has always paid well on land cropped for many years. Yields of Ohio corn might this year be increased at least five bushels per acre by 200 pounds of acid phosphate, the cost of which would be more than covered by increase in crops after corn.

Stable manure is a great corn producer, supplying the necessary potassium and nitrogen in large quantity if properly handled. A ton of manure contains as much potassium and nitrogen as 500 pounds of a 2-8-2 commercial fertilizer.

A clover sod is the best kind to plow under for the corn crop.

GRANT SIX
at $875

THE wise buyer is he who buys the right car at the right time. Taking everything into consideration—the size of the car, the wonderfully efficient overhead-valve engine, the remarkable economy in gasoline, oil and tires, the lines and finish of the body and the easy-riding qualities of the car—the GRANT SIX at $875 is beyond question the best buy you can make today anywhere near its price.

Motor car prices will never be lower than they are. All indications point to higher prices soon. So the wise buyer is the one who buys now.

In the GRANT SIX, you still obtain the advantages of foresighted buying months ago. You get a car that is produced in a factory of the latest and most efficient type. You are paying nothing for past mistakes or experiments. There is absolutely not a cent of water in the GRANT SIX price.

This season's production of GRANT SIXES is 20,000 cars. There will be a buyer for every one of them. Now is the time to get yours.

TELEPHONE SERVICE GOES FROM BAD TO WORSE

Service as given by the Cleveland Telephone Company is about as bad as anything can possibly be—it goes from bad to worse.

The public is so exasperated that "kicking" to the big arrogant corporation has ceased—the people have made up their minds to stop jumping on the traffic manager—he no doubt is as helpless as are the disgusted patrons of this huge monopoly.

Calling the supervisor and telling of one's woes is about as effective as trying to empty Lake Erie wiith a thimble.

Be patient, be patient, dear public, and bye-and-bye a change may come—stop wasting your breath complaining, for it only adds to your troubles and positively does no good.

Why Mayor Davis' admirable city administration doesn't go to the rescue of the outraged users of telephones in Cleveland is past finding out.

Or maybe the State Utilities Commission could, if it would, take a crack at this wayward institution.

LAKE ERIE COLLEGE TO OBSERVE FIFTY-NINTH ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT

The 59th annual commencement week at Lake Erie College will begin on June 17 and continue to June 20. The speaker at the service on Baccalaureate Sunday, June 17, will be the Reverend Gaius Glenn Atkins, D. D., pastor of the Central church, of Providence, Rhode Island. On June 18, class day, the finals in the tennis tournament will be played off at 2 p. m. The beautiful and inspiring grove exercises will begin at 4:30 p. m. and the concert by the Musical Clubs will take place at 8 in the evening.

Alumnae day will be Tuesday, June 19. The chapel service at which the academic honors are announced will be at 10:00 a. m., the annual meeting of the Alumnae Association will follow directly at 10:30 and the Alumnae luncheon at 12:30 p. m., when the class reminiscences will be given. At 7:30 p. m. the Drama Club will present "Midsummer Night's Dream."

SINGERS CLUB TO GIVE CONCERT FOR BENEFIT OF ST. ANN'S CHURCH AT B. F. KEITH'S HIPPODROME

Music lovers in general will be pleased with the announcement that the Singers Club of Cleveland is to appear in a concert at B. F. Keith's Hippodrome on the evening of Sunday, June 24th.

No organization of a musical nature has ever received the general commendation of the public as has been bestowed upon this unique club. Composed of mechanics, bankers, tradesmen and millionaires the club possesses the cream of the male voices of the city and the fact that it is to appear at the Hippodrome gives opportunity to more people to hear these voices than has ever been granted before.

The appearance of the club at the Hippodrome will be for the benefit of the new St. Ann's church, all the proceeds of the evening being donated to the parish of which Rev. John M. Powers is pastor.

Appearing as soloists in connection with the club's program will be Miss Rae Eleanor Ball, long a favorite with Cleveland audiences and known the country over as a violinist of exceptional ability, and the Rev. John M. Powers, noted as a tenor soloist.

The concert at the Hippodrome is under the general direction of a committee of one hundred, all members of St. Ann's parish. These committeemen are now disposing of tickets throughout the city and the box office at the Hippodrome will be opened on Sunday, June 17th, for the exchange of these tickets, the public sale of tickets at the box office opening Saturday morning, June 23rd.

As in previous concerts the direction of the Singing Club will be in the hands of Albert Rees Davis, who has been directing the club since 1904.

Not Merely a newspaper BUT a NEWS-paper.

TWENTIETH YEAR—NO. 21. WILLOUGHBY, OHIO, JUNE 22, 1917 ONE DOLLAR A YEAR IN ADVANCE

TWELVE THOUSAND, THREE HUNDRED DOLLARS RAISED IN LAKE COUNTY FOR RED CROSS IN ONE DAY.

The committee appointed for Lake county did some real Red Cross work Monday. The results are that $12,300.00 was raised on Tuesday, the result of one day's work. The workers were Messrs. Heartwell, Doolittle and Smith, of Painesville; C. C. Robbins of Wickliffe and S. S. Wilson of Willoughby. This represents considerably more that the full quota and acts as an impetus to make the amount to be raised in Lake county $25,000.00 instead of $10,000.

CO-OPERATION ASKED FOR ON THE COAL DELIVERY

Mr. George Rockafellow has spent much time and effort in getting coal for delivery on orders to Willoughby and vicinity, and earnestly requests that co-operation on the matter of delivery be given. Orders have been received by phone; for Cleveland and other points. Forty carloads have been sold.

The question of delivery and prompt payment, as money must be in hand to cover the expense, should have the co-operation of all who have placed coal orders at the lower figures.

PLEASANT BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mrs. Viola McFarland, of Kirtland, observed her 70th birthday June 18. All of her grandchildren and children helped to celebrate the happy event at her home, seventeen being in attendance. Mrs. McFarland has lived in Kirtland all her life, and it can be truly said of her that she is young in mind and spirit. She is regarded by her friends and children as a beautiful character, and Kirtland folks feel that they are the gainers in having Mrs. McFarland as a neighbor and friend.

SHARPE AVENUE PROPERTY CHANGES HANDS

Robert Thomas has sold his property on Sharpe avenue, formerly occupied by the Law family, to Mrs. Margaret Hughes of Cleveland. Walter Stafford is preparing to occupy the place.

RED CROSS PICTURE SHOWN

The management of the picture show has very generously offered two afternoon benefits for the Red Cross this week. All money taken in on Thursday and Saturday afternoons will be turned over to the Red Cross. Tickets are 15 cents. Please do your part.

ADVERTISING THE BEAUTIES OF WILLOUGHBY

As announced by the committee in charge of the preparations for Willoughby day to be observed here on Saturday, motion pictures will be taken of everyone present that can be induced to appear in front of the motion picture camera. The pictures will be taken by Chas. I. Reid, a representative of the Artfilm studios. The finished pictures will be exhibited in Willoughby at the Hiawatha theatre about a week later, and it is also the intention to have them shown in other towns in this part of the state; thus advertising the beauties and desirability of Willoughby as a residential and industrial center in a very effective manner. Some of the new industries and progressive business houses will be featured in the film. The picture is to be representative of Willoughby in every way.

PERRY TO GIVE DINNER TO ENLISTED MEN

The Citizens' Association of Perry will give a dinner to the enlisted men from Perry on Wednesday evening, June 20, in the Methodist chapel at [illegible]. At 8 o'clock in the church a recognition meeting will be held, which all are urged to attend.

RED CROSS MEETING AT PERRY

Between four and five hundred people assembled at the Odd Fellows' hall Sunday evening and listened intently to the addresses given in behalf of the Red Cross campaign for this week.

Mr. Sidney S. Wilson lead with the description of the Red Cross organization, its needs and what Lake county could do for it, describing in general that the Red Cross organization would act as foster parents for the boys fighting under the stars and stripes in foreign lands.

He was followed by Judge Nye of Painesville, who graphically portrayed the needs of the Red Cross support and visualized most impressively the greater loss of life if no support were given to the movement.

The Reverend Mr. Dietrich of the M. E. church in Painesville followed with a most eloquent appeal for its financial support and thereby proving Lake county's devotion to humanity and answering the call of the Master.

It was probably one of the largest audiences assembled in the county, Sunday evening.

A POEM WRITTEN TO OUR WAITE HILL CORRESPONDENT

My Mrs. Martha E. Bales.

Dear Waite Hill Correspondent:
Do you know that
Kind words are like dew-drops
  That hang on the flowers
And stirs them to fragrance
  In the sweet morning hours?
Like the sunbeam that falls
  Athwart the storm darkened sea;
That light the dark places
  For you and for me?

Kind words are like the stars
  That shine in the night
Or the soothing veil of the moon
  That falls tender and white.
Like strains of sweet music
  They fall on the ear
And live on in our hearts
  A memory most dear.

MARTHA E. BALES.

PICTURE SHOW! SPECIAL RED CROSS BENEFIT AT THE HIAWATHA THEATRE SATURDAY AFTERNOON, JUNE 23.

RED CROSS MEETING IN KIRTLAND

A great deal of interest is evinced in the Red Cross in Kirtland. Dr. Russell of "Russellhurst Farm" has been very active in securing members and the circle now numbers over 80. An enthusiastic meeting was held Sunday night when Rev. Bright of Willoughby and Judge Shepherd of Painesville spoke. A campaign for ten dollars per contribution was started Monday. Miss Belle Sherwin was one of the first to send her contribution to Kirtland. This was gratifying, as many of the Lake county residents who have Cleveland homes, also, confine their interests to a large extent to the latter city.

KIRTLAND PAINTERS RECEIVE PRAISE

Messrs. Hulmes and Curry, who did the interior decorating on Dr. Russell's new home at "Russellhurst Farm," are the recipients of special mention by the doctor and his wife, who say they do not believe anyone in the country could have excelled the local workers.

R. M. CASE, OF MENTOR, MAKES SOME INTERESTING REAL ESTATE SALES

The real estate business appears to be excellent in Mentor. R. M. Case has been the means of making some noteworthy sales, as may be noted by the following list: Louis Kheim has sold his house on Maple street to J. H. Burris of Cleveland. W. C. Kreamer of Cleveland has purchased 1 1-2 acres of the Misses Archer and Clark, near Stop 54, Mentor avenue. Mrs. Sullivan of Heisley road has sold her farm to Mr. Harter of Nottingham. The sale of the farm belonging to S. Burr of North Mentor, is another interesting addition to sales made through the R. M. Case agency.

NEW BUNGALOW ERECTED

Miss Leslie Clark is erecting an attractive cottage on the Shehan property on the Lake road.

LOCAL FOLKS MAKE FAST TIME ON MOTOR TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. J. Allen Smith of Niagara Falls spent the week end at the home of Mr. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Smith. Mrs. N. C. Smith accompanied them upon the return trip home. The trip was made by motor in 10 hours.

RED CROSS BAND CONCERT AT KIRTLAND NETS NICE SUM

The band concert given at Kirtland recently netted a nice sum for the Red Cross, about $40 having been taken in. The concert given by the boys at Wickliffe was also very successful. The receipts there were in the neighborhood of $70.00.

WILLOUGHBY RED CROSS MEETING

The Red Cross Meeting held Sunday evening at the auditorium was very poorly attended. It is difficult to understand the apparent apathy of Willoughby.

A meeting of this nature should have called out a packed house—especially at this most serious time of anguish and suffering among those who are helping to fight our battles. The program was splendid and brought a message that was an inspiration to all present. Hon. Carl Kimball of Madison was the first speaker. He stated the object of this Red Cross week campaign throughout the country. A campaign to raise 100 million dollars to furnish the work of these wonderful chapters for the alleviating of untold suffering. He said the American Red Cross must follow our army of boys to help and relieve and save.

GAFFNEYS HAVE AUTO ACCIDENT

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Gaffney, of Maple street, met with an auto accident Saturday, June 16th, at about 10:45 p. m. The accident occurred at the Charles road, East Cleveland. The Gaffneys were driving alone and were struck by a touring car, turning their own machine over. Dr. Hoyer picked them up and took them to the East Cleveland hospital. Mr. Gaffney will probably be able to return home Saturday. Neither were very seriously injured. Rev. Moseley was notified of the accident and went up to the Moseley home, taking the Gaffney girls in to the hospital.

CARPENTER INJURED

A carpenter employed by Wilbur Robison, contractor, had the misfortune to sever an artery in his wrist Tuesday. Dr. Moore attended him.

MISS ALICE HANSCOM MOVES

Miss Alice Hanscom is vacating her old home, which has been taken over by the Andrews School, and has taken temporary rooms with Mr. and Mrs. Bert Crawford on Second street. She expects to be located there by the end of the week.

S. D. SHANKLAND SPEAKS AT MADISON

An interested Red Cross audience at Madison listened to S. D. Shankland, G. W. Alvord, and Rev. Dutton, in the Red Cross campaign inaugurated Sunday night.

TWENTY-THREE RED CROSS WORKERS APPOINTED

About 20 business men attended a meeting in the town hall Monday night, when arrangements were made to inaugurate the campaign of the week for house to house work for the Red Cross. Every street and every road in the township will be covered, 23 men having been appointed.

N. C. Smith, who had charge of the appointing of the general solicitors, reports that it is expected to raise $2,500 at least in Willoughby, many checks for $50, $100 and upwards having been received. S. S. Wilson will see the business men; James McMahon and E. J. Dickey will take care of Euclid Ave., N. C. Smith will have Erie street north of the hotel. One or two men were appointed to look after each of the other streets and factories.

RED CROSS MEMBERS

The Willoughby Red Cross now numbers 339 members. About 50 were in attendance at the meeting Tuesday.

REAL ESTATE COMPANY REPORTS NO SALE OF MENTOR KNITTING MILLS AS YET

Talking with the Joseph Laronge Co. Saturday, owners of the Mentor Knitting Mills, it was reported that no sale of the plant had been made. Prospective purchasers, they report, are digging a well, and if favorable results are obtained a sale is very probable. The report that a rubber plant will locate in Mentor is denied.

DR. J. W. LOWE LEAVES MENTOR

Dr. J. W. Lowe, well known Mentor resident, has left for East Orange, N. J., for a period of time. Dr. Lowe has been called to act as private physician for E. M. Green, at East Orange. Mrs. Lowe is at the latter address, Mr. Green being her uncle. Dr. Lowe has also had a call to enter the army as hygeinic and sanitary physician at the training camps.

ONE HUNDRED CARS PER DAY OUTPUT AT OLDSMOBILE PLANT

Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Crowther recently returned from a trip to Lansing, Mich. where they inspected the plant of the Oldsmobile Co. The output of the plant is 100 cars per day, a portion of which is designed for Lake county through Mr. Crowther's distributing agency.

CUPID HOVERING AROUND LAKE COUNTY COURT HOUSE—JUDGE NYE TO LOSE CAPABLE ASSISTANT

"Lots of folks coming in and getting marriage licenses every day; just wonder why something don't happen here at the court house. So Cupid, it is reported, decided to hover around the court house. Results are that Judge Nye's most capable assistant, Miss Addie Nye, who has been with him ever since he started his first term 15 years ago, will be married the last week in June. Miss Nye is well and favorably known to all who have occasion to visit the court house and has a host of friends. She is a cousin of Judge Nye. She has held the position of deputy clerk of the probate court, and will be succeeded by Miss Bertha Clark, who has been in the same office for about six years. Miss Helen Hart of Mentor is the new assistant and has been at the office for about two months.

Miss Nye will marry Nelson Norton of Perry. He is the owner of a stock farm at that point and they will make their home there. Miss Nye will not only be missed by her associates at the court house, but in her church and neighborhood as well. She has been the financial secretary at the Baptist church for a long time, and this work will be discontinued. Friday Miss Clark entertained with a shower for Miss Nye, at which time a set of silver knives and forks were presented by the court house girls. A miscellaneous shower was previously given at the home of Miss Grace Graves, in honor of Miss Nye, by the Sunday School children.

WANTED—Two girls for general housework. Apply Mrs. C. Albrecht, Phone 421-K, Willoughby, Ohio.

MAYOR'S RED CROSS APPEAL

During the week beginning June 18th last the National Red Cross has been conducting a campaign for relief funds throughout the States of the Union. The organization has designated an amount to be raised in each community. Willoughby's share calls for $250. It seems superfluous for me to refer at length regarding the high character of service which is being performed by the Red Cross in connection with the great war. These burdens will be increased within the next few weeks when our young men will be called to the front. On the Red Cross will depend the care for those stricken in war. A great task is before the organization and it must be fortified with sufficient funds. The co-operation of every community in America must be had, and it should not require the slaughter of our boys to make us realize that war, "this war," will exact sacrifices of all kinds.

Willoughby has shown in the past that it has genuine patriotism. May it not demonstrate this week with further evidence that we are meeting our duty to the country and the needs of the boys, who must defend its honor on the battlefield.

Let us respond more liberally than ever before to the appeal made by the Red Cross.

Signed: W. J. CARMICHAEL,
Mayor.

CITY BOY LOST

A little lost city boy came straying through the tall grass across from the house of L. Call on the Tom Frissell place, Sunday last. He was about six and "pretty as a picture," according to Edwin Call, who took the little fellow, and telephoning from the Rice home, further up the road, located his parents through L. Sanborn at Kirtland. The boy had been visiting the Solomon family on the Bechtel farm, and had lost his bearings. He gave the name of Michael Phelps.

DEATH IN LEROY

William G. Ostrander passed away at his home in LeRoy June 18th, aged 51 years. He is survived by his wife, Elva Whipple LeRoy and several brothers and sisters.

RED CROSS MEETING AT WICKLIFFE

Mayor Coulby, Robert F. Freeborn of Painesville and E. F. Blakely made the forceful addresses that interested an excellent gathering in Wickliffe Sunday night. The history of the Red Cross, the work of Clara Barton, the present nations enrolled and the financial plea were presented by the speakers in turn.

PASSING OF JOHN WESLEY CHASE

After an illness of many months Mr. John Wesley Chase passed away June 16th. Mr. Chase was born in Livingstone county, N. Y., in 1844, coming to the Plains in 1878, where he had since resided. The same year he united in marriage with Miss Martha Andrews, who with her two children, Mr. Melvin Chase and Mrs. Mills Titus, survive him. The funeral service was held Tuesday afternoon at the new home which he had recently purchased, and was conducted by Rev. P. B. Schaffner of Mentor. Mr. James McMahon sang beautifully three selections. Interment was made in Mentor cemetery.

LOCAL MAN SELLS MANY FORDS

I. M. Crowther, who will have completed a year's contract on Ford cars August 1st, has sold 135 cars during the period. He is arranging for a larger Ford contract for the coming season.

Mr. Crowther is also completing a stucco finish on the garage, after which paint and flower beds will add to the appearance of the garage and the surroundings. Mr. Crowther has also taken the initiative and contracted for some smokeless coal, which he believes will do much toward abating the smoke in his part of the village.

A "HIGH SPOT" IN THE HISTORY OF WILLOUGHBY

the side of the boat into the lake. He started to swim to the shore. He soon found he would not be able to make it. He was making all sorts of cries to attract attention. A sail boat started from the harbor of Fairport and made direct for him. It came up and took him aboard. The scows in Fairport were getting ready to go out. What is a scow. A scow is a schooner rigged vessel with a flat bottom. They were built for boating wood from the beach of the lake. They could run the bow of the boats up on to the beach, throw out their lines and make fast to any drift wood, of which there was always plenty along the beach, throw out their wheeling plank and build a track up to the bank of the lake.

They would go up on the bank and throw down the wood and then wheel it aboard of the scow or boat. When loaded they shoved the scow back into the water. Loading would be commenced at the stern end, loading it up above the railing, and continue on towards the bow, until loaded, shoving back with pole into the water, swing around and sail.

The Griffith kept on her course from Fairport up to about 2 1-2 miles west of Willoughby, which is now known as Willoughbeach. At Willoughbeach a creek entered the lake. Out into the lake quite a ways from the shore a sand bar had formed from this creek. The vessel started to make shore. The bow was run upon the sand bar. It then stopped. The captain remarked to the passengers, "We can go no further, Save yourselves if you can." The boat landed at 3 a. m., 17th of June, 1850.

At that time I was living at my father's place in Mayfield. I was at that time a few days over 15 years of age. My father was quite a hand to go to the lake to fish—once or twice or sometimes three times each season. On the Saturday previous to this two or three neighbors called and enquired what he thought about going fishing about Monday. He said "all right—with good weather we will go."

He said we will have to fix the seine, now called a net. I wanted to see the lake and father said I might go with them. Everything was ready and we started toward the village of Wickliffe. Wickliffe at that time continued a Temperance hotel and one small store which was run by a Mr. Vorce. After passing through Wickliffe we came to what is called the Lloyd Lake road. We passed down a ways, and came to where they were grading to build a railroad. The railway was to extend from Cleveland to Ashtabula. It was a track road and in time it was hoped it might be extended to Erie. It was to be called the Cleveland and Ashtabula Railway, consisting of one track. Now it is called the New York Central and consists of four to six racks.

We passed over the new grading and went on toward the lake. As we passed on through the woods we noticed smoke and saw three men coming towards us. They were sailors. They asked to be directed to a hotel, and we told them to go to the Lloyd. We learned they were shipwrecked sailors. Then they told us of the fire—that 300 or 400 people were drowned and that 50 or 60 bodies had been taken out. They were digging a long grave—enough for two rows of boxes, we found. Some were baking boxes—some carrying. They were getting their lumber from a saw mill that stood back from the bank of the lake. The saw mill belonged to a Mr. Kennedy. He was the father of our present townsman, Hiram Kennedy. He afterwards became a sailor himself, and built several boats and sailed some of them. I was not acquainted with him at that time, but knew him well in after years. The men were working and talking and I stood listening. The body of Capt. "Bobbie," as they called him, was brought in. I remember it as if it was yesterday—dressed in black pants, white shirt, white vest, and black necktie. The captain's wife and mother were brought in with him. A white collar around her neck over a worsted dress, was fastened a gold pin, with a picture in the pin. I was but 17. I had never seen a lake captain, dead or alive, and how I looked upon this one in this remarkable scene! These are a few reminiscences of an old settler.

Very truly yours,

C. P. LILLEY.

F. A. SIEBERLING SAYS WIFE IS RESPONSIBLE FOR INVENTION: HOW RUBBER CAME TO OHIO

McClure Writer Tells Quaint Story of Industry's Start.

"It was through chance that Akron became the Rubber City. A certain manufacturer was responsible. Akron not only lies far from raw rubber, but quite a distance from most of her other rubber components. It was because this manufacturer went there that the other rubber men came along afterward," writes Edward Mott Wooley in "Akron: Standing Room Only," in McClure's Magazine for July.
